William Tinker was appointed to the town planning committee by the council Tuesday night on Ald. D. Miller's motion, seconded by Ald. H. Dodds. He succeeds G. Wilson Craw who requested acceptance of his resignation.

Mr. Craw wrote that other duties prevented him from giving to the planning committee the time it required.

The motion directed that a letter of appreciation of Mr. Craw's service to the planning committee be forwarded by City Clerk Outram.

Council authorized Mayor Ovens to declare Monday Dec. 27 a holiday as required by the bank act, to enable the local banks to suspend business that day. The request was received from Wilson Gemmell, chairman of Peterborough clearin ghouse.

Ald. Raine moved a vote of thanks to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for their efforts to stimulate interest in the municipal elections and specially on the day of voting.

The committee which assisted in the publicity campaign for the Civic Hospital bylaw is also being recognized in this appreciation. likewise the senior Chamber of Commerce and the local press. The motion was seconded by Ald. Dodds.

Brigadier Inspects 50th HAA Regiment

Official inspection of the training of the 50th Heavy AA Regiment, RCA, was made on Tuesday evening by Brigadier G. Walsh, Commander of the Eastern Ontario Area. He was assisted by Major G. I. Speedie, DAAG, Eastern Ontario Area. The local regiment went through its inspection with flying colors. The inspecting officer said he was gratified by the progress the regiment was making.

Brigadier Walsh spent considerable time listening to the instructions being given to the various artillery classes.

Following the inspection the Headquarters officers discussed plans for the training, sport and entertainment of the members of the regimnet during the winter months.

Committee Of 6 Named To Settle Issue

City council and Recreation Commission appointed a joint committee of six Tuesday night to draft more explicitly the respective responsibilities of the two bodies on their borders of contact.

The members of this committee are: R. J. Bolton, W. B. Gordon and Quirt McKinney of the recreation commission and Aldermen Young, Dodds and Douglas Miller for the council, with Ald Young as chairman.

In the absence of W. B. Gordon, the request of the commission was outlined by Mr. Bolton. The commission, he said, is now completing its second year. Experience in that time had exposed certain discrepancies in the enabling legislation and in the agreement with the council which have generated some friction in the relations between the commission and the council's parks committee. Indications at times pointed to lack of co-operation from the parks committee.

Responsible For Programs

In the establishment of the commission it was quite clearly understood that the council would have direction of the physical aspects and care of the parks, as recreation grounds, and the responsibility for programs would rest with the commission.

One question of policy detail which has taken shape, Mr. Bolton said, was, for example, whether the council should solely decide any changes in parks, and then "ask us to put on programs in the places the council has chosen." An alternative was that the commission would have the authority to consider and recommend parks and playgrounds changes, and propose them to the council with the request that they be carried out. Finally, recreational programs in those places would be supervised by the commission.

Mr. Bolton said that instances were not serious, but they were irritants in the relations between the two bodies, both of which were concerned about recreational facilities and management. It was expected that the new and untried procedure provided for the commission would expose flaws and omissions and oversigrts. That's what had nappened here, and Mr. Bolton suggested that the questions of joint and separate responsibilities should be reviewed by a committee of representatives of both bodies.

That was the general purpose of the meeting, resulting in the appointment of the six deputies who are being requested virtually to revise terms of policy and interrelations of the commission and council in the light of two year's working experience. The meeting of the commission Tuesday night was with the council as committee of the whole.

Slows Council Session

Members of the County Council on Tuesday availed themselves of Reeve W. W. Dawson's invitation to attend the luncheon of the Federation of Agriculture. The entertainment was so good that a quorum of councillors had not returned to the county building until nearly 4 p.m. The sitting then adjourned at about 5.30 p.m.

36 Applications Placed Before County Council For Position of Assessor

Peterborough County Council instructed its solicitor to draft a by-law that would, in effect, make fox hunting legal for the whole year. The by-law proposes that the fox hunting season be opened from March 1 to October 31. Hunting is already legal during the remaining four months and this extension would make it a year-round open season. Reeves Melville Johnston of North Monaghan and Ross Harrison of Smith made the motion which passed unanimously.

Early today the Council formed a committee of the whole to consider individually 36 applications for the position of County Assessor. By noon the list had been reduced to four.

Applications for the position were accepted until Nov. 1 and it was stated that duties would commence on Jan. 1. Salary was set at $2,500, with six-cents-a-mile travelling expenses.

Later today a representative from the Department of Municipal Affairs will sit in to help select the best applicant. Before a county assessor is appointed he must meet with the approval of the Department.

Lindsay After Control Of Wartime Houses

LINDSAY, Dec. 8 — (ENS)—Lindsay town council has decided to apply to Ottawa for permission to appoint a Lindsay war veteran administer alocation and maintenance of local wartime housing units under government corporation sponsorship. This decision was reached after the council had considered a written request from the Canadian Legion.

Col. R. I. Moore, who attended the meeting, advised members to take action to see that control of the houses was kept in Lindsay. He said he saw a real danger of local veterans losing out if management of the units was not kept under a local thumb He reviewed the difficulty which had arisen since the appointment and subsequent resignation of Hugh Smith as wartime housing administrator. During his term, the right to allocate houses had been withdrawn locally and taken over by Peterborough. This, he contended, was an entirely unsatisfactory arrangement.

Five Men Qualify For Lakefield Council

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 8 — (ENS) —An election this year in the village seemed a remote possibility on Tuesday, but not now. There will be one on Dec. 20 due to the fact that five candidates qualified; they are Roy Brown, Albert Buchanan, William Whetung, Kenneth Morris and R. J. Knox.

Labor Supports Teachers' Plea

Peterborough teachers who have applied for salary increases were on Tuesday night given the verbal support of the Allied Labor Council.

John Rowley, district representative for Local 527 UE-CIO, said that the average worker realized the limited purchasing power of his own wage and supported the demands of all salaried workers in Peterborough who are seeking a better standard of living.

John Beggs, president of Local 293 UPWA, stated that civic employees and office workers were in the same position as teachers, and urged the Council to support these salaried groups also.

Nomination of Allied Labor Council officers for 1949 will be on Jan. 18 and the election will follow at the first meeting in February.

There was no damage to the trailer part of the transport. PC Douglas Farthing investigated.

PCVS Cadets Take Interest In Walkie-Talkie Sets

Two number 19 wireless sets and two walkie-talkie sets are now at the disposal of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School Cadets. At present, there are only two cadets in the school, Roland Brier and George Fanjoy, who are qualified to operate them. These boys took a course at Camp Ipperwash on Lake Huron this summer.

On Friday nights after the New Year a course will be held for cadets interested in the procedure and operation of the wireless sets. The set may be operated by one person and by not more than three.

"We intend to try to contact other centres, such as Lindsay and Lakefield," George Fanjoy said.

Course in Marksmanship

Marksmanship is another interest of a large number of Cadets. Sergt.-Major W. H. Pushie is the instructor. When the Cadet students have a spare period Sergt.-Major Pushie teaches them the dos and don'ts of marksmanship.

On a busy day he has seven or eight classes, with eight or nine boys in each class. This means he teaches about 70 boys a day besides his regular military tasks. The Cadets fire for the Marksmanship Badge. To qualify the boys must have five shots in a one-inch grouping for a total of 25 points, five shots in the 10 ring for a total of 50 points, and have five shots on the snap target. Only three-quarters of the Cadets earn their badge during the year.

Matches Entered

Some of the matches the Cadets have participated in are the Ontario Rifle Association match, Imperial Challenge Shields competition, Royal Military College match, Miniature Rifle match for the youth of the Empire, and the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association match. In the Royal Military College match the Cadets had a total of 975 points out of a possible 1,000. There were 10 men on the team and not one fired under 96 points out of a possible 100. W. Woodcock and H Faulkner had a 99. In the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association match. F. Wright had a perfect score of 100. Four other boys had scores of 99.

Sergt.-Major Pushie said approximately 40,000 rounds of ammunition were bought for the year. During a busy day about 700 rounds are fired.

Occasionally Capt. J. Londerville and Sergt.-Major Pushie take the Cadets out to the Rifle Range where they hold mock battles.

Two Lakefield Men Damage Hotel Room

Two Lakefield men, Harry Reil and George Todd, were each fined $25 and $45 costs in police court today. They were charged by police with causing a disturbance at a Young's Point Hotel. Provincial Constable A. F. Grayling said that the call was answered Tuesday night, when the two accused became involved in a fight. There was heavy damage to the wall caused by the fracas.

Havelock Man Not Guilty On Theft Count

Conducting his own case before Judge Sheldon Smoke and jury, Thomas Cook of Havelock was found not guilty of a two-year-charge of theft at the General Sessions of the Peace, Tuesday afternoon. The jury took 21 minutes to reach its verdict.

Cook was charged with theft of morphine drugs and postage stamps from the Havelock office of Dr. J. Holdcroft in July 1946. The accused, who pleaded not guilty, carried out his own cross-examination of witnesses and final address to the jury.

Dr. D. J. Holdcroft, whose office is in the home of his father at Havelock, testified that Cook was a patient of his. When he began to say that the treatment being given was concerned with Cook's use of drugs, the accused was on his feet in the prisoner's box:

"I object, Your Honor," he told Judge Sheldon L. Smoke, "I'm being tried here on a case of theft."

Dr. Holdcroft said that he left his office the night of July 25, 1946, with everything in order. The office was not locked. In the morning, he found drawers opened, contents spilled and the room ransacked. Missing were a number of bottles of morphine pills and $3 or $4 worth of stamps. The accused questioned the doctor closely on the value of the drugs missing. The witness said he was unable to recall exactly the amount of drugs missing or its value. The accused commented that the total value of the drugs and stamps might be under $25—and that he was charged with a theft over $25.

Had Been Drinking

Dr. Robert Atkinson of Norwood gave evidence that Cook had visited his office on the night before the theft. The accused had been drinking and had asked for a "shot" of morphine, which was refused.

George Brooks of Havelock was key crown witness. He told the jury that the morning following the alleged theft, he had been on the train to Toronto and a man whom he identified as Cook had sat beside him.

When Cook left the seat, Brooks said he found on it a small brown bottle of tablets, marked "Morphine." This was later identified as similar to the ones taken from the Havelock doctor's office.

Cook gave no evidence himself and called no witnesses.

Leaning on the edge of the prisoner's box, he spoke for 10 minutes to the jury.

"Nothing has beeen produced in this court to show that I went into that office or took that bottle . . . it was simply a surmise," he argued.

Agrees With Jury

When the jury gave its verdict, Judge Smoke said: "I am heartily in agreement . . . it would have beeen very dangerous to convict this man on the evidence."

To Cook he said: "If it were not for time limitations set by the Criminal Code, I would be inclined to advise the Crown Attorney to proceed with a charge against you under the Narcotics Act."

Members of the petit jury were: Frank Baldwin, North Monaghan; Louis Brooks, 199 Dalhousie St.; Samuel H. Carpenter, 750 Lansdowne St.; Arthur Chartren, 1029 Water St.; John S. Curtis, 13 Benson Ave.; Gilbert E. Brockley, 65 Edgewater Blvd.; Edward Keating, Belmont Township; Hector Critian, North Monaghan; Harry Carter 517 Romaine St.; Gordon J. Phalen, Sherbrooke St.; Cyril Scott, Dummer Township; William A. Cochrane, 547 Water St.

IN THE DRY SUMMER season when some of the streams feeding the Ratcliff mill pond 3 miles from Stouffville, almost disappear, the supply of water is increased by a stream formed by nine spouting artesian wells on the Stewart farm, a mile and half north. Builder of the mill drilled them to ensure a continuous supply of water.

can tire you out and wear you down!

IF your face is pale and your manner listless—if you're tired most of the time—if you're only enjoying life halfway—the reason may be a blood condition. You may have a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron.

Yes, the red cells in your blood may be too puny and pale and weak to transmit full energy to every muscle and fibre and tissue of your body. Many women—many men and children, too—go dragging their weary way through every day with this tiring Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor

If this Borderline Anemia is threatening your energy and healthy good looks, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your vigor.

Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other conditions. Always consult your doctor regularly. But if you have this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood! Then your energy and color can come surging back! Then you can get some fun out of life again!

* A mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA why it can make you TIRED • PALE • LISTLESS

Blood that builds energy! This is how energy-building blood looks under a microscope. Here are big, plentiful red blood cells that can release vigor to all your body.

Blood in Borderline Anemia! Many have blood like this; never know it. Cells are puny, faded. Blood like this can't release the energy you need to feel and look your best.

3 Afghans Given By 86-year-old —TORONTO, Dec. 8—(CP)—For those who think that women find their greatest delight in attending numerous meetings, the 2,000 members of Toronto's Needlework Guild have an astonishing answer.

The Guild meets once a year and has almost no expenses. Probably because of this it distributes some 7,500 articles of assorted clothing and household supplies every year to 45 charitable organizations in the city.

The Needlework Guild was established here in 1892, some 10 years after the parent organization was started in London, England. Since then the idea has spread to St. Catharines, Montreal and Vancouver.

The annual fee for members is simple—two or three more articles of wearing apparel or household linen. One 86-year-old member this yea. turned in three afghans which she knitted herself.

The service was held by the shepherds in the open field and their choir was the multitude of people praising God; their anthem "Glory to God in the Highest and on earth, peace good will to men." DOROTHY DIX

Mothers Neglect their Boys In Proper Husband Training

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: We are always being told about it being the duty of mothers to train their daughters to be good wives. Inasmuch as marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition, why isn't it the duty of fathers to prepare their sons to be good husbands? Yet nobody pipes about that. After all it takes two people to make a marriage a success. Neither one can do it alone and unaided. It is a two-handed job.

So why don't parents feel that they should train their sons for marriage as well as their daughters?—A READER.

ANSWER: Apparently parents are sold to the belief that a knowledge of how to be a good husband comes by Nature, as Dogberry thought reading and writing did, and that there isn't any necessity for wasting any time and effort in teaching a boy how to get along with his bride. Mothers don't prepare their sons to be good husbands, for they think their Sams and Johnnys are too good for any girl, anyway. And fathers don't bother to train their sons for matrimony, so the average man goes into marriage with only a few muddled ideas about how to be a good husband.

Now, of course, marriage being the complicated business it is, there should be a School for Training Husbands that every boy should attend, and all of the teachers should be women, for only women know what it takes to make wives happy and they alone could train men along the lines that make a husband a gift from God.

Want Perpetual Lover

A man, for instance, thinks he is a good husband if he is a good provider and if he works his fingers to the bone to give his wife every luxury and comfort. But a wife's ideal of a perfect husband is one who is a combination kissing-bug and salve-spreader who never ceases telling her how beautiful and wonderful she is, and how he adores her, and who takes her stepping every Saturday night.

Let a man keep his wife jollied up and he has filled a woman's ideal of a perfect husband.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young veteran and am finding it hard to get some employment that will keep me interested. I have had a number of various good jobs that were well-paying, but none that I cared for. They included being a lumber hauler, a truck driver, construction helper, restaurant manager, bar and grill owner, and I have applied for a license to be a bodyguard but all of these have bored me. I want something that will keep me on my toes, but I have not found it.

Can you advise me as to whether I should stick to what I am doing, or seek something that will give me a more satisfied feeling. —JOHN.

ANSWER: It seems to me, John, that your trouble is that you have never kept to one thing long enough to get interested in it. You have never had any real purpose in your employment. You have gone into it with the if-I-don't-like-it-I-won't-stick-it spir_ it, and that kind of an attitude never makes a man succeed at anything. It is only after you dig into anything with teeth and toenail, determined to make a go of it or die in the attempt, that you really get to enjoy your work.

My earnest advice to you is to go to some man who has made a special study of vocational guidance and get him to try to find out what special aptitudes and talents your possess. Then go to it, and hang on to it until you make a success of it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Please tell me how long it will take my husband to learn to read and write. He is 40 years old. He did not have any schooling where he came from, but he speaks both English and French well. And he has a good job. But I would like to see him read and write, for I love him very much. Is he too old to learn?—A DEVOTED WIFE.

ANSWER: Certainly your husband is not too old to learn to read and write. As he is employed, he can either go to a night school, or, if you can afford it, it would be better for him to have someone come to your house to teach him. He would make quicker progress if he had the services of a private tutor who could explain everything that puzzled him and give him his undivided attention.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, December 9

The auguries are for the sudden precipitation of a difficult and disintegrating situation which could be aggravated and made more devastating by rash, erratic or impulsive emotions or feelings. With calm, rational and regulated conduct, it is probable that some sort of lead, "hunch" or intuition could solve a complex problem. Giving heed to the "still small voice" within could negative a peculiar entanglement or curious experience.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of singular experiences, strange adventures, or some sort of radical or uprooting change, sudden and possibly devastating. This abrupt event may incite the feelings or emotions to erratic or unfortunate expression, which might aggravate an already critical or curious situation. With a regulated, well-organized and planned mode of action, the stress might be averted. By use of a resourceful mind, an inspiration or intuition or form of inner guidance, also calmness and poise, could open doors.

A child born on this day may be disposed to strange drives or erratic emotions, although its inner urges may overrule curious impulses.

Stop-lights are beginning to act up in Peterborough. On Saturday night the light on the north-east corner of George and Hunter was out and Monday night the light on the south-east corner was twisted so that it faced the Royal Bank. Drivers would approach the corners with caution and not seeing any light would creep across the intersections. Generally the light was red.

Describe Clash Aboard Ship

SARNIA, Dec. 8 (CP)—Clashes with Canadian Seamen's Union pickets Robert Schumacher and Michael Hornak over Canadian "justice" featured Tuesday's opening session of the trial of Melville M. Murphy of Midland, charged with shooting with intent in the wounding of five seamen here July 14.

Murphy, chief engineer of the Canada Steamship Lines freighter Lethbridge, is alleged to have fired a shotgun into a group of six C.S.U. men after they boarded the vessel.

Schumacher, Hornak, Albert Jackson and Alex Black, the pickets serving sentences for the Lethbridge boarding, said they received no warning before they were struck and wounded by a blast of buckshot from the gun allegedly held by Murphy.

They carried no weapons of any kind, they said, and had not attacked or threatened any one on the deck of the Lethbridge. They were on their way off the ship at the time.

Arthur Greenwood, a Canadian National Railways employee, testified he had seen the six seamen hurrying towards the ship. "About four minutes later," he said, "I saw Mr. Murphy on the after deck holding a shotgun. He fired it forward, went into his cabin, came out, and fired again. Later I saw Jackson on the dock with blood on his chest."

FIND IT IMPOSSIBLE

PROBLEMS of the declarer are so definite and simple sometimes that ordinary foresight shows a certain plan of play to be utterly impossible of success. Mentally playing the cards according to that method may disclose that the opponents are sure to beat you. It's not necessary to play the physical pasteboards to figure that out. When such is your finding, it is up to you to look for some alternative. If located, it may not be anywhere near to a sure thing, but if it bears the slightest hopes at all, it is better than an impossibility.

Here we had a man in the West who looks ahead. When North dutifully led his partner's spade suit in obedience to the double, West counted up before he did another thing. The long diamond suit tempted him, but then he engaged in a series of progressive thoughts.

"If I take the first trick and lead a diamond," he cogitated, "the defenders will win it. They will then knock out my second spade stopper. The diamonds still will not be set up. When I lose the second diamond, they will remove my third spade stopper. Then, when they take the third diamond trick, they will be able to beat me with spades, setting me probably three tricks."

So he looked for another plan and found it in the clubs, where deep finessing against the J and 9 could make his contract safe if he was fortunate enough to find those cards where he wanted them to be. Therefore, after winning the first spade, he scored the heart A, K and J, laid down the club K, which South ducked, and then the 4 to the 8 and A. The spade Q came back to his K and he finessed the club 10, then scored the Q and the heart Q. That giving him his ninth trick, he happily surrendered three diamonds at the end.

Why should West not risk 2-Diamonds over South's 1-Spade? If he does it, what should then occur?

AN ANIMAL LESSON to human beings on how to get along together is shown above at the North Hollywood home of Joseph Aldridge. You might expect a certain amount of antagonism here, but this cat, dog and rat make a congenial threesome at dinner. Craft Appeals Death Sentence

KINGSTON, Dec. 8 — (CP) — Austin Craft, of Brantford, Kingston Penitentiary convict now in a death cell in Frontenac county jail, waiting to be hanged Jan. 24 for the murder of John D. Kennedy, prison messenger, has appealed his sentence, or, alternatively, his conviction on a murder charge in Supreme Court, Oct. 29.

The 47-year-old slight, bushy-haired convict, who during his trial and preliminary hearing, never denied firing the shots which took the life of the Kingston Penitentiary messenger, has filed a somewhat crudely typewritten document, stating his reasons for appeal.

The statement sets forth:

"That a person should not be allowed to conduct his own defence who has ever been in insane institutions.

"That the trial judge ought not to have appointed counsel to advise on a charge of murder. Rather, he should have set the trial over and asked the Attorney-General to appoint counsel to conduct the case."

Craft charges that newspaper stories appearing in Kingston for about a week after Kennedy's death "aroused decidedly antagonistic sympathies against the accused."

After stating reasons for his appeal Craft adds: "I desire to present my case and argument in writing. If a new trial is directed I desire a new trial before a jury."

DIVORCE DETECTIVE GETS 3-YEAR TERM

Security, Freedom Menaced By Agents Of Unrest Through Political Channels

Hon. Colin Gibson, Secretary Of State, Urges Young Canadians To Take Greater Interest In Politics

The people of Canada must take a greater interest than ever in politics because it was through political channels that the threats against security and freedom were being made. That was the challenge of the Hon. Colin Gibson, Secretary of State in the Dominion Government, to Peterborough Young Liberals at the dinner preceding their business meeting at the Empress Wednesday night.

"Freedom of speech, of worship, of travel and movement must be defended against the agents of unrest who are going about trying to influence people individually," Hon. Mr. Gibson said. "The only way we can do it is by taking a lively interest in the political life of our country, and by actively supporting the political party in which we have confidence."

New Type Of Aggression

Wars used to be fought and determined by clashing armies, but the new aggression seeks to capture the minds of allegiance of the individual citizen. "To offet it we must show that our democratic system is preferred by the people of Canada, and that they are opposed to the rule of force that has seized some of the countries of Europe."

"So, I say to you as typical young Canadians, some of whom I can see have yet to cast their first vote in the next elections, that it is your duty to associate yourselves with your Young Liberals' Club, take part in the selection of candidates and then give them the support they need to be elected."

Mr. P. D. Scollard, secretary of the senior Liberal organization in this riding, was chairman of the dinner. With him at the head table were Mrs. Scollard, Hon. Mr. Gibson, Mrs. Charles M. Scott, Mr. Ralph Standish, Ald. P. J Anglesey and Mrs. Anglesey, and Mr. Marlow Banks, who introduced the Minister.

Because the Liberal government was in power since 1935, Mr. Gibson said, its opponents tried to create the notion that it was composed of tired old men.

"Since 1940 there have been 23 changes in the Dominion Cabinet and they have not been mere shifts from on office to another."

"They represent members who

Chiang Admits Losses Heavy In Suchow Units

NANKING, Dec. 9 — (AP) — Government military sources admitted today that Chinese Communists have inflicted heavy casualties on three encircled army groups on Nanking's approach.

They said the 16th Army group was believed to have been virtually wiped out. The 16th and the other groups garrisoned Suchow until last week, when they withdrew southward in an effort to relieve the trapped 12th Army group in the Suhsien sector.

The military sources said the groups had reorganized and now are resuming attacks in an attempt to break through. They described the Communists as suffering heavy losses also.

Hope to Stall Reds.

PENGPU, China, Dec. 9—(AP)—Nationalist officers at this front-line headquarters saw hope today for the Pengpu line to stall the Communists drive on Nanking for months. At the moment, however, it is little more than a hope.

It is pinned on the uncertain ability of two major government forces—which the Communists say they have encircled—to join along the Hwai River and offer a formidable defence for Nanking at that point.

This is headquarters for the new Hwai River line, 105 miles northwest of the capital at Nanking. It also is the base for Gen. Lieu Chieh, over-all commander of the East China front. Yet it seems to be in regular contact only with units operating directly out of Pengpu.

Truman Backs Disability Plan

TORONTO, Dec. 9.—(CP). — President Truman will shortly announce recommendation of a disability insurance scheme in the United States, Miss Frances Perkins, former U.S. Secretary of Labor said here Wednesday night.

Speaking to a meeting of the Health Leagues of Canada, Miss Perkins said the plan, much the same as unemployment insurance, would insure an injured worker compensation for a fixed number of weeks.

It would mean also strengthening of health services through endowment, gifts, appropriations to build up scientific research work and through appropriations for training of doctors, nurses and assistants.

Find Escaped Prisoner Working In Gold Mine

KIRKLAND LAKE, Dec. 9—(CP)—A prisoner who escaped from the Burwash Industrial Farm in the Sudbury district last Oct. 8 was captured here Wednesday after provincial and township police received a tip that he had literally gone underground in the Tech Hughes Gold Mines.

The escapee, Hector Maheu, had got a job in the mines by using a fictitious name, Stephen Perry, and had used the deep shafts of the mines underground workings as a sanctuary from the law.

Provincial police said today that Maheu had been about to marry a girl in a nearby town and that a check with Burwash revealed he had a wife and child living in Toronto.

Just Makes Deadline

LINDSAY, Dec. 9—(CP).—"I promised that we would have power in East Haliburton county before the snow fell this year," Provincial Treasurer Leslie M. Frost said before throwing the switch which gave Gooderham, Tory Hill and Wilberforce their first electricity. Five minutes later, while a young girl was reading a letter of thanks from the school children of the district, the first snowfall of the season started.

Board Secretary To Resign Over Corruption

LONDON, Dec. 9—(Reuters).—John W. Belcher, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, will resign after giving evidence before the tribunal hearing allegations of corruption in government circles. This was announced by Aiken Watson, his counsel, during today's tribunal session.

Belcher then took the stand to testify. He followed Works Minister Charles Key, first Government member to give evidence.

At his own request Belcher has been on leave from his official duties since the decision to hold an official inquiry.

Watson told the tribunal that, while Belcher "vehemently denied" receiving money or any other consideration to influence him in any decision, he admitted he had received gifts from Sidney Stanley, key figure in the inquiry, and two other persons.

"He now realizes that, though he did not receive these gifts corruptly or allow them to influence him in any way, they were incompatible with his position as a Minister of the Crown," Watson added

List Allegations

Allegations which the attorney general said had been made against Belcher on the opening day of the Tribunal included:

1. That Belcher received from Stanley sums amounting to £50 ($200) a week and from time to time Stanley paid Mrs. Belcher sums of £100.

2. That Belcher was bribed in connection with the withdrawal of a prosecution against Shermans soccer pools.

3. That Belcher received from Stanley and others gifts of liquor, a suit, a gold cigaret case and free hotel accommodation at Margate.

Doucett's Car Skids Into Guard Rail

TORONTO, Dec. 9 — (CP)—Highways Minister Doucett escaped injury Wednesday when an automobile in which he was a passenger skidded into a guard rail 18 miles south of Parry Sound. He was on his way back to Toronto from a speaking engagement in Parry Sound.

The car skidded on a snow-covered highway incline, hit a lakeside guard rail and rebounded to the opposite side of the road to strike a sharp rockface.

BULLETIN

SINGAPORE — (AP) — The British Army announced today it is sending reinforcements to Hong Kong "in view of the deteriorating situation in China". A communique announcing that the movement would take place by the year's end, said the 2nd Battalion of the 6th Ghurka Rifles was going to the crown colony. Informed military sources said the movement had been speeded up because of the Communist advance south through China.

Re-Impose Price Control, Profits Tax, CCL Asks

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 —(CP)—Re-imposition of price control and revival of excess profits tax were requested today in a brief submitted to the Prices Commission by the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The brief, read by Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Congress, also sought higher corporation taxes. Coupled with these proposals, the Congress urged reductions in sales and excise taxes and higher exemptions in personal income tax.

The Congress' brief, one of a series from national organizations being heard by the commission, declared that tax reductions by themselves would not be enough to ease the pressure of rising prices on consumers.

"Raising the exemptions on small incomes would give small consumers more purchasing power, but most or all of it would be promptly mopped up by manufacturers and merchants in a position to charge pretty much what the traffic will bear," the brief declared.

Re-imposition of excess profits taxes was urged as an essential means of control, but the brief added that the question of wage controls required further study.

"The Congress submits that wages can rise and perhaps rise considerably without breaking a price ceiling, provided they do not rise faster than productivity and provided there is a margin of squeezability in profits," it declared.

Referring to the possibility of increased defence expenditure, the brief said it appeared that the government's surplus might "soon be swallowed up by re-armament."

"If the government is to re-enter the market as a large and urgent buyer of materials which are still scarce, it can only have the effect of bidding up prices unless controls are re-imposed."

Britain Finds Big Ring Of Hi-Jackers

One Million In Claims Laid Against Canadian Railways

MONTREAL, Dec. 9—(CP)—Activities of a gang of British hijackers, who substituted worthless oakum and rope for valuable goods they pilfered from export shipments to Canada, have resulted in $1,000,000 in claims against the Dominion's three largest transportation systems, James H. Edwards, Canada Steamship Lines freight claims agent, said Wednesday night.

A CSL official said today that none of the claims had yet been paid but his company and Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway had suffered a loss "in prestige and reputation" because of the padded shipments.

Mr. Edwards said that 50 arrests had been made in England Nov. 7 and the men were to appear in magistrate's court in London, Nov. 8. He said that he had no further details on their court appearances.

Operate On Big Scale

He said that the hi-jackers, operating on a huge scale under cover of a chain of wholesale stores and aided by British railroad officials, robbed many truckloads of goods on the way to British ports for shipment to Canada.

"Because of persistent shortages —Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways claims amounted to $500,000 a year and C.S.L. $50,000 to $100,000 annually—I think the facts should be made known," Mr. Edwards said.

He stated that many of the largest firms in England have unknowingly been selling prime export goods, mainly shoes, silks, textiles and cloth, bought from a chain of wholesale stores which the hi-jacking gang operated.

Officials of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways asked for time to study Mr. Edwards' statement before making any comment.

Car Insurance Rates Boosted

TORONTO, Dec. 9—(CP).—Increases in automobile insurance rates, ranging up to 21 per cent., were announced Wednesday night effective Jan. 1.

The announcement, made jointly by the Canadian Underwriters' Association and the Independent Automobile and Casualty Insurance Conference, made a heavy increase in automobile accidents this year for the boost.

Collision insurance will go up approximately 21 per cent. for the ordinary motorist and 17 per cent. for commercial vehicles.

The announcement said there would be no change in fire and theft rates.

Bodily injury and propperty damage rates would go up approximately 3.6 per cent. for commercial vehicles. Premiums for injury and property damage coverage would drop for "those persons in the pleasure driving category." Business drivers in Ontario would pay nearly seven per cent. more for bodily injury and property damage insurance.

The statement said accidents had increased 23.3 per cent. during the first nine months of this year.

Water-Main Break Will Cost Million

MONTREAL, Dec. 9—(CP)—City hall officials today placed a tentative estimate of $1,000,000 damage caused by Wednesday's water-main break resulting from flooding of several streets in downtown Montreal.

They estimated $100,000 will be needed to repair the broken main and buckled pavements and $900,000 to replace ruined and damaged stocks in buildings, and to strengthen weakened foundations of buildings.

The break occurred at St. Antoine and St. David Sts., spreading 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 gallons of water over 10 city blocks.

PETERBOROUGH FEDERAL LIBERAL ASSOCIATION, senior members, greeted Secretary of State the Hon. Colin Gibson of Hamilton at a meeting and banquet on Wednesday. Mr. Gibson was also guest speaker at a banquet, organized by junior members, in the evening. He is shown above, Left, with Senator J. J. Duffus, Centre, and R. M. Glover.

Judge Decides Milk Price On December 14

MEAFORD, Dec. 9 — (CP). — Residents in 45 Ontario centres are faced with a possible inrease in the price of milk as the outcome of an application by producers far an increase. Judge D. J. Cowan of Brantford, the arbitrator, is expected to make his ruling on the increase on December 14.

Dairymen in the Georgian Bay area expressed the opinion that any increase granted in the wholesale milk price will be passed on in higher prices for bottled milk. In Meaford, the dairies are paying $3.90 per 100 pounds for 3.4 per cent milk and selling it at 17 cents a quart.

A. S. Thurston, secretary of the Ontario Creamery Association, said that creameries are paying around $2.60 for the butterfat in 100 pounds of milk. This it was pointed out, leaves the skim milk on the farm for the feeding of livestock. A survey shows that farmers value the skim milk from 100 pounds of whole milk at about 75 cents.

The Ottawa market was the subject of negotiations recently which raised the price to producers from $3.90 to $4.05. This works out to about a half-cent a quart increase. Producers in this area state that higher production cosst place the producer in the position where he must have more money.

The following is the list of the centres which will be affected by the ruling of Judge Cowan: Acton, Aylmer, Barrie, Bracebridge, Brampton, Brantford, Brighton, Brockville, Campbellford, Cobourg, Collingwood, Stayner, Cornwall, Delhi Dunnville, Georgetown, Goderich, Gravenhurst, Hawkesbury, Kingston, Lindsay, Meaford, Thornbury, Midland Penetang, Napanee, Newmarket, North Muskoka, Huntsville, Oakville, Orillia, Owen Sound, Paris, Pembroke, Picton, Port Elgin, Peterborough, Port Hope, St. Marys, St. Thomas, Simcoe, Waterford, Smiths Falls, Southampton, Stratford, Sutton, Tilsonburg, Wiarton.

Mosher Surprised At Rail Opposition

STRATFORD, Dec. 9 (CP)—A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, said today in an interview he could not understand opposition to the Canadian railways' request for an increase in freight rates.

He added: "In a country where political leaders and business interests decry socialist philosophy of co-operative effort and public ownership, I can't understand the basis for knocking the attempt of the railways to operate on a profitable basis.

"If we are to have public ownership, unbridled and uncontrolled, we must pay the price. Therefore the railways are unable to operate profitably under present freight rates. How can we oppose their request for higher rates?"

Three Oshawa Men Jailed For Burglarizing Cottages

NORTH BAY, Dec. 9—(CP).—Two of three Oshawa men who recently burglarized 12 summer homes in the Timagami area were sentenced today to two years in the Kingston Penitentiary. The third will go to the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph on a sentence of 18 months determinate and three months indeterminate.

The two sent to the penitentiary were Wilfred Woods and Alex Marcenik. Each had previous convictions on his record. The third was Louis Rundle. He had no previous police record.

Provincial Constable H. J. Morel, Timagami, told the court he had been informed by the manager of the Hudson's Bay post on Bear Island, that cottages around the lake had been burglarized.

Place Ransacked

They first visited Camp Acouchiching, owned by Reg. O'Connell. Doors had been smashed open and the place thoroughly ransacked.

At the next summer home visited, one owned by Vera Parson, Rundle, was found hiding in one of the rooms. He told the officers that his two companions were hunting in the vicinity. The officers located Woods and Marcnik and placed them under arrest.

At the Parson cottage, the officers found an accumulation of articles evidently brought there from other summer homes. They placed the total value of the articles in excess of $3,000. Included were four outboard motors, two rifles, two skiffs, one canoe, clothes, food, bed clothes, kitchen utensils, lanterns and a wide variety of articles from other cottages.

TRENTON, Dec. 9.—A former resident of Trenton, Mrs. P. Theriault and her two children, Joe and Marianne, are homeless in the Yukon Teritory as a result of fire caused by the explosion of an oil furance, according to word received by her mother, Mrs. Dolan of Trenton.

Ten cents, a lipstick and a housecoat are the only possessions left to the young wife who joined her husband, Flt.-Sgt. Theriault, a month ago in Whitehorse where she was able, for the first time, to unpack unsued wedding presents in their first real home.

Cedar chest, fur coat, bonds, cash and a new chesterfield suite were lost. The furniture had been shipped the long way around up the coast of Alaska and had just been installed in their newly decorated home.

Mrs. Thieriault, a registered nurse, flung blankets around her two children and felt her way out of the smoke-filled house to the comparattive safety of 40 below zero.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—(CP)—New York Rangers today announced a player-cash deal bringing Alan Stanley, 22-year-old Timmins defenceman, from Providence Reds of the American Hockey League to the National Hockey League club.

Truman Believes Espionage Inquiry Just Red Herring

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 —(AP). —President Truman said today he still believes the congressional inquiry into Communist spy activities is a "red herring."

That was his reply when asked about it at a press conference. At the same time he said that Attorney General Clark will see that the law is enforced in connection with documents stolen from the State Department.

The House of Representatives Un-American Activities committee, inquiring into alleged Communist espionage, has received from Whittaker Chambers a bunch of documents allegdely stolen from the State Department back in 1937 and 1938.

In reply to today's question, Truman said the people seem to think the inquiry still is a "red herring."

"Do you?" a reporter persisted.

The President replied that yes, he did.

A reported, asked whether the President felt the committee should be abolished.

Truman replied that Congress would have to take care of that matter. He suggested that his questioner see the Speaker of the House of Representatives for his answer.

While Truman was holding his conference, the House committee was meeting in a closed session.

In the background was:

1. A member's charge that the Administration is trying to 'silence" the House of Representatives Un-American Activities committee.

2. Testimony that "many more than 10" Russian spy rings either have been, or still are, operating in this country.

Representative Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.)) acting chairman, told reporters he believes the mystery of the pilfered documents will be fully solved before the committee hears out the 11 witnesses it plans to summon during the next few days.

Ran Big Risk Must Pay Price—Judge

Playing With Fire As Canadian Law Strict About Perjury

TORONTO, Dec. 9 — (CP) — James Craig, private detective, today was sentenced to three years in prison for perjury arising out of divorce actions.

Craig pleaded guilty Dec. 2 to two charges and innocent to six others. The Crown accepted his plea.

Mrs. Audrey Watt, 20-year-old dress model, testified she had accepted money from Craig to fabricate evidence of adultery with Craig's clients. The eight charges against Craig dealt with fabrication of evidence and inciting witness to collusive acts in connection with divorce cases.

Judge Ian Macdonell told Craig as he passed sentence: "I can't help feeling that you must have known you were playing with fire.

"You must have known the risks you were running and that the penalty would be severe if you were caught.

"You no doubt had it in mind that because of the prevalence of collusion and fabricating evidence both here, in England, and other countries where the adultery standard is maintained in divorces, my sentence would be lenient."

"But the Crown takes the view that despite the fact that divorce laws of this country are unpopular there is absolutely no justification for perjury."

Voting Average At Parry Sound

PARRY SOUND, Dec. 9—(CP) —Fair weather prevailed and all roads were open for traffic as this scattered constituency voted today in Ontario's first provincial by-election since its Progressive Conservative government was re-elected last June 7.

Voting in the riding's 102 polls —which opened at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.—was reported as "average up to mid-morning. Party organizations predicted there would be a heavy turnout in all sections among the 14,000 eligible voters.

The contest called to fill a vacancy left in the 90-seat legislature by the death last summer of Charles W. Cragg, a Progressive Conservative, developed into a fight between Dr. M. T. Armstrong, dentist, Liberal; Roy Smith, carpenter, CCF; and Allister Johnston, insurance agent, Progressive Conservative.

All three candidates are from Parry Sound which, with 6,000 population, is the largest centre in the 700-square-mile constituency which has the same boundaries as Parry Sound district.

The riding's 102 polls opened at 8 a.m. and were due to close at 7 p.m. Some 14,000 persons are eligible to vote.

Engineer Acquitted On Wounding Charge

SARNIA, Dec. 9—(CP)—Acquitted on a charge of wounding five Canadian Seamen's Union members with a shotgun, 49-year-old Melville Murphy is free today, after hearing the presiding judge term him "a fortunate man."

Chief engineer on the Canada Steamship Lines freighter Lethbridge when the vessel was boarded by CSU pickets last July, Murphy admitted shooting the men without warning because he considered the incident a case of emergency. He felt he had to protect fellow crew members.

Judge E. A. Shaunessy Wednesday told the jury he found himself unable to agree with their verdict but was bound to accept it. To Murphy, a father of five children, he said: 'You are a fortunate man. It might easily have been a different verdict. Men must learn that they cannot go around firing off firearms right and left."

Spend $525 Million For Drinks

6,543,000 Gallons Said Consumed By Visitors, Canadians

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 — (CP) — Canadians and their visitors spent $525,000,000 quenching their thirst with alcoholic beverages in the year ended March, 1947, the latest period for which their drinking expenses have been computed.

The figures were announced Wednesday by the Bureau of Statistics, which remarked that several million visiting tourists helped run up the bill. It did not attempt to compute how much of the cheque Canadians paid.

It was the first time the Bureau had computed the total bill for alcoholic beverages. In previous years the margin of profit on the re-sale of drinks in public places has not been available. In the 12 months included in the summary issued this year that figure was computed at $98,000,000.

Provincial liquor control boards and their agents sold $427,000,000 worth of drinks during the period ending March, 1947. The previous year they issued $373,000,000 worth of bottles and jugs.

Next Bill Higher

If thirst was an expensive thing in the 1946-47 period covered by the report it was clear that the bill for a lot of cocktails and beers in the following 12 months will be higher.

In the 12 months ended March, 1948, Canadians—and their visitors—polished off an additional 800,000 gallons. Their spirit consumption in the fiscal year ended in 1947 was 6,543,000 proof gallons. The preliminary estimate for the last fiscal year is 7,320,000 proof gallons.

Beer consumption was also higher. That rose from 146,981,000 gallons to 165,743,000. Wine was down. The country's consumption of domestic and imported wines was only 5,214,000 gallons compared to 5,584,000.

The Bureau takes an objective view of the whole business of drinking but its report did include a couple of facts which could be calculated to reduce the possible expostulations directed by teetotallers to drinkers. One was the matter of tourists.

Visitors Swell Total

"It must be remembered," said the Bureau's report, "that this figure ($525,000,000) includes the expenditures on alcoholic beverages not only of Canadians but of tourists and other visitors to Canada who number many million annually."

The other factor was the amount of the bill that goes right into federal or provincial treasuries—more than half the total cost of sipping or quaffing alcoholic beverages.

Federal duties and taxes accounted for $145,402,000 of the total. The net profits of the Liquor Control boards took another $119,454,445.

Mine Strikers Attack Saskatchewan MPP

ESTEVAN, Sask., Dec. 9 (CP) —Quiet prevailed today at the strike-bound property of the western Dominion Company coal mine at nearby Roche Percee following a scuffle in which a provincial member of the legislature was injured.

The strike, which started Nov. 3 with miners seeking wage increases from seven operators, moved into a new stage with the fracas involving Edward McCormack, Liberal member of the legislature for the Estevan-Bienfait district.

About 25 strikers and 10 wives were reported Wednesday to have made their way to company buildings where McCormack and about 10 S.C.M.U. men were talking. The marchers were said to have asked McCormack why he did not remain neutral since he was an elected representative of the people. Then, it was reported, McCormack was beaten and scratched and told to drive away in his car.

have left the Cabinet, and new men appointed. Obviously that is a copious injection of new blood into the ranks of the Liberal administration.

"I think it should impress you young Liberals as significent that Mike Pearson and S. S. Garson gave up important positions to come to Ottawa. That indicates their faith in the government and in the future of the Liberal party."

Represents All Classes

"The Liberal party is the only one in this country that represents all groups and classes, and with representatives from all the provinces. The Conservative party has no representatives in several provinces. It is trying to build itself up again, but I don't think it will again be the great national party it once was."

"The CCF with promises of greater benefits and lower taxes has not been very successful in Saskatchewan. They could govern only by the enforcement of rigid control. Canadians submitted to controls during the war as a means of winning it. Social Credit party have not put their ideas into practice in Alberta, but they have given good government along normal lines. The Communists are doing their utmost to disrupt the industrial organization of this country."

Mr. Gibson briefly referred to the record of the Liberal government through the war years, giving leadership to Canada's great contribution to victory. "It is most gratifying to know that we expended billions of dollars, but there was no financial scandal, and no sign of undue profits made by any individual."

The government had continued its success through the postwar period. "I think that Canada has looked after its veterans of the war better than any other country. We have done our best to get them re-established. Reconversion of industry has been accomplished witnout unemployment. We came out of the war as the third trading nation, and we think it is entirely safe to say that our standards of living are not excelled by any other people."

Mr. Gibson said the government was coming through another thorny problem in the gradual removal of wartime controls.

"Rent controls are still with us. Normally, that should be under provincial direction. We offered to turn it over to the provinces, but not one of them has made any move to assume what is really a provincial responsibility."

"The Liberal government has set up social services that are of great value all across Canada, old age pensions, unemployment insurance, family allowance and the new health program. They were put into effect against opposition which did not continue until these matters were settled on the floor of the House. The Opposition dared not vote against them."

"You remember that Mr. Drew described family allowances as 'iniquitous legislation,' but the Progressive Conservatives now suggest that they would extend the benefits of the family allowance measure. That contradiction shows just about how much faith the people could put in the opposition parties."

Defends Order-in-Council

Mr. Gibson explained to the young Liberals that the method of order-in-council was used by any government in power, for a wide variety of action, appointments of civil servants, expending monies as authorized and so on. These orders were all numbered and open to examination at any time. "And yet you hear now and again criticisms about alleged secret orders-in-council. There is nothing secret about this practice. The orders-in-council are available to the public at any time. That is about all the Opposition has to talk about."

Mr. Gibson paid a fine tribute to Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King and his political record and eminence, recalled his talent in selecting capable men to assist him in the government, one of the last of whom, Hon. Louis St.-Laurent, was his successor as leader of the Liberals.

To the young Liberals, typical of the Canadian youth who had helped bring victory to the forces of freedom, Mr. Gibson said that it most imperative that they take part in politics to protect and maintain the liberties for which so many of young people of their own age had died.

Mr. Jack Sackville moved a vote of thanks to Hon. Mr. Gibson, and the meeting adjourned into a business session.

HASTINGS, Dec. 9—(ENS)—For failing to remain at the scene of an accident on Dec. 1, Douglas Wittly, Guelph, was fined $25 with an alternatice of 15 days in jail. The magistrate was R. B. Baxter and Constable D. Nichol, OPP, Cobourg, gave evidence.

Four Found Drunk

Four men were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs on Thursday when they were found guilty of being drunk in public. They were John Lind and Alex Sorley of 684 Park St., Charles Taylor of King St. and John Lind, 684 Park St.

Stewart Sparling Appointed County Assessor

Stewart G. Sparling, 36, present Assessment Commissioner for East Whitby Twp. was on Wednesday appointed assessor for Peterborough county. His duties begin Jan. 1, 1949.

(Because of considerable dissatisfaction with the equalized assessm[illegible]ures in June, this year, it was decided that applications should be received for a county assessor. In advertisements in the press, the salary was set at $2,500 a year with six-cents-a-mile travelling expenses. Applications were to be in by Nov. 1 and duties would commence Jan. 1.)

A secial committee under Ernest Leeson, reeve of Havelock, reviewed 36 applications and by Wednesday morning these had been reduced to eight. Because of the criticism of one of the applicants to the method of choice, all applications were read to the whole council.

By mid-afternoon it was decided that Mr. Sparling was the best qualified of those who had applied for the position. But not all members were of the opinion that an assessor was necessary.

4 Reeves Opposed

Reeves Ernest Leeson and Jeremiah Mahoney moved that the special committee's finding that Mr. Sparling be accepted as county assessor at a salary of $3,000 a year and travelling expenses, be accepted. The motion carried with Reeves Griffith, Flynn, Wilson and Hall in opposition and Pearson abstaining.

"We are getting the cart before the horse in this resolution saying we are going to hire a county assessor," said Reeve Griffith, the most outspoken of the dissenters. "I make a motion that we do not hire an assessor."

"It's not fair to the general public td advertise at a salary of $2,500 and now raise it to $3,000," he said. "There may have been better applicants at $3,000."

"My feeling is that if you want a man for a county assessor you won't get a more qualified one at that salary," said Reeve Leeson.

Reeve Pearson of Galway and Cavendish, expressed mixed feelings on the appointment. He said he liked the applicant and was sure he was capable, but he added, "the assessor may be good for the lower part of the county but not for our part in the north."

School Grants Blow

"When it comes to school grants we certainly will suffer," he stated, "and there is also a danger to our road grants. We get 80 cents on the dollar for some roads and for others 90 cents. I don't want to come down here and vote against my people's interests."

Reeve Leeson replied that the hiring of the assessor was not aimed against the north. "It's a good thing for every municipality in this county," he said. "Assessment rolls are not in good shape in this county."

After the motion had carried, Reeve Leeson commented, "I hope it's for the benefit of every municipality, and I'm sure it will be."

Western Oils Head Dip On Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 9—)CP)—Western oils led a downturn as action increased steadily on the Toronto stock exchange today. Industrials also showed an easier tone despite early attempts at firming. Base metals weakened in mid-session and golds held steady.

Brisk selling hit the western oil list from the opening bell. Pacific Petroleum traded for a 29-cent loss and Anglo-Canadian slipped 35 cents. Home Oil was very active for a 1⅛ loss and Central Leduc and Decalta were heavy traders.

Refining oils reflected the weak western oils, dipping fractionally in a dull industrial market. Imperial Bank sold at a new high and some steels and papers strengthened. Utilities sagged slightly in quiet action, partially caused by a large number of industrial issues selling ex-dividend today.

Key base metals issues slipped slightly in mid-session. Smelters, Hudson Bay and Noranda were down fractions. Gold moved irregularly, holding steady on mixed gains and losses.

Expect To Sign Newfoundland Draft Saturday

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 — (CP). — Canadian and Newfoundland negotiators began work to-day on the finishing touches of a document they hope to sign Saturday paving the way for the ancient colony to enter Confederation as the tenth province.

Late Wednesday, after two months of conferences here, it was announced that the terms of union would be signed Saturday.

Hon. Brooke Claxton, Defence Minister and deputy chairman of the Cabinet Committee on Union, presided over Wednesday's meeting which saw all major points of difference ironed out.

He and the Hon. A. J. Walsh, chairman of the Newfoundland negotiating team, issued a joint announcement that they planned to have the signing ceremony in the Senate Chamber Saturday.

Eleventh Draft

Mr. Claxton noted the fact that the draft agreed upon was the eleventh on which the negotiators have labored, also that the date chosen for the signing was the anniversary of the Westminster statute of 1931 which recognized Canada as a free and independent member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The ceremony, details of which have not been worked out, will be broadcast over a national radio network and also in Newfoundland.

The terms will not be made public until shortly before the signing ceremony, Saturday, if the negotiators follow present plans.

Next stage in the union procedure will be for the Canadian Parliament to ratify the terms and for the Newfoundland Commission of Government to obtain approval from the United Kingdom Government.

When those approvals have been obtained, the way will be open for Canada to ask the approval of the United Kingdom Parliament for the inclusion of Newfoundland in the Canadian Confederation.

The hope is that the final act of union may be held with considerable ceremony in St. John's on March 31 next.

Emergency Fund Chairman Makes Appeal For Support

By FRED G. MANN

Fellow citizens will elsewhere in this issue read of the formation of a Peterborough and District Branch of the United Emergency Fund for Britain. This organization is national in both character and scope, and its aims are worthy of the unstinted support of every individual who acknowledges allegiance to Canada and the British Empire of whom she forms a part.

The aims of the organization are both humanitarian and economic, the former, because in the midst of plenty, made abundant through the sacrifice of both their blood and their financial assets, our brothers and sisters overseas are living with a mere subsistence diet, and the latter, because in helping them through this Fund, we help ourselves in an economic way, with large surpluses looming, which if not used wisely might well turn to our own economic ruin.

During the war, this city and district did a magnificent job in helping the British people, and now once again our opportunity lies at hand to once again demonstrate that quality of character that will rise to the occasion when a genuine need is placed before it.

Particularly is this so at this blessed season of the year, when thoughts of those in need, far outweigh personal consideration or selfishness.

So with memories that inspire one's thoughts of the days gone by, the chairman of the local branch of this organization once again comes forward to appeal to the people of this city and district, to lend a helping hand by supporting the fund.

Your donation may be left at any bank in the city, or forwarded through any bank in the district, or sent to the chairman, Fred G. Mann, at 199 London St., or the secretary of the committee, Mr. D. J. Eldred, 437 Sheridan St.

Cancel Sunday Factory Shifts

TORONTO, Dec. 9.— (CP).— Ontario's factories will be quiet this Sunday for the first time in over a month, following the announcement Wednesday by Hydro Commission Chairman Robert Saunders that industry need no longer work on Sunday to save power.

Recent rains "in the right places" and continued wet weather have brought increased output from generating plants in both Ontario and Quebec, said Mr. Saunders in a speech at Kitchener.

The Hydro chairman said it was also likely that no increase in power restrictions would be made before the end of January, provided present favorable conditions continue.

His announcement ended one part of the program of staggered working hours adopted by industry at the request of the Comsion for better utilization of night-time and week-end power from Hydro generators at Queenston and Beauharnois and steam generators in the Buffalo, N.Y., area.

A Highway Across Canada?

Next Tuesday the premiers of the nine provinces, or their representatives will assemble in Ottawa at the invitation of Resources Minister MacKinnon to discuss the Trans-Canada Highway. The Highway exists in bits and pieces now. It is on maps (we publish one on another page of this issue); it was planned and segmentary work done in the '30's; it is much in the air, but it does not yet cross Canada.

The nation is now sufficiently old, important and wealthy for its citizens to have the right to travel across it by road without having to cross into a foreign country. The one gap in the road is in highway-proud Ontario—a stretch of 250 miles on the north shore of Lake Superior between the Montreal River and Schreiber. There are many hundreds of miles elsewhere where the road could have been called a highway in 1848 but not in 1948.

The road is needed for trade and commerce. It is needed for the development of thinly populated areas, as the railways were needed fifty years ago. It is needed now for the same reason that the first highway in Ontario — Yonge Street which ran from Toronto to Lake Simcoe—was built by the Queen's Rangers in 1794 under the direction of Governor Simcoe. That is, it is needed for military purposes. Modern armies cannot travel entirely on rails and wings.

The Ottawa conference on the Trans-Canada highway will certainly result in some constructive action, for the Federal Government is willing to provide money for it, and the Conservative Party has the building of the Highway on its platform. Most discussion will centre on three topics: financial arrangements, route, and type of construction. Although highways in Canada are under provincial jurisdiction, there is good reason for having a National Highway, and ample precedent for the Federal Government providing money for highway construction. (In 1920 the Conservative Government voted twenty million dollars for building and improving highways throughout the country.) The route will be a contentious issue, particularly in the West, for municipalities thrive or decline on roads, as they did fifty years ago on rail routes. We hope that the proceedings which begin next Tuesday will be conducted with sweet reasonableness, and that out of them will blossom a King's Highway of Canada.

Frustrated Crusader

Late in November Miss Anna M. Jarvis of Philadelphia died at the age of 84; it was she who evolved the notion of celebrating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day. Miss Jarvis was not herself a mother, and her devotion to her own mother was her inspiration in the crusade which filled her life. She spent all her private fortune in advancing her idea, she persuaded President Wilson and the U.S. Congress to give official sanction to her celebration, and she even laid successful claim to the second Sunday in May as a form of personal property; at any rate, she successfully prevented a celebration of which she disapproved on that day in 1923; she was, in her own person, the Mother's Day International Association.

It is a regrettable characteristic of the age in which we live that simple emotions which most decent people feel are so flogged and trumpeted by boosters, exploiters, sentimentalists and kindred riff-raff that many of us are compelled to deny what we genuinely feel. Most men and women love and honour their mothers, in some degree, but very few decent people will submit to the ballyhoo which has grown up around Mother's Day. Florists, candy-makers and, of late years, whisky distillers have cashed in on the emotion of filial piety in a disgusting and repellent manner. Mrs. Jarvis fought the commercialization of Mother's Day all her life, but it was a losing fight. And, if she had been a woman of greater experience, she would have seen that her idea was doomed to failure before she launched it; the tender feeling between mother and child cannot be fostered by national movements, and by the maudlin exhortations of hucksters. Filial affection has not been discredited by Mother's Day, but any public expression of it has been rendered impossible for persons of normal sensitivity.

Miss Jarvis' intention was good, but her scheme took a wrong turning.

The Canadian Middle View

Canadian opinion is often distinguished by moderation on matters which move our southern neighbours to extremes. For instance, it is widely believed and often said in the U.S.A. at present, that the world is not big enough to hold both communist and capitalist governments. But during the past six weeks we have heard a number of Canadians who have had first-hand experience of the communist governments of Europe express quite different views; tolerance, and even a measure of co-operation, is possible in their opinion; certainly they cannot see why war between the western world and the communist states should be considered inevitable.

Recently a Canadian student, William Kilbourn, who has been travelling in Eastern Europe, said these words in a B.B.C. broadcast:

"I said I became a little confused soon after I visited in Eastern Europe. But I have come away with at least one doubt partially dispelled. I do not believe that the Communist regimes are so perniciously totalitarian and oppressive as to preclude the possibility of getting along with them peacefully. I think there is still a place in this world for an organization like International Student Service, or any organization which has members on both sides of the Iron Curtain who are sincerely doing their best to bridge the gap between the West and the East".

This, we feel is a genuinely Canadian opinion, expressed by a man who has had some actual experience of the European situation. We would be far wiser to be guided by such expressions than by the excited and often ill-informed declarations which reach us from below the border.

A Gift Of "Alice"

At Christmas, 1864, the Reverend C. L. Dodgson ('Lewis Carroll') presented a hand-written manuscript of stories he had told her to Alice Liddell, daughter of the Dean of Christ Church, Oxford, as "A Christmas Gift to a Dear Child in Memory of a Summer Day". It was the original of the later expanded 'Alice's Adventures In Wonderland. The girl who became Mrs. Reginald Hargreaves kept the manuscript in her possession until 1928, when it was sold to an American collector—the British Museum being unable to afford to buy it. At a later sale that year it fetched $150,000. It came on the market again after the recent war. Dr. Luther Evans, Librarian of Congress, heard of the impending sale when ill in bed. He telephoned to a number of friends, received enough promises of financial support from them, and instructed a dealer to buy it for him.

The manuscript was bought — for $50,000—and last month Dr. Evans completed the mission which he intended in making the purchase. He presented it to the British Museum as "a measure of cultural reparation" and "a gift from certain persons in the United States to the British people, as the slightest sort of token of recognition for the fact that they held off Hitler while we got ready for war".

It is the kind of personal, spontaneous generosity for which the Americans are famous and which endears them individually to people the world over.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The end of the honeymoon has been reached when your wife stops helping you with the dishes.

A geography note says that a fifth of Canada is drained by the Mackenzie. The Ottawa Citizen comments that it is all drained by the Abbott.

A Harvard freshman of 14 reads Latin for amusement. And if the moralists knew what was considered amusing by Latin authors, they would forget about the comic books and concentrate on him.

A Los Angeles woman is being publicly criticized for shooting her husband before chopping him up with a cleaver. It seems to us that she showed a wifely anxiety that he should not suffer needlessly.

Mr. Drew is in the news for very nearly punching a prohibitionist on the nose. The question is, if he had made his nose bleed, would it have been permissible to say that he had "tapped his claret"? Politics are growing livelier, and as this situation may arise again any time we should like to have the matter cleared up.

From The Critic's Notebook

DEFEAT IN THE WEST by Milton Shulman (S. J. Reginald Saunders). This book tells from one point of view why the Germans lost the war. The writer, Major Shulman, is a Canadian who served at Canadian Army Headquarters as an intelligent officer. From this coign of vantage he assessed the German war machine and saw it in operation after D-Day. After the surrender at Rheims he interviewed a dozen defeated generals and collated their stories with the record.

The story of the defeat is incisively told. The writing is lively though not sensational. The theme and facts are so sensational that a writer who knows the subject needs no artifices to make a startling account of the German army which all but conquered Europe in 1940 and which disintegrated in a bunker in Berlin in the spring of 1945. The London Spectator has termed "Defeat In The West" as "one of the most interesting and important books of the war".

WHAT a theme of grandiose adventuring and national tragedy the book has! History does not record the like of the German defeat and most Allied soldiers who witnessed even a small part of it would hope that the world never sees its like again. The victors could not be joyful in the face of it. Major Shulman does service to the future in revealing that the German nation did not succumb merely because of the Nazis and Hitler. He shows that the German general staff was out-generaled, that the Prussian hierarchy blundered violently time and again, and that the German people as well as the senior military officials earned defeat through their lack of moral judgement and their submission to or condonement of Nazi practices. He says: "Each mistake that led to Germany's ultimate defeat was compounded of the same elements—a Fuhrer who was guided by intuition rather than logic, a group of advisors who consistently underestimated and misappreciated the moral and physical capacity of their opponents, a military clique that allowed itself to be kept in the dark and was too disciplined or too self-seeking to protest even when it began to see the light. And again—because it cannot be repeated too often — these mistakes were man-made and they were made in Germany".

SHULMAN catalogues the German mistakes thus: (1) The failurue to destroy the British army at Dunkirk. (Von Rundstedt called it "one of the great turning points of the war. If I had my way the English would not have got off so lightly at Dunkirk. But my hands were tied by direct orders from Hitler himself.") (2) The failure to invade England in 1940. They did not invade because their military intelligence erred in grossly overestimating the armed strength in Britain, because many of the general staff thought invasion then was not feasible, and because of Hitler. Hitler thought that Britain would make peace. After the huge victory parade in Paris in 1940 an order was published demobilizing 50 German divisions. Hitler told a meeting of staff officers, even before the last days of France, (this is according to General Blumentritt, Chief of Staff to Von Rundstedt) "There were two fundamental established institutions which, for the time being must be recognized as essential cornerstones in the framework of Western civilization — the Catholic Church and the British Empire." The power and strength of these two forces must be accepted as faits accomplis, and Germany must see that, for the moment, they be maintained".

Other "mistakes" were: (3) The failure to take Gibraltar (4) The attack against Russia. Hitler feared that Russia was making a deal with Britain, and was afraid that troop movements to Russia's western borders late in 1940 were Russian preparations for a 'stab in the back'. As early as December 18, 1940, Hitler and the general staff were planning to stab—"to crush Soviet Russia in a quick campaign before the end of the war against England" were the words in a secret military directive to heads of services. (5) The encouragement of Japan's participation in the war and the consequent entry of the U.S. (6) The German refusal to put more guns and men into the North African campaign. (7) The German tactics in the first weeks after D-Day.

SHULMAN'S catalogue is plausibly set down but an American, a Russian or a German could assess the reasons for defeat differently. There were some very large "mistakes", which the author does not notice —for instance, the failure to provide for war which might continue after "blitzkrieg"—specifically the concentration of the German aviation industry on fighters and the lack of bombing planes. Further, can a decision not to invade England in 1940 be considered a mistake if it was not militarily possible? Could Germany afford to send more men and equipment to Africa and Italy when it had to be on guard in the west and fight a bloody and large war on the east? Was it a "mistake" to invade Russia if the Russians were sooner or later planning to attack Germany? The author is a little too smug after the event, a little too sure of the superiority of our military Intelligence compared with the German, and too narrow in his assessments. He seems to be relying rather heavily on the testimony of a few German generals who directed campaigns on the British and Canadian front.

THE author relates that when Cherbourg was captured and the battle in northern France lost (29 June) Keitel called Von Rundstedt on the telephone: "What shall we do? What shall we do?" Von Rundstedt replied in a cool impassive voice: "What shall you do? Make peace, you idiots! What else can you do?" and calmly hung up the receiver.

Peace might have come sooner if the plot to kill Hitler on July 20th had been successful. It was no small or sudden affair. It involved German generals (both retired and active), churchmen, discontented Prussian nobility, socialists, and Nazis who belonged to inner councils. It was a coup d'etat which failed. The extent of it is indicated by the estimate that 4980 persons were executed for complicity in it or for suspected animosity toward the regime. One of the casualties was Field Marshal Rommel. The Germans officially pretended that their hero of Africa died as a result of wounds received in mid-July. The testimony of Rommel's 17-year-old son is that Rommel had almost completely recovered from his wounds by October. It seems that Hitler found out that Rommel, had he not been injured a few days before July 20th, might have taken an active part in the plot and that he was at least aware of it. The son says that Rommel was taken away on October 14th by two generals and given the option of suicide or standing trial. He chose the former way to death.

MUCH of the book is given over to an analysis from Canadian Intelligence Staff level of the German staff plans and action in battles on the British-Canadian front from D-Day onward. It is of special interest to men who were doing the fighting and did not know (or care at the time) about the larger tactical setting. The story of defeat in the west gathers intensity as it draws closer to the final days on April 1945. The account of the last month is stupendous, but not more so than the actual events, or the official records of them in British and American military files.

Shulman's statement of the great defeat suffers from being too near the event, lopsided in both emphasis and detail, and too highly coloured. No combatant officer would have written that "Standing on the left bank of the Rhine with a force of 4,000,000 men was a triumphant Anglo-American-French force pawing restlessly at the ground for the final lunge into Germany". Nevertheless, or perhaps because of its timeliness and colour, "Defeat In The West" is an important book and readable. Studies more scholarly will follow it, other records will complement it, but none will completely gainsay it. T.J.A.

Current Press Opinion

Quebec Alone Lacks Liability Law

Montreal Gazette: Alone among the nine provinces, Quebec still lacks some form of auto accident liability law for both the protection of accident victims and the curbing of irresponsibility on the part of drivers. Hope of seeing one enacted still persists, however, and a recent bulletin of the Royal Automobile Club discloses that renewed efforts are to be made to induce the provincial government to act in the matter, preferably at the session of the Legislature which opens in January.

The R.A.C. favors a financial responsibility law "with teeth in it" to strengthen its enforcement. This type of law in force elsewhere usually does not compel all motorists to carry liability insurance, but does stipulate that if a driver who is not covered has an accident, his driving licence shall be suspended until he has settled damage claims against him and taken out protection against future claims. In some cases, such as Ontario, a fund has been set up by a nominal levy on motorists to ensure that damages will be paid where a driver involved in an accident has no assets.

In the eight Canadian provinces and the 38 states of the United States where liability laws or compulsory insurance rules are in effect, they have had beneficial results not only in protecting the public against reckless and financially irresponsible drivers but in reducing the volume of accidents. With an exceptionally high rate of traffic accidents and fatalities and with consequently stiff rates for liability insurance, Quebec is particularly in need of legislation of this category.

Pay In Advance

Owen Sound Sun-Times: If municipalities were allowed to estimate their future capital expenditures and levy now, in prosperous times, an amount equal to the annual debt charges for the estimated capital expenditure, they would have good-sized reserves ready for use when the time to undertake these projects arrived.

They would not only obtain their money from taxpayers in years when these taxpayers could best afford to pay; they would actually save these taxpayers money by being able to pay cash for at least a portion of the total capital expenditure, thereby avoiding interest charges on debentures.

The law says that municipalities must not display foresight, must not be prudent, must not save.

The Beer-Drinker

Kingston Whig-Standard: Provision of additional facilities for legally drinking liquor or beer in public by the Drew Government was a step in the right direction—for those who have the money to go in that direction. But what did the Drew Government do to lift from the beverage rooms the unspoken dictum, "You may drink, but in circumstances that make drinking vaguely disreputable"?

The man who can only afford a few glasses of beer must still drin kin drab, crowded surroundings, in which practically everything but drinking is frowned on; he must not listen to music, he must not play games, he must not eat (unless he considers potato chips edible), and he must not laugh loudly. He may drink, however, as quickly as he can guzzle the stuff.

Beverage rooms have been like that since they were made legal by the government of Mr. Mitchell Hepburn.

PUPIL'S OPINION ON TEACHERS

Sir: Regarding the teachers' salaries, I, as a pupil, would like to say that E.M.B. does not know what the teachers are really up against.

They work hard trying to teach us our abc's. It isn't easy without your nerves working overtime. I know they must have a hard time teaching us for we're far from perfect.

Does E.M.B. know the extra work they do after hours? Examples are getting after the pupils and see they do their homework (sometimes after four), marking homework, tests, examination papers, acting in sports, clubs, etc.

Maybe the latter two should not be participated in by the teachers, but then neither the pupils would be satisfied, or the parents.

In the summer, some of them go to a summer school. They aren't going to benefit their health.

Why not give the teachers credit? Without them, there wouldn't be a future Canada that has a thorough education.

Yours very truly,
A PUPIL.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter; choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season; esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasurers in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompence of the reward. (Heb. 11: 24-26.)

But the Egyptians pursued after them, all the hosts and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horsemen, and his army, and overtook them encamping by the sea, beside Pi-habirroth, before Baal-zephon. And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Israel lifted up their eyes, and, behold, the Egyptians marched after them; and they were sore afraid: and the children of Israel cried out unto the Lord.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Wherefore criest thou unto me? speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward: but lift thou up thy rod, and stretch out thine hand over the sea, and divide it: and the children of Israel shall go on dry ground through the midst of the sea....

And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; and the Lord caused the sea to go back by a strong east wind all that night, and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided. And the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea upon the dry ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left....

Thus the Lord saved Israel that day out of the hand of the Egyptians. (Ex. 14: 9, 10, 15. 16, 21, 22, 30.)

St. Paul's WA Accounts Are In Good Shape

BETHANY, Dec. 9.—(ENS).—St. Paul's Anglican Women's Association voted $100 to the wardens of the church and $20 to the Sunday school at the December meeting at the home of Mrs. Roy Jarvis.

It was announced that proceeds of the bazaar held in November amounted to $471.44. The Ladies' Guild sales realized $42.60, the Igloo contained $9.91 and there was $22.89 in the allotment box for monthly contributions. Mrs. Allan Gribble and Mrs. J. J. Hamilton were appointed to buy Christmas gifts for the Sunday school children.

The WA joined the Guild of the Bishop's Messengers of St. Faith's at Swan River and paid a five-year subscription in advance. It was decided to order a new study book for the coming year. A parcel of useful articles was given to a family which had recently arrived from England.

Mrs. Gault gave a short talk on the highlights of the latest "Living Message," and said how grateful they should be to have Canon and Mrs. Montgomery as missionaries in Aklavik. She also strongly endorsed the decision to make use of the Study Book.

The Rev. Mr. Gault took charge of the election of officers, for which ballots were distributed, and all the officers were returned by acclamation as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. T. S. Gault; president, Mrs. (Dr.) J. J. Hamilton; first vice-president, Mrs. Allan Gribble; second vice-president, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds; secretary, Mrs. Roy Jarvis; treasurer, Miss Winnifred Nesbitt.

Mr. Gault offered the congratulations of the members to Mrs. Hamilton on having been appointed deanery officer for the next two years at the deanery meeting held in Cannington.

The appointment of committees was left until the January meeting, which will be held at the rectory. Mr. Gault closed the meeting with prayer and lunch was served by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Ralph Wood, Mrs. R. Palmer and Miss W. Nesbitt.

Truck And Transport Collide Near Trenton

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 9.— Two truck drivers escaped serious injury or possible death shortly after 7 Wednesday morning when a Canada Bread delivery truck and a Direct-Winters transport were in an almost head-on collision a short distance east of the Trenton Air Station.

Suffering from head cuts and lacerations is Gordon Ackerman, Trenton, driver of the Canada Bread truck, who was given first aid at the RCAF hospital. Driver of the transport, Hugh Young, Belleville, escaped with a shaking up. The cab of the transport and the front end of the bread truck were completely wrecked.

All three are in Northumberland county and much of their success was credited to the assistance received from A. A. Martin, public school inspector.

Orangemen At Lakefield Mark 100th Anniversary

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 9 (ENS)—The Lakefield Orange Lodge, Beresford L.O.L. No. 122, last night celebrated its 100th anniversary. Actually it should have been celebrating its 115th anniversary as the warrant was issued in 1848, but the lodge had then been in existence for 15 years.

The warrant was not issued because no plates were engraved for the issuing of warrants before 1844.

The lodge originally met in Smith in a house north of the House of Refuge, on the west side of the river. When this burned down they moved further up the road to what was then known as Smithdown and eventually to Lakefield. The first worshipful master was Benjamin Beresford, of Smith, Ontario, after whom the lodge was named.

Over 200 people attended the banquet and Roland Darling, Grand Lecturer of the Black Chapter and treasurer of the local lodge presided.

Edward Payne, county master, introduced the guest speaker, Most Worthy Master of British America R. Hardy-Small (the highest position in the lodge) of Toronto.

Mr. Hardy-Small stated that any organization that attains 100 years must have been of service to the community or it would not have survived. He said no one need be afraid of the job of the Orange association is going to do. They are steadfastly maintaining the high ideals and principals handed down by their fathers.

The Orangeman takes the obligation to bring up all under his control as Christians. Attempts are constantly being made by various "isms" to break down our Sunday and make it a pagan holiday. The organization believes in keeping Sunday a day of worship.

"There is," said Mr. Hardy-Small, "no such thing as juvenile delinquency—it is parental delinquency. There is no delinquency in Christian homes." There are leaders of this organization in every community, continually active, constantly alert guarding the Dominion's interests.

In closing he asked the people to adhere to their principles, to lead Christian lives, to attend church and to back up their ministry.

Presented Gavels

Brother Payne also presented Brother Cephas Bullock, Master of the Lakefield Lodge, with two gavels made out of oak more than 100 years old.

Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., spoke briefly. He said the Orange Order has a job to do and more so now than every before and stressed that any job worth doing was worth doing well. The Orange Order is based on faith in God.

W. J. Armstrong, editor of the Sentinel, of Toronto, said the 100th anniversary is a momentous occasion. The real test of anything is time. When the Orange lodge was first founded in Canada there was a rebellion, the people wanted Canada to join the United States and if it had not been for the Orangemen in Upper Canada, Canada would have broken away from the British Empire. We had just as grave a situation today. There are those in Quebec province who are agitating that Canada should be independent.

Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., Most Worthy Master of British America, R. Hardy-Small, Rev. Kenneth Stewart of Wesley United Church, W. J. Armstrong of Toronto, Grand Master of the Grand Black Chapter, Earl Draper and Mrs. Draper of Prescott, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Darling, Mr. E. Payne, County Master, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Nicholls.

The beautifully decorated four-tiered anniversary cake was cut by Mr. Hardy-Small.

During the evening musical selections were given by the Blewett orchestra of Selwyn composed of J. W. Blewett, Evans Blewett, Neil Blewett, Miss Mary Nicholls, Mrs. Ralph Garbutt and Mrs. J. A. Northey.

Ted Bradshaw entertained with his magic, Mr. Herb Mullen and George with the violin and piano, and Mrs. Aikenhead recited.

Among past masters present were D. H. Charlton, Max Kidd, Herb Brown, Albert Bullock, and John Hill, also Mrs. Sidney Hunter, wife of one of the oldest honored members.

Mrs. G. Thompson Group 3 President

HASTINGS, Dec. 9—(ENS).—Group 3 of Trinity United Church met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hess, with a large attendance.

The president, Mrs. G. Thompson, presided. Mrs. C. Hoard gave the Scripture. Mrs. A. Fleming led in the prayers.

The treasurer reported a balance of $46.32, and it was decided to hold $10 for current expenses and turn the balance over to the WA.

Further plans were made for the afternoon tea and bazaar being held in the church basement Saturday afternoon.

Rev. N. Cole took over for the election of officers. They were: President, Mrs. G. Thompson; Vice-President, Mrs. R. Burnham; Secretray, Mrs. B. Preston; Treasurer, Mrs. C. Hoard.

Mrs. G. Thompson presided for the choosing of the committees: Quilting committee, Mrs. A. Fleming and Mrs. C. Hoard; fancy work, Mrs. L. Switzer and Mrs. J. H. Hess; telephone, Mrs. A. V. German and Mrs. A. Orr, Mrs. R. Glass and Mrs. F. Crate.

Mrs. A. Thompson gave a Christmas reading, and Mrs. C. Hoard gave a reading.

Mrs. B. Preston moved a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring secretary, Mrs. F. Crate. Mrs. Burnham moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. G. Thompson for her very capable leadership, also to Mrs. C. Hoard for her work.

A skating party was suggested as a means of raising funds.

Mrs. Burnham extended an invitation to the ladies to hold the next meeting at her home, with the following in charge: worship, Mrs. A. Orr and Mrs. R. Glass; program, Mrs. V. German and Mrs. G. Thompson; lunch, Mrs. G. Thompson and Mrs. C. Hoard.

Rev. N. Cole closed the meeting with a prayer.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. Burnham, Mrs. B. Preston, Mrs. C. Hoard and Mrs. A. Thompson.

Swanston Plans New Committees

In forethought of the committees of the Council for next year, Ald. Max Swanston, who succeeds to the Mayoralty, said he was going to recommend Arthur B. Burrows for the chairmanship of a small new committee on housing.

"It is something Mr. Burrows has been more or less interested in through his work with the Department of Veterans Affairs," Ald. Swanston said. "He is connected with the Legion, and they have been concerned about housing since the men began coming back from the war. If the Council and Mr. Burrows agree, I think that committee of several members could be quite useful They could prepare all the essential housing information. In fact, they could have the answers to all our housing questions.

"The other proposal is to revive the Fire and Light Committee and ask Ald. Doug Miller to take it. I haven't spoken to him about it, and don't know whether he would be interested. Probably it was not the wisest move when we combined the Light Committee with Finance."

No Plane Crash

COBOURG, Dec. 9.—(ENS).—A report that a plane had crashed near Centreton was apparently a mistake last night. A Centreton farmer, Leonard Tackaberry, was reported to have noticed something coming down that seemed on fire and it disappeared about a mile east of Centreton. However, provincial police had not been informed about it and enquiries at Trenton RCAF revealed that no plane was overdue.

Return Reaume Windsor Mayor

WINDSOR, Dec. 9 — (CP)—Mayor Arthur J. Reaume was returned to his fifth two-year term as chief magistrate of this automotive city Wednesday with a plurality of 1,377 votes. First elected in 1941, the 42-year-old incumbent has the longest record of service of any Windsor mayor.

He polled a total of 15,782 votes to post an edge of 2,516 over his nearest rival, former Board of Control member Thomas R. Brophey.

Third mayoralty candidate Frederick A. Croson averaged less than eight votes from each of the 169 polls.

Three of six candidates for public office backed by Local 195, United Automobile Workers (C. I.O.)—Reaume, Warren P. Bolton and W. Ernest Atkinson—topped their polls. The other three, David R. Isadore, Cecil Daynes and John E. Moore, failed to make the grade.

Ted Lindsay Wing Sparkplug

TORONTO, Dec. 9.—(CP). — Robert Blake Theodore Lindsay has a dual personality.

Off the ice he's a quiet spoken, easy-going member of the Detroit Red Wings Hockey Club. But when he laces up his skates and the puck is faced off he's a smashing, driving player with a hair-trigged temper.

Ted, as he is more commonly known, is regarded as the mainstay of the Red Wings by practically everyone around the National Hockey League circuit. The drums have been booming him for the Hart Trophy, presented annually to the player adjudged the most valuable to his team.

The 23-year-old all-star left-winger was sidelined with a fracture of a foot bone a month ago and during the time he was benched Wings won only two games, tied one and lost four. Since his return the team has taken four straight victories, three of them on the road.

The firebrand from Kirkland Lake, says he was just about the most surprised guy in the world when scout Carson Cooper put him in Detroit's list while he was with Toronto St. Michael's College.

Elmhurst Horse Places First At Dufferin

TORONTO, Dec. 9. —The first race at Dufferin Park, Wednesday was won by Redstone, a 3-year-old colt owned by H. Elmhurst of Peterborough. Bohemian King, owned by J. H. Dorais, St. Guillaum, P.Q., won the first heat with Redstone placing. But the Elmhurst horse won the second dash in handy fashion with the King winding up in fourth.

In the classified trot with a purse of $300, Parsons, owned by Hugh Davis, of Peterborough, and driven by Lutman, placed fourth.

An accident marred the racing of the second event, a classified trot.

William H., owned by J. H. Dunlop of Tillsonburg and driven by Gordon Kitchen, was leading the field in the first turn of the 6½ furlongs dash when the horse broke stride suddenly, causing Anne Spencer, driven by Elmer Moore of Springville, N.Y., to pile into the rear of Kitchen's sulky, throwing the Tillsonburg reinsman into the path of the oncoming field.

Kitchen escaped serious injury by rolling and scrambing to the inner fence but he was taken to hospital for observation. William H., guidless veered directly through the heavy inner rail, winding up in the infield. Veterinarian inspection showed the animal to be injured beyond help and it was necessary to destroy him.

While all of the above was going on Storm Hanover, driven by George Giugere, in an attempt to avoid the accident, unseated his driver and ran away. He went two miles before being caught by the outrider.

Quebec Teams Have Big Season

By The Canadian Press

Senior and junior amateur teams are enjoying their bigest season in history at the box office. Despite the lack of high calibre players, eight senior team and 10 junior teams have reported record attendance to date this season.

The Quebec Senior Hockey League which embraces five Quebec cities and towns, two American and one Ontario city, is currently led by the Montreal Royals, who captured the Allan Cup in the 1946-47 season.

Other teams in the loop are Ottawa, Sherbrooke, Valleyfield, Quebec, Shawinigan Falls, Boston and New York.

Statistics as of Dec. 7 showed the Royals captured 18 of 23 games, excluding two stalemates. They have a total of 33 points, six ahead of the Ottawa Senators and Sherbrooke St. Francis, who are tied for second place.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Electrics will make a powerful effort to shock the livewire (hm, Hydro had better investigate) Collis colleens at eight of the clock tomorrow night in the YW gym. First fray of the girls' cage twin bill, nightcap seeing Lock Co. lasses locked in combat with those budding teachers from Normal School. Should be two right interesting scraps before a good gallery. Following week-end sees Neill's playing CGE and Nurses mixing with Collis. This Saturday night at the Collegiate gym, two men's games will probably pack in the hoop followers. Toronto Harbor Hoopsters tackle Marines "B" basketeers at seven in the initial joust, and then Queen's University seniors take on the classy Marines "A" team. Sounds good.

* * * * * *

We agree with Bobbie Rosenfeld, Toronto columnist, when she criticizes the PWSU for thinking of amalgamating with the OASA. It has reached the stage where a men's committee is investigating all the angles and will bring in a resolution at the annual OASA meeting next spring. Bobbie has nothing against the good OASA officials but wants to know what in tarnation is the advantage in the PWSU becoming affiliated with the men's setup. We feel the girls should run their own show. Bobbie believes the scheme had its birth "when the past president of the PWSU was the next-door neighbor of the past president of the OASA". No, it wasn't Gladys Mortimer, as we've never had an OASA past prexy here. Dot Millar is PWSU treasurer now.

Puts It In Writing

"We're applying in writing to the OHA for permission to use the Bobcaygeon players we had last year," Secretary Glen Carson of the Legion puck club informs us. The club attitude is that senior "B" players should not have to revert back to intermediate "B" just because their home town goes in that category. Especially when it is expected that both Bobcaygeon and Lindsay would waive on these puckists who previously played for Legion, and wish to do so again. Panter, the OHA past prexy and now assistant secretary, has promised to consider the case when it appears in writing. Likely a decision will be returned after an OHA executive meeting this week-end, Frank Buckland advises.

* * * * * *

Probably the Petes, too, will want further assurance that they can't use Belleville puckists—if Kingston will waive on them—since Belleville apparently won't have a senior "B" team this season. And the Belleville application to go intermediate "A" was turned down, as the city is over 10,000 in population. With several of the better puckists from Bella Villa, the Petes would be plenty potent. Without them, things do not look too bright at the moment. But, no doubt, it'll all come out in the wash shortly.

* * * * * *

Going Separate Ways

Some of the senior "B" puck-chasers here have been talking again recently of amalgamating the Petes and Legion into one really strong squad. But nothing has been done officially, and nothing will come of it. Both clubs want to retain their own identities, and that's as it should be. Particularly now when we've only got natural ice. When we get artificial ice, things might be different and fans will be more anxious to see a local club head for a provincial title. They can't now—even if one of our teams was good enough, the OHA playdown games would be taken elsewhere to artificial ice centres. No, let's just look for a good winter's entertainment in hockey here and have it pretty well cleaned up by the time the ice goes out in early spring.

* * * * * *

The Recreation Commission is behind a move to organize an amateur boxing association here and a meeting will be called shortly. An outgrowth of the present Peterborough Athletic Club, run by Gus Mastrianni, who wants a responsible administration body set up. Jack Dane, Recreation Director, is drawing up a constitution and regulations based on those of the Ontario Athletic Commission. A working executive will be set up with a manager appointed, coaches named, and so forth. Everything possible will be done to train the boys properly, and among those who have offered to help in the project are Chief of Police John Thompson, Provincial Constable Lloyd McClure, Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, and others. Ministerial Association and the Service Club Council will be asked for representatives, too.

Rules Chucked Aside

Big crowd at the Brock last eve was extra noisy during the red-hot main team wrestling bout. Everything went, except rules, and Referee Bunny Dunlop was as helpless as Bert Maxwell the previous week. Both sides got away with plenty of illegal stuff. O'Connor and Morgan won it from Atkins and Flanagan, each of the winning side scoring a fall on Pat—as Atkins once pinned O'Connor. While Flanagan is a colorful scrapper, he rarely gets a fall over an opponent in a team bout, but O'Connor is cagey and both Morgan and Atkins powerful grapplers. The four really put on a lively affair to the fans' delight as the rule book—if there is one on pro wrestling—was thrown out the window. Red Sims took the semi-final with a smart showing over Mart Hutzler, while our own Nick Vicchiarelli won the prelim (despite an injured ankle) against Sammy Gotter.

Marlies Edge Dutchmen In 7-3 Triumph

By The Canadian Press

Curly-haired Scotty Mair, an old timer of the ice lanes, came up with an outstanding scoring performance last night that will be hard to beat this season.

The former pro batted in five goals as he led Toronto Marlboros to a 7-3 win over the league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen in a Senior Ontario Hockey Association game. Mair fell a goal short of Tommy Burlington's six counter display last year with Owen Sound Mercurys.

Mair, who smiles when age is mentioned, is the second veteran added to the Toronto club recently. Veteran Flash Hollett was signed earlier.

While Toronto jumped into sole possession of second place in the senior race, six junior teams saw action.

Get 6-4 Win

Windsor Spitfires maintained their grip on first place with a 6-4 win over the last-place Toronto Marlboros in Windsor and St. Catharines Teepees gained a 5-2 decision against Stratford Kroehlers. Guelph Biltmores downed Barrie Flyers 7-4, in the other game.

Toronto led Kitchener 2-1 in the first period, 2-1 at the end of the second and counted three goals in the third. Other Toronto marksmen were Alex Davidson and Ray Hannigan. Doug Verity with two and Bobby Bauer with one each were Kitchener scorers.

Windsor went three points ahead of the second-place Barrie Flyers. They drove from behind a 2-1 margin in the first period, outscored Toronto 4-1 in the second and then split two goals in the third.

Windsor scorers were Bruce Giesbrecht with two and Bert Giesebrecht, Jim Hay, Lorne Wilson and Bob Raylyk with one apiece. Bob Knowles, Larry Regan, Billy Robinson and Lorne Pirie counted for Marlies.

Never Behind

Guelph was never behind in their action-filled game. The score was 1-1 at the end of the first period, 4-1 at the end of the second and both teams split six goals in the third.

With 40 seconds of play remaining, Barrie coach Hap Emms removed goalie Gil Mayer. But the strategy didn't click. Frank Bathgate and Lorne Ferguson paced the winners with two goals each. Don Oberholtzer, Don Bellringer and Ed Bolan counted one apiece. Barrie marksmen were Earl Chevreflis, Gord Pennell, Bobby Hogg and Burcham.

The Teepees decided their verdict in the third period on two goals by Bill Buschlen and one by Al Evans.

St. Catharines grabbed a 2-1 margin in the first period on goals by Evans and Danny O'Brien. The only goal of the second frame was scored by Billy Mitchell, knotting the count. Bob Houston and Bill Mitchell scored for the losers.

No games are scheduled for tonight, but five squads go into action tomorrow. In the junior division, Oshawa meets Guelph, Marlboros clash with Teepees and Galt plays Stratford. Toronto tangles with Owen Sound and Hamilton meets Kitchener in the senior loop.

FAKED AGE — The high scoring forward player of the Quebec Citadels who has been sparking that team to victory under the name of Marius Groleau is in reality Joseph Robert Groleau. An inquiry by the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association disclosed Joseph used the name and birth certificate of his dead brother, Marius, to play within the age limit for juniors. Groleau who will be 22 in April has been suspended from organized hockey for five years.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Canadian Press

Doug Bentley, crafty Chicago playmaker, who bagged the last two goals and assisted on a third as Black Hawks downed Boston Bruins 4-3 in Chicago.

Jimmy McFadden and Bud Polle, Red Wings forwards who between them accounted for six points as Detroit outscored Maple Leafs 4-3 in Toronto.

Robinson Suffers Rib Injury, Bout Postponed

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—(AP)—The 20th Century Sporting Club has chalked up a mark in its running promotional war with the Brash Young Tournament of Champions.

The T-of-C's big middleweight boxing attraction — Sugar Ray Robinson against Steve Belloise—won't go on tonight at the Jersey City Armory as scheduled.

Robinson turned up Wednesday with a rib injury suffered in training and his clash with Belloise, which was supposed to produce a challenger for middleweight champion Marcel Cerdan, had to be postponed.

The welterweight king will be out of commission for at least a month, physicians said. Promoter Andy Neiderreiter announced he still planned to stage the fight but he didn't know when.

This left the 20th Century Club holding the only week-end lure for the Metropolitan fight fan's eager cash—a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night between Ezzard Charles and Joe Baksi, two challengers for Joe Louis's heavyweight crown.

Robinson said he was hurt Monday when a big sparmate named Tiger Wade landed a solid lick on his left side.

An ugly lump appeared. Physicians said it was a separation between the sixth and seventh ribs and enough to keep the fighter strapped up for a month.

At that, the incident may have been a blessing in disguise for the T-of-C, which stood to lose a nice wad on the bout. Robinson and Belloise had been promised $20,000 each while expenses had run to $10,000. The ticket sale yesterday was less than $15,000.

Hawks Defeat Bruins 4-3 Edge Habs From 3rd Place

By The Canadian Press

Doug Bentley fired two goals and an assist Wednesday night to shoot Chicago Black Hawks into third place and himself into the leadership of the National Hockey League's scoring race.

Hawks beat Bruins 4-3. Boston's loss and Detroit's 4-3 win over Toronto Maple Leafs put the Red Wings a lone point behind the first-place Bruins.

Chicago jumped into the third spot, a point ahead of the idle Montreal Canadiens.

Bentley's two goals came in the last half of the last period at Chicago.

First Win in Toronto

Jim McFadden and Bud Poile combined for three Detroit goals to give Red Wings their first win on Toronto ice in two seasons. McFadden scored the winner from Poile, the only goal of the final period.

It was Chicago's first win over Boston in their four games this year. And they came from behind twice to get it.

Jimmy Peters and Ken Smith each beat Sugar Jim Henry in the first 10 minutes. While Bruins were short a man, Gaye Stewart replied for Chicago and Roy Conacher tied it up early in the next period on assists from Bentley and Bill Mosienko.

Early in the final period Babando put Bruins ahead again and then Bentley went to work. He teamed with Bob Goldham for the first goal and less than five minutes later beat Frank Brimsek with a 40-foot drive.

It was the fifth victory in a row for the Red Wings, who haven't lost a game since left winger Ted Lindsay came back from a leg injury, and their first at Toronto since the Stanley Cup series in the spring of 1947.

Rookie Stars

Lindsay got the first goal. It came early in a wild-scoring second period that ended in a 3-3 deadlock.

McFadden, the league's prize rookie last year, got two goals during the night. Both were assisted by ex-Leaf Poile who also was helped on one by McFadden.

Howie Meeker, Harry Watson and Cal Gardner scored for the Leafs with wild Bill Ezinicki threatening Harry Lumley's cage all night.

Meeker came back for the Leafs less than a minute after McFadden had scored. McFadden and Poile put the Red Wings into a two-goal lead by the middle of the period but Toronto squared it by the end of the frame on goals by Watson and Gardner.

Blade Helps Pla-Mors Click For 5-2 Win

By The Associated Press

Popular Henry Gordon (Hank) Blade is back on the ice again and Kansas City Pla-mors are set to win some United States Hockey League games.

Blade, out with an injury for almost a month, played his first game Wednesday night and the Pla-mors clicked for a 5-2 victory over Omaha. 17 interrupted a Pla-mor string of three ties and a loss.

Blade led the league in goals scored until his injury and was the offensive key as the Pla-mors swept through their first seven games of the season without a loss.

Kansas City got off to a 4-0 lead last night before Blade drove in a goal in the final period. Gordie Heale and George Homenuke accounted for Omaha's two scores.

While the Pla-mors were treating their home fans to a victory, Minneapolis also won at home, beating Dallas 6-4.

When Queen's Old Old Took Regina

By FRED MAYBEE

Calgary's win over Ottawa for the Grey Cup was a popular triumph.

No longer can the East be certain of victory in the annual fall football classic. Even odds are the best we can hope for, from now on.

The West has come into its own—to stay, we feel. This is a great boost for Canadian football.

But Oh,—'twas not ever thus.

As the victory train passed through Regina last week we feel sure a rather tall, thin, quiet gentleman—whose hair has turned to silver — must have been there to greet the conquering Stamps for a minute or two along with the rest of the crowd. He operates a shoe store now and scouts hockey talent for the Rangers out West. Who is he?

Why Alvin Horace Ritchie, of course — the first ambassador of good-will for Western football, the man who first led Regina's Roughriders east in quest of the silver mug. The team never succeeded in winning in several gallant attempts.

In 1927, Al came close, as Balmy Beach defeated Regina 11-6, with that great team starring Yip Foster, Red Moore, Scotty Cawkell, Alex Ponton, Ab Box and all the rest.

What contribution then did the old Roughriders make to the cause of good relations between East and West?

Did Its Part

Regina under Al Ritchie made a great psychological contribution during the 'twenties and 'thiries in the interests of better sporting relations between East and Wes.

Why?

Because while Regina lost every time—often by big scores — her players always conducted themselves as true sportsmen should, on and off the field, and fans every where admired and respected them for it.

Many hoped for the day when the West would eventually win.

The West did win finally, after the forward pass came in and with it some help from the U.S. to offset the advantage of similar assistance teams in the East were receiving. But it was Winnipeg—not Regina, that won. The Blue Bombers, starring Fritz Hanson, Greg Kabat and others came through in 1935.

Regina has never won a Canadian championship. But Alvin like all Westerners rejoices any time the East is beaten by any Western team—because out of the prairie land have come many great sportsmen who proved they could "take it" for years, in football.

A Great Show

Twenty-five years ago, a memorable struggle took place at Varsity Stadium as I gaze back in retrospect over the pages of the past and recall some of the feats of great teams of that period before the introduction of the forward pass.

Queen's University under the expert coaching of Bill Hughes had defeated all Eastern opposition for the second time in a row, in 1923.

That team included Harry Lee Batstone, former great Argo half back, Frank Pep Leadley, star drop and placement kicker, Red McKelvey, giant plunger, Gib McKelvey a fine punter and plunger, Bud Thomas, star wingman and tackler, also Liz Walker, Johnny Evans, clever quarterback, Doc Campbell, flying wing, Curly Lewis, snap, big Roy Reynolds, a wonderful plunger, Unk Muirhead, Jack Delahay, Chick Mundell, Baldy Baldwin, Tiny Adams, Pres. McLeod, Ken McNeill, Jack Bond and Hank Brown. Not a dud in the pack.

This team had everything—speed, a wide assortment of plays and plenty of football brains.

Batstone, Leadley and McKelvey comprised one of the finest backfields of modern football and many would rate this trio as the best of all time for intercollegiate football in Canada. Certainly no three ever stood out more preeminently in their day in the game to our knowledge.

So the final in 1923 called for this great team against Regina, at Toronto.

Kept It Quiet

Very little was known about the Roughriders. They hadn't been talking much for publication. However, it became known that the team had a pretty fair line that starred a giant 255-pounder named Rennebaum. The line was built around him, in fact.

Red McCusker, a left-footed kicker did the punting.

Despite the secret angle, Queen's were installed as heavy favorites to win. This time the experts were correct and no mistake. For on that day the biggest one-sided score ever posted in a Canadian final results, as Queen's won 54-0.

I sat about centre, half way up in the west stand with my older brother (guests of cousin Al) to watch proceedings.

Lord Byng was not present and there were no 20,000 on hand, that day. However, interest was fairly keen and Queen's packed plenty of color. Possibly ten or twelve thousand were on hand, as I recall it.

Harry Batstone at the time was rated the brainiest footballer in the country. He had played with Lionel Conacher on the Argonaut team before joining Queen's in 1922. (He remained about 10 years at Queen's completing courses in both Medicine and Commerce. Thus he could cure a patient and collect the bill without help, as he used to jokingly say afterwards. He coached Queen's for a spell.)

At His Best

Leadley's star was in the ascendancy in 1923. He could drop-kick and place-kick with great precision and accuracy, unexcelled to this day and do a fair job of distance punting too, to aid Batstone and McKelvey.

The end run was a Queen's specialty. When Dave Harding joined the squad, the Leadley to Batstone to Harding pass on the end run extension became the "Tinker to Evers to Chance" pass of intercollegiate football and was a pretty sight to see.

Well, to be brief, the game turned out to be a rout. Leadley and McKelvey out-kicked McCusker by a sizeable margin both with and against the wind, that day. Queen's strong line plunged through Riders front wall, almost at will.

Batstone was the outstanding star of the game. He retired at three-quarter time after kicking a neat angle placement from about 15 feet out. He played a faultless game and drew a big hand. Leadley and Gib McKelvey were also very affective with every Tricolor player good.

Regina seemed unable to get anywnere, at any time, though they tried hard and never gave up. Rennebaum was held in his tracks. Riders didn't penetrate deep in Queen's territory once but were on the defensive most of the way, in their own end.

Nevertheless, there was something about that game we can never forget. It was the first big game we had ever seen. Perhaps that is the reason.

In any case, we'll wager that all who saw that struggle and still live, remember it vividly.

It was some ballgame—believe me.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Pittsburgh swapped third baseman baseman Frank Gustine and pitcher Cal McLish to Chicago Cubs Wednesday for catcher Clyde McCullough and pitcher Cliff Chambers in a major deal that should help both clubs, it was announced at Minneapolis Wednesday night.

No cash was involved in the trade, which overshadowed all other business at the offical opening of the annual convention of the National Association of professional baseball leagues.

Catcher Vince Plumbo has been sold by the Chicago White Sox organization to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League, it was announced Wednesday at Minneapolis. Plumbo was on option to Toronto of the International League during the 1948 season. He was recalled by the White Sox and then assigned to Memphis, another farm club. Plumbo hit .286 in 86 games with Toronto last season.

The Milwaukee club of the American Association purchased Howie Moss, outfielder, from Baltimore Orioles of the International baseball league in a straight cash deal, it was announced at Minneapolis Wednesday. The price was not disclosed. Moss led the league in home runs for five years, getting 53 in 1947 and 33 last year.

At Minneapolis, Charles Stonehamd, president of the Jersey City Giants of the International Baseball League, Wednesday night announced signing of Joe Becker as manager for his club. Becker, who caught for Sioux City in the Western League last season, succeeds Bruno Betzel.

Don Ross, president of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League, announced at Minneapolis Wednesday night he had signed Skeeter Webb as coach and utility player. Webb was with Philadelphia Athletics last season.

O'Connor and Morgan Take Main Team Wrestling Bout

Dan O'Connor draped Pat Flanagan over the timer's table to take the deciding fall of the main team match mat bout at the Brock Arena last night before a big and noisy crowd. It gave the O'Connor-Morgan team the equalizer in bouts with the Atkins-Flanagan pair. A befuddled Referee Bunny Dunlop tried vainly to keep up with illegal tactics pulled by both sides in a rousing scrap that had fans screaming practically continuously.

In the final round, O'Connor won in nine minutes when he (at 240 pounds) and Flanagan, scaling 223, mixed outside the ropes and Dan flattened Pat over the timer's table and got back in time to beat the count. Pat and his partner, Fred Atkins, 250-pound Australian, then jumped Dan and Ben Morgan (going 322) after the bell to bang them around. Morgan was powerful but Fred—the other strong man of this bout—bore in hard, and it was a lively tussle throughout, with Pat and Dan dishing up oodles of action, too.

Hot Going

Atkins had taken the second fall of the match in 31 minutes of furious grappling. Everything went before he applied his "Kangaroo Klamp" on O'Connor, who was softened up by the pair of them batting him back and forth in their corner as Dunlop looked helpless. The latter couldn't keep up with things, even when Flanagan left his corner illegally to go under the ring and work on O'Connor, also outside the ring. Two, three and four wrestlers were in there at times, and the ref himself got in a few blows. There were missed tackles and punches, and even buddies belting each other in and out of the ring as the book of rules was thrown out the window to the fans' delight.

Morgan, the bearded mountain, took Flanagan in the first fall in 22 minutes, he and O'Connor teaming well in relays with a punishing hammerlock to make Pat say "uncle". Dan was chucked out of the ring once as Flan turned on the heat, and both sides got away with a tremendous amount of illegal stuff as Dunlop proved no more able than Bert Maxwell to cope with these rough grapplers. Neither side played it clean, and mixups in rival corners were common with two against one, till all four got in there swinging at one time. The crowd was extra noisy and the majority—but not to big a one—seemed to shout for the Atkins-Flanagan duo. Action was fast and furious all the way through this fray.

Jimmy Strong

The semi-final was taken by Jimmy (Red) Sims, 205-pounder who replaced Dr. Ed Meske—injured last night in Louisville—ove 217-pounder Mart Hutzler. He got him with a sitting backbreaker hold to make Mart concede after some smart work. A lot of scientific grappling was shown in this match, with the short but powerful Sims really smart. Hutzler was unpopular when he roughed it up and also used the ropes for leverage, but both gave the crowd some good grappling to view.

Nick Viccharelli, local 173-pound wrestler, came out of the prelim bout against Sammy Gotter, scaling 185, with a victory but also an injured ankle. It wasn't certain last night if the ankle ws fractured or if there were torn ligaments around it. Nick proved a bit too strong and scientific for his opponent to win in just eight minutes with arm flips and a body spread. They opened slowly, trying out various holds with neither having an edge and both playing it clean. Nick looked better than usual and put on the pressure later as Gotter started to rough it up, to earn the duke handily as the crowd applauded.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Once again the cubs and scouts will gather together in George St. Sunday school to raise their voices in songs of praise. The annual scout carol service will be held in George St. United Church at 7.30 p.m., Wednesday evening, December 15. Invitations have been extended to the guides and brownies through District Commissioner Mrs. Whalon.

St. John's 1st Peterborough

We missed Mr. Howard Clegg at the meeting this week and was sorry to learn of his illness, wishing him a speedy recovery. Terry Brown and Dave Langhorne were on hand to assist in the work of the pack. These two former cubs took the inspection. The evening was spent in games.

The Troop

Leonard Smith placed his feet firmly on the scout trail when he was accepted into world scouting through the investiture ceremony. Games and instruction filled the program with Roy Weldon passing Kim's game, Michael Craig, Union Jack, and Dave Simpson 2nd class woods.

Stt. Paul's 7th Peterborough

During the past two weeks a good attendance has been reported in the pack with many boys doing their best to forge ahead along the trail. Announcements were made about the Christmas party and the boys also received their power wardens' badges. At a fitting ceremony Kenneth Hawthorne was presented with his second star. His mother and dad were present to add their moral support and best wishes. David Buckley completed his tenderpad tests and will be invested at the next meeting.

16th Peterborough Trinity

Twenty-nine cubs with their leaders and two visitors, Mr. Horton and Scout Graham Horton, gathered round the council rock as Ron Brazer and Lawrence Horton were made full members of the World Brotherhood of Scouting. The investiture ceremony was conducted by Akela Harold Wilson. Raksha complimented the Brown Six on their attendance record, the Black Six on general inspection and the Tawny Six on special inspection for the month of November. Jack Dafoe and Bobby Richie passed skipping, Dick Burgess ball-throwing, Bob Perry time-telling, Teddy Spearin message, Bruce Hill, Teddy Spearin and Jack Freeman folding clothes. Mr. Burgess assisted with instruction and Gordon Davis was in charge of the sing-song.

The Scouts

We are glad to welcome this section of Trinity back to the scout news and will be looking forward to a report every week. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott were present at the investiture ceremony of their son Jim as he made his scout promise before Scouter Cy Davis and some 24 other members of the troop. ASM Cy Stone presented Jim with his neckerchief and explained its importance in scout life. The Eagle patrol are ahead in the patrol competition.

Murray Yelland was promoted to the rank of patrol leader with Ronald Gell as his second.

Norman Johnston and Garry Gilders made application to join the troop and were accepted on the usual probationary period. The following tests were passed during the evening: Kim's game, Tom Feeley and Alvin Phillips; scout law and promise, William Rowe and Tom Feeley; savings, Ron Gell; knots, Ron Gray; lashings, Alvin Phillips, and compass, Walter Dainard.

Save Those Trees

Scouter Davis reports that he visited the scout grounds during the last week-end and found several trees cut down and left just where they had fallen. We think an investigation is in order and trust that none of the scouts are the guilty parties. Scouters should look into this matter and instruct their boys in tree conservation.

Power Wardens

All scouts and cubs are asked to still keep on their toes against the waste of electricity in their homes.

Badge Board

Scouters having boys ready for the passing of proficiency badges and first class tests should contact Dr. J. M. Perry, phone 4927. This committee is busy getting details prepared of which the scouters will receive full information in the near future. It is essential that the officers in charge should see that their scouts are fully prepared for the tests before making application.

Greece Blocks Border Treaty

PARIS, Dec. 9—(AP)—Bulgaria said Tuesday Greece has blocked a Balkan border peace agreement "at the last moment."

In a telegram to Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, president of the United Nations General Assembly, Bulgaria said a six-point agreement had been reached with Greece but that two points were withdrawn by Evatt on Greece's demand.

This change, Foreign Minister Vassil Kolarov said, made it "impossible to normalize the situation in the Balkans."

An official United Nations spokesman said the Bulgarian telegram is "extremely misleading and is likely to interfere with the work of the conciliation committee."

The Bulgarian telegram may delay indefinitely any border peace agreement among Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Sound, Flexible, Safeguarded, Competitive Bank System Best Meets Canada's Needs

78th Annual Meeting of Shareholders THE DOMINION BANK

Knowledge Essential to Enable Passing of Sound Judgment, Says C. H. Carlisle

Highest Record Reached in Total Assets, General Manager Robert Rae Reports

Cautious Attitude is Urged on Business in Inventories and Capital Expansion

At the 78th Annual Meeting of The Dominion Bank, held at the Head Office, Toronto, on Wednesday, December 8th, the President and the General Manager addressed the Shareholders.

The President, Mr. C. H. Carlisle, was in the Chair.

ROBERT RAE, GENERAL MANAGER REVIEWS ANNUAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Mr. Rae pointed out that the Bank's statement showed a highly liquid position, and that total assets standing at $393 millions, had reached the highest point in its history.

After providing for Contingency Reserves, $247,000 for Bank Premises depreciation, and $950,000 for Dominion and Provincial taxes, Net Profits were $1,122,000 out of which dividends of $700,000 were paid, and $422,000 carried forward to Profit and Loss account. This now stands at $1,054,000.

Capital $7,000,000 and Reserve Fund of $10,000,000 remain unchanged.

Deposits Show Increase

Deposits increased by $35 millions to a total of $358 millions, $8 millions being in Dominion Government deposits and the balance almost equally divided between interest bearing and non-interest bearing accounts.

Cash Assets at over $68 millions are equal to 18.63% and Quick Assets at $241 millions are over 66% of public liabilities.

Loans, Investments, Up

Investment in Dominion Government securities increased by $19 millions, to a total of $138 millions, comprising the bulk of a total investment of $162 millions, the balance being in Provincial and Municipal Government Bonds and other high grade securities. Current Loans in Canada at $132 millions were 3.7% higher.

Splendid Work By Staff

"The Bank is dependent on the services of its personnel for the successful conduct of its daily business operations. The Balance sheet which has been presented today is the result of the loyal and efficient labours of all members of the staff. We are grateful to them for their co-operation and service during the year. Being closely in touch with all our employees, I know what a splendid job they have done and I wish to thank them sincerely on your behalf and my own."

Cautious Attitude Advised

"Statistics have recorded the unparalleled increase in prices and volume of business and employment over the postwar years, and have lately shown signs of rising less abruptly or even flattening out. This suggests the advisability of business, large and small, maintaining an adequate working capital position and adopting a conservative attitude towards inventory accumulation and capital expansion. We are hopeful that the smaller increase recorded in our current loans is an indication that the customers of this Bank, in the main, are following this course."

Hope for Lasting Peace

"We are in the midst of a world-wide 'cold' war which has already burst into flames in China. Canada has taken an increasingly important part in the United Nations Organization and we trust that the deliberations of that body, backed by preparedness, will result in a settlement of the differences which have arisen between Russia and the Western Democracies and that a lasting peace may ensue. We are sure that every Canadian will wish to support those in whom he reposes authority at this critical time."

C. H. CARLISLE, PRESIDENT, DISCUSSES CANADA'S BANKING SYSTEM

In his address to the Shareholders, Mr. C. H. Carlisle, the President, said that a sound, economical and competitive banking system was essential to the state, to the people, to business, and to their relations with foreign states, and that Canada had such a banking system.

"Notwithstanding the successful operation of our present banking system, and the prosperity of the country and its people under this system, one of our political parties—the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation—has declared that, if called upon to form the government, it will nationalize the Canadian Banks."

Mr. Carlisle then reviewed the major factors pertaining to the banks' shareholders and the operations of our banks.

"Your Bank pays a dividend of 10% on the par value of its shares. This rate, to many, may appear excessive as compared with the rates paid on commercial investments and government securities. The 10% which you as a shareholder receive on the par value of your shares is only equivalent to 3.87% on your total investment, or 4% on the current market value of your shares.

"The shareholders have contributed much to the financial soundness of the Bank. Out of the $12,900,000 paid for their shares, $5,900,000 has been transferred to reserve. Since the inception of the Bank in 1871, out of yearly earnings additional amounts have been transferred and the Reserve Fund now stands at $10,000,000. At all times adequate amounts have been set aside to provide for credit losses.

"With a 3.87% return on the shareholders' total investment, can anyone fairly or justly claim that the shareholder has been receiving unduly high and unjust returns on his investment?"

The security of this sound investment, greater now than at any previous time, must be maintained for the benefit of both shareholders and all who deal with the Bank, said Mr. Carlisle.

Legislation Regulates Banking

"Legislation governing chartered banks is more comprehensive and exacting than that governing commercial companies. The Bank Act in part provides for inspection of the banks by the Inspector General of Banks, the submitting to the Government of monthly detailed statements of the banks' operations, the auditing of the banks' affairs by two auditors, appointed by the shareholders at each annual general meeting. In addition, each bank has its own supervisors who maintain a continuing audit on all the branch operations of the bank. Therefore the Government has adequate information pertaining to the transactions of each and all of the banks. This procedure does not conflict with the ownership nor with the operations of the banks.

An Unsurpassed Banking System

"The functions of the Bank of Canada are primarily to regulate credit and currency, to promote the economic and financial welfare of the Dominion of Canada, and to transact business—both national and international—on behalf of the Government of Canada, but it is in no way a trading bank. Therefore its operations do not conflict with nor duplicate the operations of the chartered banks. The Bank of Canada and the chartered or trading banks give Canada a banking system surpassed by that of no other country.

"The chartered banks are owned and controlled by their shareholders. Bank stocks are widely distributed. The largest group of people holding Dominion Bank shares are those who hold from one to fifty shares, and constitutes 34% of the total number of shareholders.

Freedom vs. Dictatorship

"Bank directors are carefully chosen from various professions and occupations and from different sections of the country. Therefore, the banks have the necessary information to enable them to give the maximum service to the people in all sections of our country. This is evidently a more efficient procedure than could possibly exist under Government ownership, where a few directors, appointed by the Government, would have control. The chartered banks are under no political direction, neither are they responsible to any party. The directorate of a Government owned bank may change with a change of Government; that would be most disconcerting. In countries where Government ownership exists, political influence exists. Could we anticipate that Government owned banks would be an exception? Government owned banks deprive individuals as well as incorporated organizations of the right to invest in bank stocks. Government ownership of banks provides only one source for your banking requirements; such a bank is absolute as to the terms, conditions and amounts that you may borrow or the service that you may receive, whereas at present you have the right of dealing with ten competitive banks. One is freedom of banking; the other is dictatorship of banking.

Branch Banking Essential

"Canada is a large country. Compared with the United States it is 20% larger in area and 89% smaller in population. Therefore, need for branch banks in the United States is very limited, while in Canada branch banks are essential if we are to provide our people with an adequate banking service. Canadian banks also maintain a national and international service.

"During and since the war the chartered banks have given every support to our Government, sometimes without remuneration. The banks have been and are large purchasers of Dominion Government securities, their holdings reaching a maximum in November, 1946 of $3,609,000,000.,—yield rates have ranged as low as .36%.

Higher Cost of Banking

"The banks have not been free from the high costs of operation. Notwithstanding these increased costs, the average rates charged to the customers of the bank have not been increased during a period of nine years following the beginning of the last war. This, in part, has been made possible by increased volume of business and rapid turnover. If high costs continue or further increases take place, it will be necessary to increase operational charges.

It is of interest to note the percentage of net profit earned on the total funds employed by the bank as reflected by the statement now under review is only 3/10ths of 1%.

Maximum Service Provided

"I believe that the people of Canada, who have knowledge of our banking system, will appreciate its soundness, its flexibility, the safeguards surrounding its every transaction, its greater freedom of choice—a system that provides the maximum service.

"I also believe that the Canadian people would not choose to discard our present banking system for that of a state monopoly.

"You, who have the right of franchise, will make the decision."

WALLACEALLOBI, Australia, Dec. 9.—(CP). — A drought of three years' standing lies tense upon the land in the northern half of Australia.

Heavy stock losses due to the prolonged dry spell continue to mount, and latest estimates of losses in the grabing lands of the northwest are almost 5,000,000 sheep and more than 1,000,000 cattle.

It has been three years since adequate rains have fallen in coastal areas, but rain clours that have formed over the drought belt have disappeared as quickly as they formed.

In "the corner"—that section of Australia where the borders of Queensland, New South Wales and South Australia meet, a new kind of drought threatens to ruin the grazers there. It is red dust and sand blown in from the vast Simpson desert in Central Australia by repeated dust storms oveh the last two months. Grasses that had survived the dry spell have been blotted out by dust inches thick.

Village Wants New School Council Reviews Past Year's Activities

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 9—(ENS)—W. C. Grant was acclaimed for his fourth term as reeve at the nomination meeting on Monday. Reeve Grant thanked his supporters and reported on several matters of interest to the village which had been discussed by him at the county council.

The county council had originally voted $150,000 for the new Civic Hospital, but had since been asked for half a million dollars. Reeve Grant stated that so many estimates of the total cost of the new hospital had been made that no one knew exactly what it would cost. He thought the Chemong causeway would be completed next year.

New School Board

After January 1 Lakefield high school would be operated by a new district high school board. The site of the new high school would be chosen by the board but it was generally expected that it would be built at Lakefield, which was the largest urban municipality.

The county council was considering the appointment of a county assessor.

Reeve Grant stated that a petition had been sent to Ottawa and Toronto recently asking for help with installation of waterworks and sewage. Timiskaming, like Lakefield, was built on rock and the government was putting in the waterworks.

Work Not Completed

A. G. Buchanan, a member of last year's council, who was nominated again, said that although 24 council meetings had been held instead of the usual 12, much remained to be done. The activities of the council had been confined to the most urgent matters. Mr. Buchanan said he would accept the nomination.

William Whetung made a summary of the work done on the streets and swamps and accepted nomination.

Kenneth Morris, a member of the council last year, said that in the past, the year's contract for sanitation had ben let in January, which left the vilage for a few weeks without services. This had been changed to February to givee the village service at all times.

R. J. Knox, who was on the council two years ago, was undecided whether to stand for election.

J. McKercher stated that the present council was doing a good job and withdrew his name.

Ray Brown, chairman of property, fire and finances last year, reported that no toilets had been working in the Town Hall. Now five were in order. The auditorium of the hall had been redecorated, a big pump was installed, and the roof had been repaired.

A new fire engine had been purchased, and the old pump repaired.

Mr. Harry Hill had been engaged as caretaker of the hall.

Contract Criticised

One of the criticisms of last year's council had been about the contract for the auditorium. This was let to Mr. Eric Morin a Lakefield man, and a returned soldier, whose tender was $335 lower than the lowest ever contracted, and $690 lower than the highest. The lowest tender had been accepted and yet the hall was in a better condition than in th past.

Mr. James Redpath chairman of the High School Board, who has been on the School Board for 43 years reported on the year's work. He was first elected in 1905 and served 13 years on the Public School staff. He has been on the High School staff ever since and has been chairman 25 years. Mr. Ridpath had seen the school grow from four to ten rooms. He said that in his report, the inspector had commented on how efficiently the high school work was carried on under Mr. Robert Sutton's supervision.

Mr. Ridpath Thanked

Reeve Grant and E. H. Northey thanked Mr. Ridpath on behalf of the village for his service.

Charles Bickell who was acclaimed Hydro Electric Commissioner, said there would be no blackouts at present and only a one-day cut-off for manufacturers.

E. H. Northey, chairman of the public school board made a short speech.

Roy Bullock said he would qualify as trustee.

Melville Kingdon said he too would qualify.

Woman Nominated

Jessie Doubt, the only woman nominated, commented on the fact that the present school accommotion was such that the classes were divided into morning and afternoon sessions with the result that grades one and two received only two and a half hours schooling a day and wondered if something could be done to improve this situation.

Mr. Roy Brown rose quickly to the defense of the school board and stated that that was the only arrangement that could be made at present.

THE NEW YORK DAILY MIRROR in a copyrighted story says that Mrs. Dorothy Helen Ruth Sullivan, 27, Babe Ruth's older adopted daughter, has retained legal counsel to contest what she considers unfair provisions of the late baseball slugger's will. This picture of Mrs. Sullivan was made at the time of Ruth's funeral shortly after he died of cancer Aug. 16 last. By terms of will, Babe's wife Clara gets the bulk of the estate, with Mrs. Sullivan the recipient of a $5,000 cash bequest.

UEW Officials' Appeal Dismissed By Judge

TORONTO, Dec. 9 — (CP) — Judge Samuel Factor Tuesday dismissed the appeal of George Harris, secretary-treasurer of the United Electrical Workers of America (CIO), against conviction on a watching and besetting charge arising out of a strike at the Rogers-Majestic at suburban Leaside last May. Harris was given a one-month sentence

Judge Factor said, however, he did not intend to make a "martyr" of Harris and altered the sentence to a $100 fine.

Norman Borins, counsel for a number of union members appealing similar convictions, told the court he had been instructed to abandon the appeals of nine other UEW pickets. Judge Factor quashed sentences of five others Monday.

Plan To Auction 80,000 Pounds Of Good Turkey

By WILLIAM STEWART.

QUEBEC, Dec. 9 — (CP). — The climax of a year's work has arrived for La Cooperative Avicole de Quebec whose big business is turkeys.

The province's poultry-raising co-operative has arranged the dates of the first of its sales of government - inspected turkeys bound for Christmas tables.

At St. Leon de Standon, in Dorchester County across the St. Lawrence River, 80,000 pounds of some of the best Christmas dinner you can get will be auctioned off Friday.

Other auctions will follow in nearby Frampton, St. Anselme, St. Leon, and St. Luc, and by the time there are no shopping days left the co-operative will have helped put on the market a big share of the 4,000,000 pounds of turkey the province produces.

Formed three years ago and established now in headquarters on Rue du Roi (King Street) in Quebec, the organization puts out a magazine for breeders, arranges purchases of equipment and of special poultry medicines and works to improve production methods and quality.

Federal Government inspection on the scene guarantees quality and prices are set by open bidding. Buyers who cannot atend the sales telegraph their bids.

Quebecers buy about 20,000,000 pounds of turkey a year. Quebec production, 3,000,000 pounds in 1946, increased to about 4,000,000 pounds last year.

This year's dry summer and autumn favored growth and reduced mortality an dan estimated 4,800,000 pounds will be put on the market by Quebec raisers.

Children Entertain Parents At School

HAVELOCK, Dec. 9.—(ENS). —The Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Knox Presbyterian church was guest speaker at the Christmas meeting of the Home and School Association. Mr. Duncanson's address was entitled "The Star in the East."

Entertainment was presented by the pupils of Mr. Hunter's room, grades 5 and 6, which included a Christmas play, songs by groups from both grades, a piano solo by Tommy McMillan, and a dialogue presented by Betty Toms, Garry McNeely and Kenneth Johnso.

The health convener, Mrs. L. H. Cooke, gave an instructive talk on health.

An appeal for a donation to 'Save the Children' Fund was read and it was decided to place jars in every room in the school to hold contributions from the pupils. This was organized by the principal, D. Buchanan.

The attendance shield was won by Mr. Hunter's room.

The president, Mrs. James Wilde, presided and attendance was the largest to date.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Parents visited the school class rooms and inspected the children's work.

The Campbellford Home and School Association will present the January program.

23 Men Joined Cabinet In Past 8 Years

Col. the Hon. Colin W. G. Gibson, K.C., Canada's secretary for state, addressed a men's meeting of Liberals at the Empress Hotel at noon Wednesday.

His youthful appearance, his bright personality and brilliant speech proved, stated one speaker, the fallacy of the argument that the federal cabinet is composed of a group of tired old men.

Col. Gibson pointed out that the people generally do not realize that since 1940 there have been 23 changes in the federal cabinet. "By this I mean that 23 have left the cabinet during that period and been replaced by 23 new ministers." This introduction of new blood has kept the cabinet a vital body and has provided the energy and enthusiasm so necessary today in meeting the many responsibilities during the war and during the post-war period.

Mr. Gibson declared that it was the duty of all citizens to actively concern themselves about political affairs. There are highly organized communistic groups endeavoring to disrupt the unity of this country, and it is essential to meet these forces "that our young people associate themselves with political organizations."

The president, Mr. Arthur McClellan, presided. The speaker was introduced by Col. J. A. Dewart. Several speakers, including the Hon. Senator J. J. Duffus, spoke respecting the program of organization that is now in hand.

A BIG DAY for Santa and for the Henn quadruplets was the quads' visit to the white-whiskered gentlemen at a Baltimore department store. He gets their full attention as he tells them of Christmas joy to come. Although little Barbara, on the left, seems a trifle abashed, Tommy, beside her, gives full and interested attention to Santa, while Donald, next in line, and Bruce, at right, take the affair with a more relaxed attitude. The tots will soon be two years old. Their war-bride mother, Mrs. Dorothy Henn, accompanied them on their visit to Santa.

City Solicitor Requests Leave; Knows His Latin

In his best whimsical manner, City Solictor Huycke quoted a sentence from Horace in his application Tuesday night to the council for leave of absence from Feb. 1 to March 15 for a trip through the West Indies and Caribbean to South America.

The nine young members of the Triangle Club, visitors for the session missed that bit from the classics as Harry Hamley, assistant clerk, looked at the Latin and skirted round it.

Mr. Huycke had appended the comment: "I hope to emulate the Roman lawyer whom Horace described in the following words: Quamsi clientum longa negotia dejudicata lite relinqueret tendens venefranos in argo aut Lacedaemonium Tarentum."

By chance The Examiner noticed the omitted excerpt, struggled with several of the words and then asked Mr. Huycke for a free translation. "Just as a lawyer, his lawsuit having been tried and decided, abandons the tedious business of his clients, and starts off for the fields and woods of Venefranum or the seaside of Spartan Tarentum."

Mr. Huycke also provided the context. The Romans had invaded Carthage in North Africa. One of their generals, Regulus, was captured in the war that was going in favor of the Catharginians. They decided to propose peace, and sent a mission to Rome, including Regulus with their own representatives, expecting that he would advise the ending of hostilities. When he reached home, Regulus did some double-talking, telling his countrymen the enemy was weary and spent, and urging that the war be continued. The Carthaginians having been heard, set out for their own country again, taking Regulus with them, and the lines from Horace describe the deceptive manner of his leaving, knowing that his betrayal of the purpose of the enemy would result in his death. And, so in the appearance of innocence, he takes off happily like the lawyer anticipating a holiday after long litigation.

That was where the parallel with the Huycke winter cruise ends, for the Carthagians drove spikes through the wall of a barrel, dropped Regulus into it, and hauled him around that Carthaginians streets. But, Mr. Huycke was thinking only of the Horatian lawyer holiday bound in the simile.

Women Learn Way To Make Candy

Mrs. Frank Tanner reported on her experiences as branch delegate to the area convntion in Toronto. The usual exchange of Christmas gifts took place, and there were donations of Christmas cards to be sent to the sick members and other shut-in invalids. Mrs. Sydney McCauley assisted by Mrs. N. Wilson, gave a demonstration of candy making. Candies were later served to the members at lunch time. Mrs. N. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. Sydney McCauley, demonstrated Christmas table decorations, when many lovely centres were created, stressing the use of our natural resources, such as greenery from the forests and cones from native trees. Mrs. McColl and helpers served lunch.

Two of the new members were war brides who recently arrived from England and Ireland.

Women Present Briefs On Prices

OTTAWA, Dec. 9—(CP)—Two major women's organizations Tuesday demanded the protection of free competition for the consumer while two co-operative federations urged their principles as the best means of ensuring a square deal for the buyers.

The two views were put forward in the first of a series of briefs to be presented to the prices commission by 12 national organizations. The commission began hearing the briefs Tuesday and will continue listening and questioning until public sessions finish Dec. 16.

"If we are entering a period of free enterprise, we feel that consumers are entitled to the protection of individual competition by manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers," said the brief presented jointly by the National Council of Women and the Canadian Association of Consumers.

It was presented by Mrs. F. E. Wright, of the Consumers Association, and Mrs. R. J. Marshall, of the Council. Both are the presidents of their organization.

The co-operative brief was presented jointly by the Co-operative Union of Canada and Le Conseil Canadien de la Co-operation. It was read in French by Rene Pare, president of the Quebec organization and supported by Ralph S. Staples, president of the Co-operative Union.

Try To Cut Costs

"Co-operative concerns are established with an eye to reduction of the cost-of-living to a minimum and to the maintenance of price stability," they said.

In the brief presented for their organization Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Marshall stated that consumers were particularly concerned with two trade practices which they considered interfered with free competition — establishment of retail sale prices by manufacturers and maintenance of fixed percentage margins of profit by retailers as prices rise.

"The Canadian Association of Consumers is concerned about trade practices which prevent the free play of competitive forces which would tend to protect the consumer," the brief said.

CHEER IN CASE LOTS

Warehouse section of the In-and-Out Store, Water and Brock Sts., is stacked to the rafters with case lots of whiskey. It is the largest stock they have had in years, officials say. To speed the service, wicket booths have been extended.

IT'S COLD UP NORTH

Peterborough people are still feeling expansive about the continued fine weather and high temperatures for this time of year. Wednesday night registered 24 degrees above and 28 at nine o'clock today. But in Dawson, Yukon Territory, it is 45 below and at Edmonton, 26 below. It won't be long now.

SERGEANTS' BUS TRIP

Twenty-two members of the Sergeants' Mess made their annual bus trip to Toronto last night to see the Maple Leafs against Detroit. "I'll be disappointed if we don't see more interesting hockey at times on our own rink this winter," said Ald. H. Dodds.

A WRONG WAY DP POLISH GIRL, Anna Lukasiewcz, was sent to Peterborough instead of Murray Bay, P.Q. Fate was kind in finding her a splendid home with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Godfrey, six miles east of Keene on Rice Lake. Used to farm work and animals at home, she takes great delight in being among the farm animals; she is also adapting herself quickly and efficiently to house work, as well. On the Left she is shown with Dandy, a farm horse favorite and at the Right with her special charge, Ali, a calf named after a favourite of hers in Poland. Her mistress, Insert, Mrs. Frank Godfrey, is delighted with her progress and companionship.

Fred G. Mann Elected; City Gives Grant

At an organizational meeting called on Wednesday night Frederick G. Mann was elected chairman of a Peterborough and District Branch of the United Emergency Fund for Britain.

His Honor Judge Sheldon Smoke has been named Honorary President of the Fund.

Purpose of the fund is to purchase food supplies and other materials for the people of Britain, and to assist other organizatioins and individuals engaged in a similar endeavor. Committee members were unanimous in their choice of Mr. Mann as chairman. He was the organizer and manager of the British War Victims Fund in this city.

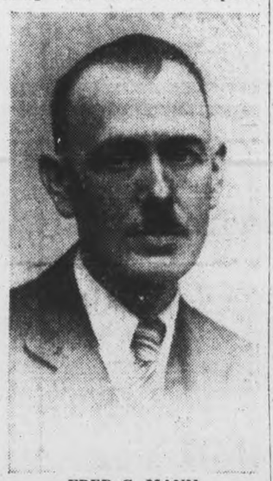
Peterborough, England, with a population of about 47,000 has been chosen as the special objective. Officials of the Emergency Fund have assured the local branch that its contribution will be spent in the Peterborough area.

Mayor-elect Max Swanston who was made honorary chairman, said to the committee: "I think you have made a wonderful start."

He congratulated the committee on its choice of a chairman and said he was sure that the citizens would support this relief measure. "The Mayor just told me that you can expect a donation from the city tomorrow."

There is no defined time limit for the existence of the organization. James Thompson said that it would continue its work until the tight economic situation of the British people had eased—and that, he stated, might be two or three years.

Mr. Mann said that depots had been established in the United Kingdom and Canada to handle parcels. Goods are bought at wholesale prices and efforts are being made to cut the expense of transportation to a minimum.



FRED G. MANN

As an example of reduced freight rates he said that parcels valued at $5 could be sent for 60 cents which is a substantial reduction from the ordinary rate.

The chairman stressed that the emphasis was on co-ordinating the dispatch and allocation of gift parcels coming from the many individuals and agencies interested in helping the British people during their battle for economic recovery.

"Today the people of Great Britain are as much in need of food parcels as they have been in the past," said Mr. Mann. "Many persons in this city are already sending parcels, but others are not giving anything."

Mrs. W. Addyman, president of the Peterborough Council of Women, said, "We of the British Commonwealth want to preserve this great commonwealth. And we can help to preserve it by sending food."

Mr. Mann gave a brief outline of Britain's economic straits. He said that she had lost much of her investments in other countries, particularly the United States, during the war. And as a result of this she found herself short of dollars to buy supplies.

By donations to the ERFB people from Peterborough and district will help her to conserve her dollars, he said. It is also a matter of self-interest for Canadians to help the British people, he added, because Canada's economy is linked with that of Britain.

A committee of three was formed to draw up a letter requesting a donation of $2,000 from the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund.

Present were Mr. Mann, Gordon Monkman, Mrs. Addyman, George Melton, Mr. Swanston, Paige Rowell (advertising and publicity), Mr. Mann (chairman), Gordon Langhorne, representing Horace Steggles, Ed. Humpage, D. J. Eldred (secretary), and Percy Moore.

STEWART SPARLING, of Whitby, was appointed assessor for Peterborough county at the meeting of the County Council Wednesday. Thirty-four applicants sought the job. Mr. Sparling is a former building contractor, and worked as an assessment commissioner in Whitby.

County Assessor From Whitby Was Contractor

Peterborough County's new assessor is Stewart G. Sparling, 36, who is now assessment commissioner in East Whitby township. He was appointed on Wednesday afternoon by the county council after [illegible] of 36 applications for the position had been reviewed.

Mr. Sparling was born in Eganville, Ontario, and was educated in that district. He graduated from Ottawa Normal School and taught public school for a year at Westmeath.

For the next seven years he was employed in light and heavy construction work on factories, offices and homes in Southern Ontario. Later he went into the construction business working for himself.

Three years ago this February he was engaged as the assessment commissioner in East Whitby. While he was there a new system of assessment was introduced. The card system was instituted; all the properties were appraised and brought up to full value.

He states that at first there was certain opposition from some quarters to the new system of assessment, but later this diminished when it proved successful.

As East Whitby is situated on the outskirts of Oshawa, Mr. Sparling gained experience in assessing both urban and rural properties. Knowledge gained there should help him in organizing an efficient system in Peterborough, he believes.

Mr. Sparling expects to find his position as a Peterborough county official particularly agreeable as he joins an old colleague, John D. Kean, county engineer and road superintendent, who formerly held the position of engineer in East Whitby.

The new assessor is married and has a nine-months-old boy. He will bring his family to Peterborough as soon as he can find accommodation.

Jack Sackville Heads Liberals

Jack Sackville was elected president of Peterborough Young Liberals at their business meeting following the dinner at the Empress Wednesday night at which the Hon. Colin Gibson, secretary of state, was the speaker.

The other officers are vice presidents, James Dunn, B.A., and Miss Carmel Leahy; secretary, Miss Alma Hancock; treasurer, Mr. Marlow Banks.

Seventy-five men and women attended the dinner, among them Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Elliott, Col. J. A. Dewart and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lewis of the senior Liberals.

Mr. P. D. Scollard, chairman, of the dinner, promised the juniors every help that could be given by the elders, and expressed the hope that the younger association would give expression to their ideas and otherwise make their presence felt throughout this riding.

SOUTH-END LIBRARY SITE

The lease for the new South-End branch library was signed Wednesday by William Graff, secretary of the Peterborough Public Library Board, J. C. Rutherford, chairman, and Frank H. Jobbitt, owner of the building in which it will be situated. The lease was for one-year.

Polish Girl's Happy Mistake Brought Her To Asphodel

By NICK NICKELS

Two Polish girls with the same Christian name of Anna, arrived from Halifax in Montreal the last week in September. One Anna was destined to work in Peterborough and the other to enter the employ of M. A. Bherer, 108 Rue St. Etienne, La Malbaie, Que.

A clerk in the National Employment Service in Montreal got his directions mixed and the one who was to have worked in Quebec, arrived in Peterborough. The Peterborough branch had a long standing list of families who wanted DP domestics, and Mrs. Frank Godfrey, six miles east of Keene, was called. She immediately came to meet the girl and took her to her home on the north shore of Rice Lake. In short time the Godfrey family took Anna Lukasiewicz to their hearts.

Happy In New Home

It was too late when the Peterborough office phoned to tell Mrs. Godfrey that she had the wrong Anna. She was happier in her new home than she had been in Europe for the past several years. It was decided that she would remain with the Godfreys.

Father Was a Farmer

Anna was a farm girl and had worked in the fields on her father's land for years, until the complete disruptions of thousands of Polish families with the Nazi invasion. She cooked for one and one-half years in a children's hospital in a DP camp, cared for five children in a private family home, worked another year and a half as a waitress in a German officers' mess, one year in a camp hospital kitchen and two years in a woollen factory.

Harvest was finished when she arrived at the Godfrey farm but her love of farm life found her outdoors as much as possible. Milking was a delight and as there is no milking machine, her assistance was welcomed by the men who soon found that she did the job more quickly and efficiently than they.

She found happiness in working among the animals in the barn and stables and when a young calf was turned over to her care, she claimed it as her own and called it Ali after a pet cow she had at home in Poland. The family collie soon sensed her touch with animals and follows her everywhere.

Likes Farm Life

Mrs. Godfrey says that she is adapting herself to housework very well but not to cooking, yet. She likes Canadian farm life and farm food and has managed to put on a few pounds in weight since she first arrived.

There is a Polish veteran DP working on a farm nearby who comes to call occasionally in the evenings and much talking goes on between them, but not of the romantic type. He found copies of CZAS, Polish Weekly Times, published in Winnipeg but now Anna receives her own copies direct from the West.

Once a week the Godfreys bring Anna into English language classes at PCVS and on Sunday to the Roman Catholic Church at Keene while the family proceed to the Anglican Church at Westwood.

The clerk's error in Montreal was probably the best thing that ever happened to Anna Lukasiewcz. Instead of working as a domestic in a Judge's home on the St. Lawrence, she has found happiness in a farm home on the shores of Rice Lake. Indeed, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey became Mama and Papa to her after she had been there less than a week. When asked if she was happy, her blue eyes lit up as she answered, "I like."

FUR COAT STOLEN

A fur coat valued at about $900 was missed from a visiting car Wednesday afternoon. Owned by Mrs. Stewart, 86 St. Patrick St., Lindsay, the muskrat coat had been left in a car parked on a city street. The loss is being investigated by city police.

AID REFUSED

An elderly pedestrian, John Douglas of 591 Water St., was not injured early Wednesday evening when he was struck by a car fender and knocked to the pavement. The accident happened on Murray St. in front of the Armouries while Mr. Douglas was crossing. The car was driven by G. J. Robinson, 716 New Romaine St., whose offer to take Mr. Douglas to hospital was refused. PC M. D. Traynor investigated.

Ovens Courteous Aldermen Say

The last session of the council at which Mayor Wm. G. Ovens will preside may be Monday, Dec. 13. It will follow a finance committee meeting that has been called for 7.30 in the board room.

"I don't want to leave anything over for next year if we can help it," His Worship said Monday night. "I think this meeting should wind up everything that we can attend to. If anything develops later toward the end of the month we could call an extra session if it was necessary."

Apart from the other elements of his leadership, Mr. Ovens has been in the consensus of his associates the most courteous Mayor in their memories. His relations with the council have been invariably friendly and considerate, and the same harmony exists between the council and the county council, and also with the Utilities Commission.

One of the senior aldermen remarked the other day: "Mayor Ovens has set an example in courtesy that should remain as a memory with all the civic employees in their relations with the public. If they follow his way they couldn't go wrong."

TO SHOW FILMS

Films of the Royal Wedding will be shown to students of PC VS and the public schools early in the new year. The Kinsmen Club has arranged the showings.

HOCKEY NIGHT

Frank L. Buckland, an executive member of the Ontario Hockey Association, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Kinsmen Club tonight. He was president of the Peterborough Hockey Club from 1931 to 1940. Other club guests will be Ed Riley, president of the Peterborough Hockey Club and Dick Ouimet, president of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association.

Emphasis On Santa Claus God Ignored, Speaker Says

HAVELOCK, Dec. 9 (ENS)—"Because family relationships are one of the greatest factors in home economics, we should give this phase of our work a prominent place," declared Mrs. Harry Mann, of Trent River and district president of the Women's Institute at the Christmas meeting on Tuesday. She was speaking at the home of Mrs. Robert Melville on "Budgeting of time and money."

"With divorce, delinquency and dissention on the increase, the study of their causes is more important than ever before," Mrs. Mann said. "When production is treated in the sacred light which God intended and when we devote half as much time to establishing faith in Almighty God and the righteousness of his laws, as we do in the fictional figure 'Santa Claus', we shall have the answer to delinquency," she maintained.

Speaking on the budgeting of money, Mrs. Mann said the homemaker was the true home economist of the nation. There were more women engaged in this active profession than in any other occupation.

A report of the annual convention for the central Ontario area of the Women's Institute held in Toronto recently, was presented by Mrs. H. Hoard, president, and delegate from the branch. She said the subjects which had been emphasized were education, better homemakers, training for leadership and the strengthening of the spirit of co-operation in the home, community and country.

Mrs. Fred Bennett presented an instructive paper on "Home Decorating and Furnishings", which gave details of harmonious color schemes and the proper arrangement of furniture in every room of the home.

The treasurer reported that $45.60 had been realized from the sale of tickets on a Christmas cake which had been made by the society to raise funds to make a donation to the local Rotary Club for the vault fund. The treasurer was authorized to forward a cheque for that amount to the club. The draw which took place on Friday, at a bingo sponsored by the Rotary Club, was won by H. Michaelson.

Roll call was answered with a white gift for the cheer boxes for the sick and shut-ins of the village. Mrs. Hoard and Mrs. W. Rice were appointed to purchase fruit and other supplies, the amount being left to their discretion. They will pack the Christmas cheer parcels with the assistance of Mrs. H. Pollock, Mrs. S. Southward and Mrs. G. W. Chiles, in the council chamber, on December 19.

SUMNER WELLES, former U.S. Undersecretary of State, is seen, extreme right, as he testified recently in Washington before the un-American Activities Congressional committee in its spy probe. He told them that the "pumpkin shell" microfilms and copies of documents produced by Whitaker Chambers, an ex-Communist, would have enabled Russia, Germany and Japan to have broken U.S. diplomatic codes before the war.

The question of sponsoring a play "Cousin Jill from Junction Hill," to be presented by Your Welcome Club of the Presbyterian Church at Campbellford early in the new year, was discussed and the secretary was instructed to write to the club suggesting that each organization might bear half of the expenses.

Mrs. Charles Taylor received a donation to purchase flowers to be sent to Mrs. Arthur McMullen who is ill in the General Hospital, Toronto.

A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. G. Fox for a basket of fruit sent to her while in hospital. Mrs. W. Rice was given a cheque for $5 for payment of an account of $1.22 and to carry on the work of the sick committee.

The following accounts were passed: material for Christmas cake, $3.50; Mrs. F. Bennett and Mrs. F. McKenzie's expenses to Girls' Training School, Peterborough, $3.90.

Legion Canvasses For Children's Party

HASTINGS, Dec. 9—(ENS)—Members of Hastings Legion branch 106 are busy canvassing for money for a children's Christmas party. At least year's party Santa Claus had a gift for every child under the age of 12.

Donations received the first day of the canvass were from: Mrs. Harry Chennell $1.; Elmer Richardson, $1; H. M. Fowlds and sons $5; Royal Hotel $10; Art Orr $1; J. A. Sullivan, $2; Len Potter $1; L. W. Humphries $3; Joe Mulholland $1; Bill Jones $5; Fred Chennell $1; Wes Pacey 50 cents; Jack Cleary $1; John Montgomery $1; Andy Dugan 50 cents; Charlies Doherty 50 cents; Earl Clark $1; Jim Convey 25 cents; Gwyn Maguire $3.

China's Missionaries To Be Evacuated

NORWOOD, Dec. 9—(ENS)—W.A. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church heard how missionaries were evacuated from China, when Mrs. Harry Morgan adressed the monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Mainland. Mrs. Morgan told of some of the problems of missionaries and of the Chinese and also spoke on China's products.

Mrs. Mainland and Mrs. W. Bonguard were co-hostesses and Mrs. Gordon Rothwell presided.

The song "Joy of the World" was followed by Mrs. Arthur Davey reading the scripture. An item from "Glad Tidings" was given by Mrs. Stan McMillan and Mrs. Kenneth Kavanagh led the prayers. There was also a song by the Misses Ruth and Shirley Davey and Beverly Rothwell. The meeting closed with a carol and was followed by lunch served by Mrs. Mainland.

Officers elected for the coming year were: president, Mrs. C. Cuthbertson; vice-president, Mrs. Harry Morgan; recording secretary, Mrs. Stan McMillen; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. Bongard; treasurer, Mrs. J. Rogers; glad tidings secretary, Mrs. Clifford Davey; welcome and welfare secretary, Mrs. Alfred Bongard; pianist, Mrs. L. Burtt; supply secretary, Mrs. Earl Spencer.

Mrs. R. Duncan presided at the election.

INSPECTOR GENERAL AUREL LEMAY, of the Quebec Liquor Police, and R.C.M.P. Corporal J. O. R. Ouimet, in the rear, examine part of a still seized in a raid recently near St. Felix de Valois, Que., which had a producing capacity of 100 gallons a day. Two brothers, Rosaire and Jean-Paul Ducharme, were arrested in connection with the seizure.

Mrs. Basil Johnson Heads Ladies' Aid

HASTINGS, Dec. 9—(ENS)—Seventeen members of the Ladies Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. Walter Humphries.

Christmas Carols were sung. Mrs. Scott Fife read the Scripture.

For the election of the officers for 1949 Mrs. W. E. Wilson presided, Officers elected were, President, Mrs. Basil Johnson; Vice President, Mrs. W. E. Wilson; Secretary, Mrs. Scott Fife; Treasurer, Mrs. Stewart Whitred; organist, Mrs. H. B. Wilson.

The appointing of the committees was held over until the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Stewart Whitred.

Mrs. S. Whitred gave a reading entitled The Christmas Spirit and Mrs. C. Dodd one entitled "The Happy Home."

Assisting the hostess serving lunch were Mrs. C. Dodd, Miss Lillian and Shirley Humphries and Mrs. Scott Fife.

Housing Costs Trebled In Great Britain

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, Dec. 9 — (CP). — A three-bedroom house could be built in Britain in 1939 for about £280 ($1,420); a similar house started in 1946 and finished in 1947 cost about £1,242.

These comparative figures were reported by a government committee appointed by Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, who has responsibility for the housing program.

The Labor Government has announced that 750,000 homes, including temporary houses, duplexes and repaired buildings have been provided since the war. The Conservatives, as critics of the government program, say that insufficient houses have been built to take care of ordinary wastage.

Difficult and Expensive

The ordinary man looking for a house to rent or buy still finds his task grimly difficult and his expenses high.

The central government program has given preference to the local government building programs compared with private projects. Subsidies payable on all houses built or projected to March 31, 1948, total £7,500,000 annually.

Part of the increased cost is due to larger rooms, which the committee found were responsible for an additional cost of £201 in the three-bedroom house compared to 1939. Improved fittings, including towel rails, rust-proof steel windows, built-in tables, stainless steel sinks, and other amenities added £127.

The cost of labor was 3½ times the pre-war level and increased the price of the house by £297.

The committee studied causes of the increase in man-hours required to build a house and decided they were:

Shortage of materials and its physical and physiological effects.

Shortage of labor.

Labor quality had been affected by the war, the attractiveness of other industries, and an increase in the average age of building workers.

Lack of individual effort, which brought the suggestion that more personal incentives for the workers were necessary.

As He Looks Today

King George VI will be 53 years old on Dec. 14, although his birthday is offciially celebrated in June when the weather is more favorable for outdoor ceremonies. Confined to his bed because of obstruction to circulation in the legs, his general health continues to be good" and small but encouraging improvement has occurred. Though ailing, he intends to make his traditional Christmas broadcast to the commonwealth, palace sources report. He will broadcast at 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EST).

Wants Bounty Given Hunters

A revision on regulations for collecting the bounty on bears was proposed on Wednesday afternoon by Reeve Peter Pearson of Galway and Cavendish at the current sitting of the County Council.

"Before a hunter can claim a bounty on bears the municipality must be 25 per cent agricultural," he said.

Reeve Pearson stated that this was a handicap to hunters in the townships of Galway and Cavendish as most of the land was rocky or covered with bush.

His motion that the agricultural qualification be dropped was passed by Council, for approval by the Department of Lands and Forests.

Reeve Norman Wilson of Burleigh and Anstruther told the Council he had been hunting this season and had not seen a single fawn. He stated that it was generally agreed wolves were responsible for the general scarcity of deer and moved that permits be allowed for the hunting and snaring of wolves, paricularly in the Crown Game Preserve area. Included in his motion was the request that hunters could carry firearms and not be left unprotected.

A request from the Department of Lands and Forests that a portion of the Crown Game Preserve in Methuen Twp. should be excluded from the Preserve was approved. The area is a small portion of land on the southwest boundary of Methuen, south of the South Lake Road.

"I think it would be a good move," said Reeve Griffith, of Belmont-Methuen.

REPAIR JOB

In India the practice of plastic surgery arose to enable those whose nose tips had been cut off for adultery to correct the mutilation.

Prisoner Insane Declared Not Guilty

A trial jury on Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict of "not guilty by reason of insanity" on a charge of arson against Ernest McFadden, 336 Braidwood Ave. The case was heard before the General Sessions of the Peace here before Judge Sheldon L. Smoke.

W. B. Gordon, defence counsel, moved for discharge of the accused. The motion was refused by Judge Smoke, who ordered McFadden "kept in strict custody in the county jail until the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor is made known."

Mrs. Mendels stumbled while doing housework last week and was hurried to Jewish General Hospital. She fooled medicos as well as friends and relatives by making history of sorts. She recovered in record time. Doctors describe her condition as "remarkably good." Possibly Montreal's oldest resident, Mrs. Mendels came to Montreal from the Ukraine 37 years ago. Tell Children To Pretend There's A Santa To Avoid Delinquency Psychiatrist Stresses

DALLAS, Dec. 9—(AP).—Don't tell your children little white lies about Santa Claus, a psychiatrist advised parents, because you may be planting the seeds of juvenile delinquency.

Dr. Ludolf N. Bollmeier of Hot Springs, Ark., presented a paper at the annual meeting of the Southern Psychiatrist Association here Monday.

He isn't for tossing Santa Claus out in the cold altogether.

"Let your child in on the true spirit of Christmas from the start. Let him help you trim the tree. Tell him that we pretend there's a Santa Claus — but let him know wer're just pretending."

Dr. Bollmeier said the questions a youngster asks—and the answers he gets—are immeasurably important.

"One of my neurotic patients believed until she was 10 years old that her parents got her at the grocery store, as a premium with a pound of coffee," he said.

BURNHAM'S POINT RECREATION CENTRE has become an actuality for citizens of the city living in that area. A committee acquired an old warehouse, owned by the city, on a rental basis for a gathering point for the neighbourhood; they have been repairing and cleaning for the past two months. To get ready for the opening night, committee women are shown scrubbing out the hall in the Top photo and are, Left to Right, Mrs. N. R. Dunlop, Mrs. D. A. Barclay, Wilhelmena Irwin and Mrs. C. S. Purser; tiny tots watch them in the background. In Lower picture, Mrs. F. Montgomery, Left, Mrs. D. Netzel and daughter Jacqueline make paper festoons for opening night while Raymond Scott, second Left, and Leo Jones finish painting.

Harley Street Doctors Remain Very Exclusive

LONDON, Dec. 9 (Reuters) — Harley Street of London, a half-mile with more medical brains to the square yard than any other street in the world, has been spotlighted by the news of the King's illness.

The street has retained its value as a professional address, despite the introduction of National Health Service which brings the right to free medical attention to everyone in Britain. Expensive cars continue to line the street. The heavy doors of some 500 Victorian houses belonging to 730 top specialists still open deferentially to patients with cash in their pockets.

Specialists continue to specialize under nationalized medicine. They retain their private patients —rather more privately.

Their consulting fees remain at three to five guineas—$12.60 to $16. Their charges for operations vary according to their patients' incomes. The policy of making the rich pay and visiting hospitals to give more or less free treatment to the poor is still practised by Harley Street men.

Doctors must pay a 99 years' lease between £12,000 ($48,000) and £15,000, with a ground rent of £100 a year, for a house in Harley Street. They can get a second floor consulting suite for £2,500 plus an 11-year lease at £150 a year. Basement consulting rooms cost £300 a year.

Greatest Array of Talent

No. 149 Harley Street has the greatest assembly of medical talent of any other building in the street. Some 40 physicians and surgeons have consulting rooms there, and every one of them is eminent in his sphere.

Sir James Walton, surgeon of the King, is one of the tenants. Others are Sir Harold Gillies, the famous plastic surgeon, Victor Bonney, top gynaecologist, Robert Lawrence, one of the world's greatest experts on diabetes, Sir Philip Manson-Bahr, specialist in tropical medicine.

This august thoroughfare was created about 1770 and named afer the Harley family, Earls of Oxford. Dr. William Rowley set up there in 1777, but no other medical man came for 30 years.

The case was adjourned until Dec. 15 for judgment.

Minister Presents 'A Christmas Carol'

APSLEY, Dec. 9 — (ENS) — Trinity United Church Sunday School held the first of a number of concerts given at this time of year on Friday. The church was filled to capacity with children and an attentive audience.

The Rev. George Kelly of Lakefield presented Dickens' "Christmas Carol." Between the sections of the story the pupils of Apsley Public School sang choruses. Miss Chase and Marie Tucker sang a duet, and Mesdames Church, Tucker and Fitzgerald sang a trio.

The congregation, led by the pupils of the Sunday School, sang Christmas carols.

During intermission the WA and Sunday School pupils sold home-made candy.

Mrs. N. Wilson, assistant superintendent, thanked all who had contributed to the success of the evening.

New Uranium Field Nearing Production

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today that a second government-owned uranium field is nearing the production stage.

He declined to tell a reporter where the field is located other than it is not in the Northwest Territories, site of the Eldorado field which is generally considered the world's second most important source of the atomic energy ingredient.

Mr. Howe said "we would rather not say at this time where this field is."

Larry Parks Giving Up Musical Films

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 9 (AP)—Jolson-Parks fans had better not count on a third edition of the mammy-singer's biography.

Al Jolson already has recorded enough songs for a third musical based on his life. But Larry Parks who once fought against doing the current sequel, "Jolson Sings Again," indicates that he is giving up song-and-dance movies.

"Before Jolson, I did a couple of musicals in which I used my own voice," Larry said. "But musicals are too tough. They take 10 years from your life. I would just as soon not do nay more."

Capsule Review

"Words and Music" (MGM) is the standard biograf of popular composers. Studded with star names, too many tunes and an inane story. Tom Drake is Rodgers, and Mickey Rooney plays the hapless Hart, who apparently died from being jilted by a small-time songstress. Numbers by Gene Kelly and Vera-Ellen, June Allyson, and Ann Sothern help relieve the dull story.

LOL Holds Party

NORTH SMITH, Dec. 9 (ENS) —Wesley LOL No. 419 sponsored a well-attended entertainment in the hall on Friday evening. Mr. Max Wilson gave an address of welcome. Mr. Kenneth Stewart was chairman. Three numbers were given by a seven-peice orchestra with Mrs. J. A. Northey, piano; Messrs. Evans and Josiah Blewett, violin; Miss M. Nicholls and Velma Garbutt, guitars, and Mrs. R. Garbutt and Neil Blewett, banjos.

Mr. Tom Mason gave a piano solo. Messrs. Stuart and George Stockdale offered two guitar duets. Mrs. Rufus Bullock gave a humorous reading. Miss Esther Meiklejohn was in charge of two hilarious stunts. Mr. Douglas Taylor provided two vocal and musical numbers. Addresses were given by Roland Darling of Lakefield, Messrs. E. Payne and A. Holden of Peterborough. Delicious refreshments topped off with ice cream and apples were served.

THESE THREE LEADERS of Germany's western sector join hands to emphasize their combined opposition to communism, proving that it is possible to educate the Germas people to democracy's technique of results through conciliation and compromise rather than the use of brute force, the prevailing philosphy of the Communist police state. Their efforts resulted in an overwhelming victory for the western sector's principles of government. Now, after the elections, the Social Democratic party, which polled nearly two-thrids of the vote against the Communists, says it intends to maintain the coalition government. In picture, left to right, are Dr. Ernst Reuter of the Social Democrats party (SPD); Karl Hubert Schwennicke, LPD party, and Ferdinand Friendensburg of the CDU party.

Tea Tables Bedecked At Church Bazaar Tea

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 9—(ENS)—United Church Women's Missionary and Service Club held a bazaar and tea on Friday.

The tea table was artistically arranged, and was centred with a winter scene of miniature sleigh and reindeer and a few trees. There were silver services at each of the tables, and tapers stood in birch log holders. The individual tea tables and booths were also attractively decorated with Christmas logs and candles.

The guests were received by Mrs. Ray Jackman, president, and Mrs. Stanley Richardson.

Tea was poured by Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mrs. George Kelly, and Mrs. J. McKerchar.

Conveners of the tea were Mrs. F. L. Erskine and Mrs. E. H. Northey. Assistants were Mrs. Carmen Payne, Mrs. Claire Chettick, Mrs. J. Huddart, Mrs. G. Staples, Mrs. E. Anderson and Mrs. S. A. Grylls.

Mrs. Doug. Davis and Mrs. A. G. Buchanan were in charge of the apron and knitting booth, assisted by Mrs. Sandy Millage and Mrs. E. Edwards.

The picturesque country store, where everything from cereals to men's rubbers were sold was supervised by Mrs. Percy Darling and Mrs. William Whetung, who were assisted by Miss Irene Madill and Mrs. Robert Sutton.

Cookies, cakes and pies were displayed for sale by Mrs. E. Ruth and Mrs. J. R. Hull with Miss Irene Darling assisting.

Gaily wrapped articles were sold from the Christmas tree by Mrs. George Tanner and Mrs. Lloyd Bailey.

Mrs. Alex Graham, Mrs. Robert McCracken, Mrs. George Kerry and Mrs. R. Little were in the kitchen.

A colorful novelty booth arranged by the Mission Band offered a large variety of gifts for the Christmas shopper. Mrs. W. Fife was in charge of this booth and was assisted by Mrs. R. Curry and Mrs. Theo. Downs.

Proceeds of the afternoon amounted to more than $116.

Port Hope Fire Loss Lowest In Province

PORT HOPE, Dec. 9.—(ENS).—Port Hope suffered less damage per capita from fire during the past year than any other municipality in the district. Latest figures reveal that only 67 cents worth of damage for every person in the town resulted from fires, and total losses amounted to $3,266.

Although Belleville's loss through fire was $35,939, the per capita figure was only $2.30. The per capita loss at Oshawa was $3.62.

Total value of damage in Peterborough was $314,409 or $9.70 for every person.

Excessive Taxes Blamed By Drew

MIDDLETON, N.S., Dec. 9—George Drew Wednesday night told a Progressive Conservative party rally here that "a considerable part" of Canada's cost-of-living stems from "excessive taxation."

Speaking in support of George Nowlan, Progressive Conservative candidate in the ec. 13 Digby-Annapolis-Kings federal by-election, the party's national leader said such taxation was "piling up unjustified surpluses at the rate of more than $500,000 a year."

Mr. Drew came to this three-county Nova Scotia riding from the Ontario constituency of Carleton where he himself is seeking a seat in the House of Commons in another by-election Dec. 20.

He said Wednesday night "every cent of that additional taxation adds to the cost of living and enters into the price of everything we buy. Recognizing this situation, the Progressive Conservative party adopted a resolution...to increase...personal income exemption to at least $2,500 for married persons...and to lower the general rate of personal income tax..."

Young Man Held On Charge Of Theft

Vernon Dunford, 17, of RR 4, Lakefield, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Provincial Police and will face a charge of breaking, entering and theft at Melody Inn on No. 28 Highway at the Stony Lake Road. The break-in was in a small shed at the rear of the inn, and a quantity of oil and naphtha gas was reported missing. The little building had been built only two days ago.

The loss was discovered by Lemuel Pammett, owner of the inn, who notified police. Investigations of Provincial Constables George Stevens and Bev Bell led to Dunford's arrest.

In city court Wednesday, Dunford was remanded for one week. His request for bail was refused at the request of police.

Greek Guerillas Free U.S. Road Builders

ATHENS, Dec. 9—(Reuters)—Francis L. McShane, assistant superintendent of road building with the United States aid mission in Greece, returned to Athens today after 12 days of captivity with Greek guerrillas.

The guerrillas burned his car and catpured four of his crew with him Nov. 10, he said. They spent the next 12 days wandering with their captors, on foot and on muleback, through the mountains of the Peloponese.

McShane said that at rebel headquarters he was told he would be shown the "glories" of free Greece. What he actually saw was "a sequence of mountain villages, each poorer than the other and filled with hungry people." After 12 days the engineer was told he would be released.

PREMIERS OF THE nine provinces or their representatives will gather is Ottawa next week at the invitation of the Department of Mines and Resources to discuss the future of the Trans-Canada Highway. This map shows the official route and alternatives now in existence or being considered. There is only one gap in the route, along the north shore of Lake Superior. The road is built past Sault Ste. Marie to the Montreal River but there is a gap of 250 miles between the river and the rest of the road near Schreiber.

Cabinet Still Considering Inducements For Highway

By WILLIAM WILSON.

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 — (CP) — First steps will be taken here next week toward plans for a trans-Canada highway, and the Federal Cabinet is reported to be still considering what financial inducements it will offer to the provinces.

All nine prominces have accepted the Dominion Government's invitation to participate in the talks and it is believed here that the provincial Premiers themselves wil come to Ottawa to take part in the discussions. The meetings open December 14.

At present it is possible — but just barely possible — to travel the 4,300 miles from Halifax to Vancouver by road through Canada. However, sections through the Rockies, the Prairies, and North-western Ontario are particularly bad. At Senate Committee hearings last spring several witnesses testified that practically no one travels from Eastern Canada to the West without going through the United States.

Latest figures available from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that during the 25 years ended 1946, Canada added an average of 5,200 miles a year to her network of highways. However, not all of this was surfaced road. Of 553,000 miles of highway in Canada at the end of 1946, only 140,049 miles were surfaced.

Costly Business

Some idea of the cost of road building and maintenance also is shown in the DBS report. During 1946 alone, an estimated $144,469,000 was spent by various authorities—an increase of nearly 72 per cent over the 1945 total of $84,165,000.

While Resources Minister MacKinnon's department is sponsoring the conference other Federal groups are interested as well. The Defence Department is expected to have representatives at meetings who will be interested not only in the route of the highway but in its construction specifications, because of the road's military value.

One of the main proponents of a trans-Canada highway has been D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Government Travel Bureau.

At meetings of the Senate Tourist Committee last year, Mr. Dolan said the most frequent complaint heard from the United States tourists is about the condition of Canadian roads — and about the undesirability of driving from Eastern to Western Canada without going through the United States.

Very Much Alive Folk Informed

TORONTO, Dec. 9 — (CP) — George Kitson, 25, who came to Toronto three years ago from Stellarton, N.S., would like the folks back home to know that he's still alive.

A month ago a friend greeted him in a Toronto street with the exclamation: "I thought you were dead." He had heard Kitson was killed in a Toronto traffic accident.

Early Wednesday an uncle, George McKenzie, phoned from Stellarton to check on the rumor which had been "going the rounds" back home.

Santa Barely Escapes Ban As A Menace

CARDIFF, Wales, Dec. 9—(AP)—A city council committee met Wednesday to ponder the advisability of banning Santa Claus as a menace to public safety. But he was cleared.

Santa made a triumphal tour from the railway station to a city store, and 20,000 persons jammed the streets to see him, snarling traffic no end.

The council agreed that children demand Santa Claus at Christmas time. But next year he will be welcomed where there's less hazard—at the civic centre.

Two More Appointments

OTTAWA, Dec. 9—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent is expected to announce another two appointments to the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission before the new year, it was learned Wednesday night. Currently, the Canadian side is represented by only one member, George Spence. The American section of the Canadian-American boundary organization is represented by three.

Give Secret Testimony

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—(AP)—Three former prisoners in the Nazi horror camp at Buchenwald told senators behind closed doors Wednesday about the conduct of red-haired Ilse Koch, widow of the former camp commandant. Frau Koch has been accused of ordering prisoners killed so she could use their skin for lampshades. The senate investigating subcommittee is seeking facts regarding the reduction of the woman's life sentence to four years.

Minister Goes To Jail For Court Insolence

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9—(AP)—After pleading guilty to speeding 70 miles an hour and making unsafe lane changes, Rev. Harold A. Lindsay, Pasadena minister, was fined $50 by Judge Roger Pfaff. "Your honor, I thought I would get more consideration," said the minister.

"An automobile driven 70 miles an hour is just as dangerous in the hands of a minister as any other man," replied Mr. Lindsay.

"You are being sacrilegious," replied Mr. Lindsay.

"Don't call me sacrilegious in my court," snapped Judge Pfaff. "I'm going to give you three days in jail to meditate about your attitude toward this court and our traffic laws."

DOROTHY DIX

Battling Parents Cause Children Leaving Home

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: All my life I have lived in a home that has been a battleground. My mother and father are basically two fine people who are really fond of each other, but they are in a perpetual fight about everything and nothing. They have made many sacrifices to give us children the advantages of education and association, but they have nagged us continually and kept us virtual prisoners.

Dorothy Dix

I am a woman in my early twenties and I feel that I have a right to, at least, some freedom. Do you think I would be justified in leaving home and striking out for myself?—A BEWILDERED DAUGHTER.

ANSWER: I certainly do. You owe it to yourself to keep your nerves from being shattered and your disposition soured, as would be bound to happen if you continued to live in a household where there is constant bickering. "Peace! Peace! Ain't peace wonderful?" said Father Divine, and he never uttered a truer word. It is the one indispensable thing to happiness.

There is a lot of maudlin sentiment about the breaking up of families, but nine times out of ten it is their salvation. For, as one of our great philosophers once said, "The scattering of children is the only thing that keeps the Joneses from being smothered by the Joneses and the Smiths from being Smithed to death."

There is no other form of martrydom that is so agonizing as having to live with people who rub you raw every minutes of the day. Mothers who nag. Fathers who are tyrants. Grandmother who whines. Grandfather who always interferes with everything that isn't his business. Aunt Sally who is a perpetual talker.

Life with any one of them is not worth living, yet how few of us have the courage to get up and leave our place of torment. We are victims of the fallacy that we have to stand the disagreeable members of our families, instead of chucking them out of the door.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have the ideal daughter-in-law. Until she married my son she never cooked a meal in her life. Now she feeds my son so well he has gained ten pounds. She gives him changes of food that he likes to whet his appetite. I cooked what I liked and thought he should eat what I set before him.

She hangs up his clothes. I let them lie where they fell. I never pressed his clothes. I let him do it himself. Have I done right in bringing my son up the hard way to look after himself, or is my daughter-in-law doing the right thing in spoiling her husband?

ANSWER: There isn't any cut-and-dried follow-this-rule-and-you-cannot-fail recipe for getting along with husbands. Most wives learn how to do it by trial and error. But, generally speaking, the old formula "feed the brute" has never been improved upon.

My observation is that husbands all fall for one thing—being the head of the house. He who must be kowtowed to, and if the wife makes this gesture he doesn't care a rap what she does. It is okay with him. He doesn't really mind wiping the dishes; he just gets a kick out of sprawling in an easy chair while wife does it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: A month ago my wife left me and our two sons, ages 6 and 11, without giving any explanation or reason for doing so. I had great difficulty in locating her address, but a member of her family told me that she was all right and living with some other woman and working, and that I should not try to find her.

I purchased a home for her last year, which pleased her very much, and then she walks out and leaves us, not even leaving a message for her children. She took everything out of the house that she wanted. Iron, ironing board, silverware, dishes, sheets, pillows, blankets and many other things. She even took all the money we had saved and kept in the bank.

What is your advice in this matter? Just forget her and live for the interest of my sons?—N. C. H.

ANSWER There is nothing you can do except to just leave her alone. Apparently she found no fault with you as a husband. She simply lost her taste for you. That is not uncommon, but the strange thing is that she forsakes her children with seemingly no regret at leaving them.

A woman like that isn't worth grieving over.

By MARY MOORE

NOTE One of our readers, Mrs. Robertson, was hoping, in one of her recent letters, that someone would invent a box to enable one to put his finger right on the recipe he wanted. She was referring to cookery page clippings.

I was in Toronto last week and bought something that I think would suit her purpose.

It is a book-type of file with wooden covers, which are laced together with heavy lacing. Inside are dozens of large heavy envelopes each of which is held with the lacing, and labelled with the type of recipe it should contain. For instance, cakes, cookies, soups, sandwiches, meats, desserts—hot, cold or frozen, etc.

It seems to me to be a recipe-saver's dream come true. If any of our readers wants to know more details of this recipe file write to me and I will send a private reply, telling you where it may be bought.

QUESTION: Since coming to this city several months ago to live I have been faithfully following your column and as yet I have not seen a recipe for "Crumpets". Said recipe is one I would like very much to have. If possible would you kindly give me a copy? Mrs. S.

English Crumpets

Mix 1½ cups lukewarm water with, ½ teaspoon each salt and sugar, and 1 teaspoon melted butter. Dissolve ¼ yeast cake in this mixture. Into this stir enough flour to make a very stiff batter. Beat for 10 minutes, adding enough lukewarm milk to make a batter just stiff enough to pour. Grease shallow muffin rings and place them on a soapstone griddle or heavy aluminum griddle. Pour the batter into the rings to depth of ¼ inch. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. until brown on bottom, then turn over and bake 3 or 4 minutes longer. Serve hot, or if they are leftover split and toast them.

QUESTION: Well I'm back again for some more of your good recipes.

Our church group are catering to a men's club for dinner and have decided to serve hot meat loaf. I haven't a good recipe for one and I was wondering if you could help me out. Mrs. R. M.

ANSWER:

Superior Meat Loaf

(quantity recipe for 48 4-oz. servings)

One and one-half quarts (6 10-oz. tins) condensed mushroom soup, 8 lbs. ground lean beef, 6 cups dry breadcrumbs, 2 cups finely chopped onions, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 2 2-3 tablespoons salt, 8 large eggs well-beaten. Combine all ingredients mixing well. Form into 4 or 6 large loaves and shape into ovals and bake on flat greased pans OR bake in greased loaf tins. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. (slow oven) for from 1¼ to 1½ hours. Lovely served with horseradish OR a mixture of horseradish and catsup.

QUESTION: I'm going to give the family Christmas dinner this year and frankly I don't know how to start.

The menu is Pineapple Juice with red and green cherries
Turkey—Nut dressing
Giblet Gravy
Mashed Potatoes Relishes
Lima Beans (frozen) and corn
Mince Pie and Ice Cream

I have a small stove and would like to have as much prepared two days ahead if possible. Can you arrange a schedule for me? Flustered.

ANSWER: (1) The pies come first. You may make them and keep them cold or freeze them 3 days ahead and keep them very cold, and reheat them after the turkey is taken from the oven.

(2) The red and green cherries may be sliced two days ahead and left in their juice, and kept covered and cold. Add some of the juice when you add the

Muriel Bullock Bride Of Harold E. Hooton

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Trinity United Church, Omemee, on Saturday, when Muriel Gladys Bullock and Harold Everett Hooton were united in marriage by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bullock of Omemee and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hooton of Ida.

Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus was played by Miss Lily Race as the bride entered the church with her father. She wore a gown of white satin, with net yoke edged with satin, fitted bodice, daintily buttoned down the back, long net sleeves with satin insert coming to points over her hands. The skirt was of satin with lace inserts falling to a graceful train at the back. Her two tier veil, held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms, was of richly embroidered French illusion net. She carried a cascade shower bouquet of Bettertime and white roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Florence Newman gowned in pale pink with a net yoke edged with taffeta and made with fitted bodice, short puff sleeves, and long full net skirt. Miss Ruth Trennam, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid wearing pale blue sheer styled on similar lines. Both carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations and white baby mums and they wore coronets of matching flowers in their hair.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. John Hooton and the ushers were Mr. Blake Trennum, cousin of the bride and Mr. Barry Fee.

While the guests were arriving Mrs. J. Hayes sang "Through the Years" and during the signing of the register "A Wedding Prayer."

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Bullock received in a silver grey crepe dress with satin trim and corsage of Briarcliff roses, grey hat and black accessories. She was assisted by Mrs. Hooton in a blue and white figured dress, corsage of briarcliff roses, black hat and black accessories.

Later the bride and groom left on their honeymoon. The bride choose a silver grey crepe dress, grey hat, loganberry coat with silver fox fur and black accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooton will reside at Fairmount.

A CARRY-ALL GETS AROUND—Who's a diplomat? is a question with a variety of answers these days. One good patriotic friend whose only portfolio is the one she (or he) buys as luggage on the trip to foreign parts, is often as helpful though unsung an ambassador as a bigger shot with more privileges. Not to belittle any career worker, but to mention that a nice person, with a nice way, is a good American person abroad.

The portfolio, or carry-all, photographed here is a ladies' accessory, far from expensive, and a complement to interglobal or shopping tours. Made of canvass, leather or plaid woollen to go with sundry costumes or budges, the giant handbag of dispatch case importance and capacity has a center part big enough to take a magazine, gloves, nightrobe, etcetera, including a bathing suit (even wet, as it is waterproof lined) with two other outside, roomy compartments.

cherries at the last minute. Serve all very cold.

(3) The stuffing for the turkey may be made one day ahead if kept cool and covered. OR if you have storage space, the turkey may be dressed, singed, and washed inside and out with water with baking soda in it, stuffed with the dressing, trussed and kept very cold—all this the day before Christmas. I recommend this because it is a long job.

(4) The giblets may be cooked and chopped a day ahead, if kept cold and covered. The gravy could be made in the roasting pan after the turkey is on the hot platter; keep the turkey covered on the platter, in the oven, until you carry it to the table. Then put the pies in the oven to reheat.

(5) The potatoes may be peeled early Christmas morning and allowed to stand in cold water, covered, until cooking time. This improves for mashing as they are much fluffier. Use hot homogenized milk for the potatoes—it is lovely.

(6) The frozen limas and corn are an excellent idea for, if absolutely necessary, they could be cooked over fast heat after the potatoes are mashed. Heat all of your serving dishes, to keep the food hotter if it has to wait a few minutes.

(7) If you have a nice table thermos, or can borrow one, the coffee could be made and put into it hours before serving time.

I hope these sugestions help to organize you. When I was a young bride we lived in a small apartment, and used a 2-burner stove. I sometimes kept the vegetables hot in their serving dishes by standing them in boiling hot water in the dish pan. Good luck and Merry Christmas.

QUESTION: I am preparing to make your dark rich fruit cake (from last week's paper) but my family does not like seeded raisins, so I'm substituting seedless raisins and 1 lb. dates for the cake. I trust it will turn out all right.

One of your readers refers to Mrs. D. E. Wilton's Eggless fruit cake. While we splurge a bit for Christmas we can't afford to make too expensive cakes all year round, and I do hope you will find place to repeat that recipe, perhaps after the holidays. It is nice to have fruit loaf on hand for unexpected winter callers.

Right now my Christmas problems are: how to blanch almonds and filberts. Which type of cookies keep better—the kind made with sour milk or the liquidless ice box variety. Thank you very much and best wishes for happy holidays.—Mrs. S. P. R.

ANSWER: You will have seen by now the recipe for Mrs. Wilton's eggless fruit cake, for it was printed last week.

To Blanch Almonds: Put almonds in pan, cover with boiling hot water, steam over very low burner and let come to boiling point. Remove from heat, drain, cover with cold water, then skins will slip off if pressed between thumb and fingers. I do not know how to blanch filberts—I have tried the above method for blanching filberts and the skin will not come off. Maybe some of our readers could help us with this. The liquidless ice-box variety cookies—that is, butter cookies without any liquid—keep much better than sour milk or cream cookies but if sour cream cookies are kept very cold and covered they will keep well too. Thanks for your kind wishes.

TALL STORY—Tall gals, on a budget, often have much difficulty in finding suitable clothing, except in custom-made styles. But lately smart designers have taken these long-stemmed people into consideration, and have come forth with delightful clothes that, while they hew to the line, apparently lop off inches. A glance at the frock shown here discloses that it is broken by a fitted midriff of moire faille in contrasting color. The empire effect does the trick. The faille is repeated in the collar and cuffs.

TRAVELLING FROM THE WEST — San Francisco, that noble city which is the end of the traveler's way from east to west on this continent, the hop-off to the fabulous Hawaiian Islands for those going farther, sends us this formal frock. It is made of sleek matt jersey which is the traveler's delight, insurance against packing creases and general collapse.

The ground is white, the fruits and flowers of plenty in muted harvest tones; below a bodice draped with flattering softness is a straight skirt, with a sari panel looped over the hips and down to the skirt hem behind, and which may be pulled up to make a stole or a head scarf which can't slither away, as it is attached.

Edits News-Sheet

TORONTO, Dec. 9 — (CP) — Tuberculosis has done little to slow up Mrs. Barbara Knox, a bright-eyed, attractive patient at the Toronto Sanatorium at suburban Weston since last January.

A school teacher, Mrs. Knox had just finished a course in design at Columbia University in New York city and was ready to assume teaching at Kirkland Lake when her disease was discovered.

After responding favorably to treatment she accepted three voluntary jobs, and has started on a fourth—the ambitious task of editing the Periscope—a patients' newspaper.

The first edition this week brought 140 letters from its 620 subscribers, and most of them contained suggestions and best wishes.

Her voluntary jobs aren't strenuous, but they fill every free hour, and she finds she hardly has time to do them all.

On December 22 the members will have a party for grown-ups. Lunch was served by Mrs. J. Hodgson and Mrs. Meldrum.

Mrs. G. K. Fraser Commends Work of Salvation Army Opens Home League Bazaar

"Because I know something of the work carried on by the Salvation Army, there is nothing I could enjoy more than opening this sale," said Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser on Wednesday afternoon. She was speaking to a crowd which filled the room in the Temple where Home League members had set up bazaar stalls. "I don't need to tell what they do—we are continually reading about it in the papers," she continued. Adding a personal touch to her remarks, however, Mrs. Fraser told of some of the kindnesses shown to her son while he was on leaves from Naval service during the war.

Projects to which proceeds of the Christmas bazaar are designated have an endless range of scope Mrs. Fraser pointed out. Missionary work of the Salvation Army goes on everywhere, "cheer parcels" are sent to families overseas who would otherwise have nothing in this line. Local persons who are sick or shut-ins receive "Sunshine baskets" from the Army. Last project on the list, but perhaps the most urgent at the present time is a new kitchen at the Temple, as members find the facilities now available inadequate for their needs.

Before the guest was introduced by Mrs. Chas. Watt, a short worship service was conducted by Mrs. Mendell Braund, convener of the bazaar. "Away in the Manger" was beautifully sung by a trio of sisters.

Decorations at each of the 12 booths were twisting streamers of red and green giving a real Christmas flavor to the scene. "Mickey Mouse" cutouts trimming the top and skirt of the hankie counter were a delight to the children. There was also a "fish pond" where visitors had exceedingly good luck, though gay balloons waved them back from the "bank."

"Ye Olde Yuletide Yummies" was the sing in old English lettering over one stall and there the customer found such a variety of good things to eat, everything from bread to candy. Attendants were Mrs. Thos. Rose and Mrs. Wm. Rose.

In "Santa's Toyland" there were home-made stuffed animals and dolls, games and toys, all to give joy to the youngsters at Christmas. Mrs. Bert Smith, Mrs. Tom Mills and Mrs. Jim Wilkinson were the salesladies.

Artistic skill of a member filled one corner booth with beauty in the form beautifully fashioned roses in all colors and also large blooms with gay frilled skirts to give the final touch on a well-made bed. These were being sold by Mrs. S. Winterbottom and Mrs. Wm. Davidson.

Supplies at the apron stall dwindled rapidly as the customers picked out nice Christmas gifts for friends. Mrs. A. Smith and Mrs. R. Routley were in charge. The stock of home cooking was also cleaned out early with Mrs. H. Barton, Mrs. K. Payne and Mrs. D. Hubbs making the sales. Home made candy was sold by Mrs. Alf Mills and Mrs. Wm. Burrows.

The "towel booth" was entirely supplied with wares and attended by four members, Mrs. J. T Braund, Mrs. J. James, Mrs. R. Routley and Mrs. E. Sanders. A counter of knitted garments was attended by Mrs. W. Jones, Mrs. M. Fisher and Mrs. M. Thomas. Hand-made overalls, dresses, pyjamas, etc., for small children were sold by Mrs. E. Hodgson and Mrs. A. Wilson. Fancywork including luncheon cloths, guest towels, dresser sets, was sold by Mrs. Jim Craig and Mrs. Tom Craig. Christmas cards and tags with wrapping paper, seals and ribbon were among the many items on the novelty table operated by Mrs. J. Hemphill and Mrs. Jean Isle.

The pretty handkerchiefs for children and grown-ups, that fit in so nicely with a Christmas greeting card, were sold by Mrs. M. Howden and Mrs. M. Fletcher. They also had some gay flowered ones done up in novel ways for the tree.

Attendants in the fish pond were Mrs. G. Holnbeck and Mrs. K. Bolam.

Children's Party Given By Trinity Mothers

Trinity Baby Band Mothers entertained their children at a delightful Christmas party Wednesday afternoon in the church basement. A truly festive atmosphere prevailed and the magic of Christmas evident everywhere from a stately lighted tree to gaily decked walls. Tables were arranged in a circle and each covered with bright Christmas cloths and centred with red candles in improvised apple holders.

The youngsters enjoyed a delicious lunch topped off with fancy cookies and candy cases. The afternoon was pleasingly spent playing games and with story-telling under supervision of Mrs. E. Westbye. To make things complete Santa Claus arrived at five o'clock and after receiving a most enthusiastic welcome he presented each starry-eyed child with a gift.

Decorating for the party was handled by Mrs. Jack Davern and her committee. The lunch was arranged and served by a group under the direction of Mrs. R. J. Burnside. The gift department was headed by Mrs. J. B. Clark.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

Shadgett contributed two solos, "Others" and "He Smiled On Me" and was accompanied by Mrs. Ben Smith. A quartette from the Salvation Army Boys' Band entertained with several selections. Carol singing was then led by Mrs. Jas. Goldie with accompaniment by the boys.

The guests were thanked for the pleasing program by Mr. A Olmstead.

Mrs. J. Stuart, president, expressed appreciation to all who had helped with the recent banquet for the boys' soccer team. It was decided to donate $25 to the boys and $25 to the girls of the school for recreation supplies. Mrs. Thompson reported on home education studies and said the next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. D. Hayes, 258 King St., in January.

Lunch was served at the close by Mrs. W. Hall and her assistants.

Friendly Christmas Tea Held by Junior Chapter

The true Christmas spirit of friendliness and good cheer made Wednesday afternoon a most pleasant one for tea guests of the Mary K. Birdsall COE Chapter. "Jingle Bells" chiming softly caused a hushed silence to fall until the source was revealed and then exclamations of "How Lovely." It was a small gsistening white sleigh piled high with holly and evergreen concealing a tiny music box, placed on the mantel of the YWCA Green Room and flanked with gay Christmas decorations. On the fireplace beneath the stockings had been hung and were filled with dolls and toys. Nearby a very pretty Christmas tree with shining decorations held beautifully wrapped parcels, completing the homey scene of Christmas morning.

Evergreens atop the piano surrounded a gay Christmas sleigh with Santa and his load of gifts in miniature. Elsewhere in the room there were other signs of the approaching festive season highlighted by a small silver tree with blue lights.

Chapter members pouring tea and serving from the delightfully arranged tea table were Misses Mary Cauley, Peg McNeil, Ethel Fine, Jeanette Campbell, Wanda Deyell and Mrs. Claude Shewen Red candles flanked the Christmas centrepiece on the lace-covered table. Guests were seated at quartette tables with Christmas figures centring the dainty luncheon cloths.

Miss Mary McRae was in charge of ticket sales on a doll house, that was a centre of attraction as the complete furnishings of all rooms on two floors of the small size mansion were admired. At the close she drew the winning ticket belonging to Mrs. Keith G. Loch, 788 Aylmer St. An iced Christmas cake was also offered and Mrs. H. G. Carleton, chapter regent, selected the ticked of Mrs. Wm. Derry, 500 Gilmour St.

Tables of home-cooking and hand-made novelties and fancy work received splendid patronage. They were attended by Misses Faye Adams and Marilyn Pomeroy, with Mrs. A. G. Stock in charge.

Vice regents, Miss Joan Stock and Miss Marie Adams received at the door, and were again welcomed by tea hostess Mrs. Carleton. Mrs. C. B. Muir was at the treasurer's table.

Friends of members assisted by replenishing plates and were Misses J. Schaffer, Mrs. I McRae, Mrs. A. E. Cauley and Mrs M. G. Pomeroy.

Newest Fashion Flashes

IT'S WONDERFUL to see how beautiful wool dresses are this season. One of the most original dresses seen at a recent evening party at a picture gallery was an ankle-length dress of tissue weight, off-white woollen with a neckline deep and straight in back and curved to a deep rounded bertha point in front with a tailored selft bow. The skirt is softly gathered onto a very slim, beltless waistline.

NEW ACCENTS mark the latest fur coats. Black Persian lamb is used for a handsome coat with an Empire yoke back. Collar and cuffs are of velvet thickly overlaid with passementerie, adding up to a handsome effect.

IT MUST BE that milliners are in league with the hairdressers, since it would seem that the majority of hats are designed solely for wear with a short, neat hairdo. The neat look is the smart look when it come to the head and hat picture.

SOMETHING NEW to wear with the long evening skirt is the evening blouse of hand-knitted, very lightweight silk, wool or rayon yarn. Scooper out necklines, long or short sleeves, beautiful colors, some with geometrical designs in gold or silver for the yoke, make these blouses a stand-out group.

JUST RETURNED to popularity is caracul, which is to receive a big promotion for next year. Fine black caracul makes a full length coat which has a gracefully inverted back pleat that descends from a pointed yoke. A pointed envelope collar can be worn up at the nape of the neck or drawn around the shoulders.

IT LOOKS LIKE the biggest season yet for fashion revivals, so it doesn't astonish us to see, here and there, the fine gold mesh bag. Sometimes this is used inside an evening bag to hold compact and lipstick.

A NICE ALTERNATIVE to the fur coat, and much dressier for important wear than a woollen coat is a full greatcoat of black velvet, or a trim reefer of same. A lovely greatcoat buttons to a high standing collar and swings wide in back. A handsome reefer fastens with three big black braid frogs.

LUXURY handbags star with beautiful late-afternoon-into-evening outfits. An exquisite import is of black silk satin, a pouch gathered onto a wide gold filagree frame encrusted with enameled flowers, fine seed beads and parls — a frame to be used over and over again.

A TOUCH OF THE BUCCANEER—This is Dorothy Malone wearing a lot of hat, a piratical high hat well attuned to casual sports clothes for the resort season. Although it is a costume piece for a movie role, it is the kind which makes a woman in the audience wish she could borrow the star's stylist.

The hat is nut brown felt, with a double color binding of grosgrain, in two shades of beige.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, December 10

There are portents of an explosive, hectic and turbulent state of affairs, in which rash and intemperate action could beget serious loss, regrets, sorrows and even physical dangers or disaster. It is likely that such intemperate behavior could be brought about by discovery of an undertone of the subtle, treacherous and sinister. A flash of resentment could create a vicious circle, with calamity and duplicity reacting in devious ways. Balance, calmness and restraint might avert serious loss.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are under a stormy and stressful astral incitement, in which several forms of strife, trickery, treachery and resentment might incite a turbulent, tumultous and explosive state which might culminate in dangers, hectic and wild behavior, with unhappy and unwholesome reactions on business, domestic, social, emotional and also physcial contacts and ties. A steady, serene and balanced state of mind and feelings could avert danger and loss in many aspects. Count the cost before exploding.

A child born on this day may be ready to "fly off the handle" at the proverbial "drop of the hat", to the detriment of its peace of mind, standing and good repute.

6—In Memoriams

DUNFORD—In loving memory of Mrs Rachael Dunford who passed away December 9, 1945
Dear mother, not a day goes by,
But we miss you more and more,
God will watch over you,
Till we meet on the other shore.
—Ever remembered by son Sherman and daughter (Ida) Mrs. Geo. Phillips.

DOXSEE—In loving memory of my dear daughter, Helen Ferguson, who passed away a year ago today, Dec. 9th, 1947.
God knew that she was suffering
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered "Peace be thine".
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some time, some day, we know not when,
I will meet my loved one there.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by her mother.

DOXSEE, Helen—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother who passed away Dec. 9, 1947.
Just when your life was brightest,
Just when your years were best,
You were called from this world of sorrow,
To a home of eternal rest.
—Sadly missed by her husband, Elwood and daughter, Marlene.

COBOURG, Dec. 9—(ENS). — Johnny Ewart, the Cobourg merchant who hit all the major news services after he failed to hit a skunk at 5 feet about a month ago, is in the news again. Johnny went rabbit hunting yesterday with a party of seven other storekeepers and managed to get himself lost in a vast wooded area southeast of Grafton of some 100 acres. When the hunting party returned to their cars to move on to another spot, there was no sign of Johnny Ewart. Johnny's dog Bogie, apparently out of sympathy with his master's hunting prowess, had abandoned Johnny and sat among the other dogs at the cars. Bogie had an expression on his face which said plainly "Aw come on fellows — never mind that character; let's get on with the hunt." However, two sorties were made through the bush and Johnny was located. Seven hunters stake their oath that Johnny was lost. Hunter Ewart says he was on a rabbit's trail. The ayes have it.

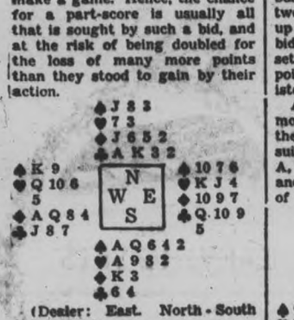
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WARY ABOUT COMING IN

HAVING learned from bitter experience about the cost of overbidding with a limited amount of available playing strength, the soundest players are wary on the subject of such bids. They have found that, when one opponent has shown enough strength to open the bidding, it is seldom that their partners will have enough strength for the side to make a game. Hence, the chance for a part-score is usually all that is sought by such a bid, and at the risk of being doubled for the loss of many more points than they stood to gain by their action.



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1♠	2♦	Pass
Pass	Dbl

Where that diamond overcall was made at several tables of a duplicate, several different kinds of action ensued. In one case North bid 2-No Trumps, in another the too-high 3-Clubs, all of which resulted in North-South playing the hand, as was also the case where North passed and then South showed his second suit at 2-Hearts. The best North-South result with its own side as declarer was the making of 3-Spades, netting 90 for tricks plus 50 for contract, or a total of 140.

Too high and were set, a result that also occurred in two cases where West passed the opening.

What should have followed West's unsoundly dangerous overcall is that given in the sequence above, North passing, South doubling and North making a business pass. That occurred at two tables, and properly showed up the undue hazard of West's bid. It resulted in a two-trick set, giving North and South 300 points, the worst licking administered to any East-West pair.

Against the doubled 2-Diamonds, the club K was led, so the defense got two tricks in that suit, the ruff of a club, the heart A, the diamond J, the spade A and the ruff of a heart for a total of seven tricks.

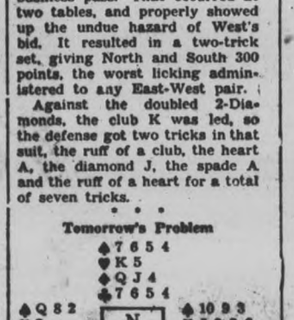
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

For what principal reason should East be careful about his play on the diamond K lead against the 2-Hearts contract he had doubled, West having made a diamond overcall?

ONTARIO MAYORALTY elections saw a familiar figure returned to civic affairs as Aaron Hirowitz, above, was elected mayor of Cornwall, Ont., for the next two years. He defeated Robert Renie to replace Lloyd D. Gallinger, who won from Mr. Horowitz two years ago. He is believed to be the only Jewish mayor in Canada.

Canada Needs Polish Farmers

Department of Labor in Ottawa will continue to take an interest in the affairs of Polish veterans, according to newsletter No. 5 issued in November. Most of the veterans who came to Canada in 1946 will soon complete their obligations in respect to farm employment. The bulletin, issued in English, French and Polish, contains a message of appreciation of their agricultural work.

Veterans are urged to remain on farms and are advised to consider the guidance of National Employment Service and regional officers of the Department of Agriculture.

Many Polish veterans hold university degrees in engineering, chemistry, forrestry, agriculture and other branches of specialized training. Men of this type are urged to register with the Bureau of Technical Personnel, Ottawa, where they will be assisted in gaining employment in work for which they are qualified. They are advised to describe documents of qualification when writing to the bureau and may apply in either English or Polish.

Kazimierz Klimaszewski, vice-president of the Polish Combatants' Association and a Canadian farm worker from Manitoba, has been appointed to the staff of the Department of Labor in Ottawa. He will assist officials of the department in dealing with matters affecting Polish veterans.

The death of three veterans was also reported. Benedykt Pipiora died near Ottawa in July, 1948; Franciszek Romanczuk, in Saskatchewan in Angust, and Jan Rymarski, near Toronto in September.

When the bride and groom were asked to receive a prize for their number, the master of ceremonies extended to them the good wishes of all and presented them with a pair of matching table lamps in ivory and maroon. Don expressed their appreciation of the gift and extended an invitation to the friends to visit them at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Turner and small daughters, Elva and Bernice, of Saskatchewan, former neighbors of the bride, attended the party and presented her with a Cory coffee-maker.

MAN SHOT IN DRUG GANG WARFARE

CAPTURED ARSENAL taken by police late in November is inspected by Peterborough Police Chief John Thompson. The formidable array of weapons was captured in the car of Albert Asselstine of Toronto. Asselstine was arrested following a fracas at a Lakefield home in which he brandished the revolver, shown, at a group of persons at a party. He was fined a total of $135 and $7.50 costs and the revolver and submachine gun were confiscated by court order. The Chief holds the piece de resistance of the collection—A Schmeizer (German) submachinegun. On the table are .22 revolver, clips for the Schmeiber and a semi-automatic shotgun.

Martial Law Imposed On All China

Report Red Troops Trying To Cross River Behind Chiang

NANKING, Dec. 10—(AP). — President Chiang Kai-Shek tonight extended martial law to all China under Nationalist control, except for the Far Western Provinces and Formosa.

The Generalissimo's action was taken amid the deepening civil war crisis. Both Nanking and Peiping, North China metropolis, are threatened by Chinese Communist armies.

Chiang's proclamation extends military jurisdiction to areas thus-far remote from the fighting, Shanghai, Nanking and Peiping were placed under martial law several weeks ago.

Meanwhile, Red troops were believed trying to cut Nationalist communications behind the Hwai River—Nanking's last defence line north of the Yangtze.

Trying To Cross River

Government sources said the Communists are attempting to cross the Hwai at a bend in the river 90 miles northwest of Nanking. This is a point where the river is lightly defended.

This threat arose as the bulk of the Government armies of east China still strove to break loose from two big traps north of the Hwai.

The newspaper Sheng Pai said Government troops had withdrawn from the canal cities in Hwaiyin and Hawian, about 110 miles north of Nanking, had fallen back 25 miles south of Paoying.

If true, the Communists appeared to have a straight shot southward to the Yangtze along a route protected by two large lakes.

A return of bad weather grounded the Air Force, which had been counted upon to help in extricating the four Government army groups encircled in two pockets north of the Hwai.

Three army groups from Suchow were said to have reformed their ranks after taking a bad beating and were again fighting southward toward the Hawai.

Terrible Ride

PRINCE GEORGE, BC, Dec. 10—(CP). — A 15-mile nightmare ride on the side of a train in 28-below-zero weather may cost 58-year-old Frank Moore of Vancouver his arms. Moore, an inspector for the Federal Agriculture Department, is in hospital here with frozen arms, suffering when his hands froze to handles on the side of the train. Moore was standing on the station platform when the train pulled out. When he grabbed a handrail, the passenger-car door was closed.

PC's Capture By-Election At Parry Sound

PARRY SOUND, Dec. 10.—(CP).—Allister Johnston, a Progressive Conservative, is the new member of the Ontario Legislature for Parry Sound.

The 39-year-old veteran scored a sweeping victory over Liberal and CCF opponents in Thursday's Provincial by-election and retained the seat for his party. The Liberal candidate, Dr. M. T. Armstrong, came second and Roy Smith, CCF, placed third.

Premier Kennedy of Ontario described the Progressive Conservative success as "simply wonderful" and a tribute to five years of government by his party in Ontario. He added:

"We expected the result to be good, but we couldn't imagine it would be this decisive."

Results from 90 of the 102 polls in the 700-square mile constituency gave Mr. Johnston 5,296 votes, Dr. Armstrong 2,480 and Mr. Smith 2,235. The remaining polls are in isolated sections.

In this by-election made necessary by the death last June of Progressive Conservative Charles Cragg, Mr. Johnston took the lead as the earliest returns trickled in after polls closed at 7 p.m. He continued to hold a big margin over his opponents, both of whom are former members of the Legislature.

A South River resident who sells insurance for a living, Mr. Johnston was making his first bid for political office. His victory, after a campaign in which the candidates debated the district roads issue and the present electric power shortage in Ontario, was the most decisive of the four three-way contests in the constituency in the present decade.

His home community gave Mr. Johnston 247 votes, against 38 for Dr. Armstrong and 55 for Mr. Smith. In Parry Sound, the largest town in the riding, and the hometown of the other two candidate, he had 948 votes to 642 for Dr. Armstrong and 573 for Mr. Smith.

The Progressive Conservatives now hold 52 seats in the 90-seat Legislature. The CCF holds 21, the Liberals 13 the Labor-Progressive party two and Liberal-Labor one. There is one vacancy: Cochrane North where John Carrere, Progressive Conservative, died of traffic accident injuries. A by-election will be held there next year.

Only Injured Mob Tosses Him In Ditch

Served Seven Years For Shooting Mickey McDonald

TORONTO, Dec. 10—(CP)—Gang warfare over control of Toronto's illicit drug traffic was blamed by police today for the shooting Thursday night of William (Big Bill) Cook, 46.

Cook was shot through the shoulder by a man he declined to identify. He said he was "taken for a ride" to the eastern fringes of the city by two men.

Cook was quoted by police as saying he thought "his number was up." He had been ordered out of the car. One of the men drew a gun and levelled it at his head. He threw up his arm and pushed the barrel away just as the trigger was pulled. He fell to the road and the gangsters rolled him into a ditch.

A second car had followed and the two men got in to drive away, leaving Cook's car behind. He crawled out of the ditch and drove to hospital in his own car.

Police said Cook had taken over much of the illegal traffic in drugs formerly controlled by Max Beaver and his brother, Louis (Red) Beaver. Both are in Kingston Penitentiary.

Two Rival Gangs

Cook served seven years for shooting Donald (Mickey) McDonald in Toronto in 1931. McDonald escaped Kingston Penitentiary in August, 1947, and is still at large.

Police said the shooting was a flare-up between two rival drug gangs. One of the gangs, they said, was run by Cook.

It was the third shooting in three weeks believed to be connected with the drug traffic.

Police recalled the snowdrift slaying nearly four years ago of Louis Wernick. He had been shot and his body found, frozen, in a snowdrift in suburban Etobicoke Township. This unsolved killing also was linked with the drug traffic.

Two-Way Fight

TORONTO, Dec. 10—(CP). —Toronto's mayoralty campaign will be a two-way fight. Mayor Hiram McCallum was nominated today for his second term. His only opponent in the Jan. 1 civic election is Ross Dowson, a steelworker. Nominations closed at 11 a.m. Mr. Dowson, a member of the Trotskyist Revolutionary Workers' Party, was a mayoralty candidate last year. He ran up 15,423 votes against 122,927 for Robert H. Saunders.

PO Destroys Circulars Attacking Drew

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.J(CP). — Hundreds of copies of circulars attacking George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, "beyond the bounds of decency" have been seized and destroyed by the post office.

Walter Turnbull, deputy postmaster general, said today in an interview the circulars were seized after one of them had been drawn to the attention of the post office by a "private individual." He declined to give the individual's name.

The CCF party has stated "emphatically" that it is not to blame.

He said there had been no general request to have the post office stop the circular, part of the campaign literature now flooding nearby Carleton constituency where Mr. Drew is standing as a candidate in a Federal by-election set for Dec. 20.

Only Coincidence

Mr. Turnbull, who said that department investigators have been sent to a "town near Toronto" to uncover the source of the circular, said it was only a coincidence that the post office's action came during the by-election

The circular would be equally objectionable if no election campaign was on or if the statements in it were said about some one else in or out of politics.

The post office, he said, did not set itself up as a censorship board and it did not take any part in politics. However, if literature placed in the mails was obviously indecent, it was seized by the post office. The circular in question was "over the bounds of decency."

Mr. Turnbull said the post office could not take action against the individual or individuals responsible for the mailing of the circular. It could only strive to prevent further circulation.

Reach Russian Settlement Before They Get A-Bomb Churchill Warns

Supports Labor Government's Berlin Policy And Asks Restoration Of Full Diplomatic Relations With Spain

LONDON, Dec. 10—(CP). — Winston Churchill, urging a settlement in the east-west cold war with Russia, today hailed the projected North Atlantic pact to assure western Europe of Canadian and United States military support. He said the proposed pact was a "tremendous event if such an event had occurred in 1940 or 1939, the whole tragic history of the world might well have been altered and possible catastrophe might have been averted," he said in his House of Commons speech on foreign affairs.

Settlement with Russia, he said, was desirable "before they have the atomic bomb as well as the Americans."

The wartime Prime Minnster also:

1. Urged Britain to end her "sulky boycott" of the new state of Israel.

2. Asked Britain to achieve full diplomatic relations with Franco Spain "as soon as we can obtain the sanction of the United Nations."

Churchill devoted much of his 70-minute speech to praising the continuing development of British-American unity.

Praises Eisenhower

He won loud cheers for his warm praise of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a man who "labored faithfully for the cause of Anglo-American amity and brotherhood throughout the world."

Churchill got mixed boos and cheers when he endorsed the Labor government's action in giving bomber bases to the United States in Britain.

Churchill also supported the Labor government policy in the East-West dispute over Germany but he repeated his plea that attempts should be made to reach a settlement.

"Only in this resides the best hope of avoiding a third world war," he said.

Churchill also called for restoration of full diplomatic relations with Franco Spain.

Th Conservative Leader conditioned the plea, however, by saying a British Ambassador should be sent "as soon as we can obtain the sanction of the United Nations."

Britain, along with other major Powers, recalled its ambassador to Spain more than a year ago in support of a UN resolution which condemned the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, and urged members of the world organization to recall envoys.

"Why should we be told the Spanish people must be treated as outcasts just because they are governed by General Franco?" he asked the House of Commons during a debate on foreign affairs.

It was the seco[illegible] debate in th[illegible] day Fore[illegible] opened it wit[illegible] eign events.

Closer Unity

Churchill, dealing with Anglo-American co-operation, said that in the ever-closer unity of the English-speaking world lies "the main hope of human freedom and a great part of the hopes of our

9 Men Killed In Explosion At Power Plant

TOPEKA, Kas., Dec. 10 (AP)—Nine men were killed and 16 injured in a series of blasts that shook a huge power plant near here for almost 45 minutes Thursday.

Rescue crews still groped through debris today seeking other possible victims.

The explosions occurred in the Kansas Power and Light Company's main plant and left Topeka, a city of 90,000 without electricity for several hours.

Hospitals were forced to operate on an emergency basis, elevators were stalled in downtown buildings and many shops and offices closed early. No serious accidents were reported, although traffic was snarled at busy intersections when signal lights went out. Theatres were blacked out.

The explosions pulverized concrete and twisted and ripped heavy steel. The plant's basement was badly wrecked. The external walls of the structure were not damaged, although most of the windows were blown out.

Approximately 150 men were working in or near the building. Sixty of them were power plant employees, the others construction men working on a new addition.

All the dead were from Topeka. They were identified as C. A. Allensworth, Arthur Dahlene, Alphonse Bryant, Charles Miller, Roy Hamby, A. W. Freel, C. H. Redenbauch, Albert Sheahan, and H. F. Shay.

2 Toronto Men Claim $50,000

TORONTO, Dec. 10 — (CP) Two Toronto men, Horsley Snell and Alphone Zaborek, are still looking to Irish courts to settle the question of which of them will receive $50,000—half of $100,000 sweepstakes money which was won on a ticket held [illegible] Zaborek, a former paper col[illegible] share [illegible] and Zaborek disputes this.

Thursday the Irish Supreme Court extended the injunction holding the money from being delivered to Zaborek. Snell will appeal to the high court against a decision refusing to permit the injunction to be continued until the ownership of the money is decided in court.

If Snell wins the appeal the money will continue to be held up. It is likely that both will have to appeal before the Irish courts when the case comes to trial.

Ellis Escapes Reformatory But Comes Back On Own

TORONTO, Dec. 10—(CP).—Carl Ellis, 27-year-old trusty at the Ontario Reformatory at nearby Mimico, is back in detention today following a one-day "holiday." With 1½ months of his term to serve, Ellis slipped away from his slipper factory bench. Reformatory officials weren't surprised when he voluntarily came back later in the evening.

Ellis had been overheard talking to his wife who said she was moving that day. When he disappeared they believed he left to help her.

A former resident of the Havelock area, he was convicted here late in September before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, on charges of false pretences. Evidence was that he had sold insurance policies to farmers although he was not representing any companies.

Child Dies Hours After Explosion

BURKS FALLS, Dec. 10—(CP) Authorities are conducting an investigation into the death of five-year-old Frances Joan Mills, victim of a gas lantern explosion in a farmhouse in Chapman Township, four miles north of Magnetewan.

Police say the accident occurred Sunday night and the little girl died Monday afternoon without her parents even being aware the child had been harmed.

A post mortem is to be performed in Parry Sound, provincial police said today. An inquest will also be held.

The father, Stanford Mills, was away from the farmhouse at the time of the accident and the mother was in Toronto with a son who was undergoing an operation for the removal of an eye injured in another mishap.

According to the story pieced together by police investigation, little Frances was holding a match to provide light while her 11-year-old brother James was filling the gas lantern. There was a sudden flash explosion, with Frances taking the brunt of it. Despite her injuries, police say the children apparently went to bed and when the father returned at dark he was not told that anything had happened. He left the farm to go to Magnetewan in the morning, still unaware of the accident. Frances died in bed that afternoon. A neighbor, William Woodriff, took the news to her father.

Hon. Phillipe Roy Dies At Ottawa Home

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 — (CP). — Hon. Philippe Roy, 80-year-old former Canadian Commissioner-General in Paris and later Minister, died here today. He retired from the Senate in 1911 to take his appointment as Commissioner-General. He retired in 1939.

Mr. Roy represented Canada in Paris as Commissioner-General from the time of his appointment until 1928, when he became this country's first Minister here. He served on various occasions before the Second World War as Canadian delegate to the Assembly and Council meetings of the League of Nations.

Sabotage Scare Grips Red Sector In Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 10—(CP)—A sabotage scare gripped the communist government of eastern Berlin today.

Paul Markgraf, chief of police in the Soviet-occupied sector, announced that he had taken direct command of the fire department. The action came after he investigated a fire which destroyed a gas works three nights ago.

The Soviet army's official newspaper, Taegliche Rundschau, reported discovery of a purported plot by teachers to remove equipment of an industrial school in eastern Berlin to an area under protection of the western powers.

Further Relaxations Hinted On Imports

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 (CP)—Informed sources said today they expected some further relaxations will be made in the near future in the prohibitions and quotas in the government's dollar-saving austerity program.

They said the steady improvement in Canada's foreign exchange position made it obvious that some changes will be forthcoming. The relaxations likely will be made by transferring some imports from the prohibited to the quota category. This may be done before the new year.

A month ago the government relaxed the restrictions on imports of certain fruits and vegetables, ascribing the action to a steady improvement in the supply of United States dollars.

RAF Fails To Halt Enemy In Mock War Manoeuvres

By SHAUN McQUILLAN

BINBROOK, Lincolnshire, England, Dec. 10.—(CP).— Atomic warfare in mock form approaches Britain's shores today when home-based RAF bombers try to ward off a powerful attacking fleet.

The Royal Navy and the RAF are engaged in Britain's greatest air-sea manoeuvres since the end of the war. Their battle area is the great stretch of Atlantic between the island kingdom and the Azores.

Thursday the RAF sent 15 bombers searching for fleet and only one found the target—early in the morning. Today the attackers churned steadily ahead toward the United Kingdom.

Seven four-engined bombers took off southward in the first sortie Thursday morning. Only one spotted the fleet unit in the Atlantic and dropped "bombs." Thursday night not one of eight similar bombers in a second sortie could locate the target.

Flying in a Lincoln bomber piloted by FO Chris Pike of Victoria, B.C., it was easy to see why.

The worst gales in years for this time of the year were torturing the Atlantic southwest of Britain and off the Portuguese coast. The skies were cloud-laden and flying at lower than 16,000 feet was impossible without the risk of severe icing.

Travelling some 20,000 feet above the Atlantic on a 1,000-mile sortie which ended at midnight Thursday night there was little excitement to the mock operational flying.

The storm clouds above which we climbed from time to time rocked the Lancaster mightily. The roar of the engines, the clatter of the intercom and an occasional shouted conversation afforded the closest approach to battle "impressions." I never saw the ocean, let alone the enemy.

In an editorial today the Daily Mail comments on the plane failures in a story under the heading "The Great RAF Fiasco."

Find Charred Body Of Trucking Employee

KIRKLAND LAKE, Dec. 10—(CP)—The charred body of Frederick Smith, 38-year-old employee of the Ed. Wilson Trucking Company, here, was discovered Thursday in a tailside shack near a lumber camp operated by James Gibson in Gauthier township, several miles from this Northen Ontario mining town.

Smith, left here by taxi Wednesday afternoon for the Gibson Camp, where he was doing work for the Wilson Company, and took the trail to the camp when the taxi had dropped him off at the end of the highway.

On his way to camp, according to the police version of his activities, Smith became tired and entered the shack for a rest. Truck drivers of the Wilson Company said they saw Smith lying in the shack shortly before sundown Wednesday.

The following morning the same drivers passed a pile of smoking ruins with the charred body of the man discernable on the remains of the cot on which he had slept. No inquest will be held.

Chambers Quits Times Editorship

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Whittaker Chambers, confessed former Communist courier and key figure in the probe of alleged Communist espionage, has resigned as a senior editor of Time Magazine, his lawyers announced today.

The announcement came as Mrs. Priscilla Hiss, wife of Alger Hiss, appeared at the federal building to testify before a grand jury probing the alleged Communist spying.

The announcement was headed "statement by Whittaker Chambers." It said:

"I have offered my resignation as a senior editor of Time Magazine. It has been accepted.

"Both of these acts became imperative when I recently began to make revelations about Communist espionage."

Canada To Vote On U.N. Draft

PARIS, Dec. 10 —(CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, said today that Canada will vote for the draft declaration of human rights in the plenary session of the General Assembly.

He stressed that the vote does not mean the governments intend to invade provincial rights.

"While we now are prepared to subscribe to the general statement of principles such as those contained in this declaration," he said, "in doing so we should not wish to suggest that we intend to depart from procedures by which we have built up our own code under our own federal constitution for the protection of human rights."

Deny Any Amputation Planned For King

LONDON, Dec. 10—(Reuters). —New York press reports that the King's doctors contemplated amputation of one or both of his feet were discounted today by court correspondent Louis Wulff.

"I learn from the highest authority that there is no truth in reports from New York that an American doctor is flying to England to attend a private woman patient in this country, but his visit has no connection whatever with the King's illness."

Crosbie Refuses To Sign Newfoundland Union Terms

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—(CP). — Chesley A. Crosbie, of St. John's will not sign the terms under which Newfoundland will join Canada as a 10th province, but no other member of the seven-man delegation is expected to follow his example.

Mr. Crosbie said today that, because he is dissatisfied with the financial arrangements, he does not intend to sign the terms of union or to be present when the signing takes place tomorrow. He plans to leave during the day for St. John's where he will make a minority report to Sir Gordon Macdonlad, Governor of Newfoundland.

A. J. Walsh, head of the delegation which has been negotiating the terms since Oct. 6, said Mr. Crosbie had informed him of his decision. He had no comment to make on the action.

Mr. Walsh said he had not asked other members of the delegation if they intended to sign, "but I have been assuming that they will sign."

Other members of the delegation are Joseph Smallwood, F. Gordon Bradley, J. B. McEvoy, Philip Gruchy and G. A. Winter.

Mr. Crosbie said he believes the financial arrangements of union would leave Newfoundland with an average annual deficit of from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 during the next eight years. While surpluses might occur in the first two or three years, he expected they would give away to deficits later.

Legislature To Meet Last Week In January

TORONTO, Dec. 10 (CP)—The Ontario Legislature will meet the last week in January or the first week in February, officials at Queen's Park indicated today.

The early session is being called partly because of C.C.F. opposition demands for investigation of the Hydro, housing and other problems, officials said.

It is expected Premier Kennedy will name the exact date next Wednesday or Thursday. It was hoped the session would end by Easter, April 17.

Love-Crazed Suitor Kills Boarder

Wounds Girl's Boss Then Shoots Self After Suit Rejected

SUDBURY, Dec. 10—(CP). — William Wilson, 29, was killed on Thursday night when he tried to use an empty shotgun to stop a man police described as a love-crazed killer.

Officers said Gerard Chretien, 24, went berserk with a 44.40 hunting rifle when he was spurned by Gertrude Lamothe, a 19-year-old domestic servant. They said he killed Wilson, wounded the girl's employer and turned the gun on himself.

Mrs. Rose McRoberts, widowed mother of two children, may lose the use of her hand as a result of wounds she received, doctors said today. She also suffered a severe wound in the thigh.

Chretien, who doctors earlier believed might die of his wounds, was in favorable condition today and was expected to make a complete recovery. The gun shot struck him in the abdomen and travelled upwards towards his left lung, emerging from him back. Wilson, a roomer in the McRoberts home, died as police entered the blood-drenched house.

Mrs. McRoberts was hit as she tried to wrest the heavy rifle from Chretien. Wilson was killed after he ran downstairs with the empty shotgun to try to stop the fight.

"My husband died saving the lives of myself and two other women," Mrs. Simone Wilson, widow of the slain RCAF veteran, said.

Miss Lamothe was not injured.

Told To Leave

Chretien had called at the house to see the girl just two hours before the shooting. Mrs. McRoberts ordered him to leave. He was reported to have told them he would commit suicide if Miss Lamothe no longer cared for him.

Other reports said he had previously told the girl "If I can't have you, no one else will, I'll kill you."

He returned with the rifle and entered the back door of the house. Mrs. McRoberts was in the living room with her two children and tried to grab the gun.

She was shot as she ran back into the living room, seized her children and fled from the house. A broad trail of blood traced her path across the kitchen.

Wilson, armed with an empty shotgun, and Chretien, still carrying the rifle, met on the stairs, police said. Wilson was found in the living room of his apartment, his body jammed against a chesterfield.

Chretien was found lying on his rifle, his head hanging down over the top stair.

Police Chief James McLaren said it was an open and shut case of murder.

Stiff Penalty For Giving False Vital Data

TORONTO, Dec. 10 (CP)—Ontario's citizens will begin the New Year with a brand new governmental system of keeping track of all the important events in their lives.

The system — embodied in the vital statistics act to be proclaimed law Jan. 1—will centralize the complete recording of all births, deaths, marriages, still-births, divorces, changes of name and adoptions.

The act's administrator, Ralph B. Wallace, will be appointed deputy registrar-general at the same time as the act comes into force.

Piloted through the last session of the legislature by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar, the act differs in only one important principle from previous registration methods. In it are implemented several suggestions made at the 1944 and 1947 Dominion-Provincial Conferences on vital statistics.

The newly - established principle relates to illegitimate and adopted children.

Remain Anonymous

The new pocket-size birth certificates will bear the person's name, but not those of his parents. Although complete records of a child's parentage will be kept on file, to the public the parents of an illegitimate or adopted person will remain anonymous.

Legally, the mother has the primary responsibility of registering a birth, and if she is incapable the father has the responsibility of doing it.

The father of an illegitimate child is not required to register its birth, however. A child born to an unmarried woman will bear her name, but the new law regards all children of married women as legitimate, and although the child's father is not her husband the baby will have her husband's surname.

Parents of a child born out of wedlock who are subsequently married can ask to have the child's birth registered as if the couple had been married at the time of its birth.

Stiff Penalties

The new law will be armed with stiff penalties to ensure that all necessary information is registered, without any false statements.

The fine for neglect or failure to give notice or details of a birth has been increased from $10 to $100. Anyone wilfully making false statements about any vital statistics can be fined up to $500 and jailed for six months.

Doctors face the same $500 fine or a six-months jail sentence for intentional misstatements regarding the cause of death of any person or for representing himself as having been present at a person's last illness when he is called in after the death.

Hawk Player Pays $1,500 To Two Fans

TORONTO, Dec. 10 (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Thursday awarded $1,500 against Gaye Stewart, left winger of Chicago Black Hawks, to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Payne of Toronto, fans at a National Hockey League game here in which Stewart participated.

At the time of the incident, Stewart played for Toronto Maple Leafs who were playing the Hawks. Stewart became engaged in a struggle along the boards with Chicago defenceman Johnny Mariucci and the Paynes, sitting in rail seats suffered injuries.

Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel dismissed actions against Maple Leaf Gardens and the players involved. The Appeal Court, however, held that Stewart wrongfully started a fight with Mariucci for what proved to be Mariucci's stick.

Writing the judgment of the Appeal Court, Mr. Justice R. E. Laidlaw said both players lost their sticks and that, when Mariucci recovered his, Stewart attempted to grab it, apparently thinking it was his own.

But the sticks were marked for identification and Stewart should have known it was not his, Mr. Justice Laidlaw said.

"There was a reckless disregard on his (Stewart's) part for their (the Paynes') safety," the judgment said.

Mrs. Payne was awarded $1,250 damages and her husband $250.

The game was played here Oct. 20, 1947.

Letters Have Conveyed Messages For 2,000 Years

Scripture — Philippians; I Timothy; I John.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

It is probable that more letters are written in these modern times than ever before in history. Sons and daughters of every country are scattered all over the world.

Mothers and fathers write letters of affection and advice to their children and daughters situated in foreign lands send accounts of their experiences home to their parents.

Business men write to representatives all over the world, and statesmen exchange important communications and reports with one another.

Modern letters go by airplane, trains, boats, buses, etc. They may be written in code, typewritten or—but rarely—in long-hand. In Bible times they were written laboriously by hand and arrived by messengers who traveled many miles to get them to their destinations.

Paul was in prison, in A. D. 62, when he wrote his epistle to the Philippians. Philippi was in Greece, but it was a Roman colony. It was in this place that the Gospel was first brought to Europe. It was here that the woman, Lydia, maker of royal purple cloth, was converted by the riverside. It was here that Paul was thrown into prison and miraculously delivered by an earthquake.

MEMORY VERSE

"Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, think on these things." —Philippians 4:8.

Knowing Paul was a prisoner and in need, the friends in Philippi had sent him a gift, and Paul wrote to thank them and to express his affection. His letters are filled with moral earnestness and fervor along with the affection.

Probably feeling that his time on earth was short, he urged these fellow Christians to rejoice in the Lord, to have faith and to live good lives, as Jesus would have them. Repeatedly Paul tells them to rejoice, to forget dissensions—"be of one mind"—and "in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God.

"And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."

"Finally brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

In his prison Paul prayed continually for his fellow Christians, "I have you in my heart," he wrote—a beautiful phrase which we can all understand. How many loved ones do we too "hold in our hearts." Paul had no wife, no children, no brothers or sisters, so far as we know, but his family consisted of these men and women whom he had brought to Christ.

Timothy was found by Paul on his first missionary journey and accompanied him on others. Paul had a special affection for the young man and always spoke of him as his son in Christ. His epistles to Timothy were written just before his martyrdom, in A. D. 64-65. He wrote wistfully that he hoped "to come unto thee shortly." He never was able to fulfill that hope.

To his beloved young friend, Paul confided his ideas of Christian living. Obey the law, for "we know that the law is good if a man use it lawfully."

Bishops and deacons of the church should live upright lives, wisely training their children in the way of life—"for if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?"

"Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, Who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.

"That they do good, that they be rich in good works."

"The love of money is the root of all evil," Paul wrote Timothy in this letter.

LINDSAY, Dec. 10 — (CP) — William E. Hill and John Carr of Bobcaygeon and Toronto were sentenced to terms of three and one year on charges of robbery with violence and theft of a car, sentences to run concurrently. The pair was involved with two other men in the hold-up of a Fenelon Falls service station in which a handful of cash was taken. Judge J. A. Sunday Concert Planned To Aid Hamper Fund

A novel radio program in which a large on-the-spot audience and the armchair listener combine for an afternoon of entertainment has been promised by the Peterborough Optimist Club.

The purpose of this special concert is the raising of funds to help those families needing outside assistance if they are to celebrate the Christmas season. A three-hour show will be staged before an estimated 3,000 persons and will be broadcast to thousands more at the Brock Street Summer Gardenson Sunday, Dec. 19 from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Among the artists who have volunteered their talents for this deserving cause are classical soloists, trios, duets, instrumentalists, carol singers, barbershop quartets, old-time musicians and leading orchestras All the professional artists are appearing through the courtesy of the Peterborough Musical Protective Association.

The audience will gain admittance to the Gardens by presenting two cans or packages of nonperishable foodstuffs. Four telephone lines have been reserved to handle requests which may be phoned in from the radio listeners, and the musicians and other artists will do their best to fill them.

Radio Station CHEX will carry the complete program which will run for three hours. Merchants who have Sunday radio programs have donated their time to the Optimists.

If one of the radio audience wants a particular musical number played or some other request complied with, he need only move as far as his phone and dial the special number which will be announced later.

Runners attending the telephone operators will take the requests to the microphone. Immediately a car from the mobile squad which will be mustered for the occasion will call around at the door to pick up the monetary pledge. Non-perishable foodstuffs will also be gratefully received but they are not counted on the pledge.

Hampers will be handled through the City Relief Administrator, Arthur G. Metheral in conjunction with the Salvation Army.

Beneficiaries will be the children's Aid Society, St. Vincent's Orphanage, Old People's Home and similar charitable organizations.

Frank Hamon, of the Optimists Club was the man who first put forward the plans for this Christmas concert. Jack Rogers has been appointed chairman of the committee in charge and he is being aided by Colin Smillie, Len Edwards, John Broadhurst, Walter Murphy, Stewart Gardiner and John Pierce.

Out-of-town callers can be in on the fun too. They can phone their request and pledge a sum of money which may be sent later to Colin Smillie of the Imperial Bank, Peterborough.

If the concert is a success members of the Optimists Club feel that it should become an annual feature.

School Building Repairs Exceed Council Estimates

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 10. —(ENS).—W. C. Tatham presented a full report to a special meeting of the Town Council on Wednesday on the progress and cost of repairs to the Public school and on the cost of laying sewers and watermains. He said the actual costs for repairs to the Public school had exceeded the estimate by approxi[illegible] $18,000. This was mainly due to high cost of labor and the rising prices of materials.

He stated there was still a considerable amount to be done on the Public school. The roof had to be repaired, floors made dustproof, exterior doors repaired, and in some cases replaced, gutters and down-pipes needed to be repaired and painting and outside work was not finished. He said the contract for laying tile floors had been let to a reputable firm, but the foreman who had been overseeing the work was not too reliable. The work on the tile floors had been stopped on account of poor workmanship. At this point the Council discussed the probability of replacing the tiles with hardwood.

Mr. Tatham said the electrical installations had been completed in a satisfactory manner by Garneau and Dunsmoor, local contractors. It was different with the plumbing and heating contract. He stated that a small heating line had been set at the wrong angle, and that a certain valve was not functioning. Mr. Tatham was asked if the boiler was sinking at one end. He said the boiler had a correct slant of about one inch and gave the technical reason for it. He recommended that the heating and plumbing contract should be completed by local plumbers.

Debenture Bylaw

At previous Council meetings Don Meyers, chairman of School Board, had outlined the situation relating to the extra costs for repairs, and had told the Council that approximately $18,000 would be needed to complete the work. This amount was verified in Mr. Tatham's report. After much discussion it was moved by Councillor Kingston that a bylaw be prepared to issue a debenture for the sum of $18,000 at 3¼ per cent. and to run for a period of 20 years to cover the extra costs on repairs to the Public school. The motion was carried.

It had been estimated that 9,000 to 10,000 yards of earth would level the grounds around the wartime houses, but instead it had taken approximately 17,000 yards. At the completion of the original contract, the wartime housing engineer had stopped the work, but when the landscape contractor took over, he refused to proceed until the grounds had been properly levelled.

The Council would not pay for the extra fill. The wartime housing went ahead and completed the fill and charged the extra cost to the corporation by deducting it from the rents. The solicitor expressed his opinion on this matter, but no action was taken. The total cost of the fill was practically $13,000.

Rotarian Request

Business left over from the regular meeting on Monday was also discussed. A motion, on the request of the Rotary Club, for the Town Council to set aside lots 4 to 11, Beaver Hall Road, for a public park was defeated by a narrow margin.

The town solicitor was instructed to take action against the owner of a certain property who had repeatedly failed to comply with the terms of the building bylaw. The solicitor said the man had committed an offence against the bylaw, and that the Council had the power to remove the building and to charge the costs to the owner. As this procedure would entail endless litigation, it might be wiser to lay a charge against him for breach of the building bythe solicitor thought.

Reeve Anderson reported on an interview with Wallace Stapley in reference to lots 31 and 32 on the corner of Wallace and Simpson streets. He said that Stapley had offered $75 a lot, but would not build on them at the present time. The Council decided it would not consider Mr. Stapley's offer unless he agreed to build. At this point the Council adjourned until Thursday in order to give the auditors time to prepare a report on the cost of the sewers and watermains.

Salary Increase

The Council adjourned until Thursday when it was decided to increase the assessor's salary from $600 to $700 to date from January, 1948, and the treasurer was awarded a monthly bonus of $25 to be paid from the time of his engagement on July 15 to the end of the year.

New Membership Record Set For County Council

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 10—(ENS)—With practically a full attendance on hand, Hastings County Council opened its annual fourday December session in Shire Hall on Tuesday afternoon.

As far as is known the session will be the last for at least eight members, who have retired or been defeated at municipality polls. This number may be increased in January as a number of municipalities do not hold nominations and elections until that month.

It was noted that the change in the council, even this far, is the largest in the history of the body over a lengthy period of years.

Address Of Welcome

In his address of welcome Warden George West, retiring reeve of Madoc village, said that the county had enjoyed a prosperous year in 1948. Prices had been high, he said, and demand for production good.

Cheese production in the county had shown a marked decrease this year, and this was noticeable at the smallness of the annual cheese exhibition held here last week. "Many reasons have been responsible for the decrease," he said, "chief among them being the sale of county dairy cattle to American and Canadian buyers."

Reviewing council activities during the year, the warden told council that all committees had been extremely busy. He was pleased to note that all had carried out their duties 100 per cent.

Concur In Resolution

Council concurred in a resolution forwarded by Grey County Council which requests the provincial government to increase subsidies to 80 per cent of cost of construction, repair of alterations to county homes.

It also endorsed a resolution authored by Prince Edward County Council urging the government to repeal amendments to the Criminal Code which will allow those found guilty of theft of articles valued below $25 to have option of trial by judge and jury. Previous to the amendment, it was pointed out, the magistrate had full authority to deal with those guilty of thefts of aricles below $25.00.

A Huron County Council resolution requesting the Ontario government to amend Highway Act with reference to payment of removal of poles from new road construction projects met with approval of council.

The resolution requested that payment of removal be borne by the services owning the poles.

In moving concurrence, Deputy Reeve Wilfred Spencer stated that better supervision should be urged in the location of the poles along new road construction.

Folowing adjournment, council inspected the new barn construction work being done on the recently-acquired House of Refuge property west of the city limits.

Special Work Done

Special work had been done on the county courthouse and the urged council to inspect the new lighting, painting and other improvements done by the Properties Committee.

Work on the extension to the registry office vault had been started but progress had been retarded due to lack of material, and labor problems.

Work on the new House of Refuge property west of the city limits had been started. The foundation of the barn is completed and work on timber construction now under way. Completion of the structure is expected in the near future, but in the meantime work is being delayed through illness of the architect. A clay model of the new home and the buildings was on display in an anteroom and the warden urged his council to inspect it closely and offer any criticism they may have.

Complete Work

The Roads and Bridges Committee had completed its work, and the system at present is in fairly good condition.

The warden pointed out that many important matters were coming up during the session and he urged the co-operation of all. I know I will get it as I have had 100 per cent in other sessions of the year.

The Peterborough Car Barns

When Peterborough derailed its trolleys twenty years ago, the Border Transit Limited put buses on our streets and rented from the city the Car Barns on King Street near George. Three years ago they bought the property from the city. The company paid a modest price for them by 1948 standards. The Company's franchise had, we believe, the proviso that if at any time the firm wished to sell its property or equipment, the city was to have prior right of purchase. Now the bus company is opening a new terminal and workshops in East City, the old car barns being too small. It is going to sell the Car Barns. Should the city buy them back? If so, at what price?

The Council should consider this matter carefully, perhaps more carefully than the Council of other days did in selling the barns to a private company. It is even now having to find housing for Board of Works equipment. Should it put up a new building on other property, or buy the Car Barns? The Council has no right to expect to buy the King Street property from the bus company for the price it sold at. Property has appreciated everywhere in the city, as the Council knows when it made a tidy sum from selling a large lot on George Street at Sherbrooke to a retail chain store a few weeks ago. If it wants the car barns it must pay a fair market price which could be decided by agreement or arbitration.

The Car Barns episode in civic administration and finance should make successive councils wary of disposing of city property. When it is gone, it's gone, and usually can be re-acquired (if at all) in no painless manner.

Should Finders Expect A Reward?

Some publicity has been given to the fact that a young woman recently found a negotiable cheque for $4,000 in a store in Ottawa and returned it to the owner; the owner said "Thank you". It is implied that the owner should have given the young woman a reward.

Now we agree that it would have been gracious if the owner had at least given the young woman an opportunity to refuse a reward; but we do not agree that anyone who performs an honest action should expect a reward and be an object of public commiseration if no reward is forthcoming. Surely honesty is a characteristic of any well brought up person? Surely it cheapens an honest action if it is done with a thought of reward in mind?

About a year ago we heard of a poor man in Peterborough who found a sum exceeding $500 in bills on the street; he took it at once to the police station and left it there. He could have kept the money; he could have expected a reward of perhaps $50; he needed money as only a poor man with a large family can need it. But he never thought about a reward. The existence of such people is a most important factor in any society.

Honesty is one of the basic decencies. And "Honesty is the best policy" means something more than "Honesty will make you more money than dishonesty". To expect a reward for returning found money to its owner is to be something less than strictly honest.

"Ha Ha Ha Ho!"

This is the great age of education—particularly the kind of education which comes in short, intensive spurts of study called "courses". There are courses of instruction in everything. There is even a course which teaches a man to be an expert Santa Claus.

We have been reading about this course in the New York Times. The Santa Claus school is in Albion, N.Y., and the teacher is Charles W. Howard. The course costs $100 and lasts a week. It includes instruction in the legend of Santa Claus, how to make up as Santa Claus, and a multitude of details which go to make a perfect Santa Claus.

It is these details which fascinate us. Take the Santa Claus laugh, for instance. Santa Claus must not giggle, or snort, or snigger, or guffaw, or cackle; he must not laugh too loudly or he will frighten children; the proper laugh is a well-modulated "Ha, ha, ha, HO!" We particularly recommend this to radio Santas, who sometimes sound as though they were in pain.

Santa must not be too red in the face, and he must not have a red nose, as this may suggest to children that Santa is A Drinker; and of course he must not appear on the job with a breath that smells of liquor, or even onions. He may pat children, but he must not kiss them. He must co-operate with parents and child psychologists by discouraging thumb-sucking, sniffing, swearing, and other unseemly behaviour. He must never seem to be in a hurry, but he must not spend more than twenty seconds with any child. He must never promise a child any specific gift for this enrages parents and makes them complain to the store management.

He must never lose his temper. If a mean kid pulls his beard, or sticks gum in it, or tells Santa that he does not believe in him, Santa must be tactful. Graduates of Mr. Howard's school are forbidden, under any circumstances, to slap, spank or punch a child. He must also be quick in his answers to Smart Alecks who ask him how he gets down their chimney when they haven't got a chimney, but his retorts must not be barbed. And he must vary his remarks from child to child.

This last demand seems to us to be a most taxing one. On a few occasions we have attempted to play the role of Santa (without benefit of Mr. Howard's course) and have suffered greatly because we would not think of anything to say except "Hello", "Have you been good this year", and "Ha, ha, ha". This is not enough dialogue for a heavy role.

If any among our readers are attempting the part of Santa Claus this year we hope that these few hints which we have been able to pass on from Mr. Howard will be helpful. Our own Christmas will be spent entirely in civilian dress. Ha, ha, ha, HO!

International Groceries

When Adolf Hitler was building up Germany's economy in preparation for war, the Nazi economists devised all sorts of embargoes and barter agreements. There were high trade walls particularly inconvenient to border-country people who found their own ways of getting under them. We remember one case which came up in a German court against a farmer on the German-Dutch border. The wily farmer kept hens and sold eggs. Since the feed was cheaper in Holland than in Germany, and eggs fetched a higher price in Germany, he fed his hens on the Dutch side, and ensured that the eggs were laid on the German side. He was accused and found guilty of smuggling unlaid eggs into Germany.

A case similar in point but not in kind was heard a week ago in a Valleyfield, Quebec, court. A grocer who has his store exactly on the Quebec-New York State boundary line has been buying his groceries wholesale through the back door on the Canadian side and selling them retail through the front door on the American side. It must be a lucrative business, for his till seems to be well-stocked with American currency. It was this that worried the Canadian authorities, who discovered that he possessed more than $250 in American money, which is an infringement of the foreign exchange regulations. It seems he should have declared and banked it.

He was charged with and pleaded guilty to failure to "declare and offer" U.S. currency in his possession to authorized Canadian dealers; failure to keep proper records, and illegal payment of Canadian currency to non-residents. He was fined $700 and costs. He is going to continue his international grocery business, but henceforth will attempt to go to the nearest Canadian bank—29 miles distant—once a day to "declare and offer". The American authorities have not accused him of smuggling Canadian groceries into the States.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Recent weather suggests that the favourite of 15 years ago, June In January, needs a sequel—April In December.

News comes from Hollywood that a dancer has insured her legs for $100,000. Pin money.

A Toronto woman, mother of four, has won a challenge contest in driving; she triumphed over a police driver in the difficult test of taking a large truck over an obstacle course. So let us hear no more jokes about women drivers from men who can barely park in a ten-acre field without scraping their paint.

A Munich newspaper issued a special edition, announcing the election of Mr. Dewey to the presidency of the U.S.A. That's not the first mistake to be made at Munich.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

IN the column "How Time Flies" in your paper last week there was a note about 30,000 gallons of the first brew of the Peterborough Brewing Company going bad. That was in November, 1928. Where was the brewery? What happened to it?

ANSWER: After the repeal of prohibition, a group, mostly local people I believe, decided to re-open the old Calcutt Brewery under the name of Peterborough Brewing Company. The building was on the west side of Burnham Street, where Robinson cuts into it and had lonng been unused, for the Calcutt Brewery stopped operations even before prohibition was made legally compulsory at the time of the first war. The new brewing company produced but the one batch, which turned sour and was dumped into the Otonabee. It is said that hens along the river bank took to the beer like ducks to water and got completely stewed on it.

Had they been hens of a generation years earlier they would have been conditioned to heady drink, for the Calcutt Brewery used to sell its residual fermented barley mush to farmers for chicken-feed. We had very good eggs even in those days before "milk-fed" was considered a sign of virtue in hens. The flesh was good, too, having been basted with beer—so to speak—while the bird was on the hoof, and not, as some good cooks now do, when the chicken is in the pan.

The Peterborough Brewing Company either never recovered from its first sour brew, or outside competitors bought it out of business. For some years the old stone building remained a monument to the wickedness of attempting to brew in Peterborough. Then the City bought the property—Mayor Roland Denne put the deal through. The building was torn down and now the property is consecrated to baseball rather than beer, for it is part of the Riverside ball park.

OH! ALPHA: A couple of weeks ago you had a question about anything being as cheap as it was before the war, and answered: "Matches". Guess again. Last week I went into a tobacconist's for a ten cent box of matches, and was charged 11 cents.

ANSWER: I think that matches can still be bought in many places for 10 cents a box, the usual pre-war price. However, I shall guess again: Potatoes. What do you say to that? More interesting—what do farmers say?

DEAR ALPHA: Federal by-elections are being held this month. Last Monday we voted on a civic hospital by-law. I confess that as I went to vote, I was thinking more about the 'by' in 'by-law' and 'by-election' than about the 1½ million dollars that I was voting on. Silly, wasn't it? But I should like to know the why and wherefore of the 'by'.

ANSWER: A smacking good question, and not at all silly. Strangely enough the two 'by's' are quite different. The 'by' in 'by-election' is the same 'by' that you get in 'by-pass', 'by-product' and 'by-play' and 'by-and-by'. It is an adverbial prefix denoting relations in time. The words 'by' and 'bye' are sometimes interchangeable, but 'by' is usually hyphenated in a phrase, and 'bye' is written as a separate word. ('by the bye'—but that confuses things all the more!) The roots of 'by' are in half a dozen languages, from Greek to Old High German and Anglo-Saxon. A by-election is an election held on the side, not during a General Election.

The surprising point is that the 'by' in 'by-law' has nothing at all to do with all the other 'by's'. It does not mean a law on the side, a relatively unimportant law. The 'by' in 'by-law' is the same as in Whitby and Derby, where 'by' means 'town' (Whitby is 'white-town'—the one in England, not in Ontario). It comes from Old Danish 'byr' and Old English 'by' and 'bi'. So a by-law is a town's law. By wider definition, it is a regulation made by a local authority or corporation—e.g. a town or railway company.

There are some other 'by's' which crop up in our hodge-podge language. For instance, 'good-bye'. That is again something quite different. 'Good-bye' is a contraction of 'God be with you' (or ye), and so the 'bye' is part of 'be' and 'ye'.

Canada has a special and historic 'by' in the original name of Ottawa, which was Bytown. That 'by' has nothing to do with the 'by' in 'by-law'. If it had, then Bytown would have meant 'Town-Town', which sounds like translated fake Indian. The 'By' of old Ottawa was a person — Colonel By of the Royal Engineers. He supervised the building of the Rideau Canal (1826-31) and had his headquarters at the place which is now the capital of Canada....By the way, I hope that you have been able to follow the byroads along which I have been leading you in this answer.

ALPHA: Who said: "If music be the fruit of doves, play on"?

ANSWER: Nobody, I hope. It sounds awfully vulgar. Perhaps your tongue has slipped from: "If music be the food of love, play on". That was said by the Duke Orsino to musicians at the beginning of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night". The Duke said it in the play, but it was really Shakespeare who was responsible for the line. Tens of thousands of school children have had to parrot it since Shakespeare's time, and perhaps not a few ardent swains have mumbled it into a beloved's ear during the last four centuries; I hope correctly.

DEAR ALPHA: We had an old university Prof. who practically used to split the atom when we used "just" with any other meaning than fair, right, etc.: "He had just arrived"; or "Just how many has he"; or "He is just eight". He claimed that it was either redundant, or that some other existing word served better. Let us hear your just opinion!

ANSWER: Your professor exaggerated probably in order to make his point stick in students' minds. 'Just' is an over-worked word, often used unnecessarily, loosely and vulgarly, as, for instance, in 'just how'—your second example. The late Inspector Mowat of the Peterborough Public Schools, had, like your Professor, a private war against a word; his was "got". 'Just' is both an adjective (fair, right) and an adverb (exactly, etc.). It is the adverbial use to which your professor objected. Both derive from the French 'juste' and the Latin 'justus' (right, justice). The adverbial use can be justified by referring to Shakespeare and a host of other good writers in English. "Nor cut thou lesse nor more But just a pound of flesh" (Merchant of Venice) or Disraeli: "I will just walk on". We could do without modern colloquial usages like "Isn't it just splendid". This use of the word in the sense 'actually', 'really' 'quite' 'simply' is Scottish dialect and chiefly American. I have no quarrel with your first and third examples.

FOR THE RECORD: The remarkable autumn weather wins the footnote this week. Since Labour Day (September 5th) we have had exactly three months without snow or severe frost. Departmental stores and shopkeepers have complained that the mild weather has nipped the Christmas trade. The cold and bit of snow since Monday, and the astonishing fact that Christmas is but two weeks away, will stimulate it.

A Pact Without "Teeth"

Ottawa Citizen: That widely-advertised "hemispherical defence" treaty signed in Rio de Janeiro more than a year ago, is acclaimed today, on the adhesion of Costa Rica's military might based on its three-quarters of a million population, as the "mustering of the combined strength of the American republics against an aggressor." There is general regret that Canada has not joined.

Now, why should Canada join? The pact is as full of holes as the old Irishwoman's clothing through which, as she told the magistrate, you "could riddle bulldogs."

The Rio de Janeiro agreement is nothing like the western European defence treaty signed by Britain, France and the "Benelux" countries at Brussels. It merely binds the 21 American nations to act against an aggressor but leaves it to each and all of them to say what that act may be. Shaking a finger at the potential enemy by calling home an ambassador would fulfil the terms of the treaty. And as for the United States, it has to wait until Congress decides whether its action is to be war or not.

For politically-literate Canadians this is to "keep the promise to our ear and break it to our hope." While the Rio de Janeiro republics are deciding whether or not there has been aggression and what to do about it, Canada, which is assumed to be in the area to be defended, would have to take the full brunt of any "lightning war" directed against this continent. Treaties without "teeth" would not defend her.

Such anomalies help to sustain Canada's cautious reception of invitations to join the Pan-American Union. Consider what has taken place among the member of that body in recent months. The elected governments of Peru and Venezuela have been overthrown by military rebellion. In Chile the government just managed to overcome an army plot. Bolivia and Colombia are in a state of unrest. And as for Ecuador what happened there last spring is not yet forgotten.

So taking it all round, this Dominion does not seem to be losing anything by not signing the Rio de Janeiro defence pact. Nor for that matter in not joining the Pan-American Union.

The North Atlantic Security Treaty, at least, will have definite commitments and there will be no doubts about their instant implementation.

One-Cent Postage

Winnipeg Citizen: By some queer quirk of the policy-makers, the Post Office circulars which stream into millions of Canadian mail boxes every year at this season always manage to avoid even hinting that you can send your Christmas cards anywhere in the world for one cent.

Yes, if you want to trim down the cost of this year's Yuletide greetings, you can do it by leaving all your envelopes unsealed (the flap can be folded inside and hence the enclosure is safe from damage). You can write a five-word personal message plus your signature. Your cards won't travel in "all-up" airmail style, but they'll go as fast as rail and boat can carry them to the far corners of the globe.

The Human Factor

Norway News: A concerted drive to up the efficiency of the Norwegian industrial worker has led to a series of interesting projects involving the joint efforts of Government, employer, and employee. For the past six months, a special Sub-Committee for Increased Production has been probing the human factor within the Norwegian industrial machine in an effort to alleviate the causes of absenteeism, increase job interest, and in general to cut the gap between present output and the production potential of the existing technical plan.

Mr. Frederik Haslund, chairman of this committee, recently outlined the scope of the various human problems growing out of five years of occupation under an enemy power. Early in the program, a close contact was established between the committee — which functions as a coordinating agent — and the management of various individual plants. In response to a questionnaire, managers explained the factors which they felt were slowing production. In many instances these proved to be grounded in the attitude of the worker toward his job. With committee aid, numerous morale-building projects have sprung up within a large number of plants. Improved clinics, vacation homes, plant newspapers, sports clubs, plant orchestras, and similar projects have been aimed at making the working site something more than a mere spot where one puts in his time. Films, and reading matter distributed through the Committee confront the worker with the simple truth that it is he, after all, who determines in large measure whether production schedules will be met.

Members of the committee who include employers, employees, and Government representatives are convinced that any plans for increased output under the proposed Four-Year Recovery Program must involve careful consideration of this human factor. Gratifying production increases during the past six months are sufficient to indicate that the group's activities must be taken up on a broader basis.

Hydro in Politics

St. Catharines Standard: Hydro, as a public owned enterprise, cannot be taken out of politics or, in other words, public study and interest. On a high level, it is perfectly proper it should be in politics. Thus far, there has never been any complaint of the evils of patronage undermining the system. Nevertheless, Hydro makes a good political football, except when the rainfall comes.

Letter To The Editor

TEACHERS—UNION OR PROFESSIONAL?

Sir: I am confused by the way our local school teachers have asked for their raise in salary. They have compared themselves with industrial workers and asked for a raise on that basis. But they also consider themselves professional men and women. Now unless I am wrong professional men and women are paid on a basis of what they are worth. A good doctor gets higher fees than a poor one and the same with a good lawyer. Why do the teachers ask for a raise straight across the board?

Some of our teachers are fine and deserve a raise. But some are not worth any more than they are getting, if as much. Why doesn't the Board give raises on merit? How can teachers be both union workers and professionals getting the best of both worlds?

Yours,
ANOTHER PUPIL.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord put a word in Balaam's mouth, and said, Return unto Balak, and thus thou shalt speak....And he took up his parable, and said, Balak the king of Moab hath brought me from Aram, out of the mountains of the east, saying, Come, curse me Jacob, and come, defy Israel. How shall I curse whom God hath not cursed? or how shall I defy, whom the Lord hath not defied?....

And Balak said unto Balaam, What hast thou done unto me? I took thee to curse mine enemies, and, behold, thou hast blessed them altogether. And he answered and said, Must I not take heed to speak that which the Lord hath put in my mouth?....

Behold, I have received commandment to bless: and he hath blessed; and I cannot reverse it....

Surely there is no enchantment against Jacob, neither is there any divination against Israel: according to this time it shall be said of Jacob and of Israel. What hath God wrought! (Num. 23: 55, 7, 8, 11, 12, 20, 23.)

Now the sojourning of the children of Israel, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years. And it came to pass at the end of the four hundred and thirty years, even the selfsame day it came to pass, that all the hosts of the Lord went out from the land of Egypt. (Ex. 12: 40, 41.)

Trojan Club Prepares For Big Year

The Trojan Athletic Club has decided to check into matters with a view to entering teams in the PMHA this season, and Jerry Pagett will attend the next PMH A meeting. He was suggested as a coach for the midgets, along with Tony Giardino, while Al Menzies was mentioned as coach for the bantams. Art Pagett, George Masters, and Percy Killingbeck will probably handle the juveniles if this team is entered.

The club will again operate at Turner Park with at least a pee-wee and bantam league, some 80 boys already having registered for hockey. Registrations close next week with collection of fees. Any boy living not too far from Turner Park may join. Four of the five boys' council attended the meeting, and gradually the government of the club is being turned over to the boys, as they learn to take the responsibility.

Pick Chairmen

Fred Herbison was named the chairman of the Membership Committee, aided by C. Foster and G. Pagett. The Hockey Committee has Art Pagett in the chair assisted by M. Dunn, Tommy Church, and Fred Jennings, with power to add to the number. This committee forms the teams, picks coaches, supplies referees, and draws up schedules. Equipment was repaired during the off season, and the boards recently have been put up for the rink.

The executive expressed hope that the peewees and bantams would be able to play at least a few games in the new Civic Arena, and also have the club attend an OHA junior game in a body. Members of the boys' council present were: Harry Clarke, Jim Stewart, Ed Dnun, and Lionel Bloom. Thanks of the club was expressed to Major Watt for the use of the Salvation Army Hall, and also to Harry Yudin, Myer Cherney, and B'nai B'rith for the erection of a good building in which to get dressed before going on the ice.

The program for Saturday is: 2.00 p.m., men's rinks bonspiel; 7.45 p.m., mixed rink bonspiel.

The fee for the Boxing Day bonspiel was posted on the blackboard last evening—$5.00.

The ladies' club have received notice that the ladies Tankard games are set for Feb. 9, 1949 at the High Park Club, Toronto. And speaking about the ladies' Tankard, a little practice helps a lot.

We understand that Ostranders Jewellers are presenting a trophy to the ladies' club for local competition. Our informant tells us that it will likely be a one-day 'spiel with schedule calibre rinks.

Tonight it's Groups 4 and 5.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

"My dear Santa—How are things with you and Mrs. Claus these days? Intended writing you earlier but the police reporter pinched my last stamp and I was a little lean financially last week. Knowing you are located quite a piece north of Bancroft, this will have to go air mail and hang the expense. Thanks for your efforts the last time around, S.C., though I didn't get that slightly used car at a reasonable rate. With prices so scandalous, I still use shank's mare or a bus when they stop. Got the hair restorer all right but now I need something to darken the locks—they're a bit salty over the ears.

* * * * * *

"Quite a few of my other requests were granted, and much obliged. Everyone appreciates a well-filled stocking. And we are all grateful for the new rink and the various titles which came this way the past year. Some of the clubs would like refills. If you have any drag with Jupe Pluvius, please ask him to lay off on Saturday grid afternoons—a lot of the fellows are pretty peeved about it. I know the skiers would like lots of snow soon, while the skaters and hockeyists crave ice. And good OHA groupings, if you have any left. As well as artificial ice, if possible, for next season. Lots of keen competition here in all sports would be a fine gift, indeed, for everyone.

Just A Few Things

"Now, look, Mr. Claus, I know you have lots on your mind, but our sports followers could certainly use a covered stand at Riverside. And a smart southpaw for the Petes—or just a southpaw, as I know smart ones are scarce. Maybe a better-balanced lacrosse group, too, and more financial backing for minor sports. Cheaper goods, by all means, if you can swing it, and less water in the rye. Shorter speeches at dinners and louder cheers at games. Lots of peace and goodwill. Do what you can, will you, old chap?

* * * * * *

"Oh, yes, a few personal items for a hard-working guy who doesn't get into much trouble and thinks most highly of you. A jalopy, reasonably priced, with a top. Hair darkener that doesn't run, several sets of heavy underwear, ties that do not frighten small children, a healthy billfold, shatter-proof wristwatch, binoculars, white shirts (16 collar but only 32 on the sleeve), a turkey, warm sox and gloves, shaving kit, baggage, cigarettes, books, and any other little thing you can spare. The wife and boy are sending you separate letters. Trust you give this one your careful consideration, and much obliged. Take care of yourself, especially over the Yuletide season, Santa. Yours, CJP."

Cage Tilts For All

Men and girl cagers go this week-end on two fronts, the lasses in a twin bill tonight at the YWCA and the males on the morrow up at the Collegiate. Tonight's YW jousts are: CGE vs. the Collis colleens at eight, followed by Lockeys against the Normals. Should be two tidy tilts. And at seven p.m. tomorrow in the big Collegiate gym, Toronto Harbor Hoopsters meet Marines "B" basketeers, the visitors being led by playing coach Bob Butler. At 8.15 then, Frank Tyndall's senior Queen's squad tackles the Marines "A" crew. Tyndall, formerly of Syracuse—where he played football and basketball—performed with Argos and now coaches both the grid and hoop teams at Queen's. Ormie Weir, a local chap, is with the team.

Trojan Athletic Club is pretty well set again for the winter, lining up several minor hockey teams for PMHA play, as well as peewee and bantam loops at Turner Park. Final registration for players in that area likely next week. Four of the five boys' council were present at the recent executive meeting. These boys are being trained to handle business matters of the club and will eventually take over the running of it. That's good training and shows the thoughtfulness of the adult officers in this well-handled organization. They've been developing a bunch of good young puckists and ball players the past several years.

Tied On Top Rung

Shockey's and Riley's remain tied atop the City Bowling League and the race is pretty well bunched up. Three clean sweeps last gloaming, while Cavanagh's had high pinnage for teams with a cross of 3621 and single of 1373. Ned Vitarelli was on the bowling beam this time to lead individuals with a triple of 866 and a 385 single. Other good threesomes turned in by Joe Denault, Mel Anthony, Ray Clifford, Bud Goodson and Roy Lewis. And no less than 14 single efforts of better than 300. Christmas roll is slated for next Thursday with fowl for prizes. This should see the cream of the crop toiling hard to save a butcher's bill.

Metras Speaks To PCVS At Grid Event

By Fred Maybee

John Metras, Director of Physical Education at University of Western Ontario, addressed the players and guests last evening at a dinner tendered the champion PCVS football teams at the collegiate by the Home and School Association.

Stressing the value of teamwork, the popular former University of Detroit football star and later coach, urged all to apply in daily life the principles of clean team-play and co-operation as a means of getting along successfully in a practical wrld.

Mr. Metras pinted out that a high standard of scholastic achievement is expected of all athletes at Western, that the college has produced four Rhodes scholars in the past decade and that no player has been lost to his team during that period through failure to measure up to the required standard of scholastic efficiency. He contended that athletics could be a means to an end, namely—to attain a high aim in life. Following his address, Mr. Metras, assisted by Jack Fairs, entertained the 75 guests with complete films of the recent Varsity-Western play-off game at Toronto for the intercollegiate title and a 1947 McGill-Western game, played in London. These were delightful and instructive and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Bev. Goulding introduced Mr. Metras.

Thanks Metras

John Green thanked the speaker on behalf of both teams, wished him continued success in his work and expressed the hope he would return to Peterborough at some future date. Dr. D. W. Clark also spoke briefly to the boys, congratulated them on the feat of winning dual honors this season in senior and junior COSSA football finals, and he proposed a toast to them. Mr. Londry thanked all who had helped the teams to achieve success this season, including the doctors who treated the injured players, the five cheerleaders who had inspired the boys and also the Examiner, through its representative, for the publicity given. Brian Young thanked the Home and School Association ladies for their splendid work in providing so delightful a dinner for all. Mrs. W. Fanjoy, president, graciously acknowledged the compliment on behalf of the ladies and praised the boys for their fine football play this season.

SHANNON II, big bay stallion who ruled the Australian turf and then came to the U.S. where he won six stake victories, has been sold to Leslie B. Biggest Deal In History As Rangers Get Stanley

By NORM ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(CP).—The harassed New York Rangers today pinned fresh hopes on a husky rearguard obtained from the minor leagues for two players and an undisclosed sum of cash. The total is said to be worth $60,000 to $70,000."

Allan Stanley, 22-year-old six-foot two-inch native of Timmins, is the centre-piece of the deal. Ranger manager Frank Boucher called it the biggest deal in Ranger history and the biggest in the National Hockey League for a minor-league player.

Boucher announced Thursday at the New York hockey writers' weekly meeting that he sent forward Ed Kullman and defenceman Elwyn Morris to Providence Reds of the American Hockey League — plus some cash—in a trade for Stanley.

Lou Pieri, owner of the independent Providence club, also will have a chance to obtain four other Ranger farm players.

Rangers are at the bottom of the N.H.L. heap at present.

Waited Two Seasons

Boucher said he has wanted Stanley in the major leagues for the last two seasons and expects that someday he will be "one of the greatest players in the national hockey league."

A standout of the league-leading Providence team, Stanley scored even goals and 16 assists in 23 games this season playing left defence.

Boucher declined to state the amount of cash involved but estimated that the value of Kullman and Morris plus the cash, was worth $60,000 to $70,000.

The consensus of New York writers was that $30,000 cash changed hands.

Commenting in Toronto on the real, manager Conny Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs said:

"Lou Pieri is certainly the biggest dealer in hockey today. I guess I didn't make such a bad deal for Lewicki at that."

Smythe bought the rights to Danny Lewiski—formerly a Port Arthur Bruin and now with Stratford Junior Kroehlers—from Pieri for what was reported as the biggest price ever paid for an amateur. The price was rumored to be $20,000

Takes Second Place

Boucher said the deal takes second place in modern hockey only to the "five-for-two" trade last year which brought Max Bentley from the Chicago Black Hawks to Toronto.

The biggest outright sale in NHL history occurred in 1930 when Toronto paid Ottawa Senators $35,000 for Frank (King) Clancy, the defence star who now is a NHL referee.

Stanley, who was signed by Boston Bruins in 1943 while still a juvenile, comes from a hockey ley—once managed Chicago Black family. His uncle—Barney Stan-Hawks and another uncle—Ab Stanley—once played for Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario hockey association senior league.

NEW YORK RANGERS' GOALIE CHUCK RAYNER goes into an adagio-like stance as he deflects the flying puck away from the goal net in a recent game between the Rangers and Detroit, played at Madison Square Garden, New York. The disc flies to one side of the goal, followed closely by Detroit's Jim McFadden, who made the initial shot. In front of net are Rangers' defence men Elwin Morris and Wally Stanowski (No. 4), both of whom converged on McFadden too late to prevent his flip at the goal. The Red Wings won the game 3-1.

Flyers Edge Ramblers 3-2

By The Canadian Press

St. Louis Flyers, enjoying a comfortable lead in the western division of the American Hockey League, Thursday night edged out New Haven Ramblers 3-2 while Indianapolis Capitals swamped Cleveland Barons 11-3.

Trailing 2-0 going into the final stanza, St. Louis, wnih had a seven-game winning streak on the block, suddenly came to life and pushed three fast tallies into the Rambler nets.

Barry Sulivan got the first marker for St. Louis, Paul Gladu tied the game and Billy McComb's marker put it on ice.

New Haven marksmen were Sherm Whit and Gino Rozzino.

Gerry Reid paced the Caps with three goals and three assists. Baldy MacKay, Fred Glover and Pat Lundy knocked in two counters apiece while Gordon Haldy and Rod Morrison accounted for the balance of the scoring.

Cleveland's goals were chalked up by George Allen, Bryan Hextall and Gordon Davidson.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Dec. 10—(CP)—Alberta's current cold snap claimed its first life Thursday when Mrs. Christina Banek, 80, formerly of Irvine, Alta., was frozen to death. Mrs. Banek's body was found lying on the grounds of the Baptist Heaven of Rest after she had wandered away from home.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Jockey Club reported Thursday at Toronto that a "better understanding" of racing problems by the federalf and provincial government enabled the club to make a "reasonable" profit on 1948 racing operations.

Col. K. R. Marshall, president of the club, said without government help" we would undoubtedly have gone well into the red figures."

He declined to state publicly the profits of the club which had reported a deficit last year. It operates Woodbine race track here.

Col. Marshall said the profit was made possible because of "cancellation by the federal government of the five-per-cent wartime tax on total amount wagered, with an amendment to the code, raising the percentage which may be retained by the racing associations."

Ray Bauer, left-winger with the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen seniors, has accepted an offer to join the Sudbury Wolves in their coming tour to Europe, it was learned at Kitchener Thursday. Wolves will represent Canada at the World Hockey Tournament in Sweden. The club sails from New York Dec. 22.

Richard Birch, Canadian singles champion, and Dave Freeman, United States titleholder, square off in the feature singles match at Pasadena, Calif., Saturday night in the finals of the American zone battle for the International Badminton Thomas Cup Trophy. Nine matches — five singles and four doubles—will be played. The team winning five out of nine clinches the zone title and goes to England to compete in the world event against the European and Pacific zone champions. Malaya is the Pacific winner and Denmark is favored in Europe.

One of the country's leading amateurs and an unknown professional led the field at the end of the opening round of the 25th annual $10,000 Miami open gold tournament Thursday. Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, and Stan Straszonski, Winsted, Conn., professional, shot four-under-par 66s over the par-70 Miami Springs course to share first place. Stan Horne of Montreal posted a four-over-par 74 to stay up among the leaders.

The British Board of Boxing Control has sustained the National Boxing Association's claim that Freddie Mills should fight Gus Lesnevich in the United States, NBA commissioner Abe Greene announced at Paterson, N.J. Thursday. Greene said that Ted Broadribb, Mills' manager, had tried to get out of a verbal agreement which calls for the pair to fight in the United States for the tournament of champions.

The most "wanted" player at the annual minor league meetings at Minneapolis is [illegible]linger, flashy third baseman of St. Louis Browns. No fewer than five clubs have made overtures for this bespeckled 30-year-old native of Glendale, Calif. They are Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics. Dillinger battled .321 in 152 games last season and led the American league in stolen bases. The Indians have the inside track.

St. Louis Browns Thursday announced at St. Louis the sale of pitchers Al Widmar and Bryan Stephens to Baltimore of the International league. The amount of cash involved was not disclosed. The two right-handers were used as relief pitchers by the Browns.

Thomson Of Texans Suffers Knee Injury

By The Associatedw Press

Bill Thomson, defenceman for Dallas Texans of the United States Hockey League, suffered a broken knee-joint in a game with St. Paul Saints Thursday night and will be out of the line-up, probably for the rest of the season.

Thomson suffered the injury late in the first period when he was checked hard by Harry Bell of the Saints, who won the contest 13-1.

Fort Worth climbed to a point behind first-place Tulsa in the southern division with a 6-4 victory over Houston.

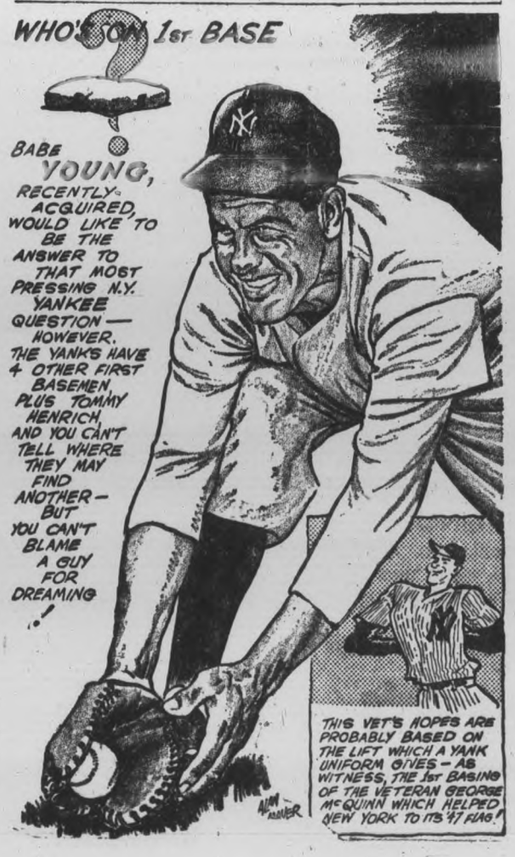
YOUNG HELP FOR YANKS - By Alan Maver



MOTORISTS!

HERE'S AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE

• Automobile Insurance rates effective January 1st, 1949, in Ontario

PRIVATE PASSENGER AUTOMOBILES

Next year a reduction in Bodily Injury and Property Damage rates will be granted to persons in the Pleasure-driver class where there are not more than two drivers in the Insured's household, both of whom are 25 years of age or older.

These rates recognize that the accident hazard is reduced when the number of drivers per household is limited and that a high proportion of all accidents is caused by youthful drivers.

Owners of pleasure automobiles not qualifying for the preferred rates will play slightly higher premiums.

A more substantial increase will be paid by owners of business cars because loss figures show a much higher number of accidents in this class.

There will be a material increase in Collision rates necessitated by the increased cost of automobiles, parts, and labour, and a greater number of claims.

There will be no change in Fire and Theft rates.

COMMERCIAL AUTOMOBILES

Due to the increased number of serious accidents and the higher amounts paid in claims, an upward adjustment of rates is necessary in most categories.

COMPARISON OF MOTOR VEHICLE ACCIDENTS IN ONTARIO

First Nine Months	1947	1948	Inc. or Dec.
Accidents	15,075	18,587	+23.3%
Property Damage	$3,446,980	$4,686,730	+36.0%
Persons Killed	497	489	- 1.6%
Persons Injured	9,355	10,298	+10.1%
Cars Registered	765,862	841,029	+ 9.8%

HOW CAN RATES BE DECREASED?

The above figures tell the story. The key is in the hands of the motorist. Care, courtesy and the observance of safe driving rules is the only answer. Rates will always follow claims—down or up—as surely as night follows day.

For full particulars of the new rates see your Insurance Agent.

Durocher Again In Hot Water With Chandler

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 10—(AP)—Leo Durocher is in hot water with baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler again.

Although the commissioner was reluctant to talk about the matter, it was learned that the manager of the New York Giants might face another suspension, or be fined.

Leo, who only a year ago ended a season-long exile imposed upon him by the commissioner for "conduct detrimental to baseball," has been ordered by Chandler to appear for a hearing on the "Freddy Fitzsimmons case." The inquiry is set for Dec. 14 in Chicago.

Fitzsimmons, who came to work as coach under Leo several weeks ago, while on Boston Braves' reserve list, also has beeen summoned before the commissioner. In addition, Chandler has ordered president Horace Stoneman of the Giants to send another representative. Stoneman selected Edgar Feeley, treasurer of the club.

Feeeley and Durocher will have to convince Chandler there was no "tampering" with the former Giant pitcher when he switched from Boston to New York, and Fitz will be asked to explain why he did not inform the Boston officials of his intention to make the change.

Addresses Convention

Chandler was in town to address the annual convention of the National Association of Professional (minor) Baseball clubs which closes today.

Television and radio occupied the attention of the minors at Thursday's important executive session. A new amendment which would, in effect, ban any network baseball either by radio or television was adopted by unanimous vote.

It was the first time the minors had made a definite rule on radio and television. Under the new rule, radio and television broadcasts would be limited to stations located within the "home territory" of the club. The "home territory" was defined to include all land within the circumference of a circle having a radius of 50 miles, with its centre at the ball park. The majors have yet to approve.

May Get Challenger

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP).—There is a thin possibility that tonight's 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden between Joe Baksi and Ezzard Charles will produce a logical challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight boxing title. That, at least, is the idea behind it. If either man scores a knockout, then he is fairly certain to find himself in the same ring with Joe next June, getting hit. A good, clean decision might serve equally well.

DETROIT WINS—Harry Lumley, Detroit Red Wing goalie appears to be on a hot spot as Harry Watson and Cal Gardner of the Leafs fight with Detroit's Bill Quackenbush for possession of the puck on Lumley's doorstep in Wednesday night's NHL hockey game in Toronto. Detroit won 4-3. Detroit defenceman Red Kelly is seen ready to defend Lumley while Sid Abel and Fern Gauthier of Detroit and Max Bentley wait for a passout.

Lach, Bentley Hold Key To NHL Top Spot

By The Canadian Press

It's shaping up as a duel between two of hockey's cagiest centres this week-end when Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks clash twice for third place in the National Hockey League.

Both of them—Montreal's Elmer Lach and Chicago's Doug Bentley—come from Saskatchewan villages less than 100 miles apart.

Boston and Toronto, New York and Detroit meet twice during the week-end. But thee Montreal-Chicago series will hog a good bit of the limelight.

Lach, 30-year-old centre from Nokomis, led the league in scoring last year. Bentley, 32, from Delisle, leads the scorers this year, one point ahead of another Saskatchewan product, Boston Bruin Grant Warwick from Regina.

Montreal coach Dick Irvin touted Chicago as the team to beat at the start of the season. But so far Hawks haven't shown they can do much against the Habitants — they've dropped two of their three games with Canadiens this year. They now hold third place by one point over Montreal.

Take Day Off

Toronto Maple Leafs—who always have trouble with the Bruins—prepared for their series by taking a day off Thursday.

Coach Hap Day, defenceman Bill Juzda, netminders Turk Broda, and amateur forward Chuck Blair were the only ones out for workouts. Day was there because he likes to work; Juzda to keep in shape in spite of the long hours he's put in on the bench; Blair because he still is eligible for two more professional games and Broda because he could use the practice.

Percy Skitch Rink Takes Hamilton Trophy

HAMILTON, Dec. 10.—(CP).—Percy Skitch of Lindsay, skipped his rink to a 10-8 victory over Earl Green's Toronto High Park rink in finals for the seniors' trophy, premier event of the 16th annual seniors' bonspiel.

In final matches of other competitions, Nate Cornwall's Detroit rink down the rink led by Dr. J. A. Wright of London, Ont., 10-8 to carry off the Hudson Ross trophy.

The Hamilton Victorias rink of Dr. A. E. Walkey took a 10-3 decision over the rink skipped by Percy Dietrich of Galt, and won the C. M. Doolittle Memorial Cup.

The Skitch rink had to make a strong stand to stave off defeat in the seniors' trophy finals. Green's rink took an early lead. The Lindsay curlers found the range during the seventh end and by the time the 10th and final end started, they cut the Toronto rink's margin to one shot. Green had a chance to force extra play but missed with his final rock.

The Doolittle final at the outset appeared a one-sided affair in favor of Hamilton but the Galt four staged a strong finish.

County Names High School Representatives

County representatives to the three high school districts have been named by the county council.

Ross Cuthbertson of Asphodel will be the Norwood representative; Ernie Pearson of Smith at Lakefield, and John Kitney, Otonabee, at Peterborough. Previous High School districts in the county were dissolved in June and by-laws setting up the new organization were passed by council.

Reeve Norman Wilson reported that the 60,000-gallon water tank has now been installed at the Old People's Home, Lakefield, and that it has been connected up with a well. Total cost including fittings is $4,016.44.

Because this is a permanent improvement to the property and not a maintenance expenditure it is expected that the Department of Welfare will contribute 25 per cent of the cost.

He reported further on the progress that has been made in complying with the fire marshall's recommendations. The barn on the premises has been completely rewired but due to a misunderstanding work has not yet begun on the residence. Part of the fire alarm system has been installed.

Council decided to send letters to the Hon. Harold Scott, to the Minister of Municipal Affairs and other county councils requesting that the penalty for late payment of taxes be left to the individual municipalities.

Bracebridge Opens New Generating Plant

BRACEBRIDGE, Dec. 10—(CP)—Dependence on outside power supplies ended for this Muskoka district town Wednesday as a new 1,250-horse power Hydro generating plant was set in motion by Ontario Highways Minister Dousett.

The $240,000 plant, at High Falls on the north branch of the Muskoka river, is the third in the municipally-owned system.

Foundations for a fourth identical plant were constructed when this plant was built, and it will be finished as soon as water control measures assure sufficient water for it in the dry season.

Rotary Club Checks 31 Crippled Children

Dr. Russell Morgan urges all friends, school teachers, ministers and postmasters to report any cases of crippled children they know of to any member of the Rotary's Crippled Children committee. Members of this committee are Dr. Russell Morgan, Maxwell Comstock, Orley DeGraw, Dr. R. A. Kelly, Dr. R. K. Magee, Lesley Mountney, Charles Pilon, Ian McRae, George Schneider, Lesley Turner, Thomas Tayor, Major C. Watt and Theodore Weir.

To date 31 cases have been reported. The next step is to investigate each case and see the treatment required. Cases who require treatment that can not be given here will be sent to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. Some of the types of cases are birth marks, severe burns requiring plastic surgery, accidental injuries and heart diseases.

"We have decided to accept anyone that can be helped. Crippled children usually develop inferiority complexes due to their injuries," said Dr. Morgan.

Cases will be accepted anywhere in Peterborough county. They have been received from places such as Coe Hill and Hastings.

Any cases not yet reported should be before the end of this week.

Arrest Foreign Envoy

ATHENS, Dec. 10—(AP)—Justice Minister George Melas told newspaper men Wednesday a foreign diplomat was arrested Wednesday while trying to smuggle out a large sum of British and United States funds. Melas said the diplomat had £24,000 ($96,000) and $27,000 and some cheques in his baggage. The minister did not identify the diplomat by name.

Code Of Ethics For Sportsmen

DELAVAN, Wis., Dec. 10 (AP)—Conservation authorities from three Midwest States and the Province of Ontario Wednesday formed a committee to set up a code of ethics for sportsmen in the region.

The action came after Tom C. McCall, Deputy Minister of Travel and Publicity for Ontario, told a meeting here:

"Those of us in the travel business realize that conservation is the most important consideration in the tourist industry today."

Chester S. Wilson, Minnesota conservation commissioner, was made chairman of the committee formed at the request of the Northern Great Lakes Area Council, representing the tourist industry of the region.

Others prpesent at the conference were Robert McLaughlin, deputy director of the Michigan Conservation Department; Ernest Swift, Wisconsin conservation director, and Dr. W. J. Harkness, director of the Fish and Wildlife Branch of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

Wilson, in calling for stricter game laws, said that in Minnesota only 10 per cent. of the fish caught are by the "ordinary two-week vacationist." He said resident fishermen get the other 90 per cent.

Hit-and-Run Driver Wrecks War Memorial Erected A Year Ago By Popular Subscription

COLBORNE, Dec. 10.—Erected early in the fall in memory of the fallen servicemen of Colborne village, the granite memorial was broken some time Tuesday night or Wednesday morning by a car which didn't stop. The granite slab, which was about six feet by four feet, was knocked off when the car struck the corner of the base, and broke in two when it hit the ground. The monument was erected by popular subscription under the auspices of the Legion Auxiliary and it was dedicated before a large crowd of veterans from all over the district.

From tire marks, it was seen that the vehicle was a car and it had left the highway and cut across the park, missing a large souvenir cannon, avoiding trees but striking the monument. The car kept on going. The broken monument was discovered next morning.

The End of the Power Cutoffs
Does NOT Mean
The End of the Power Shortage

All Consumers must continue their efforts to cut down on electricity

While improved water conditions resulting from recent rainfall in the right places, have enabled The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario to increase quotas to municipalities, water flow conditions are still not normal. Therefore, it is vitally important that all consumers—industrial, commercial, domestic and rural—be constantly on the alert to avoid all unnecessary use of electricity.

Your co-operation in the past has helped. Here are a few suggestions as to how you can continue to help.

- Turn off all unnecessary lights. Do not leave lights burning in empty rooms, halls, basement, attic, porch and garage.
- At the evening study or reading hours, group the family around the reading lamp and turn off other lights.
- Replace large light bulbs with smaller ones.
- Where water is electrically heated, use hot water sparingly.
- Watch the switches on your range, your iron and other appliances. Turn them off as quickly as possible. Often the stored heat will finish the jobs. Use "High" heat for as short a time as possible for cooking or for boiling water.
- Don't let motors on motor-driven equipment run needlessly in home or factory.
- In factory, store or office, don't light a row or cluster of overhead lights when a single light nearby will do.

Do your part to cut down on electricity and keep pay envelopes full.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

With The Canadian Legion

By The SECRETARY

The biggest event in a long time took place Tuesday evening, December 7, when the Red Patch Club held its annual banquet in honor of the Ortona campaign. It was originally intended to hold it on the 6th, but due to the civic elections was delayed. Upwards of 215 people attended, including the members themselves, their wives or lady friends. The dinner itself and the entertainment whihc followed was the best organized of any affair which has been held in the Legion Hall to date.

At the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hogg (chairman of the entertainment committee), Mr. and Mrs. M. Morrow (past president), Mr. and Mrs. Al Wade (president), Col. and Mrs. A. A. Kennedy of Owen Sound (former CO of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and the guest speaker), Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Yelland (president of the Canadian Legion), and Mr. M. Pakenham (treasurer of the Red Patch).

Catering for the dinner was done by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion under the capable direction of Mrs. A. Parrington, president, and after the meal a two minutes' silence was observed, during which Mrs. Doug Landry sang "Abide With Me," accompanied by Mr. F. Hamon.

President Al Wade welcomed the guests and members to the "do." He spoke of the difficulty the committee had experienced in obtaining their beer permit, and then introduced the guest speaker, Col. A. A. Kennedy, who said:

"Mr. Chairman, honored guests and members of the Red Patch Club, this is the second time I have had the honor of attending your annual dinner, and I feel that your organization is absolutely unique in Canada. I know of none other which flourishes as such, and I will continue, if possible, to be present during future years. Coming here this afternoon—I was driving—I thought of many things — most of them personal. However, I do want to speak a few words on one thought.

"Most of us have had some rather thrilling experiences and adventures, and I feel that it is the memories of these adventures that assist a great deal in helping us to grow old gracefully. I want to tell the wives this point particularly so that you may understand, in the future, why your husband is so anxious to get together with the 'boys.' The reason we get together is to reminisce—to relive old memories. One of these memories occurred just five years ago this week when the 1st Brigade went through a very trying battle. (Col. Kennedy refers to the assault of Ortona which commenced on Dec. 6, 1943.) This started by getting across the Moro River and staying across, an action in which my outfit, the Hasty Pees, took a major role. It wasn't easy."

"So, I say to you that one of the firmest bonds for friendship we have is these memories."

"Last year at this time I also tried to deliver this message and I am going to try to get it across again. We, who have been and seen war as it is, must make sure that those who follow are prepared for war. It is a crying shame to send soldiers, who are not trained, into battle. We, although we may not be instructing or advising, must encourage these young men who are taking our place in the service. We must do our part by not sneering at them and by helping them to better understand the army life and tradition."

Bernie Morin, who acted as Master of Ceremonies, next led the gathering in a very popular sing-song after which Del Crary and his orchestra took over for a few selections. Then Mr. Doug Landry took over the spotlight with a remarkable exhibition of sketching cartoons, etc.

One of the many forms of entertainment was a ladies' bingo and the following ladies won complete bathroom sets: Mrs. C. Withers, Mrs. E. Hogg, Mrs. L. Castle, Mrs. Geo. McNabb, and Mrs. R. Wallace. Mrs. T. Monk of 194 Braidwood Ave., won a Kenwood blanket on the last game. Two turkeys were also given out as prizes and these went to Doug Drew and Harry Summers.

Dancing was the order for the rest of the evening. Winners of the spot dances were Mrs. Harold Roberts and Mr. Ed. Woodhouse; Mrs. Ed Woodhouse and Mr. Bill Green; Mr. and Mrs. LaRoche; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heintzman; and Mrs. J. Eastabrook and Mr. Tom Morrissey.

TURNING THE PAGES OF

"Canada Unlimited"

In 1621, Marie Couillard, daughter of Canada's first farmer, Louis Hebert, cooked her husband's meals in a large iron pot suspended in their big stone fireplace.

50 years later French farmers had a stone open-air cooking oven called a "caboose". This type of oven can still be seen in some parts of Quebec.

In the 18th century Father Bizard suggested using an iron box, such as used in Germany, for a wood fire. This was Canada's first type of stove.

After Canada's first gas company was started in Montreal in 1847, the gas stove was introduced. This, with the electric range which was developed early in this century, changed the Canadian kitchen.

Today, the modern homemaker has at her command many types of sleek, efficient stoves to lighten her work.

These developments portend still greater opportunities, for there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

Press And Radio Show Bias, Farmers Object

NORWOOD, Dec. 10—(ENS)—The press and radio show a decidedly urban bias with repeated comments on high prices of meat, milk, butter and other farm products and not enough attention on high salaries and wages, benefits to employees and high prices of farm machinery and tools, according to the Trent River West Farm Forum. At a discussion on the subject, it was agreed that this practice fostered class consciousness.

Even farm papers play up the demand for highest quality in livestock, poultry, grain and dairy products too much and usually refrain from commenting on poor quality of farm machinery parts such as plough points, every day clothing and boot and household utensils the members thought.

It was felt that the radio allowed too much advice and criticism of farm people to come from the cities and from "so called experts." Farmers objected to commercials advertising seed, etc. and their constant urging for more production. There was also a good deal of annoying repetition in farm programs. It was thought that urban advertising in both press and on the radio had a strong effect on new items and radio talks.

The Farm Forum meetings were held at the homes of Ralph Menzies and Walter Lewis, RR 2, Havelock.

Ross Legge was appointed leaded of discussions in place of William Sparkes, who is leaving the district.

North Smith News

Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Erie Pearson on Monday night. Two discussion groups were formed, games played under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Harrison, and delicious refreshments served.

Twenty from this community attended the 100th anniversary banquet of Beresford LOL No. 122 at Lakefield on Wednesday evening. Several members of Wesley LOL No. 419 assisted with the program.

Mr. Harold Pearson suffered a shaking up and bruises when he was thrown off a piece of farm machinery on Wednesday. The accident occurred when the three horses attached to the emplement took fright and ran away.

The business committee of Wesley and Lakehurst churches met at Lakehurst on Tuesday night.

New PC Leader Old Policy–Chevrier

OTTAWA, Dec. 10. —(CP). — Transport Minister Chevrier said Thursday night that the Progressive Conservative party has a new leader but "same old policies."

In a speech before the East Ottawa Liberal Club, the transport minister said these "same old policies" were the ones the party had "when it was handed over to John Bracken."

Then in a reference to George Drew, new National Progressive Conservative leader, he said:

"We know where orders will come from. We know that George McCullagh has purchased the Toronto Telegram and has said he will put the Toronto Star out of business. We know his attitude to the present government while he was head of the Globe and Mail. That conveys to me where the direction of the Conservative party will come from."

The meeting unanimously selected Jean Richard, Member of Parliament for East Ottawa as Liberal standard-bearer in the next Federal election.

New Plan Aids Managers J. Wharry Tells Kiwanians

Market research, the operation and purpose it serves in present-day economy was the unusual and interesting topic at the Kiwanis luncheon Thursday. J. G. Wharry, the guest speaker, was introduced by Jack Richardson.

"Market research was born in recent years. Arthur Neilson, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, developed a way by which the large manufacturer would havs a better idea of the position of their companies in the markets. No more will salesmen up to presidents be able to tell the executives of the companies that sales are good when they are low in comparison with the other companies," said Mr. Wharry.

"By Neilson's deductions he is able to tell the companies the percentage of sales their commodities have in certain districts or in the whole country. Not only can he do this but he can also tell the percentages of other companies. No longer do we have to guess what other companies are doing."

"This firm goes into any company which needs its advice. It will tell them the amount of products sold by everyone in a certain period. Neilson's will tell them how much was sold by eacn company. They will even break the sales of the sores down into the different provinces."

"The consumer panels acts in ths same way but only with families. They are able to say what was bought by the average family in a certain month. He can say within an error of two or three per cent. They will break this down into pounds or pieces and prices, giving price of your own material and of each of your competitors."

"Aptitude tests grew out of thi war. If a man applies for a position, it isn't the employer who makes the decision but the interests and the abilities of the applicant. It only takes four days for the results to be received. Aptitude tests weed out the following: people who have gone through procedure of a divorce, people who have gone broke, money interested people, those who have fears that the position will put them lower in the social circles, people who have worked for a long length of time for one company, thus having been schooled in anoher company's ways, and people who are continually changing their positions."

"Present day presidents and executives have an easier time than the old executives,' he said.

M. Hardill thanked the speaker.

Guests of the Kiwanians were William Duignan, representative of St. Peter's High School's Key Club, Donald Armstrong of the Collegiate Key Club, E. McCoy, Hamilton and J. E. Huggins, Peterborough.

Third Offender Given Sentence Of 3 Months

A third offender, Weldon Finn, 20, of Gilchrist St., was today sentenced to three months in the County Jail for being intoxicated in a public place.

Finn asked Magistrate W. R. Philip to release him so he could go to a job in Niagara Falls but the Magistrate said that because there were previous offences he had no option but to send him to jail.

When he found that the Magistrate would not release him Finn pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three months

"When you're through why don't you get your job then?" asked the Magistrate.

"I don't think it will still be there," said the accused as he walked from the prisoner's box.

"There'll be other jobs," was the reply.

New Funeral Home Application Refused

The Town Planning Board decided not to allow the establishment of a funeral home on the south east corner of Rubidge and Simcoe Sts., after hearing objections from a group of resident property owners living near the site.

Mr. Max Comstock wanted to open a funeral home at 356 Rubidge St. After stating his case before the Board on Thursday. Mr. Comstock heard Mr. Max Glover, spokesman representing a number of property owners, ask the Board not to grant permission.

The Board stated it could not, under the existing bylaw restrictions, recommend allowing the funeral home to be established on the site. If, however, the restrictions of the bylaw were removed by proper petition, it would see no objection to the establishment of a funeral home on that site.

Seven-Power Pact Signed During Year Of Upheaval

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 10—(CP)—In 1948 Britain began hammering out a shield to protect the recovery plans of herself and Western Europe.

Foreign Minister Bevin took the lead in calling for a strong association of western powers. As early as January he accused Russia of trying to wreck a plan dear to his heart—the restoration of Europe with United States aid. In less than three months a five-power treaty had been signed at Brussels providing, among other things, for "collective self- defence."

Britain's traditional allies in two world wars were the other signatories. France signed with alacrity. Belgium, Holland and tiny Luxembourg scrapped the policy of neutrality that had twice betrayed them and joined an association that promises to expand steadily.

The matter did not end with pious expressions of good will. Before the signatures had been dry a month, a permanent military defence committee had been set up and meetings were being held to clarify immediate problems.

The chief difficulty was one of supply. Canadian and United States observers attended, but their governments were so preoccupied with their own defence problems that little in the way of surpluses was expected from North America.

Permanent Organization

By October plans had advanced to a point where a permanent defence organization could be set up under Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery. With French and British aides he set up the structure of a supreme allied command that would begin to function immediately in event of war, and dealt with urgent and immediate problems.

Technical officers of the nations concerned consulted on such matters as standardization of weapons and unified training. Britain, which would bear the brunt of an air war, made aircraft available to her allies.

French pride suffered when Montgomery, rather than a Frenchman, was chosen for the top organizing post, although Gen. de Lattre de Tassigny was placed in command of land forces. Britain made haste to allay a French fear that took deep root between the wars—that Britain cannot and will not maintain in peace an adequate expeditionary force.

One of the first steps was to extend the length of service for her peacetime conscripts. Instead of releasing them to industry in growing numbers their demobilization was slowed and plans to limit service to 12 months were dropped.

Air Force Strengthened

Simultaneously the R.A.F. stepped up recruiting, the Royal Navy began reconditioning vessels held in reserve, civil defence plans were overhauled and a recruiting campaign was launched for the Territorial (Reserve) Army, which eventually will be sustained by a steady flow of army trainees.

Economic difficulties hampered Britain's remobilization plans, and training of new troops was delayed by the need of sending crack formations to Malaya. There they were employed in slow jungle warfare, stamping out guerrillas who had threatened to set up a Communist republic.

The Malayan situation was regarded with particular alarm by Australia and New Zealand. Although the destruction of Japan removed their immediate aggressor, both countries were strong proponents of a Commonwealth defence pact that would guarantee them aid if another enemy arose. For the immediate future it appeared as if they must rely on their own efforts.

Britain's difficulties in offering aid were aggravated by withdrawal of her troops from India. Some of them were transported to new bases in East Africa, which are rapidly being developed to protect Britain's African colonies and keep her within striking distance of the Mediterranean.

One footolhd in the later area was relinquished in May when British troops were withdrawn from Palestine, ending a mandate that in its latter stages was stained with the bloodshed of Jews, Arabs and the occupying forces.

$200 Bonus Given Employees Of School Board

A cost-of-living bonus of $200 a year for all public school, PCVS teachers and other employees was approved by the Board of Education Thursday night. The report of the Committee on Appointments, which recommended the move, said that the bonus would be deemed to be the final adjustment in salaries for the year." It will take effect the end of this year. Several other changes in salaries were also approved.

The moves followed representations by teachers' groups earlier this month asking for increases ranging as high as $500 a year to meet the increased cost of living.

The Board also approved a request of the female teachers of the PCVS that maximum salaries for them be increased to the same scale as for male teachers for female teachers having married status within the meaning of the Income Tax Act. The new maxima are now $3,700 for heads of departments and $3,500 for assistanst.

With that exception, the Board voted that maximum salaries as fixed in last year's schedule remain unaltered. They also approved a recommendation that there be no changes in the present schedule of annual increments of $150, a year.

Caretakers' Salaries

Adjustments in caretakers' salaries approved raised the starting rate from $1,600 to $1,800 a year beginning the first of the new year. All caretakers now receiving $1,600 will be advanced to $1,800 at the same time and those receiving over $1,600 will be granted a cost-of-living bonus of $200, plus the regular increment.

Female teachers in the public schools who are supporting children were voted an annual increase of $50, in addition to the general $200 new bonus and the regular increment. The rate of wages for supply teachers was not changed.

Members of the County Council on Thursday passed a resolution that a letter be sent to County Solicitor Francis D. Kerr, KC, who is presently ill, wishing him a speedy recovery. Flowers will also be sent.

SKATING THIS WEEK-END?

There may be skating on some of the shallow frozen ponds, but it will not be safe on the Canal, no matter how hard it freezes, for several days to come. The quiet reaches of the Otonabee River showed patches of ice forming on Friday morning.

CLOSE RESTAURANT

On the authority Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, Sanitary Inspector MacPherson ordered the Paris Cafe closed indefinitely Thursday afternoon. Failure of the proprietor to comply with the requirements of the department of health was the reason for this official action.

HUSTLING WORKERS

Laden with refuse from homes in the northend of the city a garbage truck hit a small bump on Water street by Simcoe this morning. Old tin cans, broken bottles and peelings were scattered over the street for 550 feet. Within five minutes all the strewn garbage was back on the truck except for some small pieces of glass.

NEW PORT HOPE CONSTABLE

Thomas Frederick Fortner, 34, was engaged by the Port Hope Town Council on Tuesday. He was the most likely candidate of the six applicants and had previously lived in Cornwall. He served at one time with Provincial Police in the Windsor area. Constable Fortner had five and one-half years in overseas service, all but one of these with the Provost Corps. He is a married man with three children.

CLOSE CURLING

The rocks were performing in amazing fashion as the knights of the besom and stane slithered about on the Charlotte St. curling ice last evening. Harry White's rink came through with a particularly fancy 13-12 decision over the quartet skipped by Dr. C. M. Lawrence. Down 5-0, the White men got a sixth end, then it grew into a 12-6 margin for Harry's hopefuls. But the Doc fought back to make it 12-all before the winning side got the million-dollar one. Queried on it today, Mr. White said: "Shucks, those things happen frequently in our club."

Drive Slows Up For TB Funds

Financial returns for the drive for $12,000 to fight TB in Peterborough city and county are coming in very slowly it was reported today and much greater effort will have to be put forward if the campaign is going to be a success. Richard Ward, treasurer of the fund, said receipts now total $3,702.

In its drive for funds, the association hopes to secure sufficient money to hold a mass survey of every man, woman and child in Peterborough city and county and purchase the necessary equipment whereby these surveys can be repeated. At present surveys are occasionally held and do not cover the entire population. A mass survey project as planned lowers the individual cost to the Association and at the same time makes it available free to every resident of the city and county.

Remember you can have TB and not know it so the only way to wipe out this scourge in Peterborough is by supporting the Peterborough city and county TB drive and send your donations to the treasurre, R. J. Ward, Bank of Commerce.

Laud Engineer For Report On County Roads

A bounty of $3 a pelt has been declared on foxes effective the first of the year it was decided on Thursday by the County Council.

Before the final figure for the bounty was reached there was much discussion as to the amount that should be paid. Reeve Charles Flynn and Deputy-Reeve Harry McIntyre moved that $5 be paid; Reeves W. W. Dawson and Melville Johnston cut this to $3, and Reeves James Gifford and Ross Harrison proposed $2.

"The counties should have got together on this subject," said Reeve Gifford, "I move that the bounty be the same as in Northumberland and Durham—$2.

Reeeve Flynn said it was unfair that hunters in Victoria County should get $5 a pelt while just across the line in Peterborough County, where the foxes are as numerous, they get less.

At first a majority could not be mustered for any of the three proposals but when the issue appeared to be deadlocked several of the Councillors decided on a compromise and the $3 bounty stood.

But that did not end the discussion. Details of identification, marking and storing had still to be worked out, and a two-man committee consisting of Warden James Humphries and Reeve Norman Wilson was appointed "to look into the matter."

The County Road Committee gave a comprehensive account of the year's activities and also a few recommendations.

In October the Committee made a tour of inspection of the roads and found their condition "very good." The report said: "several miles of ditching and grading were carried out and surfaced with pit run and crushed gravel, with the purpose of establishing adequate bases to carry traffic at all periods."

"Several miles of high road side fence rows were cut down, the material thus obtained used to raise the roadway together with an application of gravel in several instances. Both pit run and crushed gravel were applied."

The present ½ yard overhead loader at present used in feeding the gravel crusher has been judged not large enough for the job and the committee wants to sell it while it is still in good condition. A ¾ yard shovel of similar design has been ordered for delivery in the Spring.

Need 2 Bridges

At least two or more bridges should be built by Council every year, the committee recommends. During the past war the Stewart Hall Bridge was completed, work is continuing on the Cedar Lake Bridge and the Bensfort Bridge has had new piers constructed as well as bracing and a new laminated deck.

Elimination of an Asphodel bridge by a road diversion is proposed. It is known as Davidson's Bridge on the County Road between Lots 5 and 6, Concession 2 of Asphodel. The new road would be cut to the north of the present one and follow the north side of a creek there until it met County Road No. 9, just north of Steel's Bridge.

Present piers under this bridge are believed to be in such poor condition that they will have to be replaced soon in any case if the new road is not constructed. The superstructure is considered worthy of salvage and could be used eventually in another location.

The committee conceded that little has been accomplished in the control of roadside weeds in the County and "unhesitatingly recommends that this County should purchase some suitable type of weed spraying equipment for roadside weed spraying. Also recommended was the purchase of two tractors with mower attachments.

Chemong Bridge

Construction of the Chemong Causeway "is progressing favorably," said the report. By Dec. 8 the fill had reached a point 1420 feet east of the west pier, and 1200 feet from the east pier on the Smith side of the lake. The expenditure to Nov. 30, was $132,293 which was about the amount budgeted for, according to the committee.

All the committee's recommendations were passed by Council.

This year one of the County Road projects was to have been the elimination of three had jogs on the Villiers to Kenne Road. This was not accomplished said and road superintendent, because John D. Keen, county engineer of the slight dislocation in schedule caused by the change in County engineers during the middle of the year.

Mr. Keen promised Otonabee residents that this would be well up the priority list for next year.

Several Councillors rose to compliment Mr. Keen on the manner in which he has performed the duties of engineer and road superintendent since his appointment this past summer.

PCVS Pupils Will Not Be Allowed Time Off To Take Christmas Jobs, Principal Says

Collegiate students will not be allowed to leave school before December 22 in order to take pre-Christmas jobs. C. S. Browne, principal, said Thursday.

"During the war students were allowed to take positions in the stores and post offices to help ease the shortage of clerks. There are now enough clerks to help with the rush. The boys' and girls' education is far more important," said Mr. Browne.

On December 21 and 22 examinations will be held.

However, the same rule does not hold at St. Peter's High school. "Students only from the senior grades will be allowed to leave school before December 22. There are about 15 students going to work for a few days," Sister Lucretia, principal of St. Peter's High school, said.

Cattle Buyer Testifies Two Women Stole $940

Crown evidence that two girl hitch-hikers had stolen $940 from a Campbellford drover who picked them up on the Toronto highway last August was heard by a jury today. Cecile Taylor and Mary Outwater are charged together with stealing the money from Fred McArthur.

In his evidence, McArthur testified that the two accused women had been thumbing on the road near Oshawa. He picked them up. On the trip to Peterborough the trio stopped at Newcastle and Port Hope, where they drank beer.

Arriving in Peterborough, McArthur said he bought dinner for the women and obtained a bottle of liquor from a bootlegger, after more beer had been consumed.

The three then went to a summer establishment outside the city, said the witness. There, he registered himself under another name. He did not register the two accused, he said.

In the cabin, all three had some of the liquor to drink. McArthur said he went to bed about 11 o'clock. At that time, the two accused were still in the cabin and drinking. When McArthur awoke, about five o'clock in the morning, he said he was alone. Money in his wallet was gone as were 18 $50 bills which he had concealed in a boot left in the truck. That money had been from cattle sales in Toronto the previous day.

Under nearly 40 minutes cross-examination by defence counsel, W. B. Gordon, McArthur denied that he was "trying to form an intimate relationship with these girls." He also denied telling the accused Outwater that he would give her $1,000.

Denies Statements

McArthur also disagreed with Mr. Gordon's suggestion that he had told the girls that he was not married, that he boasted to them that he owned a heavy car and was wealthy.

Admitting that he made no objection to the women being in the cabin while he was in bed, he replied "I'm human like anybody else." He admitted that he had discussed dropping the charges with the accused in the crown attorney's office. He agreed that he had since visited the home of Miss Taylor's mother and had accepted a "friendly" bottle of beer with them there.

He denied having made certain statements at the preliminary hearing on the cases and denied having told the accused that night, "There's nothing to do here and we should go on a party."

Fred Dyer, 523 Romaine St., a city taxi driver, testified that he had driven the two accused from Peterborough to a Toronto hotel that night. His fares had called at the taxi office after midnight, he said, and before leaving had been driven to the cabin referred to, where he got a shopping bag of goods from a parked truck on their instructions.

Two detectives of the Toronto police department—Barry Lorimer and Aubrey Potter—testified that they had arrested the accused at the Toronto hotel the next morning. In their purses, they said, they found a total of $855.

Alleged statements of the accused to the Toronto officers at the time of arrest were ruled admissible by Judge Sheldon L. Smoke. They said the women told them they had taken the money "because the man was flashing it around and we figured we had better use for it than he had."

Provincial constables Joseph Hanson and Keith O'Shaughnessy testified that they had gone to Toronto to get the prisoners and the recovered money.

Members of the jury are: James B. Ellis, 482 Mark St.; Kenneth Campbell, 92 London St. William A. Cochrane, 547 Water St.; Mark C. Goodwin, Stewart St.; John S. Curtis, 13 Benson Ave.; Charles H. Huffman, 629 Charlotte St.; Lawrence Sanderson, Havelock; Leo W. Copp, 592 Waterford St.; O. W. Hurell, 476 Bolivar St.; Louis Brooks, 199 Dalhousie St.; Douglas Grant, 26 Armour Rd.; Allan Hayes, Otonabee Township.

Second Break-in Within 20 Days

It could be listed as a "90 per cent completed break-in." For the second time within 20 days, Glen's Lunch on King St. was the object of attention of a thief or thieves. This time nothing was taken and it was obvious from the scene this morning that the intruder was interrupted or frightened.

Two windows at the rear of the building were broken. The thief had managed to work his arms in through the space made and had lifted four boxes and other confectionary outside. They were found piled on the ground under the windows.

The break-in was discovered by Robert Fairs, the owner, at about 7:20. He told city police that he had left the place about 10:30 Thursday night.

Jack Wilson, chairman of the Soap Box Derby, informed the club of plans being made for the races in the summer of 1949.

Guests of the club at the meeting were L. H. Bird, Peterborough Public School teacher; Constables C. C. Holman and F. Oxholm, Winnipeg, members of the RCMP.

Bus Barn Deal Reviewed By Entire Council Aldermen Show Annoyance

The option of Irwin-Godson Limited to buy from Border Transit Limited the King St. property which they purchased from the city in 1946 was reviewed in detail to the council Thursday night by Frank Mitchell, president of the bus company. Irwin-Godson Ltd. have the local Ford agency at George and King Streets.

Transfer of the bus barn and land, on the north side of King St., west of George St., took place early in 1946 when the council sold the property to Border Transit Ltd. for $12,000.

Mayor Ovens, presiding in committee of the whole Thursday night, expressed resentment that the first intimation he had heard of the proposed sale by Border Transit was from two business men one morning early in November on his way to the City Hall.

Members of the council asserted in the discussion their understanding that, in the event of intention of the transportation company to sell the King St. property, the city would have a prior right of repurchase for the amount paid by Border Transit plus an adjustment of any expenditure in the meantime on its improvement.

The meeting adjourned on Mr. Mitchell's suggestion that he wished to have time to review his company's position in the light of the discussion of the option which was given until the end of next April.

Put In Option Clause

In presenting his side of the debate, Mr. Mitchell said he had written into the option a clause requiring that the proposed sale to Irwin-Godson "must first receive the approval of the City Council, if necessary."

He also said that the sum offered for the property was less than the $30,000 reported several weeks ago.

At the outset, Mr. Mitchell said the offer of purchase had come to him out of a clear sky. He had planned to come to Peterborough to discuss with the council other matters between the city and company which had been pending for a considerable time. He had made a hotel reservation here, but his brother, Lawrie Mitchell, local manager of the bus lines, was going hunting, and some members of the council were taking a similar holiday, and Mr. Mitchell cancelled the trip. He said he had given that information to Mayor Ovens by telephone at the time.

It transpired in the discussion that Mayor Ovens had telephoned Mr. Mitchell after hearing the street news of the proposed sale.

Previously to receiving the bid from Irwin-Godson, Mr. Mitchell said that on his last visit to Peterborough he had discussed with his brother the increasing difficulty of operating economically from the two barns, the one on King St., and the other on Hunter St., at the east end of the bride. Plans for modernizing the King St. barns involved an expenditure "to our amazement of around $75,000, and they would not have made room for one more bus. So, that was obviously silly."

"We wanted to put in a modern washing machine for our buses, and there were other improvements which we discussed between ourselves. Nothing was said about it outside, so the offer that was brought to me in Windsor was out of a clear sky."

Six new buses have recently been received by the company at a cost of $72,000, Mr. Mitchell said, and four 36-passenger buses are on order for delivery in February or March.

"Peterborough is growing in population, and we are trying to plan for your future, and are taking all the risks that may be involved in the future. I do not know any city in Ontario that is better equipped and served as to population than is Peterborough."

Admitted Council Helped

"I fully appreciate that when you sold us the King St. building you did it to help us in the service that we are giving. Under the new franchise agreement we undertook to provide a better service, and you leaned back to help us out. I think the council realized that as a public utility we were part and parcel of the city administration, to put it that way."

Mr. Mitchell said everybody agreed that a well operated transportation system was essential to Peterborough. That had been the ideal of his company for the last 21 years.

The company had paid a seat tax to the city. It amounted in 1943 to $2394, but by a new agreement substituting payment on the basis of the number of passengers the amount received by the city in five years ending November 30 last was $43,325. This year the company would pay the city between $9,000 and $10,000.

"Last spring you obtained through the private bills committee of the Legislature an extension of our franchise on condition that we put in certain additional services. But, until such time as our company was in a position to get the new equipment we needed and the building set up, we felt that we would be breaking faith with the city if we increased the fares as the agreement permitted.

British Pilots Have Proud Airlift Records

By JACK SMITH

BERLIN, Dec. 10 (Reuters).— British pilots flying the supply routes into Berlin are asking why it is that their part in the greatest peacetime air lift in history should be not only minimized but in some cases, disregarded entirely by newspapers in the United States.

Their record to date is a proud one. Between noon, June 28, when the first food carrying DC-4 took off from Wunsdorf in the British zone, and noon Thursday. RAF and British civil chartered aircraft flew 32,382 trips, covering 10,879,180 miles and carried 139,285 tons of supplies into the German capital.

Seven aircrew members have died.

These figures, both for accomplishment and loss of life, are only a third of the American total, but, taking into account the vast difference in the resources of the two countries, they represent the maximum effort.

Whereas Britain still is using a large number of twin-engined aircraft with only a 2½-ton capacity, the Americans are using four-engined Skymasters, each capable of carrying 10 tons.

A long list of gifts sent to the British pilots tells plainly of the appreciation of the Germans themselves for "Operation Plain Fare" as the British part of the air lift is officially known.

All except inexpensive gifts like flowers are returned with a note of thanks to the donor, but the resident's of Berlin' Western sectors and the Western zones of Germany continue to send presents every day in increasing numebrs.

Disabled Worker Program Asked

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—(CP). — The Canadian Welfare Council is pressing for a national rehabilitation program to put disabled workers back on the job.

R. E. G. Davis, executive director of the Council, said in an interview that an estimated 150,000 persons of working age in Canada are unable to get and hold jobs because of disabilities such as deafness, arthritis, epilepsy, or amputations.

"Their skills are going to waste and their personalities are deteriorating as a result of accident, illness, or congenital disabilities," he said.

Now, "when employment is at a high level," was the time to organize a national rehabilitation service which would include both physical and mental rehabilitation for this group, as well as vocational guidance and training.

While such rehabilitation services, as the Veterans' Affairs Department and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, already were in operation, the Council official said "only one-fifth" of this disabled group benefitted.

London Has Golden Boom In Musical Shows From U.S.

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Dec. 10.—(CP). — London's theatreland is experiencing a golden boom in musical shows. Fortunes are being made at the box offices and preparation of new productions is being slowed down because there's no room for them.

Because the west end stage is booked ahead for nearly two years with musical shows, the queue of new productions awaiting their turn is lengthening.

Sir Charles Cochran arrived back from New York after provisionally signing up a Broadway baritone (unnamed) for a new A. P. Herbert-Vivian Ellis operetta, which has King Edward VII's coronation as background. Book and music were completed months ago; but Cochran cannot stage the operetta until his "Bless the Bride" finishes its long run at the Adelphi.

Meanwhile, "Oklahoma" at Drury Lane Theatre reaches its 777th performance Dec. 28 — rapidly approaching the record set up by "Rose Marie" in the 20s with 851 performances. On Boxing Day "Oklahoma" will have been seen by more than 2,000,000 people, and by next April — with capacity houses showing no sign of diminishing— total receipts will be around £710,000 ($2,840,000) exclusive of entertainment tax.

Probable Successor

Most probable successor is Broadway's "Carousel" by the same team of writers, Hammerstein and Rodgers. Playing of the music from this show in Britain has been held up for a year and the ban looks like continuing for some time yet.

"Annie Get Your Gun" has been running 18 months at the Coliseum and receipts now total more than £500,000.

"Carrissima," which played to small houses at the Palace Theatre for the first few weeks, reaches its 300th performance Dec. 4. Advance bookings now total £10,000 ($40,000).

When the London Casino's forthcoming pantomime season is over it will have a spectacular revue presented by Tom Arnold and Emile Littler.

"Cage Me a Peacock," another gay musical show, has been moved from the Strand to the Cambridge Theatre to make room for rehearsals of "The Wizard of Oz," to be staged at the Strand during the Christmas pantomime season.

Found Not Guilty On 5 Drug Charges

CORNWALL, Dec. 10—(CP)— Dr. Elzear Emard, Cornwall physician, Thursday was found not guilty on five charges of illegal sale of narcotics. It was Dr. Emard's second trial on the charge. The jury deliberated 80 minutes.

At his first trial in June, a jury could not agree on a verdict.

During the current three-day trial the crown alleged that 1,100 tablets of morphine and heroin had been purchased from Dr. Emard last April at a cost of $550, paid in marked money. However, none of the marked money was recovered by the RCMP in searches of the doctor and his residence.

Sharp Exchanges Feature Assault Action

Found guilty by a jury of indecently assaulting an 11-year-old girl, Henry Ketchum of Warkworth, was fined $200 and $75 costs by Judge Sheldon L. Smoke Thursday afternoon. The 26-year-old accused, who is a farmer and lumberman, was given the alternative of 60 days in jail if the fine was not paid, an an additional 30 days if the cost were not paid.

The jury was absent a few minutes over the hour mark before bringing in its decision.

Judge Smoke congratulated them on the verdict, saying: "I don't see how you could have come to any other conclusion in this case.'

To the accused, he said: "I don't intend to lecture you. . . . I can only express the hope that you will be more careful of your actions in the future. I suggest that you change your ways."

The Crown's evidence in the case was that the accused—identified by the girl on whom the assault had been made—had met her and several other girls on last July 16 as they were berry-picking near their home at Lang. Taking them into the woods, where he promised to show them where there 'were lots of berries," the evidence was that he grabbed the girl and held her until the screams of the children and the approach of older girls caused him to leave hurriedly.

Defence evidence was given by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rafus of the River Road. They testified that they had visited the accused's farm on the day in question and that Kechum had left the farm, which is near Warkworth, shortly after 2 p.m. (Crown evidence placed the time of the assault at about 2.30). They also testified that Lang is about 24 miles from Warkworth and that roads had not been in good condition.

Main witness called by defence counsel Emmett Sheehy was Harry Goodell, an employee of Ketchum. He testified that he had been with the accused from two o'clock that afternoon until after six in the evening. Ketchum had "not been out of my sight" during that time, he said, and had never been more than 25 or 30 feet from him. He said there had been no encounters with any little girls.

Goodell also testified that the accused had been wearing a light blue uniform and a dark cap that afternoon. (This did not agree with the description of the man who had made the assault, as given by the girls called by the Crown. They said he was wearing dark clothes, and had no head covering).

Sure of Identity

Crown evidence heard by the jury and presiding Judge Sheldon L. Smoke was by the girl on whom the alleged assault was made, her younger sister, her mother and several other girls. On Wednesday afternoon, the girl was subjected to more than a half-hour of cross-examination by Mr. Sheehy. She maintained her identity of the accused in the box as the man who had assaulted her.

The story given by witnesses was that the girl, with her sister and several other girls, had gone berry-picking on July 16, in the afternoon. The girl said they were approached by "a man." He remarked that they didn't have many berries and that he could show them a place—in the woods—where they could get lots of berries.

It was in the woods, the girl testified, that the man he seized her and "stood me on my head." When the girl and her sister screamed, the man released her and left the woods.

Several other girls in the Lang area testified that they had met the 11-year-old witness crying as she left the woods and repeated the story of the assault.

Provincial constable Roy Feeley of Peterborough, who investigated, said that he contacted the accused at his farm near Warkworth. Ketchum denied anything about the case, he said. When he brought the accused back to Lang, he said the girl "was quite sure" that he was the man in the woods. He said that when the girl repeated her story in the presence of the accused that Ketchum had denied it and said: "She's crazy——she doesn't know what's she's talking about."

At one point in questioning the officer, Mr. Sheehy cut off an answer with: "Now, don't give me any theories of yours. My job is to get out the truth."

"That comment was quite unnecessary." His Honor told the counsel, "that happens to be the reason we're all here."

At another part, questioning one of the Lang girls to whom the story of the assault had been told, Mr. Sheehy said: " . . . I know you're anxious to hang him, but let's be fair to the accused . . ." The defence comment brought an objection from Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry

Following presentation of the crown evidence, a motion by the defence to have the case dismissed, was not granted by the Judge.

Members of the jury are: Bruce Aiken, 162 Andrews St; Bruce Bell, Smith Township; Richard E. Dawson, 530 Bonacord St; James Grey, Otonabee Township D'Arcy Carter, 134 Lock St; William A. Davern, 301 Maitland Ave; Harry Carter, 517 Romaine St; Lynn A. Callender, 505 Park St; Frank Baldwin, North Monaghan Township; William Beggs, 90 Lock St; Charles Whittington, Dummer; Edward E. Taylor Marriage Target For Gossips

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10 (AP)—Trigger-happy gossips again are rumoring a split in the Barbara Stanwyck-Robert Taylor marriage, and the actress is denying the reports for the upmteenth time.

The cause of these recurring rumors, Barbara reasons, is her penchant for changing houses like some women change their hair-dos.

"Bob and I planned to build a house a year ago," she explained on "The Lady Gambles" set. "But materials were so hard to get that we decided to buy the house we now live in.

"Sue and Alan Ladd started a house this fall and it will be finished in March without any trouble. So we decided to go ahead with the plans we already have. But we want to sell our present house before w start."

Barbara confessed that she has changed houses six times in their 10-year marriage, thereby creating at least six opportunities for the rumor mongers. "After a year in a house, I begin to get the urge for another change," she said.

This peculiar business relationship seems to be working well, although the father-son angle is sometimes forgotten.

"I go to his office and tell him I need 150 extras," said Pa Cummings. "Irving says I can get along with 50. I say, 'Get me those 150 extras or I'll sock you in the chin.' So I get along with 50."

Imports Of Canadian Cattle Do Little To Ease High Prices

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. — (CP).—Imports of Canadian beef cattle have done little to ease the high prices and shortages which plague United States housewives.

The Agriculture Department reported this week that 240,159 head of slaughter and feeder cattle entered from Canada between Aug. 16 and Nov. 24. August 16 was the date on which the Dominion ended a wartime embargo on cattle shipments to this country.

United States agriculture officials describe as "unusually large" the exports since that time. But housewives still are meat-hungry and pocket-poor. Their butcher bills still are 25 per cent. bigger than this time last year and 200 per cent. greater than meat costs in 1942.

Price Controls

Charles F. Brannan, secretary of Agriculture, says price controls would bring meat costs down. But, if controls remain off, he sees increased production of livestock as the consumer's only hope for relief.

"There's no mystery about the high price of meat," he says. "It's due to the premature death of the office of price administration. It beats me how anyone ever sold to the American people the idea that we had to scuttle price controls to bring prices down to reasonable level."

More Feed For Livestock

The Agriculture Department has predicted that the 1948 corn crop will be the biggest on record—and more corn means more and fatter cattle and hogs.

Many a butcher, farmer and economist claims there is no shortage at all, that Americans simply are eating more meat than ever before. They trace the situation back to the war years: the armed services' high meat ration, boosted civilian demands, soaring grain prices.

Buyers' Strike

There was a demonstration of consumer resistance late last summer. But the housewives' boycott was unorganized and it got nowhere. Buyers went back to their old habit of buying at whatever price was asked — and went right on complaining.

As long as the record demand continues, observers insist, so will the record price level—unless livestock production zooms to the point where stomachs are full and prices fall away.

Bus Barns

We could have collected $5,000 or $6,000 more, but everybody would have been asking where was the new equipment. We have continued to work with you. Four of our six new buses arrived several weeks ago, the two others since then. The larger buses will not be here until February or March."

Mr. Mitchell said his thinking in recent months had been fixed on the cost of operating two barns. The new one on Hunter St. would provide heated space at night, instead of having to leave the buses standing out on King St. as at present.

Plan to Spend $40,000

"It is true that the sale of the King St. barn would be at a profit, but not a five cent piece of it would go into our pockets. It would all go back into buildings. Our plans call for spending $40,000 to $50,000 at the new barn, and the people who want to buy the other one would spend $70,000 to $75,000 on the King St. property. So, the city would get new taxable property value amounting to around $125,000. The first year the new buildings were complete the city would bet in new taxes something like $3,000, depending on your tax rate."

For that reason of eventual income to the city, Mr. Mitchell suggested that "there should not be any great objected to the proposed sale". He said the company needed the new facilities of operating from one headquarters in Ashburnham.

It also needed the money from the sale of the King St. place "because we are in the red this year".

"You want a good service for Peterborough. We have bought new equipment, and I can tell you it is not easy to buy new buses. Let us modernize our plant as we need to do.

When we took over the King St. barn I honestly thought that it would do us. But, just look back to 1945-46 and see what development there has been in Peterborough, to say nothing of 1939, that neither you nor we expected for the postwar period. And we never have increased our fares. That is one thing we are proud of. We have absorbed a 100% increase in the cost of labor; 100 to 300% increase in the cost of parts, tires, increases in gas and oil, and we have absorbed it all.

Ald. Grant Miller said he understood the bylaw extending the franchise provided for the city having first opportunity to acquire the King St. property in the even of sale.

Mayor Ovens: "Yes, that is why it was put in."

The agreement between the city and company dated Jan. 1, 1944, provided in clause 17: "In the event of the company desiring to sell or transfer its stock, assets or property, the said company hereby agrees to give to the corporation a sole, irrevocable and exclusive first option to purchase all the assets and property of the company for a price or compensation to be agreed upon between the parties hereto."

Mr. Mitchell said the company's solicitor, Mr. T. J. Carley, KC, said the clause meant the company and its utility considered in its entirety and not in any of its parts. "Three or four buses were assets and property, but no one would raise the point that the city should have first option to buy them, or say that we can't sell an individual building."

Mayor Ovens recalled that the city has received an offer of $22,000 for the King St. place early in 1946. Mr. Mitchell's recollection was that the amount was $16,000. "And the vote of the council was not unanimous."

Considered Unfair

Ald. Raine: "The council at the time believed they were thinking of one building. We sold you the bus barn in the face of opposition, because we felt that it was for a public utility. Now you are attempting to sell the barns, and I think it will be at a substantial profit. I don't think that is fair and keeping faith."

"We had a provision for the city getting first offer to buy if the company decided to sell," Mayor Ovens. "That was a factor in the passing of the bylaw. We had plans for using the barn as a garage for our trucks if we got possession. When I heard about Irwin-Gordon, I certainly was upset."

Ald. Raine: "If we had known that two years later you were going to sell the property at a profit of $15,000 or $16,000, we wouldn't have sold it."

Mayor Ovens said the agreement was to buy the property or any part of thereof, but Mr. Mitchell said that it was not in the deed to that effect.

"The only reason I thought of selling," said Mr. Mitchell, "was because running the two barns was not economical. The business was getting top heavy. Then, when we got the offer, I put in the clause requiring your approval, so that there would be no thought of going over your heads. I think you must appreciate that fact. Your own solicitor says that a clause in your bylaw to buy back at $12,000 was withdrawn, and clause No. 17 of the 1944 agreement was substituted..

I want to repeat to the council that my first desire is to have the goodwill of the council and the people of Peterborough. I've always had it.

I'm not the aggressor in this thing. If you take that meaning of our discussion, I want to say that I don't mean it. The deal is not completed, and I gave my word it would not be completed until I could meet the council. But, I also wish to say that we can use every cent of the money. It is not going into our pockets if we get it."

Would Buy It Back

Ald. Grant Miller: "Mr. Mitchell talks about his company's needs. We are building a new hospital, and we share the same need. If we have an option to repurchase for $12,000 plus allowance for improvements to the property, I'd like to see the city exercise it, and I'm willing to move that we do so."

Ald. Raine: "Well, the problem is before us. It is an ethical matter that the provision in the agreement should be met."

Mr. Mitchell said that when the agreement was being made with the city, it was he who suggested a clause that would protect the city against the company selling to any person or company that was not acceptable to the city.

Mayor Ovens: "Some one should have told us at once you had the offer. It was after I heard the news on the street that I telephoned you about it."

Mr. Mitchell: "I'd have been here within two days after giving the option if my plan of coming here had gone through as I had intended."

Mr. Mitchell said Border Transit had given double the service that ever had been promised by the company or expected by the city. "We are even losing money on every special run we make. We have ten buses now more than are required in the new agreement."

Ald. Swanson said that if the council pressed for the maintenance of service at certain hours of the day there would be turmoil between the city and the company.

Mr. Mitchell: "Last year you asked us to put two buses on extra routes. You had petitions from residents, and we put the buses on those routes, and it is not easy to buy buses today."

Ald. Raine: "I was one of those who leaned back when we sold the property on condition it would be sold back to us if he wanted to buy it. I don't think we should subsidize your new building."

"I'm glad you mention that word subsidize," Mr. Mitchell said. "When the Hydro was going out of the transportation business in Peterborough they wanted you to subsidize them. Your mayor, Dr. Holloway, burned the telephone wires asking me to take over and operate. I said I wasn't interested in operating buses, that we were interested in a bus factory. But we agreed to operate until you got somebody else. My brother was just recovering from a long illness.

I asked him to go to Peterborough for six months. So, I'm here just by accident, and because your council begged us to come. I had never been in Peterborough before."

Ald. Swanston: "This isn't getting us anywhere. We don't know yet whether the property is for sale."

Ald. Swanston used the epithet "cold-blooded" in reference to Mr. Mitchell's proposed deal.

"I've never been cold-blooded with the council or with the public of Peterborough," Mr. Mitchell replied "I don't like that word. I have always been ready to give and take here. If I was cold-blooded I would not have put that condition in the option. I felt I had a moral obligation to the council, and I wrote that in."

No Direct Answer

Ald. Anglesey: "You say you are seeking the approval of the council. Are you prepared to sell?"

Mr. Mitchell: "I told your Mayor I'd never sign the deed until your council approves. We need twice the room we have on King St. and modern equipment."

Mr. Mitchell said that he had appreciated the co-operation of the people who use the buses. They had put up with conditions that could not be remedied because buses could not be bought during the war. Six new buses are now here, and what the company required was greater accommodation in a building that could be equipped with necessary facilities for repairing and cleaning and generally servicing the buses in an economical way.

"We have to plan our set up to meet the requirements of your growing city, and the financing of your transportation system falls on us," Mr. Mitchell said.

Council agreed to his proposal to defer action until Mr. Mitchell had an opportunity of further studying his company's position after hearing the views of the council.

Carl Northey, 21, of no fixed address, was charged today in Magistrate's Court with forging a total of 10 cheques in the Peterborough district earlier in the year. He did not plea and was remanded until Dec. 17. Acting Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked bail of $3,000.

Northey was brought from Guelph Reformatory where he is currently serving a sentence for stealing a bicycle. He was convicted and sentenced in Peterborough.

During January, February and March of this year it is alleged that he victimed 10 local people by forging seven family allowance cheques, two old age pension cheques and a bank cheque.

The largest sum was $67.50, and the total amounted to $229.50.

Parish Hall To Get A Clean-up

MARMORA, Dec. 10 (ENS).—Improvement of the Parish Hall was a subject for discussion at the Wednesday meeting of St. Paul's Laymen's Association. A committee, set up to investigate the matter further, was asked to make recommendations at the annual parish vestry meeting in January.

Officers were re-elected as follows: President, Clifford Watson; past president, Donald Robertson, and secretary-treasurer, Carl Whitemore.

The meeting opened with prayer led by Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie. A report of the recent meeting of the executive of the Diocesan Laymen's Association held in Kingston, was presented by C. R. Whitemore.

A sing-song was accompanied by Alexander Cunningham on the banjo. Past president W. J. Cottrell then introduced the guest speaker, L. Hamel Cooke, BA, principal of Havelock High School, who gave on informative talk on some ancient churches and cathedrals in England, including Tabworth Church, Wimborne and Sherborne Minsters, Christchurch Priory, St. Paul's Cathedral, and Westminster Abbey. The speaker referred to revivals in church attendance which had taken place during the last thousand years and to the periods of graceful architecture in England.

A vote of thanks to the speaker was offered by C. R. Whittemore.

The meeting closed with the benediction pronounced by Mr. Cooke, after which refreshemnts were served during a social half-hour.

Dental Need Great

The annual survey of the dental officer in three public schools of the city shows that about two-thirds of the pupils require treatment for their teeth. The schools are Prince of Wales, Queen Mary and Parkhill, where a total of 1,322 children were examined. Only 472 of these were listed as "OK" in a report submitted to the Board of Education Thursday night.

Propose Summer Theatre In the City For 10 Weeks

Peterborough may have a summer theatre for 10 weeks next year. First public announcement that such a project is being contemplated was given Thursday night. The Board of Education voted to rent the new auditorium at the Queen Mary School to a group of professional actors. Michael Saddler of New York and Toronto appeared before the board and outlined the plans of the acting company.

If the plans are completed, the program will probably start about the first of July. There will be a different play presented each week—10 productions in all. Most of them, said Mr. Saddler, will be good comedies, with several dramas as well.

"We believe, from talking with interested persons here, that such a summer theatre would prove a great attraction to the tourists visiting the area."

The same group is planning on opening for a winter season in Winnipeg, he said Most of the members of the cast are professional actors working in the United States whose homes are in Canada.

About the financial arrangements for the summer theatre in the city, he said: "We don't think that we will make any money on our opening year — we hope we will break even."

The plans call for six evening performances a week with a Wednesday matinee, if that is found feasible.

Mr. Saddler stressed that the board was not being asked for any monetary support. He said that the Chamber of Commerce would be approached for asssitance in a publicity campaign to bring the theatre enterprise to the attention of the tourists to the Kawartha vacation area this coming summer.

Asked what prices would be charged, he said that it is planned to charge from 80 cents to a dollar for all seats.

"This is in view of the fact that these days, the theatre seems to be beyond the reach of the man-in-the-street except through such organizations as this."

Mentioning that the new auditorium held less than 400 and that a weekly gate of from 1,800 to 2,000 was expected, G. W. Craw, member of the board, said that he did not feel the experiment was "too ambitious."

"It all depends on how the first few plays are received by the public. I think it will go over well." He termed the venture "a great experiment."

The board voted to rent the 10 weeks' engagement at a weekly rate of $80.

Schools Superintendent K. S. Wightman commented that "as an experiment, it would be advisable not to charge the standard rate of rental for their first year at least."

F. H Jobbitt of the board said that there might be the chance that the project "would be getting away from the original idea of the auditorium. It might be getting into the commercial aspect."

Superintendent Wightman said that he did not feel that objection valid in the summer, as the building would not likely be in use at any rate. Mr. Jobbitt added that the move might "run the danger of establishing a precedent."

A. Pitchford said that "it is of an educational nature, and if we are in a position to help them, I think we should."

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, chairman of the board, said that "the plan certainly sounds very interesting."

A. E. Borland asked if there would be any censorship of the play material to be presented.

"Yes—the audience," replied Mr. Craw.

Kinsmen Give $100 To Aid Civic Arena

An outline of amateur hockey on Thursday night was given to the Kinsmen Club by Frank Buckland, district convener of the OHA.

"Hockey to me is a sport which gives young fellows from 17-70 a means of occupying their minds and keeps them out of trouble," he said.

He briefly outlined the organization of amateur hockey, and stated that it all came under the jurisdiction of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association (CAHA).. The Ontario Hockey Association, he said, was made up of a number of hockey clubs while the Canadian Minor Hockey Association was a number of leagues.

"Through a lot of hard work by Dick Ouimet and his colleagues as well as the Service Club and the Legion we have developed a very successful minor hockey league," he said.

Mr. Buckland thanked the Kinsmen for the contribution they have made to hockey in this city, and then he stated that of 30 O. H. A. presidents since 1890, two have been from Peterborough —the late Percy Bond and Roland (Roly) Glover). And he reminded his audience that Mr. Glover was one of the six men who have been made life members of the OHA.

He explained the difficulties of defining what an amateur is these days. Delving into the history of hockey he said that, at one time players were employed from dawn to dusk and the amateur was the man whose father had lots of money so that he did not have to work.

But today, he said, it was no longer a case of "gentlemen versus players." The average worker has a 40-hour week and therefore has some leisure on his hands which he can use as he sees fit.

This change in the social status of the average worker was the thing that broke the back of the original conception of "amateurism," he stated.

The speaker claimed that a player should be re-imbursed for the period he has lost work, but he said that this was still considered illegal by some conceptions of amateurism.

He commented, "This does away with a lot of hypocrisy. We don't hold too sharply with the division between amateur and professional."

In order to cut down an indiscriminate raiding of young teams he said that before a Junior or Senior A team could take a player from the Minor Hockey Association a charge of $150 was levied and the money was turned back to the minor hockey clubs. And a maximum of two players could be taken from one team.

Four per cent of the funds go into a trust fund, said Mr. Buckland. And he explained that if a club drew on this source for financial assistance its expenses would be slashed to make up for it.

In conclusion he spoke of the Canadian Air Force Flyers which were chosen to represent the Dominion at thee Olympic games. During the time the Olympic hockey champions were in Europe, and particularly Czechoslovakia, he said they were constantly feted.

He quoted from an RCAF release that crowds were so large to see the Canadians play that police escorts were necessary to get the players through the throng of would-be spectators, and crowds of from 3,000 to 4,000 people gathered outside the arenas to catch a glimpse of them.

The speaker was introduced by Fred Ash and thanked by Stewart Munro. President Stanley Gilmore was in the chair. Two other guests well known in local sporting circles were Dick Ouimet, president of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association and Ed Reilly, president of the Peterborough Hockey Club.

Before the business meeting was closed $100 was granted toward financing the Civic Arena.

Because not all the tickets were in on time the Kinsmen draw was postponed to Dec. 16, at an executive meeting, it was announced.

Planning a Paramount Need City Council Is Reminded

Mr. James Dutton, chairman of the city planning committee, reminded the council in a letter Monday night that Peterborough's master plan with its program of improvements extending over a period of 30 years will require both funds and technical advice.

The program was laid down by town planning consultants as projects for the long term of 1946-76. "Expenditure of funds in lesser or greater amounts," Mr. Dutton wrote, "is entailed in the recommended works."

"A planning department should be set up to be of daily service to the mayor, the council, all departments of the city, and to the public in matters of planning and zoning. It should be closely allied with the planning board, and should keep all data pertinent to the various features of planning up to date in order that new ideas may be added when required in the interest and progress of the city.

Your board advises that in order to proceed with the program this department should be now set up.

Technical advice is now required to prepare (1) a road plan for the area surrounding the city so that development of sub-divisions will proceed in an orderly manner. The city is expanding beyond its road plan.

(2) To prepare estimates on the extension of Western Ave to Park Hill Rd.

(3) To prepare estimates of a new east-west artery from Water St. to Western Ave.

(4) To submit estimates and recommendations concerning off-street parking areas and metering practices.

(5) To assist in the preparation of estimates for such city projects as sites for a new market, railway crossings, etc.

This work must be done in order to proceed with the plan, and should be the primary responsibility of the department charged with it.

It is considered that this work could be initiated on a part time basis. Mr. R. H. Parsons or Mr. A. L. Killaly, or both might be enlisted to start this work.

The Dutton letter suggests a reference to what has taken place since the completion of the plan by Dr. E. G. Faludi and his assistants.

The master plan of the city has been accepted by the planning board, that was set up by the council, but it has not been accepted by the council to whom it was presented at a meeting of the board of works. Finally, when it is adopted by the council, it must receive the approval of the provincial government's new department of planning.

Neither has the proposed zonining bylaw been passed by the council. A major obstacle to the bylaw has been the necessity of providing every ratepayer with a copy of its proposals. That publicity measure entailed a large printing bill, so it was etimated, and the planning committee had considered as a kind of substitute the holding of public meetings throughout the city at which the scope of the bylaw could be explained and discussed.

It was expected that those meetings might be held in December, but it appears now that they will have to be deferred to the newe year.

Without the zoning bylaw, officially adopted and effective, the planning committee has had to appeal to the goodwill of citizens to comply with the bylaw, in their various projects, as if it were in effect. That is the only material benefit deriving from the planning and zoning enterprise as it was completed.

Planning of Peterborough, as it was conceived by the council several years ago, is a long term undertaking. At present it lacks determinate form and sanction.

Raps Dogfight In By-Election

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—(CP). — Solon Low, Social Credit leader, Thursday night deplored "the dogfight" he believed has developed [illegible] sizes that the political party machines in Canada are utterly bankrupt of ideas and sound, forward-looking policies."

In a political broadcast, he also said he was 'disappointed" over newspaper handling of a 'brawl' that occurred at a Richmond, Ont., nomination day debate. The debate was between candidates George Drew, Progressive Conservative; Eugene Forsey, CCF, and Nelson McCracken, Social Credit.

(George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and William Temple, CCF member of the Ontario Legislature for Toronto High Park, exchanged heated words there.)

Mr. Low lauded the "exemplary conduct' of Social Credit candidate Nelson McCracken at the Richmond meeting and said his candidature gave assurance that the issues would be discussed in "a courteous, impersonal and straightforward way" by at least oneone man.

Two Tugs Reach Harbor At Last

THORNBURY, Ont., Dec. 10.—(CP).—A rescue trip across Georgian Bay ended successfully with the arrival here Thursday of the tugs Gary M. and the Twin from Point au Baril.

The Gary M., owned and operated by Capt. William H. Oldfield, 84, went aground near Point au Baril in a fog last Saturday while heading for winter berth here. Crew members rowed seven miles to reach shore and telephone for help.

Capt. W. S. Oldfield, son of the owner of the Gary M., took the Twin out at once for the 70-mile run across the turbulent bay. Twenty-five foot waves which smashed over the bow made it necessary to travel at half-throttle and the trip took 12 hours.

Both tugs then found shelter and waited for the storm to abate.

Christmas Belts Are As Tight As Ever for People in Britain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 10—(CP)—In the way of drinks and children's toys, Christmas in most British homes this year will be on a jollier scale than for many years past. But food supplies generally will be no better than last year.

There will be no extra fats, no increases in the fresh meat ration and fewer turkeys because, as Food Minister John Strachey said, "we cannot afford to import turkeys from the Argentine."

Strachey said turkey imports would be lower—about 10,500 tons compared with 11,000 last year—but imports of other poultry had been increased from 5,500 to 8,000 tons. He also told housewives they could expect "more and better" Christmas puddings.

Except for an extra tea allocation of four ounces, Christmas food bonuses will be lower than in December 1947, with no extra meat apart from a double allocation of some processed meat and a little more tongue.

Comparatively figures are:—

	1948	1947
Sugar	8 ounces	1½ pounds
Candies	2 ounces	4 ounces
Tea	4 ounces	Nil
Fresh Meat	Nil	6d (10 cents) worth.

The food bonuses elicited a cynical poem from the Evening Standard:—

"Jolly Jack Strachey has done it again!
"Who says that Labor is slipping?
"Just wait till Christmas is over, and then
"He'll probaoly cut down on our dripping.

More Fruit Available

Meanwhile, there are abundant signs in the shops of more Christmas puddings, more nuts, more oranges, more apples, more apricots and—more drinks.

French and Australian wines are easy to get and there is plenty of gin and rum at controlled prices. Only whisky, still being exported on a large scale, is likely to be in short supply.

More canned fish is coming from Russia and South Africa. They have received orders for nearly 400,000 cases of salmon and crab.

An important feature of the Christmas food picture will be the distribution by local authorities of gift parcels from Canada and other Dominions. Australia is sending a special consignment of nearly 200,000 food parcels. Many more are being sent by private individuals in the United States and all Commonwealth countries.

"This will be the first real peacetime Christmas so far as toyshops are concerned," said Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, "Supplies are more plentiful, varied and of better quality than at any time since the war... Children are really coming into their own and not at the expense of exports."

One thing many Britons will go without this Christmas is the precious cigaret. There will be no extra supplies from manufacturers, so public demand will far outrun the number available. In consequence tobacconists expect a run on cigars.

Gates-Leslie Wedding At Hamilton

In the chapel of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Hamilton, an evening wedding took place last week uniting Gwynneth Joan Leslie and Kenneth Graham Gates. The bride is a daughter of Dr. Henry C. Leslie and the late Mrs. Leslie of Hamilton and the groom is a son of Mrs. A. B. Gates and the late Mr. Gates of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. G. Sunter of Toronto, and Mrs. John H. Leslie of Peterborough played the wedding music.

The bride wore a gown of ice blue brocaded satin with inset yoke of nylon and gloves of the same material as the dress. Her headdress was trimmed with tiny pink ostrich feathers with blue tulle and she was carrying pink carnations. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Anne Walker of Toronto who was gowned identically to the bride with a headdress trimmed with maroon and she carried Johanna Hill roses.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Murray Gates of Toronto, and the usher was the bride's brother, Dr. John H. Leslie of Peterborough.

A reception was held afterward at the bride's home. Assisting the bridal party in receiving the guests who numbered 35 were the bride's sister, Miss Florence Leslie in a black crepe dress and hat trimmed with blue ostrich feathers and the groom's mother, Mrs. A. B. Gates of Peterborough, dressed in brown crepe with bead trimming, brown hat with pink feather trim.

After a short trip the couple took up residence at 772 O'Connor Drive, Toronto. The bride's going-away outfit was a grey crepe dress, black hat with feathers, black accessories and a three quarter length grey kied coat.

The bride graduated in June from the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto.

Add An Apple

A tart, raw apple added to meat-ball mixture contributes both flavor and goodness; it also helps to extend a small quantity of meat. For an extra flavorful product, add to your favorite meatball recipe: one apple, cored but not pared, one medium onion and two stalks of celery, all put through the meat grinder.

Apple also improves the flavor of raisin sauce to be served with ham or tongue. Add a finely chopped raw apple along with the other ingredients and cook as usual.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Natural for Sons to Want To Break From Home Ties

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the mother of two sons who cause me a great deal of trouble. One is 23 years old and the other is 22. The one who is 23 married last month without my consent and has left me. My 22-year-old son is constantly threatening to leave home. What can I do?

Dorothy Dix

A DISTRACTED MOTHER

ANSWER: Let them go. That is what every mother has to do in the end, because it is the law of life. The young must cut their mother's apron strings and go into the world to seek their fortunes. They must live their own lives. They must stand on their own feet. They must make their own mistakes and have their own experiences. They must stumble and fall and hurt themselves, and get up and try it all over again.

And it is hard for mothers to accept this and to realize that their children are individual human beings, and that they get to be grownup man and women, entitled to lead their own lives. Mother would like to hold them by the hand and lead them about as if they were babies until they were old men and women themselves.

At 23 your son had a right to marry and leave you and set up his own home. Let him do it in peace and with your blessing, instead of making a row about it and alienating him and his wife from you.

And at 22 the other boy has a right to leave home if he so desires. Let him go and try his wings. If he is strong enough to fly, well and good. If he isn't, he will come back to the home nest humbled and chastened and content to stay in it and appreciate its softness.

Incompatible

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a business woman whose life and experience has always been in the business world and with business people. My father is a successful business man and the people I associate with dress and have the same habits that I have.

Now I have become engaged to a man wtho comes from a very humble class. His folks are careless in their manners and appearance. They have no interests outside of their homes and children. They seem perfectly happy, but the life they lead would drive me crazy.

Can there be snobbery in love? I love my sweetheart, but I just can't take his family. What shall I do?

ANSWER: I do not think that either you or the man would be happy if you married, because your habits of life are entirely different and they would bring you into continual conflict. You would always be trying to lift him to the higher life, an there is nothing a man resents so much as having his wife attempt to improve him. He is what his environment has made him and you would change him at your peril. Naturally, he loves his family and the way they live seems all right to him, so he would never understand why their manners and appearance offended your sensibilities.

Each of you will be happier if you marry in your own class, among the people who have the same tastes and background that you have.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a daughter 17 who is a good student and makes a fine record at school. She is very attractive and has many boy admirers. Do you think she is old enough to attend movies and go to school dances on Fridays and Saturdays?

Mrs. D. R.

ANSWER: Of course, a girl of 17 is old enough to have dates with nice boys as long as they do not interfere with her school work. A girl of 17 is as old and sophisticated now as a girl of 20 was in your day.

I think it is a great mistake to try to keep a girl from having any association with boys until after she has finished school or college. It makes her boy-conscious, and she is awkward and ill at ease with them, and she invariably idealizes them and thinks them romantic heroes to be worshipped, instead of just plain lads to be played with. There is no surer way of making a girl boy-crazy than to try to keep her away from them.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, December 11

A rather dangerous and tricky state of affairs is destined to come to a happy ending by the friendly intervention of those in influential positions, who may be graciously impressed by a brilliant idea, a clever proposition or even a flash of genius, clearing the way for conspicuous progress or surprising goals. It is a most propitious time for a decisive about-face, renewal of plans and programs, in which higher-ups may be disposed to be tolerant, understanding and generous. Makes changes quickly.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have the assurance of the pleasant and welcome breaking up of a difficult and distressing situation in which much sorrow and loss may be averted. This possibly by a bright plan or proposition of more than customary cleverness, which is destined to impress those in influential places. These may be readily influenced to supply the vital ways and means, financial and otherwise, for promoting a fresh or novel venture. Act quickly and dextrously for constructive results and new friendships.

A child born on this day is splendidly equipped for a progressive and impressive career, with much versatility, and also adaptability to secure friends and cooperation from high places.

Short Hair Styles Paris Inspired Can Be 'Glamored'

There is no notable difference between European women's hairdos and those on this continent, says Bernard Az Guro, a well known New York hair stylist, who has recently returned from a tour of Paris, Vienna and London. However, European women and their hairdressers suffer considerable discomfort for the sake of beauty. Their electricity is cut off two days a week and business is carried on even in the best salons by candlelight. The water must be heated in large caldrons and is treated as a very precious thing.

Mr. Guro advocates, in his Paris inspired hair stylings, that a short hairdo can be just as glamorous as the long hairdo and after the initial cut and set can be tended by oneself. Hair cut three inches short at the sides and five inches long at the back can be "glamored" for evening by combing the side hair into short waves and the back hair into chignon-effect curls. In another evening version the side hair is combed up and back with the back hair parted at the centre and brushed forward making soft curls over the ears.

With such feminine hair stylings no more need gentlemen bemoan the fact that along with the departure of long hair went glamor!

Fashion Flashes

HOLIDAY TIME always brings out pretty young dance dresses. Black net is used for a dress with a bouffant skirt, stiffened with horsehair and posed over a taffeta slip. A very wide emerald green satin sash at the slim waist There are tiny black sequins at the curved top of the strapless bodice.

THAT FAVORITE FABRIC, chiffon, appears at many evening events. Silk chiffon in navy makes the high waisted, gracefully full skirt of a beautiful evening frock. The brief Empire bodice is shirred above a curved midriff, the arch marked by a line of mauve sequins and rhinestones. Bodice and capelet are of pale mauve chiffon.

BE WARM and pretty as well. A comforting idea this winter is oval scooped-out neckline and long the wool jersey blouse with deep slim sleeves. Nice with an afternoon velvet skirt or with a long skirt for informal evening wear.

A WEAPON with which to combat the cold is a little weskit or a cardigan of moleskin. Lately we've seen some beauties in deep win red, dark green, dark purple as well as the original moleskin taupe. These little furs are nice for country house wear and particularly under cloth coats or a boxy jacket suit.

LOOKING FORWARD to spring through the perspective of winter resort fashions offers a good fashion preview. It looks like shantung will do a repeat, but in prints rather than solid montones. Peacock blue and white printed silk shantung is used for a nice resort get-up. The dress employs side shirring from bust to hip for a corselet effect, and it is worn under a fitted cutaway bolero with roll lapel.

THE GRAND MANNER describes the handling of the new gala gowns, designed for important balls and parties—gowns that owe their all to fabric and cut, not to trimming. Pure silk duchess satin in dove gray makes a gown which has its bosom and hem gathered and puffed in soft swags.

CREEPING-UP wastlines foretell the emergence of the Empire silhouette. This line is very marked in an after-noon-into-evening frock which has a very high-waisted, long, slim skirt of black wool above a brief top of pale mauve satin with deep, scooped-out neckline and puwfed sleeves

BACK INTEREST is very much in evidence in a smart afternoon frock of black silk crepe with long, tight sleeves and neckline that is very high in front and has a deep V in back.

THE DEMAND, say the shops, is for simple velvet hats, some with slanting brims, others of the cuffed brim type, marked by fine but simple feather fancies. The big velvet hat just dripping ostrich is something to look at but not to buy, it would seem.

NECKLINES MAKE headlines in fashion fields. A simple frock is made arresting by an utterly different neckline. We cite a simple, uncluttered, untirmmed afternoon frock of black taffeta that becomes an eye-stopper via its neckline. A high shawl collar follows the neckline to an off-shoulder plunge at one side only; the other shoulder is very much covered up.

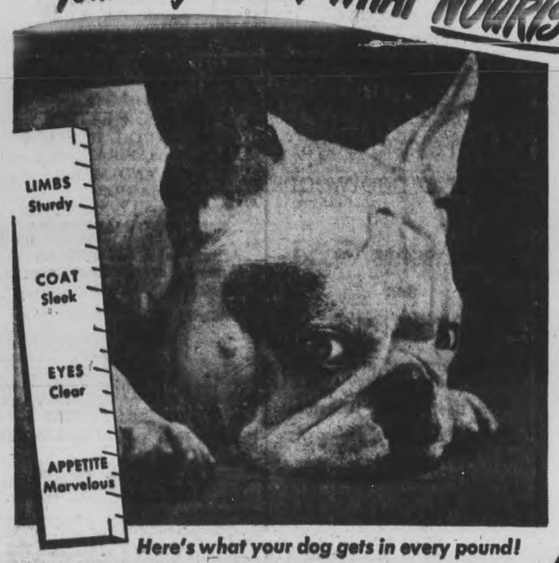
Your Dog Knows! WHAT NOURISHING EVERY INCH MEANS



Here's what your dog gets in every pound!

Proteins as in 1½ lbs. beef; carbohydrates as in 1½ quarts cooked oatmeal; fats as in 1 ounce butter; minerals as in 1¾ lbs. cheese; iron as in ¾ lb. beef liver. PLUS all the vitamins and minerals dogs are known to need.

A dog that's healthier, happier and more fun to be with

You can be an "expert" in caring for your dog. Just nourish every inch of him—feed him GAINES! Then he'll be happy, full of well-being—because GAINES is kennel-tested—biologically proved to be nutritionally complete.

You'll save money, too!

GAINES costs less to feed than any other type of dog food. It's ALL FOOD. Some other types of dog food contain 70% moisture. Why pay for water? Buy nourishment! Buy GAINES!

So easy to feed!

All you do is add water from the tap (or soup, milk or gravy if he likes it).

For variety, try GAINES KRUNCHON, which is GAINES Meal compressed into tasty bite-size pellets.

Wherever dog foods are sold
2-lb., 5-lb. and 25-lb. bags

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Nick's so crazy about golf he thinks missing links are lost golf courses."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

HIGH-LOW FOR SAFETY

ONE SIMPLE use of the high-low or come-on signal is seldom made by players of average skill. They give such an "echo" only when they have a positive reason for desiring a lead of the suit, as a direct means of producing a trick for the side. Advanced students of the signal also employ it for a very important negative reason. That is, to prevent the partner from switching to some other suit in which a lead by the defense may present a trick to the declarer. They could rather than one which will hurt the side.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♦	Pass	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl

When the diamond K was led, East without thinking put on the 2, as he saw that the repeat of the suit would cause the setting up of the queen in dummy—not for a discard, but for making East ruff and give South a chance to over-ruff him. More thought should have told East two reasons for playing the 8 and then the 2. One reason is that this would instantly prevent the diamond Q from being available later for giving South a discard.

The more important reason is that the high 8 would keep West from shifting to a suit which might present South with a trick.

Seeing the 2 on the first diamond, West shifted to his spade 2, and South got a gift trick with the J. He led the diamond 9 to the A, and the 7 came back to the Q, so that the ruff-and-over-ruff occurred anyway. The heart 7 was led to the K, heart 10 finessed, heart A and Q scored, also the spade A and K, so that South had eight tricks and a 2-Hearts.

If East had given the high-low 8 and 2 on the diamonds, the third diamond could have brought out the Q, the spade 8 and spade 10. This would have left East sure of one trick in trumps. That plus two in diamonds, three in clubs and one in spades would have produced a total of seven, setting the contract two tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

If South had overcalled in clubs and North eventually doubled 3-No Trumps, how should West play on winning the third club lead?

Hurl Heated Words In Debate At Acadia; End 3-Way Campaign

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N.S. Dec. 11—(CP)—Campaigning for Monday's federal Nova Scotia by-election virtually ended Friday, closing on a spirited note as two national party leaders exchanged heated words at Wolfeville.

Only scattered CCF meetings in rural areas remain to round out the three-cornered campaign for the Digby-Annapolis-Kings seat left vacant by the resignation of Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, former Liberal justice and finance minister.

President J. Watson Kirkconnell was called upon to restore order at Acadia University Friday when a joint-party meeting billed as "non-political" came close to blows.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and M. J. Coldwell, CCF chieftain, took up the argument dropped at a stormy joint meeting in the Ontario riding of Carleton earlier this week. The exchange which followed had the students howling and booing.

Mr. Drew, taking his turn on the speaker's podium after Mr. Coldwell, referred to the CCF as national socialist in character.

The fireworks started when Mr. Coldwell jumped to his feet, objected to the definition and tried to push Mr. Drew from the public address microphone.

"Liar" Heard

Comments of "liar" were heard as Mr. Drew refused to budge and the students howled.

Until Dr. Kirkconnel stepped between the angry men it looked as if they were ready to square off.

The students cheered as the university president said:

"I suggest that interpretations that would not be tolerated in the House of Commons should not be tolerated here.

Union Made In Ceremony At Ottawa

St. Laurent Predicts Greater Prosperity For Both Countries

OTTAWA, Dec. 11—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent predicted today that the advance towards "greater unity and prosperity" on the northern half of this continent will become "steadier and surer" with the entry of Newfoundland into the Canadian confederation.

"We believe that, with you, we have had the privilege of completing the structure of a 'union strong and great,'" he told the Newfoundland delegates in an address prepared for delivery upon the signing of the terms of union between the two countries.

The ceremony, concluding two months of negotiation, took place in the great, red-carpeted senate chamber.

Mr. St. Laurent reviewed the steps leading up to union—the preliminary negotiations in 1947, the Newfoundland plebiscite this summer, the talks now ended—and expressed his confidnce in the "United Future" of the two countries after the formal entry takes place next March 31.

But, at the same time, he warned that the task would not end there.

Can't Stand Still

"No nation can ever stand still. The fact that we are here is evidence of that. Newfoundland has felt the change of the times and the development of new factors in its political and economic life. Canada, too, has felt the force of change and development."

Speaking briefly in French, Mr. St. Laurent recalled that Canada is based on an equal partnership of two great races and said her people are confident that Newfoundland will join with

Ruling On Tuesday

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP).—The long-awaited Supreme Court ruling on the validity of the margarine ban will be handed down next Tuesday. The court held a three-day hearing early in October on the Federal legislation prohibiting importation, manufacture and sale of margarine in Canada. The ban has been in existence more than 60 years.

Negotiations On Indonesia Broken By Dutch

THE HAGUE, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Netherlands today announced breaking off of United Nations-sponsored negotiations with the Indonesian Republic and said it plans to proceed with the formation of an interim government for the other areas of Indonesia.

The Netherlands had proposed to set up a federal interim republic for all Indonesia by the end of this month.

In Batavia the Indonesia news agency Antara Friday quoted an Indonesian Republican communique as warning that the formation of an interim government of Indonesia without the republic would result in disaster.

The Netherlands delegation in Batavia has advised the U.N. good offices committee that further talks with the republic are useless unless the Jogjakarta government radically alters its viewpoint, a communique stated.

Accordingly it declared, The Netherlands will proceed with the institution of an interim government for the socalled "federal territories," said to include two-thirds of the territory of the islands.

Congress Investigators Prepared To Prove Charges Of Red Spy Ring

Will Release Secret Military Documents Destined For Russia From US Agents; Key Witnesses Face Committee Next Week

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP).—Congressional investigators prepared today to release a dozen of the secret papers which, they claim, prove that a Communist spy ring operated in the United States State Department a decade ago. Members of the un-American activities committee say that while the documents may appear innocent enough now, they mention military and diplomatic secrets which once would have been invaluable to Russia.

And they say the documents, scheduled for release tonight, would have enabled the Soviet Union to crack the codes in which American diplomatic messages were sent.

The 10 year-old papers came from a former Communist agent, Whittaker Chambers, who last week brought them out of a hiding place in a pumpkin shell on his nearby Maryland farm.

Got Them From Hiss

Chambers has testified under oath that he got some papers for relay to Moscow from Alger Hiss and Henry Julian Wadleigh, former State Department officials.

He has testified, too, that Mrs. Hiss copied some of the originals on a typewriter.

The committee's acting chairman Representative Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.), told reporters investigators have unearthed some "very good clues" about a typewriter. He said they have a good chance of locating some letters which would show whether they came from the same machine that produce copies of state department papers.

The committee set its next meeting for Monday noon. Whether it will be open or closed or if there will be any witnesses, was not known.

The house group had summoned Hiss and his brother, Donald, for questioning this morning. But it excused them until some time next week because a New York grand jury investigating espionage wants to question them.

Faction Opposes Union To Last Minute

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 11.—(CP).—A meeting sponsored by the Responsible Government League Friday night asked Governor Sir Gordon Macdonald to instruct Newfoundland delegates at Ottawa not to sign Confederation terms today.

League members said Sir Gordon had told them he could call a meeting "immediately to consider the matter."

Representatives of Canada and Newfoundland are scheduled to put the final touches to the Confederation terms at Ottawa today.

The Responsible Government League has waged a long battle against Confederation. The league spearheaded the campaign for responsible government before the national referendum was held, but Confederation won a slight majority.

Ontario Adopts Dominion's Labor Code

TORONTO, Dec. 11—(CP).—Labor Minister Daley of Ontario announced Friday that the province has adopted the Federal labor code as the province's Labor Relations Act.

However, all proceedings pending Dec. 9, 1948, under the 1944 and 1947 Labor Relations Acts will be disposed of under those Acts. After that, the present Ontario Labor Relations Board will be dissolved.

Under the new Act, the board will be reduced from seven to five mebbers. New members are P. M. Draper, chairman, W. J. Corbett, Russell Harvey, E. N. Davis, and D. B. Archer.

Mr. Daley said the new Act represented an effort by the Ontario Government to bring about uniform legislation on collective bargaining.

Canadian Congress of Labor officials Friday night criticized features of the new labor legislation.

Proposed Rate Changes Mean Drastic Cut - -CPR

OTTAWA, Dec. 11—(CP).—The Board of Transport Commissioners today had an estimate that removal of the "mountain differential" freight rate would shoot a hole in railway revenues equal to the take from a general two-per-cent. increase across the country. A Canadian Pacific railway officer told it Friday that the CPR would lose $2,589,000 a year through removal and that would call for a general two-per-cent. hoist to make up the deficiency.

The railways obtained a 21-per-cent. boost in freight rates last March. At present, they have an application before the board for another 20-per-cent. increase.

C. E. Jefferson, general traffic manager of the CPR, told the board Friday the loss of Mountain differential revenue would need a two-per-cent. jump in all Canadian rates if it were to be balanced in CPR revenues.

He was testifying as the board heard continued evidence in the British Columbia Government's application for removal of the Mountain scale, which is 1¼ times the Prairie level.

Civil Servant Accepted Bribes, Police Charge

OTTAWA, Dec. 11. —(CP). — Charles R. Roe of Ottawa, 42 year old former civil servant, was arrested Friday night on two charges of accepting bribes and violating his position of trust, police said.

He was released on posting bail of $2,000 cash and will appear in city police court today.

Police said Roe, a former employee of the Government's Emergency Import Control Division, was alleged to have accepted bribes — in one case amounting to $500—from Toronto and Montreal fruit and vegetable firms while in office.

Police believe the bribes were paid for the deliberate destruction of certain bills of sale, in order that notes of transaction would not be available to the treasury branch of the government.

Councillors Give $750 To Police Widows

MONTREAL, Dec. 11 —(CP)—The Christmas spirit moved into Montreal's city council Friday when 33 members chipped in $750 to provide a happier holiday season for the families of two murdered police constables.

The councillors were discussing pensions for the widows and children of Constables Paul Emile Duranleau and Nelson Paquin, slain last September in a gun battle with bank robbers. Council approved pensions of $50 a month to each of the two widows and $12.50 a month to each of the two young children but Councillor Marcel Lafaille and a group of supporters objected that no one could live "decently" on that much.

Britain, U.S. Drop Palestine Partition Plans

PARIS, Dec. 11—(CP)—Britain and the United States today agreed to drop any mention of partition or the Bernadotte report in the United Nations Plan for a Palestine peace.

By this action in the General Assembly they supported the proposals of Canada and six other countries.

As the General Assembly took up the Palestine problem on the final day of its Paris meeting, John Foster Dulles of the United States supported revisions proposed by the seven countries.

"The resolution may not be what any state would choose," he said. But "because we believe the means contemplated are basically sound, we support the resolution."

Hector McNeil of Britain said his country at first thought the Bernadotte report was a "sound and just basis" for a Holy Land settlement and still thought so.

But, he said, other countries objected to giving a conciliation commission such specific directives. He said Britain would yield to that position in the hope the resulting proposal would attract wide support.

Hon. L. B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister, appealed for support of the United Kingdom resolution on Palestine, as amended by the seven countries. Failure to do so, he said would encourage "violence, disorder and division" in the Holy Land.

The British resolution calls for setting up a three-power conciliation commission to attempt to bring the Arabs and Jews together on the question of boundaries, use of ports and airports and Arab refugees. It also calls for internationalization of Jerusalem and protection of the holy places.

Atlantic Defence Talks In Secret

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—A secrecy lid covers the Atlantic alliance talks but officials seemed confident today that the final defence pact will be ready for action in the United States Senate before spring.

Negotiators from seven countries are scheduled to get down to brass tacks Monday when the western European representatives are expected to present their proposals for the historic mutual aid agreement.

The diplomatic parleys, launched last July, were resumed late Friday after a three-month recess.

Their aim is a North Atlantic stronghold linking the United States and Canada to the defence ramparts being set up by the western European union of Britain, France, Belgium, The N[illegible]

Kingston Man Dies In Crash

KINGSTON, Dec. 11—(CP)—One man was killed and another seriously injured early today when their light delivery truck crashed into the rear of a parked transport on No. 2 highway, 7 miles east of Kingston.

Dead is Harry Simpson, 30, of Kingston.

Suffering multiple injuries is Ernest Harry Jarvis of Cataraqui.

Simpson died in hospital shortly after admission.

The truck, owned by the Kingston Music Co., was smashed to pieces in the crash. Police said the transport driver had flares out and that the vehicle was partly off the highway.

Hospital officials said the condition of Jarvis was extremely grave. There is almost no hope that he will survive.

Charge Two Youths Raped Janetville Girl

COBOURG, Dec. 11 (ENS). — Two Janetville youths, Murray Hill, age 16, and Morris Walter Walker, 18, appeared in Court on Friday on rape charges, and were remanded on $5,000 bail to appear in Port Hope Police Court on January 7. The two were arrested by Provincial Constables Don Nicol of Cobourg and Russell Pollard of Bowmanville following the investigation of an alleged assault on a 16-year-old Janetville girl.

It is alleged that the pair assaulted the girl near Janetville late on the night of December 4. The girl was taken to Lindsay Hospital and was released yesterday.

Milk Arbitrator Halts Hearings

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — (P)—Judge J. B. Moon Friday halted arbitration proceedings designed to set a price to be paid to milk producers in the Toronto area.

Chairman of the board arbitrating differences between producers and distributors, Judge Moon said he was unwilling to proceed with the hearing "until the situation is clarified."

At Thursday's annual meeting of the Toronto Milk Producers' Association it was suggested producers should withhold delivery of milk unless they were granted an increase.

Judge Moon suggested Friday that the producers' executive call a meeting of representatives of 15 districts in the Toronto area. If the results of this meeting were satisfactory he would reconvene the hearing.

Man 85 Still Missing

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — (CP) — The search for mising Irwin Hilliard, 85-year-old ex-schoolmaster of Toronto, went into its 18th day today with police announcing no more Boy Scouts will be used in the hunt.

Toronto and the suburbs have been searched thoroughly. Police believe Hilliard may have drowned, and dragging operations have been conducted in Lake Ontario.

African Chief, 6 Men To Die For Murder

MASERU, Basutoland, Dec. 11—(Reuters)—An African chief and six followers Friday were sentenced to death for a ritual murder at a graveyard near the chief's village. The court was told that the chief, Molomo Kori, had held a meeting near the graves below his village, demanding that a man or woman be killed. An ambushed native was then strangled.

May Ease Imports

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 — (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott will take under consideration Monday measures to ease import restrictions on United States goods, it was learned Friday night. A source said a list of commodities to be considered by the minister had been prepared. Most of these commodities, said the source, now are on the prohibited list and may be placed under quota.

Refugees Land in Canada Crossing in Crowded Ship

SYDNEY, N.S., Dec. 11—(P)—All the food they could eat and hopes for a brighter future faced 347 eastern European refugees here today after they arrived "in this free, democratic country of Canada" Friday from Gothenburg, Sweden, aboard a 700-ton converted minesweeper.

Captained by husky Linde August, 47-year-old Estonian, their co-operatively-owned craft made the voyage in three weeks. Most of those aboard—ranging in age between nine months and 82 years—are one-time political prisoners of the Russians.

Due to sail for Halifax today, they are the fifth and largest band to flee their homelands for Canada in the past four months. Other boatloads of Latvians, Estonians and Poles have landed at Quebec, Saint John, N.B., and Halifax. All have been admitted to the country after careful screening by immigration officers.

One of the escapees aboard the minesweeper Walnut was 28-year-old Valter Kousik who studied medicine at Dobetze University in Estonia.

"All we want in this free, democratic country of Canada is an opportunity to establish ourselves and follow the way of life of all good Canadians," he said.

Speaking fair English—many of them do—he said he would like to continue his medical studies.

About the treatment she received in her Soviet-dominated Poland, Helja Lang said: "If we got good treatment there do you think we would be here?"

The 60 children aboard the Walnut beamed with delight after their first sampling of ice cream, candy and cookies offered by a Sydney ship chandler and they ate in wide-eyed wonder as an abundance of good things were given them by dock workers and visitors to the pier.

3 Dead, Man Runs Amok With Gun

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 11 — (AP). — Three men were slain, police said today, apparently when one of them went berserk with a gun and set fire to two cabins in a remote canyon settlement 15 miles north of Palm Springs.

Two of the victims were identified as Max C. Salter and John A. Regal. Their bodies, both shot through the chest, were found near the ruined cabins. Body of the third victim, with a .38-calibre revolver beneath it, was discovered in the charred cabin of Henry Tolton. Burned beyond recognition, it was tentatively identified as that of Tolton.

Sheriff C. F. McCracken said Mrs. Regal told him that Tolton struck her Friday with a hammer, grazing her head, after inquiring the whereabouts of her husband. She ran to the cabin of a neighbor, Albert Wells, emerging a few moments later to find Tolton's cabin and another on fire.

Atom-Bomb Raid

PLYMOUTH, England, Dec. 11—(AP)—Britain tried out a mock atomic bomb for the first time today as a last ditch defence against an "invading" fleet in Royal Navy maneuvres.

The "atom bomb"—in reality a bundle of three flares which exploded with a flash of 9,000,000 candlepower—was dropped by an RAF Lancaster bomber on a navy task force 100 miles off the coast of Southern England.

German Proposal

BONN, Germany, Dec. 11—(AP)—German officials proposed Friday that the western allies relinquish all control over the British, United States and French zones except those directly concerned with the occupation. The proposals were contained in a resolution adopted by the main committee of the German parliamentary council drawing up a constitution here for the three western zones.

Ottawa Expropriation Plan

QUEBEC, Dec. 11 — (CP)—The Quebec government will give its support to municipalities and land-owners in the province opposed to turning over property to the federal government for the plan to improve Ottawa, Premier Duplessis said Friday.

The Quebec premier at a press conference contested the right of the federal government to carry out expropriation proceedings in Quebec territory as part of the plan to beautify the Canadian capital.

Premier Duplessis said the federal government has been acquiring property particularly in Hull, Que., for some time evidently in connection with landscape architect Jacques Greber's project for Ottawa.

"It is my duty to tell all interested, in friendly fashion, that the federal authorities have not the right to expropriate in Quebec, on Quebec territory, for the Greber plan.

"I hope I am understood," Premier Duplessis added. "I don't question the plan from an aesthetic or townplanning point of view. I don't say there is no way to come to agreement for the respect of federal and provincial rights.

"I simply wish" said the premier, "to bring to the attention of municipal corporations in Quebec and Quebec proprietors the rights they possess and the legitimate desire of Quebec authorities to collaborate for the respect of municipal autonomy and the safeguard of the rights of the Quebec population."

Premier Duplessis also said that while Quebec was represented on a committee that examined St. Lawrence power and waterways proposals the province is not committed to any definite plan.

The premier said he had glanced at newspaper reports of a recent statement by Transport Minister Chevrier on St. Lawrence plans and understood that there was question of "different projects . . . but there is no decision."

Convicts Cut Tunnel Almost Gain Freedom

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 11 (AP)—Officers of Washington State Prison grilled convicts today to single out the men who attempted a prison break that failed in a tunnel just 15 feet short of freedom.

Two men were captured Friday night by guards, who drove a tunnel of their own into prison courtyard, cut into the escape tunnel and found the convicts still shovelling their way toward the outside. Prison officials said as many as eight may have worked on the tunnel in shifts during the last six days.

The convicts had driven 70 feet under the prison buildings and were working under the hospital next to the prison walls when captured.

A routine inspection brought the tunnel to light.

Communists In China Lose Ground

Red Trap Not Working As Government Troops Push Line

NANKING, Dec. 11.—(AP). — Chinese Communists encircling the 12th army group gave ground on the south today before a spirited government column which is trying to open the jaws of the Communist trap.

The relief column is from the 6th army group. It is fighting north from the Hwai river and its anchor of Pengpu, 105 miles northwest of Nanking.

In the battle for North China, however, Communist pressure continued, prompting authorities in Peiping to proclaim that the city is facing a critical situation. Citizens were told to prepare for an emergency as the army prepared an escape route.

Harold K. Miuks of the Associated Press reported from the front northwest of Nanking that the 6th army group had won back a number of villages and now is fighting about 22 miles northwest of Pengpu.

There was no progress report on the three trapped army groups farther north. These groups, the 2nd, 13th and 16th, are trying to fight free of a second trap southwest of the abandoned base of Suchow.

A threat to the 6th's supply lint to Nanking has been erased, a spokesman for the Ministry of Communications said.

The Communists had cut the railway between Pengpu and Nanking at four points, he said, but repairs were made quickly. He blamed the raids to "small Communist bands."

There were no further reports on Communist attempts to cross the Hwai in greater force at a bend in the river 90 miles northwest of Nanking.

AN ANTI-COMMUNIST (left) gets in a final blow as a Red heckler is led away from a Social Democrat election rally. Police had to intervene when five Communist agitators were set upon by West Berliners with fists and umbrellas. The election saw more than 85 per cent of the eligible voters turn ou tin a rebuff to Russia.

With The Girl Guides

First enrolment of the season was a happy event for seven Tweenies in St. Andrew's Pack, as they wore their uniform for the first time and received shiny Brownie pins and Six badges. Many mothers were present to witness the ceremony, which included a glimpse in the "magic pool," followed by the grand howl. New Brownies are Amelia Baggs, Betty Turnbull, Margaret Lowry, Florrie Jean Hughes, Lorna Seabrooke, Patsy Jobe and Patsy Thirnbeck.

Service stars were later presented to Brownies who were enrolled at the same time last year and two years ago. On year stars were received by Sharon Hutchinson, Suzanne Huffman, Gail Bastale, Ellen Curtis and Marion Everett, while two-year stars went to Mary Elizabeth Collins, Lorraine and Patricia Gunn.

Brownies were pleased to welcome Patrol Leader Betty Jones of the Guide Company, who became their new pack leader, and junior assistant to Brown Owl. Betty, who was a Brownie herself a few years ago, will help to fill the gap left by the resignation of Mary Curtis, who was unable to continue her work with the pack since commencing a school teaching job in the country. Mary was tendered an affectionate farewell by the Brownies, who presented her with a gold compact.

Last week, with Christmas already in the air, tests were put aside and Christmas handicrafts were the order of the day. Gay red and green Christmas crackers and fancy lanterns were fashioned by the Brownies and proudly carried home. Final plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held on December 11th, when the newly formed Brownie pack from Curve Lake will be guests.

An impressive ceremony was conducted by St. Andrew's Guides recently, when five recruits were enrolled. The room was darkened and three gleaming candles, representing the three-fold promise of the Guides, shed a flickering light on solemn faces of the recruits. These new Guides, whose mothers were present to see them receive the Trefoil pin, are Marybeth Darling, Shirley Dobson, Marilyn Lister, Elizabeth Lowry and Sandra Duke. The first four gils were Brownies, and it is very gratifying to see them continuing in the older movement.

The annual Carol service, conducted by the Scouts and Cubs, is being held this year in George Street Sunday school, on Wednesday, Dec. 15, and the Scouts have very kindly invited Guides anud Brownies to join them. This is a wonderful opportunity for boys and grils to raise their voices in the beloved Christmas carols, and we urge them all to attend. The time is 7.30.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — (CP)— Produce prices on the spot market here today were quoted as follows:

Churning cream unchanged. No. 1, 74 cents fob; 78 delivered. Butter prints unchanged. First grade 70½; second grade 69½.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Dec. 11 — (CP)— The coarse grains futures market showed an easier tone, reflecting declines in Chicago grains on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Agriculture Minister Gardiner's statement on marketing legislation contributed to the hesitation in the trade and declines in price.

The major factor, however, was a weakness in Chicago grains. Local and commission house selling was evident. There was moderate shipper demand and some export buying in barley. The break in rye at Chicago brought out selling at Winnipeg, but there were minor recoveries in all grains when Chicago reversed the trend.

In the only export business reported, Belgium was credited with taking 50,000 bushels of Canadian barley.

Farm-Labor Conference Said Success

OTTAWA, Dec. 11.—(CP). — Officials of the sixth Dominion-Provincial farm labor conference were on their way back to provincial capitals today, after what officials here termed one of the most successful meetings since the war-born organization was set up in 1942.

During their two-day meeting, officials said, the Provincial and Dominion delegates saw more eye-to-eye on problems of the Dominion as a whole than ever before. The reciprocal farm labor agreement was set up originally to facilitate movement of farm labor to points where it is urgently needed on a seasonable basis.

Longer Agreements

The conference:

1. Approved in principle a Dominion proposal to extend the length of the agreement terms. Previously the agreement has been on a year-to-year basis. A longer term, it was decided, would assist in planning of a more stabilized, rather than shifting, farm labor population, anl result in more efficient farm labor.

2. Decided to explore the possibilities of obtaining more Polish war veterans for farm labor next year, from the 60,000 still in the United Kingdom.

3. Resolved to ask the Federal and Provincial governments to authorize the Dominion-Provincial farm labor service as the sole authority for obtaining and placing immigrant farm labor. Efforts of individual groups were welcomed, but their separate achievements made it difficult to assess and handle the whole immigrant farm labor field.

4. Moved to bring more families, rather than single persons, into Canada. It was decided to circularize Canada's 700,000 farmers to find out how many would be able to accommodate family groups.

them in upholding that distinctive character of the Canadian nation.

"Nowadays we are more apt to talk about Canadian citizens than British subjects; but the ideal has not changed. The foundations of our nationhood are, and will remain, mutual tolerance and equal partnership."

He said the next stage in Canada will be the submission of the agreement to parliament for approval. It also will require to be approved by the government of Newfoundland and confirmed by an act of the British parliament.

Problems Complex

In many ways, the problems now surmounted had been more difficult and more complex than those faced by the fathers of Confederation in 1867.

Government then was a simpler business than government today, and the economies of the British North American colonies of that day were more alike than were the economies of Newfoundland and Canada today.

"Marriage between adults of mature years requires greater adjustment and a broader tolerance of differences between the parties than does marriage between younger folk just starting to assume the responsibilities of life.

"So, too, with the union of mature countries. We may, I think, congratulate ourselves that we have successfully surmounted those difficulties in such a relatively short space of time."

Mutual Defence

Turning to the defensive implications of the agreement, Mr. St. Laurent said the entry of Newfoundland into the Confederation will be of mutual advantage to both parties.

"When, over 81 years ago, the plans for union of the British colonies of North America were being drafted, the problem of defence and security was in the minds of a good many people who favored union.

"The question of defence and security is very much in our minds again today. With Newfoundland forming the 10th provinceof Canada, I think that both we in Canada and you in Newfoundland will feel more secure that heretofore in this troubled world."

Withdraw Statements

At his suggestion, both Mr. Drew and Mr. Coldwell withdrew their heated statements.

Finance Minister Abbott, representing the Liberal party, clapped as the students cheered Dr. Kirkconnell's suggestion.

In his speech, Mr Abbott referred jocularly to the debate and both combatants joined in the smiles.

During the verbal tussle at the microphone Mr. Coldwell said he wanted "to have my say."

Shouted Mr. Drew: "Sit down."

Mr. Coldwell: "I won't sit down."

Looking at the audience, Mr. Drew said: This is the man who called me a liar." It wasn't clear when this charge had been made.

Mr. Coldwell said: "I didn't call him a liar."

Then Dr. Kirkconnell stepped in to assume his peace-making role.

Polling in the by-election will start Monday at 8 a.m. and end at 6 p.m. AST. Some 37,000 voters are eligible to cast ballots at 156 polls.

In the last contest Mr. Ilsley polled a majority of 4,575 over his Progressive Conservative opponent and about 13,000 more than the CCF contestant.

County Gives Wage Bonus To Jail Staff

A boost of $15 a month, cost-of-living bonus has beenn granted to the seven permanent employees at the Peterborough County Jail. Reeves Melville Johnston and Ernest Leeson of the County Council moved that the increase should become effective Dec. 1.

The county was informed that the increase in salaries was its own decision but that the Provincial Government grant of 25 per cent. covering all jail expenses would be proportionately increased.

Fire-fighting equipment as requested by the district forester at Lindsay was granted. The county clerk said that two pack pumps had already been purchased, but long-handled shovels and other apparatus were still necessary.

A request from the Department of Lands and Forests that that part of Methuen lying south of the South Lake Road should be excluded from the County Game Preserve was approved without dissent.

"I think it would be a good move," said W Griffith, Reeve of Belmont-Methuen.

Requests for financial assistance from St. John Ambulance Association, Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association and the United Emergency Fund for Britain were deferred until the new year.

Two agricultural scholarships of $100 each which can be used at Guelph or Kemptville were continued by the county. Applicants must be 18-20, and be judged on their aggregate score at the Exhibition.

How much of a filing system, estimated to cost more than $1,000, should be purchased for the County Court was left up to a special committee to decide.

A Wentworth county resolution was endorsed that stated the Dominion and Provincial Governments should bear the medical expenses of DP's until a year after their arrival.

Another resolution from Grey county requesting the Provincial Government to pay 50 per cent. instead of 25 per cent. of building costs on homes for the aged passed unanimously.

The local council also strongly supported a resolution from York county criticizing the right of an accused to choose a jury trial rather than a summary trial for some offences which were previously in the summary class.

Members said they believed this would be more expensive and that the local magistrates were capable of handling these offences in the previous manner.

A Welland county resolution requesting that the Municipal Act be changed so that Wardens, Reeves and Deputy Reeves should be considered ex-officio Justices of the Peace was endorsed.

Because of extra work performed the Suburban Area Roads Commissioners were granted an extra sum of $50; the county clerk $100; county clerk's assistant $50; county engineer's bookkeeper $75

Want Trout Season To Close July 31

Havelock and Belmont Fish and Game Association discussed the possibility of ending the brook trout season in Peterborough county on July 31 instead of Sept. 15 at the December meeting. When the creeks become low in August, large trout are easily caught, and it was felt that with three months trout fishing instead of four and a half, the trout would have a far better chance to increase. Trout caught in August have ben full of spawn, and if the season were shortened there would be a greater increase, they claimed.

A large number of members were in favor of opening the pickerel season on May 1 instead of May 15. When the duck season was discussed it was suggested that it might open and close two weeks later. This would give a chance at the northern ducks, whose flight usually comes after the season closes. As a result of the present arrangement there is a heavy toll of local ducks. Resort owners were very much in favor of the suggestions.

Wm. Barrie, the contractor responsible for Kosh dam, reported that the dam was now complete with stop logs. The water had raised considerably and could be raised to a level of four feet or more, if required. It was understood that the control of water through the dam would come under government supervision.

After the dam had been washed away many parts of Kosh lake became boggy. Now there will be good fishing and camping spots and navigation between Bass, Big Mountain and Lily lakes will be possible and will also provide ideal spawning grounds for maskinonge. The surveyor's report states that the lake proper will have more than 129 miles of shoreline. Mr. Barrie suggested setting aside the section of the lake now lying in the Park or Crown Game Reserve, for fishing and re-stocking reserve.

The Association decided to affiliate to the Federation of Anglers and Hunters.

A letter was received from the Kosh Lake Conservation Association, expressing thanks for a donation of $50 from the Association.

Widows Pensioned

MONTREAL, Dec. 11—(C.P.)—The pension proposed by Montreal's executive committee for the widows and children of two slain policemen brought such an outburst of criticism in city council Friday that an increase was promised. Sharp discussion arose over the proposal of $50 a month for the widows and $12.50 a month for each child. The two officers were slain during a bank holdup last September. Amount of the increase was not stated.

ERNST REUTER (right) shakes hands with Dr. Otto Suhr, president of Berlin's City Council, after the former's installation as the Lord Mayor of Berlin, on Tuesday. Berlin anti-Communists defiantly installed Reuter despite the refusal of the Russians to allow him to take the post when he was first elected in 1946. Reuter, elected to office in the Dec. 5 municipal voting, will serve out his first term and then start on his new term on Jan. 1.

Give Two Girls 18 Months In Reformatory

Cecile Taylor and Mary Outwater were each sentenced to 18 months in Mercer Reformatory Friday when a jury found them guilty of stealing $940 from Fred McArthur. Sentence was passed by Judge Sheldon L. Smoke, who is presiding at the General Sessions of the Peace.

Crown evidence given was that the two accused had been given a "lift" in McArthur's truck on the way from Toronto to Peterborough. McArthur said that he had invited them into two beverage rooms on the way to this city, where they all had some beer. Later, in Peterborough, they had eaten and again had some beer. Obtaining a bottle of bootleg whiskey, McArthur had taken the two to a tourist camp north of the city. In the cabin there, there had been more drinking.

About 11 o'clock, he went to sleep, leaving the two women still drinking. When he woke, about five o'clock the next morning, the accused and all his cash $940—had disappeared.

No evidence was given for the defence. Defence counsel W. B. Gordon told the jury "there is good reason to conclude that, to impress them, McArthur turned his money over to them." He said that he did not feel that "McArthur impressed you with his truthfulness—his evidence cannot be relied upon." He said the drover's actions had been "despicable, not the actions of a respectable married man."

V. J. McElderry, crown attorney, said that the evidence was "a sordid story—but the question in this case is whether the money was stolen. There is no evidence that they had any right to that money or that it had been given to them, as suggested by the defence."

In his charge to the jury, Judge Smoke gave his opinion that the had been given was "pretty far-defence theory that the money fetched."

The jury was absent 31 minutes in reaching its verdict.

Speaking to the question of sentence, Mr. Gordon repeated his assertion that McArthur "is at least 50 per cent to blame for this . . . he presented every opportunity to the girls to commit this crime."

The two accused stood with bowed heads while Judge Smoke addressed them before passing sentence. He rejected a defence appeal for suspended sentence saying that the crime was "too serious" to be dealt with in that manner. He told the accused that the maximum sentence which could be given was nine years.

"It is unfortunate that you should have allowed yourself to be carried away because of this large sum of money."

PARENTS!
These facts must be faced!

27 out of every 100 of our school children are undernourished!

A survey recently made by the Department of National Health and Welfare uncovered this shocking condition. The same survey revealed that an additional 23 out of every 100 children showed signs of probable malnutrition.

Such facts should place all parents on the alert!

Everywhere, mothers—and fathers—are concerned with the present high prices of food. The situation demands clear-headed thinking and prompt action.

If you would help your family to gain the greatest possible benefit . . . WATCH THEIR DAILY DIET! Correct nutrition is more than an abundance of bulky foods—it calls for right foods in the proper amounts—daily.

Today, many women, of necessity, are inclined to change their food-buying habits because of spiralling prices. Many have had to reduce their purchases of valuable protein food like meat. But they keep up protein values by combining reduced quantities of such foods with milk. For a few pennies, milk can add extra protein to many dishes to help make meals more nourishing.

An internationally recognized Professor of Nutrition makes this statement: "Milk contains the greatest assortment of nutritive substances of all single food materials, and constitutes the foundation upon which an adequate diet can most safely and most easily be constructed."

Remember! . . . for glowing health, every growing child should have 4 to 5 glasses of milk daily. This is true, even when your children enjoy all other nourishing foods.

The Labrador Iron

Geologists have known since 1893 that there was iron in Labrador and Ungava. In 1929, when it was possible to fly into the northern wilderness, prospectors found it abundant and rich. However, they were looking for gold, not iron. The region was considered too inaccessible ever to make iron mining profitable. The recent war and the probable depletion in ten years of the fabulous Lake Superior American Mesabi range (which now supplies as much as 70 per cent. of North America's iron needs) has changed the point of view.

By 1946 Mr. Jules Timmins had decided to explore the Hollinger concessions in Labrador for iron, not gold. A Hollinger and M. A. Hanna (Cleveland, Ohio) combination has a 20,000 square mile concession on the Newfoundland side of the Labrador border and 4,000 square miles on the Quebec side. By the end of November, vast deposits of 300,000,000 tons of high-grade ore were proved, and the drillers were not bothering about ore that was less than 55 per cent. iron content or lower than 250 feet from the surface. Nor has all of the area been tapped.

The Timmins-Hollinger combine is now going into production and spending $200,000,000 on it. By 1953 a minimum output of ten million tons of iron is expected annually. A new railways is being built to take the ore to the St. Lawrence, to Seven Islands 300 miles east of Quebec City. Seven Islands may become a year-round port, if ice-breakers are successful in keeping the lower St. Lawrence open. In a decade Seven Islands may be a thriving city.

What does this development mean to Canada? After Newfoundland joins the Canadian confederation, the entire district will be Canadian. Canada may become the largest iron-producer in the world, the arsenal of the western democracy should there be another war. An end could be put to our unfavourable balance of trade with the U.S.A., for most of the iron would be sold in the United States for American dollars. It seems that the enterprise is still in Canadian hands, for the Hanna group have only a forty per cent. financial interest in it. A most important question which Canadian industrialists and the Federal Government should consider with care is this: Must all the iron be exported to American steel mills; down the St. Lawrence to New England smelters, up the Great Lakes to Detroit and Chicago? Can we not have our own steel mills on the St. Lawrence, so that we can ship steel, not crude iron? There is no coal for smelting in the area, but there is an abundance of water-power.

The Indiscretion Of Dr. Graham

The medical profession is composed, in the main, of very discreet men; keeping secrets is part of their profession, and so is offering opinions only when opinions are asked for. It is surprising, therefore, to find that President Truman's personal physician, Dr. Wallace H. Graham, has expressed publicly the opinion that the approaching four years of Mr. Truman's presidency will cost Mr. Truman five years of life.

This appears to us to be a particularly foolish prediction. First of all, it will never be possible to judge whether Dr. Graham was right or not. Second, we doubt if any physician, however able, can base such a prediction upon anything but unprofessional guesswork. Third, we think that it is in bad taste for any man to presume upon a personal connection to make such a statement about another man's expectancy of life. Physicians in general will, we think, be shocked by Dr. Graham's pretensions.

Luckily, we think that Mr. Truman will disregard this prediction, though we shall not be surprised if we hear that he has changed his doctor. Mr. Truman has shown himself to be a man of superior mental stamina; he does not live his life or accept defeats upon patterns provided for him by wiseacres and guessers. As for the notion that public life shortens a man's span of years, it is pure bunk, and an instance from Canadian history can prove it. Did not our own Sir Charles Tupper campaign most vigorously at the age of seventy-four, and again at eighty? And did he not live to be ninety-four, happily denouncing the Liberals right up to the end? And in England, was not Gladstone Prime Minister at eighty-five?

We think that indiscreet doctors and insurance actuaries are far too ready to tell men when they should die, what they should weigh, and what they should eat. We are all bamboozled by popular nonsense about retirement ages, the unfavourable effects of worry, the iniquity of eating rich food, and the need for exercise. Nature has a wisdom of her own, and she tells every man, within reasonable limits, what is good for him. Wise doctors treat their patients as individuals, and not as units in a statistical pattern.

But as Dr. Graham seems to like predictions, we shall make one for his special benefit: his impudent guess about President Truman will lower him in the eyes of laymen and competent medical men alike.

The New Democracy

The Russians talk about their "New Democracy" and we westerners tend to scorn or ridicule it. It is foolish to do so, for the "New Democracy" has been an important ideological as well as political force during and since the war. Thousands of Europeans not behind the European curtain believe in it as fervently as millions took hope a generation ago from President Wilson's talk of a war to make the world safe for democracy.

There are interesting parallels between Wilson's pleading for democracy in 1916-20 and Stalin's in 1944-48. In the first war American democracy was represented as the way of hope, peace and happiness. The victory of 1918 came to be regarded commonly as the victory of democracy. The German Weimar republic was set up on American democratic lines; new states like Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Poland were created as democratic republics. Other states hastened to equip themselves with democratic constitutions. However, by 1938, no western powers were preaching democracy, until Russia was attacked. In 1941 Stalin broadcast that the Soviet war against Hitler "merged with the struggle of the people of Europe and America for independence and democratic liberty". It was only when Soviet Russia joined with Britain and the U.S.A. that the conferences of the great powers commended democracy to the world. By 1944 there were demands that the Italian Government should be "made more democratic", that the Polish Government be "re-organized on a broader democratic principle". This was the voice of Stalin. By 1945 Stalin has usurped Wilson's role as the champion of democracy. At the end of the war, new states were set up, and governments re-organized in eastern Europe on new "democratic" lines. This time it was not the American democratic impulse, but the Russian; proletarian democracy, not bourgeois democracy.

It is well not to underestimate the force of the ideology behind the "new democracy", nor to think that American social democracy and British political democracy are the only kinds of democracy that people can honestly believe in or that the world should tolerate.

Council Houses For Doctors And Dentists

The London County Council is among the more enlightened civic bodies in Christendom. A generation ago it began to concentrate its efforts on alleviating the conditions of the wage-earning people. Public baths, indoor plumbing, apartment blocks, technical schools, night classes, music and art exhibitions were provided. Slums were cleared and life became brighter for the wage-earners. Now there is a new underprivileged class: the so-called middle class of professional people, salaried employees and the like. War, taxation and, as British Tories say, the Labour Government, have brought them low. Now the London County Council is taking them under its care.

It is building housing blocks for doctors, dentists and people in managerial positions. The houses will be more spacious than those ordinarily built by the London County Council. They will have six or seven rooms with a kitchen, a bathroom and a garage. Five per cent. of the houses to be built in eight new projects will be of this type. Doctors, dentists and managers of local industries will be given first choice of tenancies.

The middle class people of Britain—sometimes referred to as the backbone of the country — have too long been gouged to the marrow and left emaciated by good Samaritans rushing to the working-class side of the road. It is time their welfare was considered not only in Britain but in other western nations.

Diary Of A Christmas Shopper

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: For a walk this evening. I particularly enjoy a stroll at night, and more than ever at this time of year when the air is damp and the smells of late Autumn are borne upon a base of mist, as in the most expensive perfumes the scent of flowers is borne upon a base of civet. And there is a sense of menace about this mild weather, too—a feeling that it may break, suddenly and violently, as Winter bears down upon us. Found myself repeating Osbert Sitwell's verses which end:

Is it Winter the Huntsman
Who gallops through his iron glades,
Cracking his cruel whip
To the gathering shades?

MONDAY: Which is the greater nuisance, I wonder—to fight a cold, or to yield to it? If one chooses to fight every daily task seems twice as difficult and precious minutes are wasted in useless self-pity: but if one goes to bed appointments have to be postponed, work piles up, and one suffers from a guilty conviction that if one were to summon up a little manhood one could hop out of bed and go about one's business. There is no psychologically comfortable way of dealing with a cold ....Fell asleep this evening in a chair while reading "The White Goddess" by Robert Graves; found myself in the grip of a nightmare in which the White Goddess herself approached with a hideous grin on her face, obviously intent on destroying me, and yet I could not open my jaws to shriek for help. This is what I get for reading books of mythology while I have a cold. Settled myself to the job of making a Christmas list, thinking that this would cheer me, but I was quite mistaken; I never know what other people would like to be given. All I can think of for gifts are articles of food, and for some idiotic reason there is a prejudice in Canada against giving food to people at Christmas. At last go sneezingly to bed.

TUESDAY: Business compells me to go to Toronto today. I dislike travel, and sometimes I think that those fellows in mythology who were chained to huge rocks for a thousand years didn't know their luck. They never had to go anywhere. What a lot of solid reading they must have been able to do!.... Business done I attempted some shopping; already the Christmas rush is intense. Heard an elevator-girl in one of the big stores call out desperately, "Does any Thing want to get out at this floor?" None of the Things who were crowded around her did. The candlelight in some of the shops during the hours when the power was off was pretty, but it made it more difficult than usual to see whether one was buying pearls or old false teeth. Finally got some chocolates for Uncle Fortunatus, who likes to take his after-lunch nap with a chocolate tucked in his cheek; it melts in approximately fifteen minutes, gags him, and wakes him up. A novel form of alarm clock. Also bought a toy embalming set for my niece Bellimperia; it had a nicely-made toy corpse, tiny coffin, little wreaths, and everything complete, and was recommended by the shop as a nice quiet game.

WEDNESDAY: To the movies tonight; they always cheer me when I have a cold although I expect that I spread germs in a thoroughly anti-social manner. The news-reel was another installment in the United States' long, passionate love-affair with itself; this is one serial which never ends. The film was "Anna Karenina", and I liked it greatly. Some girls sitting near me appeared to find it funny. Will any of them, I wonder, ever discover themselves in a situation comparable to that of the heroine? Often I look at women on the streets, or in restaurants, and wonder if anybody has ever loved them to distraction, or if they have ever wrecked a man's life. Most of them have not done so, of course, but a few must have lived out some passionate story, or will do so before they die. The curious thing, of course, is that it is by no means always the beautiful or attractive ones who have caused these upheavals. Little mousy women, or fat, cow-like women, have often inspired these ill-fated romances, driving men to suicide or murder, or simply to that living death which is worse than either. Statistical records show that women commit suicide rarely, as compared with men; are they more philosophic, or merely more stupid and unfeeling?

THURSDAY: I see that a family has died of carbon monoxide poisoning at a place called Ingomar, in Pennsylvania. Was the town named after the old play of "Ingomar" adapted by Maria Lovell from the German drama by Eligius Franz Joseph Munch-Bellinghausen, called "Der Sohn der Wildnis" which was popular from 1842 until the beginning of this century? "Ingomar" is such tripe that I wonder why the movies do not do a version of it. Ingomar is a wild man of the woods, who laughs a great deal until he meets a very civilized girl who quickly has him twining rose wreaths, working 16 hours a day as a farm hand, and eating cooked food. Then he stops laughing, and realizes that in Civilization Woman has the Upper Hand (a philosophy widely popular on this continent at the moment). A movie of this piece, with Bing Crosby as Ingomar (singing Boo-boo-boo instead of laughing) and Joan Fontaine as the Civilized Maiden should prove one of Hollywood's most successful boob-squeezers and I give them the idea free.

FRIDAY: Have sent back the toy embalming set which I bought for Bellimperia; a friend tells me that his little girl received one last Christmas and partly embalmed the family cat before she was discovered; the creature still walks with one stiff leg, and has a sepulchral miaow Shopping for a present for my Brother Fairchild I was offered a musical pourer, to be attached to bottles of booze; it plays "How Dry I Am" as it measures out a drink. Rejected this. All my life I have waged war on musical jugs, musical powder-boxes, and musical toilet-paper holders; I have known nervous types to seize up completely for a month after encountering one of the latter.

SATURDAY: To hear Susan Reed, the ballad singer, give a recital, and was ravished to hear a singer whose object was not to shriek her head off and who did not deport herself like an eighth-rate actress playing the part of Marie Antoinette. I know precisely what Coleridge meant when he wrote:

Nor cold, nor stern, my soul! yet I detest
These scented rooms, where, to a gaudy throng,
Heaves the proud harlot her distended breast
In intricacies of laborious song.
These feel not Music's genuine power, nor deign
To melt at Nature's passion-warbled plaint;
But when the long-breathed singer's uptrilled strain
Bursts in a squall, they gape for wonderment.

GOING IT THE HARD WAY

Pioneer Of Our Hymns

ISAAC WATTS, 1674-1748
By Sir Norman Birkett in The Sunday Times

WHEN Isaac Watts died on November 25, 1748, he was a great national figure. His 74 years of life had spanned the last quarter of the 17th century and the first half of the 18th; and those years had been full of great and stormy events. He had gained for himself an esteem that bordered on veneration, not only for his bearing throughout those troubled years, but for the contributions he had made to almost every phase of the national thought. But, 200 years after the event, I hope it is no disservice to his name and fame to say that he himself might have been "lost in following years" had it not been for one superlative achievement. The bi-centenary of his death is being observed throughout the world because he was, beyond all other things, a writer of hymns.

Some of those hymns have now become national possessions and are to be found in every hymn-book, and many of the lines have passed into our common speech. "Our God, our Help in Ages Past," as Watts wrote it and before John Wesley altered it, is perhaps the greatest hymn in the language. It is as familiar as the National Anthem. Time, moreover, has endowed it with that rare and moving quality which comes only from a very special kind of association. Our fathers, and our fathers' fathers, sang this hymn in times of national thanksgiving and national sorrow, and the memory of that association is now indissolubly joined with the familiar words.

Nothing like this can be said with truth of much of the other work of Watts, although some of it survived in popular esteem to days not very far distant from our own. The sermons, the disputations, the educational manuals, the philosophical treatises, the works of popular divinity, even the verses which gained him entrance to the "Lives of the Poets" and a Memoir from the pen of Southey—all these things, it must be sorrowfully admitted, have no longer a commanding place in the public regard.

The enduring fame of Watts rests very securely on the publication in 1707 of the "Hymns and Spiritual Songs," and particularly on the pieces "Compos'd on Divine Subjects." The success of that publication was immediate and complete. There had been nothing like it before, and although it cannot be said that there has been nothing like it since, for Charles Wesley followed where Watts has led, yet every subsequent writer of hymns, even the greatest of them, owes to Watts an incalculable debt.

He was the great and inspired pioneer. He triumphed over immense difficulties inseparable from that age—the character of the prevailing prose, the limitations of the existing metres, the backward state of the congregations which made it necessary to read out and sing the hymns line by line—and he yet produced what must now be regarded as the first modern hymn-book. In so doing, he gave to the singing of hymns the honoured place it holds today in the national life.

It must, of course, be acknowledged that many of the hymns are no longer suitable for public worship. This has too frequently been used in disparagement of Watts, but quite without justification. In some instances the theology has become obsolete, and in others the topical allusions are no longer apposite. They have become quaint or even grotesque to modern ears, and any such suggestion is completely fatal to the true purpose of a hymn.

Many of the hymns have a very special place in the affections of countless men and women. To some it is the remembrance of a great congregation singing the Forty-Sixth Psalm in the version of Watts at a time when the perils of the nation seemed to be overwhelming:

God is the refuge of His saints
When storms of sharp distress invade:

to others it is "When I survey the wondrous cross," perhaps the most moving of all the hymns, or "There is a land of pure delight," perhaps the most poetical, with its magical use of proper names in the third verse; or any one of the hymns made memorable by some personal experience or some very special association.

The good hymn need not, of course, be poetry, and very rarely is; but it must be written in simple words of plain meaning, it must have a good tune that people can sing, it must be religious, it must inspire and elevate, and it touches greatness when it is scriptural too. In all these essential things the hymns of Isaac Watts have stood the test of time, and it is wholly good to turn aside from the ordinary occupations of the day for a moment, to reflect with pside and thankfulness on the life and work of a great and noble man.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Preserve me, O God: for in thee do I put my trust....

The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot. (Ps. 16: 1, 5.)

Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heavens; and thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds.

Thy righteousness is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O Lord, thou preservest man and beast.

How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings....

O continue thy lovingkindness unto them that know thee; and thy righteousness to the upright in heart. (Ps. 36: 5-7, 10.)

As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied when I awake, with thy likeness. (Ps. 17: 15.)

Letter To The Editor

GREET OLD FRIENDS

Sir: Having resided in Peterborough several years before the War (II) and now residing at the address below in England, I would be very grateful if through the medium of your paper of which we used to be regular readers, you could re-establish contact with some of our old friends, whom we think still reside in Peterborough, especially Mrs. Jack Smith and family and believed to reside with her daughter Mrs. Spencer Hope, late of 533 Chamberlain Street. We would be pleased to hear from any of our old friends who remember us. Yours sincerely,

MR. AND MRS. FRED GALLON.
25 Heaton Terrace, North Shields,
Northumberland, England.

Unconsidered Trifles

Noticing that full-fashioned stockings were on sale in a large city store, a dignified, middle-aged man decided to get his wife a pair, but he soon found himself buffeted about by frantic women.

He stood it as long as he could, then, with head lowered and arms outstretched, he barged through the crowd.

"You there," yelled a shrill voice, "can't you act like a gentleman?"

"I've been acting like a gentleman for an hour," replied the man, still charging forward, "but from now on I'm going to act like a lady."

Any Other Suggestion?

Ottawa Journal: Says the Toronto Star: "The very fact....that it requires war preparations to maintain our present prosperity is not a comfortable thought. For it clearly suggests there are basic deficiencies in our present free enterprise system."

No suggestion at all of general war consequences, such as a world left in chaos, with international trade disrupted, and nations left too poor to buy our goods and pay cash for them?

And, if the Star's analysis and logic be right, with our present state suggesting "basic deficiencies" in our system, what is suggested by the far worse state of Britain, which is going in more and more for the system which the Star seems to like?

It was reported yesterday that Cardinal Griffin's speech about giving more attention to fathers made many fathers anxious to be the first to buy Cardinal Griffin a pint.

FAWNS HAVE NO SCENT. That belief is general among woodsmen and hunters although I think it has never been proven scientifically. From time to time I get letters from students of wild animal life, and hunters which indicate that this backwoods theory is not too well known among city people. When dogs start chasing deer in midsummer, it is not unusual for the doe to hide its fawn in the deep brush, then run off and lead the dogs from the fawn. It is a simple matter for the doe to lose the dogs if there are a few streams in the area. I have watched a farm collie sniff within six feet of a fawn and not find the little fellow. Certainly the lessons learned by these beautiful animals stay with them, because I stood within two feet of a fawn last July, and it didn't move a hair. It's neck was stretched flat to the ground, and the protective coloration of its body made it almost invisible. When I touched it with the toe of my shoe, it moved —and fast.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

HUNTERS IN many parts of Ontario report a marked scarcity of fawns. This is especially true of the Parry Sound area, where my brother hunts. His party got one deer among eight hunters, all experts. They believe the wolf population has reached a point where immediate action is imperative. In Peterborough county there were far too many fawns shot, in my opinion, but in some parts of the county, hunters say they didn't spot a single one. A few of the old-timers say snaring for wolves should be permitted with the confines of the Crown Game Preserve. I see nothing wrong with this, so long as the man setting the snares is an old trapper. If a novice tried it, then I'm sure he would be snaring deer. Snares set for wolves will take dogs too, but dogs have no business in the Preserve, and they can be as destructive as their cousins. I noticed too, that the County Council passed a motion on snaring. It read as if the motion made it law, but I think this can only go as recommendation to the Legislature for approval, and not become law from any move of the council.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

HUNTERS TELL ME the 30.30 is the finest deer gun known. I'm sorry but I disagree heartily with them. In fact in this modern day, I will admit the 30.30 is a good bush gun, but not tops as an all-round big game rifle. I prefer the 30.06, be it Springfield, Winchester, Remington or any other make. Each hunter has his own preference in rifles. Some like the bolt action, others the lever action, and still others the slide action. In a heavy calibre gun, a hunter gets the maximum protection in a bolt action, and the only other factor worthy of consideration, is the amount of time required to eject a cartridge and chamber a second one. With a bolt action it is difficult to do this without losing a bead on one's quarry, while with a lever action, it is a simple matter to keep your sights on the deer or bear and still eject shells. You don't agree, eh—well I didn't expect you to, because hunters are that way. In a 30.06 you can get loads varying from 80 grains to 300 grains to cover every phase of hunting "from mouse to moose". Few calibres have such a wide range of loads.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

A MARINE stayed at my place a few nights ago. He was a grand chap, but very nervous. At two in the morning, I heard him moving around and thought something was wrong. There was—he couldn't sleep. Then I got the story. We sat in the room smoking and this veteran, who had been wounded twice, shell-shocked by mortar fire, and cited for bravery served at Guadalcanal. He told me that for long periods he had trouble getting to sleep, and it seemed his war memories crowded in on him, whenever he became over-tired. As I listened he told me that in the far off jungle of flies, swamp, disease and Jap snipers, which was Gaudalcanal, many Marines got the habit of sleeping, sitting against trees. They would fold their arms across their chests, cradling their rifles, so that the barrels would be against their necks. This was a precaution because the Japs on their night raids often beheaded the Marines with one sweep of their Samurai swords. In the darkness, the rifle barrel saved many lives, the Marine said.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

I SUGGESTED that he prop himself upright in the bed with two pillows, then I took my shotgun, snapped off the stock and forearm piece and handed him the barrel. He cradled it in his arms, just the same as he would have handled the rifle, and the barrel was long enough to reach from his lap to above his ear. The cold steel along his neck must have felt good, because he grinned and said, "This may seem d—— foolish to you, but maybe it will put me to sleep". That was at 2.15 in the morning. At 2.45 I peeked into his room, and he was dead to the world, and believe it or not, that shotgun barrel was still tightly clutched against his neck.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

COUNTY COUNCILS are debating paying a bounty on foxes, and already two adjoining county groups have introduced the bonus. In Victoria county it is $5 and in Northumberland-Durham $2. Perhaps by the week-end, the Peterborough council will have also ordered payment of a bounty on these predators. Fur buyers report no demand for long-haired furs such as skunk, raccoon and red fox, and at this time of year, the pelts are blue and would not bring more than 80 cents or $1. Top price for prime pelts in midwinter of 1948 was $1.50 locally. A box of 12 guage shotgun shells costs $2.30 ranging up to $2.55, so a $2 bounty wouldn't even buy a box of shells. The farmers pay the taxes, and from reports in the district where chicken, turkey and goose losses have been heavy, I doubt if they would object to a bounty of $2.50. On the other hand it would hardly be fair for Victoria and Northumberland to pay bounties, and Peterborough to stay clear, because many pelts obtained in this county would be switched to the other counties for bounty payment.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

HERE'S A NEW ONE. Havelock Fish and Game Protective Association takes kindly to a suggestion that the speckled trout season be closed July 31. The claim is that many of the smaller streams almost dry up at that time in midsummer forcing the trout into the deep holes. Thus because food is scare and the trout are not able to range over a wide area, they are easily caught by anglers. Moreover the Havelock members say that trout have spawn in them at that time. All these claims are correct. The season for brown and speckled trout closes Sept. 15, and sometimes the trout are on the spawning beds before that time. The members believe that earlier closing of the season would not work any hardship on the anglers and would ensure that more adult trout would have a chance to spawn. The suggestion could be passed along to the Federation of Anglers as a recommendation.

HERE AND THERE: Just learned Peterborough county council passed a bounty of $3 on foxes....The boys shouldn't have any trouble bagging these pests, because I saw two cross the road between the city and Springville....Perhaps an organized Saturday afternoon hunt could be arranged by the Peterborough Fish and Game....Trappers report a good catch of mink in the district....Perhaps we should interject a bit of sarcasm and say the muskrat catch hasn't been too bad either....If the Government would put the chop on some of these fur buyers who don't ask any questions, and who forget that the open season on rats is in March, then perhaps the trappers would behave too....The heavy fox population will mean a decided drop in the partridge and rabbit hunting.

SCOTLAND LEADS the world in the manufacture of curling stone, in fact that is where all the curling stones are produced. This set of pictures shows the making of the curling stones at Mauchline, Ayrshire. The rough stones on their arrival from Ailsa Craig are (ABOVE) being matched. Turning the stone at (TOP RIGHT) and here we see the workman testing for its shape while in (LOWER RIGHT) the final process is fitting the handles to the curling stones.

World's Only Stock of Curling Stones Comes From Scottish Factory In Ayrshire

Reprinted From "The Weekly Scotsman"

Even if curling is not indigenous to Scotland—it has been suggested that it originated in the Low Countries—the game has certainly been established there for several centuries and it is to Scots enthusiasts that it owes its great development.

Scotland is, indeed, the official headquarters of the "roarin' game," for what the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews is to the ruleship of golf, the Royal Caledonian Club, founded in 1833, is to curling and curlers the world over. In another sense, too, the Scottish association with the "roarin' game" is not only supreme but unique, for it is an Ayrshire factory which produces the world's only stocks of curling stones today.

This factory is situated in the inland village of Mauchline, about 11 miles from Ayr, and the material from which it produces its famous curling stones is quarried from the rock of the island of Aisla Craig, in the estuary of the Firth of Clyde, distant ten miles from the Ayrshire coast.

To Scots, Aisla raig is known as "Paddy's Milestone"; to the Irish it has long been "Brian Boru's Big Stone" (a reference to King Brian Boroimhe, who flourished about A.D. 1000) and there is an old rhyming malediction:—

"Bad luck to the gosoon spalpeen,
Or Saxon idle drone,
Who would make filthy lucre
Out of Brian's blessed stone."

which, however, has not had any influence in deterring modern enterprise from utilising what might be called the chips from Brian's Big Stone to develop a prosperous industry in providing the curlers of many countries with the equipment needed for their great game.

It is not merely enterprise but often adventure, that goes to the quarrying of Ailsa Craig curling stones. For the borer who makes a hole to take the blasting charge frequently has to operate at a part of the rock which necessitates his being suspended by a rope down the quarry face.

The pieces blasted are carefully examined to ensure that only stone with a god straight run of vein and texture is selected, to be rough-hewn into flat, round blocks, 14 inches across, and seven inches thick, and weighing approximately 100 pounds each.

Paired in rough but discriminating fashion by the blockers, the stones are now toppled over on to the beach, loaded into a small rowing-boat, and thus transported to the bigger vessel lying offshore, which carries them to Girvan harbor, where they are railed to the factory at Mauchline, 40 miles away.

Mauchline has intimate associations with Robert Burns and Jean Armour; within its old kirkyard lie the remains of the Bard's infant children, and of "Holy Willie", Mary Morison, and others who figure in his works. It is not inappropriate to recall these associations of the only community making curling stones with the poet who wrote:

"When to the locks the curlers flock,
Wi' gleesome speed."

And, indeed, it is just round the corner from Poosie Nansie's famous hostelry, which Burns immortalised in "The Jolly Beggars", that you find the curling-stone works.

First stage after the stones from Ailsa Craig have arrived at Mauchline is matching them in pairs of the same color and texture—a task demanding much skill and experience, for, while stones are pretty much alike in general appearance, they vary in shades of color, and also in degree of hardness; and inequality in a pair of stones must be avoided if perfection of even satisfaction in playing is to be assured.

Having been matched — and some inevitably discarded in the process—each stone is chipped and hewn down to a size 12 pounds heavier than its finished weight.

Next comes the process of boring a hole exactly through the center of the stone in which to fix the handle.

Now the stone is turned in a lathe and reduced by means of a circular cutter to within 2 pounds of the final weight. Then comes the grinding process, and the formation of the cup and rim, done on a machine with a system of ingeniously arranged emery bricks.

The run is an important feature, for it is upon this that the stone travels on the ice and by which its play is controlled.

It was explained to me that the precisely positioned and proportioned rim is vital in this connection, especially on the faster ice which they have in Canada, and also, nowadays, on the indoor rinks of this country.

The stone is now within a few ounces of the required weight, and at this stage it is placed on a vertical shaft, operating at 700 revolutions a minute, for chucking and polishing.

Running water, carborendum stones, and a hone known as "Water on Ayr stone"—a stone with special properties found in the bed of the Rived Ayr a few miles from Mauchline and the production of which is in itself another unique industry—make up the polishing process, from which the stone emerges, glistening and beautiful.

Now it is passed to another room for the job of marking (with a diamond) and chiselling (with a toothed hammer) the "belt" round the outer circumference between the upper and lower surfaces. It is upon this "belt that the stone takes all the hard knocks its gets during play on he ice.

Finally, the holes already bored are countersunk square to receive the iron bolts to which the handles are affixed. Formerly the handles were mostly of ivory or bone, sometimes richly mounted in silver. Today, the handle is of plastic material, but in appearance and "feel" it compares well with the older materials.

Weight of curling stones vary. For example, a stone of 44 pounds weight, including the handle, is the maximum used by curlers for outdoor play in this country, but for indoors ice, 38 pounds to 40 pounds is the general run. In Canada the weights are from 38 to 42 pounds with 40 pounds a fair average. In pre-war years the curlers of Switzerland, Sweden and Austria favored stones of 34 pounds to 36 pounds weight, but now the orders are for heavier stones of 38 pounds to 40 pounds. Present-day prices, by the way, are about 8 pounds per pair, plus 33 1-3 per cent purchase tax.

Besides the countries just named, the United States, New Zealand, Poland, Czechoslovakia, the Black Forest country of Germany, and the French Alps were all regularly supplied with curling stones from this little factory at Mauchline before the war, and orders from the Continent have again come to hand. But the Mauchline firm's output, which runs to 2,000 pairs of stones a year, is fully booked for the next year or two by Canadian and American orders, and their European customers must wait meantime.

The Klondyke and Alaska are among the Mauchline firm's customers. One order in hand at the moment comes from romantically-named Yellowknife, well up in the remote, historic "Gold Rush" area of the North-West; another, for no fewer than 348 pairs, is from the Alberta Curling Association of Western Canada, where there are more curlers, and where curling is keener, than perhaps anywhere else in the world.

This unique Scottish industry is certainly flourishing. It would be capable of great expansion were labor more plentiful to quarry the stone of Ailsa Craig and world conditions more favorable. There would then be made possible additions to plant and machinery of the Mauchline factory, as well as to the ranks of its little band of skilled workers.

Most of the men have worked in the factory since boyhood. The dozen among them, septuagenarian David Brown, is still exercising the skill and craft with which he has been turning out curling stones for more than half a century. Long life to him, and to this Scottish village industry with world-wide ramifications.

Collis and Lockeys Take Colleens' Cage Victories

Two more close contests featured the Girls' Basketball League play last evening in the YWCA, with the Collis colleens pulling out a 15-10 victory over the Electrics, while Lock Co. eked out a 10-8 decision against the Normals. Play was tight throughout both speedy scraps and the fans enjoyed the close action all the way.

CGE and Collis were tied 4-4 at the half in a tussle marked by close checking and missed shots in the early stages. Collis turned it on hard in the last half to have an 11-6 edge and that gave them enough for the game. Neither side clicked too well on foul shots. Ruth Henderson, Mamie Sullivan and Bev Larmer went best for Collis, while Thelma DeCarlo, Marg Perrin and Betty Stewart stood out for the losers. The teams:

CGE—B. Stewart 2, M. Perrin 2, M. Kennedy 2, Marg. Perrin, T. DeCarlo 4, I. Scoteher, L. Schell, M. Barry.

Collis: M. McKee, R. Henderson 4, M. Sullivan 1, M. Honour 2, D. McNeeley 1, M. Beggs 3, R. Beard 2, E. McIlhagga, A. Metheral 2, B. Larmer.

Second Game

The first half of the second game was tied, this time by a 4-all count, also. Lock Co. missed five free throws and Normals four. But two free throws that were good gave Lockeys their margin in the nip-and-tuck second stanza as both sides checked hard and fought all the way. Lock Co. had nine free tosses to eight for the other side. Joan Paterson, Jean Johnson and Yvonne Harvey shone for the victors, with M. Smith, V. Jameson and J. Abernethy best for Normals. The teams:

Normals: M. Bayne, F. Bate, L. O'Neill, M. Brown, R. Wilkinson, N. McCurdy, V. Jameson 3, J. Abernethy 1, M. Hircock, R. Lytle, M. Pearse, M. Smith 4.

Lock Co.: J. Johnson, B. McIlwain 4, Y. Harvey 2, J. Nelson, D. Jackson, B. Holmes, J. McIntyre, J. Paterson 4.

Limping Leafs Meet Bruins This Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs are pinning their hopes of National League playoffs on their two-game series with Boston's first-place Bruins this week-nd.

Bossman Conny Smythe admits the world's champions will have a "tough time getting back into a playoff position" if they don't pick up some points in the home-and-home series.

Chicago and Montreal, Detroit and New York will also square off in home-and-home clashes and every club in the league is hungry for wins.

Boston currently tops the circuit by a single point over Detroit Red Wings, who seem to have found new life since left winger Ted Lindsay came back from injuries.

Chicago and Montreal will be fighting for third place, with the Hawks now holding a one-point edge. The Rangers, six points back of Toronto in the cellar, need the points to save themselves from oblivion.

Making his NHL debut will be the Rangers $60,000-plus defenceman, Allan Stanley, bought from Providence Reds in the biggest deal in Rangers history.

Canadiens will be going into action for the first time this season with forwards Jacques Locas, injured in pre-season training. He'll line up with Ken Mosdel and Bobby Filion. Glen Harmon, defenceman injured against New York last week, is expected back in action.

Torontonians felt a bit hurt when the Bruins rolled out for workouts. Five Toronto boys—Ed Harrison, Paul Ronty, Jimmy Crawford, Ed Sandford and Murray Henderson — were wearing Boston uniforms.

Sandford will play tonight despite a sore ankle but veteran Milt Schmidt still is on the injury list with torn chest ligaments.

Curling News

By Herb Martin

It seems now that no matter what night you drop into the rink, 7:00 o'clock draw or 9:00 o'clock draw, you can depend upon it you will see good curling on any or all of the seven sheets of ice, last night was no exception.

Jack Pirie, pinch-hitting for H. Clegg, tried to pull the game out of the fire on the last end with a big 6 but was just a little too far down, finishing on the short end 14-11 to H. Baptie.

C. Blewett and D. Miller had a real tussle, David finishing four up.

C. Sootheran won the hard way—an extra end—over A. Clark. This was a fine game.

C. Mowry was down five to J. Lowes. Some real nice curling in this game.

I. Moore just managed to hang on long enough to win from M. Hardill by one point.

The veteran J. McDermid defeated another veteran, D. Charlton by 11-4. These two boys have been playing against one another for years. We don't know who is up on the round, but imagine it would be fairly even.

Tonight's mixed bonspiel at 7:45.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The tall boys who hoop a bouncey ball so handily hold forth at the Collegiate gym this eevning in a double-header. Two promising exhibitions on tap, starting at seven. Toronto Harbor Hoopsters—a new intermerdiate club this season, led by playing coach Bob Butler—tackle the Marines "B" men in the opener. At 8.15, Frank Tyndall's senior Queen's cagers of Kingston go against Al Clark's classy Marines "A" crew. Plenty of basketball action likely in both these numbers, and no doubt a goodly gallery on hand to view proceedings. The hoop season is really swinging into high gear now as the players approach mid-winter form.

With some $23,000 raised of their $26,000 objective, the new Lakefield arena project is assured for this winter. Work is progressing rapidly and puck fans in Greater Peterborough's largest suburb will be seeing lots of hockey action right shortly. In the Trent Valley League and in other competition. The village, with a population of 1400 to 1500, did a splendid job on raising this money and all contributors may well be proud of themselves. They've not only invested in a fine community centre but they've invested in youth, entertainment and health for a large number. It's a big arena for the size of the place, and our congratulations to them.

Doesn't Time Fly?

Just 15 years ago this week—how time flies—Irvin (Ace) Bailey, once of the Petes, was critically injured in an NHL game in Boston. Bowled over from behind by Eddie Shore of the Bruins, the Leaf star struck his head hard on the ice. Looked for quite a time as if he wouldn't live, but a delicate brain operation in boston saved his life—though he never played hockey again. Coaches the Varsity seniors now. We're reminded of this by a Kitchener item after a talk with Ald. George Hainsworth of that city. It says:

* * * * * *

"Hainsworth was in the Toronto goal that night and had a good view of what happened, since the mishap occurred in the Toronto zone. Hainsworth states the cause of the accident was a bodycheck by King Clancy of the Leafs. Clancy checked Shore as he led a rush in Toronto territory, upsetting the Bruin player who skidded into the boards. Clancy grabbed the puck and started up the ice. When Shore got his head cleared, the only man he could spot anywhere near him was Bailey, who was filling Clancy's vacant spot at the blueline while the Toronto defenceman was leading a rush. Shore thought Bailey was the man who upset him, Hainsworth declares, and he went over and checked Bailey."

Locals Not Enough

St. Kitts' scribe disagrees with George Panter's remark at the OHA annual that "today, strictly local talent is not enough." The scribe, who seldom menions George Sullivan or other imports on the St. Catharines good junior "A" team, is strong for home talent. As who isn't? Certainly it would be nice to come up with a homebrew championship club in any sport, but it can rarely be done in stiff inter-city competition. Big league ball and NHL hockey sees huge crowds attending games where few, if any, of the players are natives of that particular town. Nor did the importing of a number of OLA senior "B" players the past two seasons hurt local lacrosse crowds. Fans want to see good games first, it seems.

* * * * * *

For years now, here and abroad, we've been getting large Peterborough followings for senior "B" or intermediate "A" hockey. To see Honey Tompkins, Joe Blewett, Don Crowe and others play. Or Bob Greenlaw, Bill Crowley, Johnny Godfrey, the Nicholls and some more. Good, exciting hockey and these chaps all appear to be Peterborough boys. Some of them are now, but none of those mentioned here are natives of the city. Yet you soon forget that, don't you? Honey hails from the Belleville area, Joe comes from Lakefield, Don from Toronto, Bob from Perth, Bill out west, Johnny up from a U.S. session and previously from the north, the Nicholls from 'Caygeon, and so on. All brought here to play hockey.

* * * * * *

If They're Better

Yes, we want to bring on our own kids in these games, by all means, but if we can't get enough good ones to compete with other places—well, then, some imports are needed. Don't forget that we lose good local talent each year to other cities. Better jobs, more money, or a better chance at pro play offered. We shouldn't bring in more imports than are necessary and we should be certain they're better than local talent left off our teams, but fans want good quality play primarily. They won't support a poor team. We might add that most of our imported athletes have proven fine fellows and good citizens.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Golf Association Friday named Phil Farley of Toronto, Ontario aamteur champion, as the province's No. 1 ranking amateur golf player.

Second among the top 10 rankings announced was Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Metropolitan Golf Association champion. Hamilton's Joe Stoddard, runner-up to Frank Stranahan in the Canadian amateur, ranked third.

Other rankings in order were: Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener, Gil Walker, London, Don Varey, Brantford, Bob Fair, Toronto, Emerson Creed, Barrie, Bruce Dorman, Hamilton, and Ernie Bentley, Weston.

Walter Polski's curling foursome from Virginia, Minn., lost out Friday in a bid to continue as the lone undefeated rink in Portage La Prairie's $15,000 bonspiel. They dropped a 14-2 decision to Howard Wood of Winnipeg in the opening draw of the round-robin competition leading to the bonspiel's major prize of four automobiles.

Polski previously had climaxed a string of seven wins by taking the bonspiel's No. 1 event, one of three preliminary competitions. Rinks reaching the fours in these competitions qualified for the main event, entering one of two six-rink groups.

Hank Goldup, veteran left-winger who saw service with Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Americans in the National League, has been reinstated as a amateur and will line up with Shawinigan Falls Cataracts when they meet the Olympics in a Quebec Senior Hockey League game in Boston on Sunday night, it was announced at Shawinigan Falls on Friday night. Goldup started this season with Springfield Indians of the American League.

A new trophy has been donated for annual competition in the Ontario Rugby Football Union junior series, it was announced Friday night at Kitchener. The former trophy, won last year by Assumption College of Windsor, was lost between seasons.

Del Bissonette Gives Pitchers Real Workout

WINTHROP, Me., Dec. 11 (AP)—Memo to Toronto pitchers: You're in for a real workout when you report to Del Bissonette in the Spring.

The new Maple Leafs' manager insists that each hurler be a fifth infielder when he's on the mound. To that end he trains 'em long and hard.

Delphia Louis—he's of French-Canadian descent—is no Johnny-come-lately manager.

His 26 years in organized ball include nine at the helm of minor league clubs and part of one season as pilot of the Boston Braves.

As a player, he served with Buffalo, Montreal and Baltimore of the triple-A International circuit.

For the last two years Del has run the New England Pilots, at Portland, Me. There he first attracted the attention of big league scouts as a flashy, left-handed schoolboy pitcher.

He got some batchelor jockeying — but it didn't seem to bother the one-time Brooklyn first sacker.

There's an explanation for that. Del, who is slightly deaf in one ear, customarily took a stance in the third base coaching box with his bad ear toward the bleachers. Then he let the fans howl.

On Bissonette Day the Portland fans gave him a snowplow and a tractor.

They were for his farm in this Central Maine town where he was born 49 years ago. He's a successful orchardist and insurance man in the off seasons. Much of the credit for his success in the insurance business he gives to his wife, Dorothy. Mrs. Bisonette keeps the business going while Del's managing ball clubs.

Del went into organized ball from Georgetown university, where he played in 1921.

City Carpetball

The latest entry in the league under B. J. Garside came through with a clean sweep in their first game of the season when they met the Bonner-Worth gang, trimming them with the scores of 10-7 and 15-6. Apparently the woolly boys are just pulling the wool over their own eyes at present.

The Legion Bouncers thought they would go to work on King Billie and his orange squeezers, throwing them out for the 13-7 count in the first game but these Orange boys came back to bounce the bouncers to the tune of 18-4.

The Bell Ringers entertained the Fighting Parsons in the LOL Hall the other evening, but the Fighting Parsons were apparently so used to the gong in the ring that they rang out a clarion over the gentle Bell Ringers 14-4 and 10-8.

The schedule is gradually getting on an even keel. We would like to get the names and addresses of teams No. 7, 8 and 9.

Schedule:

Games to be played first—SOE No. 2 vs Glengarrys No. 7; Treasurers No. 1 vs BESL No. 9; BESL No. 5 vs BESL No. 9; LOL No. 4 vs BESL No. 6.

Games this week—Glens No. 7 vs BESL No. 9; BESL No. 5 vs Woollens No. 8; SOE No. 2 vs BESL No. 6; Treasurers No. 1 vs LOL No. 3.

Games next week—BESL No. 6 vs Glens No. 7; LOL No. 3 vs BESL No. 9; SOE No. 2 vs Woollens No. 8; Treasurer No. 1 vs LOL No. 4.

BUDDY O'CONNOR, New York Rangers' hockey centre, is shown with the two trophies presented to him at ceremonies in New York to attest to his standing as a National league player. He was given the Hart trophy, as the most valuable player to his team in the circuit, and the Lady Byng cup, for sportsmanship, awarded the player considered the most gentlemanly and effective in the game. O'Connor has just returned to the Rangers' lineup after an automobile accident October 8, where he broke two ribs.

Varsity Downs McGill 3-1, Takes 2nd Place

MONTREAL, Dec. 11.—(CP).—University of Toronto Blues moved into sole possession of second place in the Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League here Friday night when they shaded McGill University Redmen 3-1 before 5,000 Forum fans. Bill Spence figured in all three Varsity goals.

Spence netted a goal and assisted on two others. Cec. Turcot and Harry Boyd were the other Blue marksmen. Dave Hackett was the sole scorer for McGill.

The win puts Varsity in second place, two points behind the league-leading University of Montreal Carabins.

The Blues and Carabins clash here tonight. The loss leaves McGill in third possession, two points ahead of the luckless Queen's squad who have failed to win in three starts.

AHL Game Tied

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. — (CP).—Defenceman Harry Dick scored two goals, one of them the lone third-period marker, to help Washington Lions tie Providence Reds 3-3 Friday night in an American Hockey League game.

Still Wonder Who's To Fight Joe Louis Next

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(CP)—Who's going to fight Joe Louis in June? Ezzard Charles isn't too sure he wants to meet the heavyweight champion. He might if he was pushed, he said after he chopped up a rusty, plodding Joe Baksi and stopped him in the 11th round at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

You can cross off Baksi's name for sure and Billy Conn's too.

Which brings us back to Lee Savold, the old campaigner from Paterson, N.J., who lost on a foul to Bruce Woodcock in London Monday, and Gus Lesnevich, the former light heavyweight title-holder.

Mix up Charles, Savold and Lesnevich in a couple of fights and you might possibly come up with an answer. Even Jersy Joe Walcott might get in the act again. Harry Markson, managing director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, which promoted Friday night's show, is toying with the idea of a few more eliminations.

"I'd have to be in a better shape for the champion than I was for this thing," said Charles after his fight Friday night, "then, too, you know how I feel about Louis. I rather not meet him . . . cause, after all . . . well, he's the champ, that's all."

Charles, who spotted Baksi 32½ pounds—178 to 210½—gave Baksi a good going over. He belted him with both hands throughout the fight and had him bleeding from the nose, mouth and a deep gash over his left eye.

The Cincinnati negro was a very good 1-to-3 choice over a slow-moving clay pigeon. He didn't down the ex-coal miner from Kulpmont, Pa., but he had the glory of stopping Baksi for the first time in the latter's career of 64 fights.

Referee Ruby Goldstein halted the bout at 2.33 of the 11th round when Baksi, blood streaming down his face from the gashed left eye, said: "Stop it, I can't see, I can't see."

Baksi won only two rounds—the fifth and sixth on body punching—on the AP's scorecard.

HEAVE A SIGH for Mrs. Minnie Mikan who attends basketball games between the Minneapolis Lakers and the Chicago Stags, and can't root for either of the teams unless she roots for both. For Mrs. Mikan has two stalwart sons playing, one on each team. George (left) is star of the Lakers, and Ed (right) ditto of the Stags. The fraternal foes have one thing in common. They both love mom.

Lewicki Proves Worth, Scores Six As Stratford Bruises Galt 9-5

By The Canadian Press

Lean Danny Lewicki—whose professional services reportedly brought the highest price ever paid for an amateur—showed Friday night he might be worth every cent of it.

The 17-year-old winger scored six goals as he led Stratford Kroehlers to a 9-5 victory over Galt Rockets in an Ontario Hockey Association junior A game.

Toronto Maple Leafs paid a rumored $20,000 for Lewicki's professional rights to Providence Reds of the American Hockey League. This year is his first in the junior OHA circuit.

At 15, the dark-haired sharpshooter led the scoring race in the junior Thunder Bay League while playing with Fort William Columbus. His amateur services this year cost Stratford $3,500.

While Stratford hung onto fourth place, two other junior clubs and two senior clubs played Friday night.

St. Catharines Teepees strengthened their hold on second-place in the junior race with a 3-2 win over the last-place Toronto Marlboros while Guelph Biltmores held Oshawa Generals to a 4-4 tie.

In the senior division, Hamilton Tigers downed the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 6-4 and Toronto Marlboros defeated Owen Sound Mercurys 6-1.

The Kroehlers took a 5-2 lead in the first period, held an 8-3 margin at the end of the second and then added one more in the final frame while Galt bagged two.

Jimmy French with two and Joe Beda with one scored the other Stratford goals. Pete Tkachuk, Jack Horvath, Bob Newcombe, Kilbey and Hartzburg counted for Galt.

Toronto showed surprising power against St. Catharines. The Dukes stayed with the pace for better than 50 minutes of the game, but after Teepees had tied the score at the 13-minute mark of the third period, they noticeably weakened. Jerry Toppazzini potted the clincher with four minutes remaining in the game.

Other St. Catharines scorers were, Con Switzer and Fred Hildebrand. Lorne Pirie and George Armstrong tallied for Toronto.

Both Oshawa and Guelph were forced to come from behind to gain their deadlock. Guelph counted the only two goals of the first period. Oshawa drove back to score three in succession in the middle frame before Guelph tied it up again.

Netminder Stu Hendry held the fort for Oshawa in the overtime period when Generals were men short.

Lorne Ferguson with two, and Archie Henderson and Tom Mouncy with one apiece accounted for Guelph's markers. Gerry Scott tallied twice for Oshawa. Dick Gamble and Bill Burton each bagged one.

Toronto grabbed the lead early in the first period and were never headed by the Owen Sounders. Marlies led 2-0 at the end of the first frame and then outscored Mercurys 4-1 in the second period.

Al Buchanan with two and Scotty Mair, Ray Hannigan, Chuck Blair and Ray Timgren were Toronto marksmen. Tommy Burlington scored the Mercury's counter.

Hamilton gained their 11th victory in 21 starts as they downed Kitchener.

The Tigers shot into a 3-0 first-period lead, were outscored 3-2 in the second session and then split two goals in the final period.

The Dutchmen tied the count in the second period when sparky Weiler scored twice. Then Hamilton rallied and scored twice.

Clare Shillington and Murray Comfort each counted twice for the Tigers. Cooper and Johnny Conick followed up with one each. Other Kitchener marksmen were Trent Anderson and Don Bauer.

Louis Gentle To Conn In Exhibition Bout

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—(AP). — Heavyweight Joe Louis thinks Billy Conn is a good candidate for the we-want-to-fight-Louis club.

But some 6,500 fans who saw the Brown Bomber toy with Conn in a six-round exhibition Friday night would say Joe just is being charitable for old times' sake.

Conn, who twice previously was flattened in title bouts by Louis, staged a fearless show against the champion Friday night. The no-decision mix was fought with 14-ounce gloves, compared with the six-ounce mitts used in their two title bouts.

Nursing purple bruises on his left forehead and left cheek-bone, Louis said after the exhibition that Conn was "much faster" than in their 1946 meeting when Joe won on an eight-round knockout.

"Billy is a pretty good fighter and now he can go for Ezzard Charles," Joe drawled on his dressing room table. "Conn should keep up his comeback."

Most of the writers, however, thought that Conn was lucky Louis was wearing the big pillows. In the third and again in the fourth rounds, Louis unleashed his dynamite left hook and jolting right cross. Even heavy-cushioned, these attacks jarred Conn and obviously would have meant curtains for the spritely Pittsburgh scrapper if Joe had on work mitts.

Insurance Will Pay Spectators' Injuries

TORONTO, Dec. 11.—(CP). — Gaye Stewart, Chicago Black Hawk winger ordered to pay $1,500 costs to a spectator injured by a stick during a National Hockey League game at Maple Leaf Gardens wont' have to "pay out a nickel," it was announced Friday. The public liability insurance carried by the Gardens will look after payment.

The Ontario Court of Appeal Thursday ordered Stewart to pay Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Payne of Toronto for injuries suffered Oct 20, 1947, during a melee at the boards involving Stewart, at that time a Leaf player, and Chicago defenceman Johnny Mariucci.

May Hire First Negro

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—(AP). — Chicago White Sox may, for the first time in history, hire a negro baseball player, it was learned today.

As the baseball caravan moved from Minneapolis' minor-league convention to the big-league sessions in Chicago, reports circulated that the Sox were trying to buy Sam Jethroe, a negro outfielder, from Brooklyn's Montreal farm.

Jethroe, batting in the lead-off spot for the Royals, International League champions last season, hit .322. Although he played in only 76 games, he was tied for the league lead in stolen bases with 18. Among his 94 hits were 12 doubles, 11 triples and one home run.

Apps' Absence Makes Leafs Lack Leading

TORONTO, Dec. 11.—(CP).—The more you look at Toronto Maple Leafs as the once-proud world champions creak along one rung from the bottom of the National Hockey League, the more you become convinced that the cause of their plight is lack of one player—Syl Apps.

Just a year ago today the Leafs were leading the league, and big Syl was leading both goal getters and point scorers. Apps, who retired this season, was still around when the Leafs made the final surge to the loop title and the Stanley Cup.

At this time last season the Leafs had won 12 and tied three to lead the race by four points. Now they have six wins and five ties, 10 points behind the leaders.

Last season Apps was the man who fired Toronto's famed last-period charges, a feature lacking in the 1948-49 edition of the defending champs. As a team the Leafs are 21 goals behind their last year's pace.

Two Canadians Knew Secret Of Atom Bomb

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP) — Only two men in Canada knew there was an atomic bomb in 1945 and that it was going to be dropped on a Japanese city, Trade Minister Howe said this week.

The Cabinet's atomic expert told a group of industrialists at a luncheon that the two were then Prime Minister Mackenzie King and himself.

He lauded the security on a a war project that had employed 100,000 persons in several Allied countries and said not even military intelligence here picked up the information about the bomb.

Farmer Talk

A group of hard-talking men of the soil came to the Capital this week and faced the fears of the future.

They were men of agriculture, representatives of farmer organizations and provincial departments of agriculture, who gathered here for the 10th annual three-day Dominion-Provincial agricultural conference.

They wanted to talk plainly and they had their wish. Conference leaders announced that for the first two days the conference would be off the record. Newspaper men would be allowed to sit and listen, but not to write. And for two days the reporters listened while the farm men hammered the Federal men with questions about the future, and the Federal men admitted their inability to look ahead with any certainty.

The ban on reporting was lifted the third day, but then the talk was softened. Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced new food contracts with Britain, in some cases providing lower prices and in others lower quantities, and the farm men bespoke their disappointment.

Jews Resist Attack

TEL AVIV, Dec. 11—(CP):—Israeli forces Friday beat off an attack on Nirim by an Egyptian infantry unit supported by tanks, an Israeli spokesman said. Nirim is a Jewish settlement in southern Palestine's Negev desert. The spokesman said 16 tanks shelled Nirim. Jewish-Egyptian fighting has been reported in this area during the last few days.

Movie Public Too Smart Producer Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11.—(AP).—The trouble is that you're too smart.

That's what producer Benedict Bogeaus says about you, the movie public.

"You can't fool them," the film bigwig complained. "No matter what you do, they can sniff out a bad picture.

"You can spend $1,000,000 on publicity (as some producers have done lately.) You can tell them it's a great picture, but if it's bad, they won't come anyway. What's more, they won't come the first day. They seem to sense that a picture isn't going to be any good."

This occult power has played havoc with the film business, Bogeau said.

"Making pictures is getting to be like the Broadway stage," he remarked. "Either you've got a hit or you lose money."

Independent producers are normally a complaining tribe, but Bogeaus claimed they have more to beef about than usual.

"We're taking an awful chance every time we make a picture.

"The English situation is what murdered us. I had $4,500,000 tied up in pictures when the tax was levied. The tax meant a $1,000,000 loss to me.

"And," he added mournfully, "there doesn't seem to be any bottom to the market."

Shop Talk

You'll note the Academy awards blowout will be held on a studio stage next March. The stars felt the event was too public and went to night clubs instead. This year the public is excluded and the Academy hopes for a glamor crowd as of yore. . . .

Here's the background on the CBS snag of Jack Benny and the current scramble for top talent among the networks. Of course, the immediate thing is radio. But Video is just around the corner, and the network with the best televisable talent will be in the best position to garner leadership in the new medium.

Israel To Negotiate Lifting Jewish Siege

PARIS, Dec. 11 — (AP) — A United Nations official said Israel agreed today to negotiate on lifting the Jewish siege of 1,200 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja, in the Negev desert of southern Palestine.

The Isreali government notified the acting Palestine mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, that it is ready to negotiate a stage-by-stage withdrawal of its troops from the Negev, the official said.

The Israel reply brought cancellation of a scheduled meeting later today of the Security Council's special committee on Palestine, which is considering the Negev situation. Aubrey S. Eban of Isreal had been expected to tell the committee the Faluja forces would be freed.

WILLIAM WILSON, 29-year-RCAF veteran, who sacrificed his life when he tried to dissuade Cretien, spurned suitor of a housemaid in the Wilson home.

WOUNDED BY SHOTS in her Sudbury home is Mrs. Rose McRoberts, seen with her sons, Jackie and Tommy. Police say shots were fired by Gerrard Chretien, who later shot to death William Wilson, who was protecting women in the house. Chretien then shot himself, and is in hospital under police guard.

Letters Reveal Writers' Characters

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Philippians; I Timothy; I John

By Alfred J. Buescher

Paul's epistle to the Philippians was written about A.D. 62, while he was in prison, and had received a gift from his friends in Philippi. He wrote it to thank them.

Paul's letters reveal his character. He urges his friends to be glad, to rejoice in the Lord, to test all things, and finding them good and virtuous, to hold to them.

Paul's letters to Timothy were written about A. D. 64-5, shortly before his martyrdom. They are full of affection, for Paul looked upon Timothy as his own son in Christ Jesus.

Paul wrote Timothy that he hoped to come to him shortly, and to exhort the rich that the love of money is the root of all evil.

MEMORY VERSE—Philippians 4:8.

Under Power of Christ

BY REV. E. R. JAMES

Ministers Of Christ. Cor 4: 1.

St. Paul uses a thought provoking word, which is translated "minister." Literally it means "an under rower". St. Paul is writing to Corinthians, who have seen many battleships in their harbour. They have noted "the under rowers" chained to their oars. They are volunteers, who willingly and gladly answer the call for higher service. They are essentially men of courage and strong personality who have heard the call:—"Follow Me and I will make you fishers of men".

Centuries earlier Isaiah, living in a trying time, has a vision of Jehovah. Who cries:— "Whom shall I send and who will go for us"? Isaiah, cries:—"Here am I, send Me". He is warned that his ministry will be a failure. Many a prophet in every age has striven to refuse the call. They are religious men, but they instinctively realize the hardships and disappointments of the work and its fearful responsibilities.

Moses was absolutely overwhelmed exclaiming:—"Who am I that I should bring the children of Israel out of Egypt."? "I will help thee, saith the Lord". Then Moses pleads ignorance. "They will not believe me. They will say; The Lord hath not sent him". God tells him that He will convince them. Once more he cries:—"I am not eloquent; I am slow of speech". God promises to give him the gift of teaching. Since that day many a minister of Christ has echoed these same thoughts. What an appeal they make to a sensitive man.

In every age the call comes to men with high ideals. Yet the call brings pain and the desire to refuse. Yet when they answer the call theyt never regret it. It brings spiritual joy in spite of its difficulties and disappointments. This writer has been Christ's "under rower" for over forty-five years. He desires to testify to God's help and grace. God never forsakes His "under rower". He does not promise success. But God asks for one quality "Faithfulness". Your hope should be to hear the Master say:— "Well done, good and faithful servant.

Perhaps some young man who reads these words thinks that he is utterly unfit. That is the right spirit for "an under rower" of Christ. If you feel fit that is a sure sign of your unfitness. Never forget God's own promise:—"My grace is suficient for you; My strength is made prefect in wealness".

These are difficult days. Times of trial are sent to discover the best men for Christ's service. This should be your prayer:—"Lord, what wilt Thou have me do; make Thy way plain before my face. I will lift up mine eyes unto Thee".

Ponder upon this Scripture:—"O man, greatly beloved, fear not. Peace be unto thee. Be strong; yea, be strong. And when He had spoken unto me I was strengthened and said; Let my Lord speak, for Thou hast strengthened me. "Dan 10; 19.

The following are thoughts from famous modern "under rowers"; "Preaching in Divine Truth through human personality". Before God strikes the preacher he is a barren rock. But as soon as the Divine Hand has touched him there pours forth streams which water the desert". Whta inspiration.

The Lord Saith: Thou Shalt Be Called The Prophet Of The Highest For Thou Shalt Go Before The Face Of The Lod To Prepare His Ways.

Boy Choristers Delight Large Audience

St. Michael's Cathedral boy choristers, Toronto, received the enthusiastic welcome they deserved when they presented a concert of carols and sacred music at the Collegiate on Friday.

This noted choir, which was conducted by Rev. J. E. Ronan, attracted an audience which filled the hall to capacity for a program of liturgical and non liturgical songs and carols. Most of the music was familiar to members of the Roman Catholic church, who came to hear the singers from Toronto's great cathedral.

The boys seemed a little more at ease singing the Christmas music than the liturgical songs, some of which require a skillful combination of expression and tone often beyond the reach of youngsters of junior school age. Excellent training was apparent and the presentation of a full and varied program revealed a strong musical stamina.

The first group of songs, which included two from an ancient Georgian chant, was treated with reverence and the non-liturgical group of music by Tchaikovsky and Schubert, required a different type of technique which was mastered admirably. The highlight of the concert was the brisk staccato singing of the Ukranian Carol of the Bells.

Boys' choirs invariably sing in a smooth, monotonous tone and sometimes there is an unfortunate absence of voice control. The St. Michael's boys, however, managed to esacpe both of these faults and introduced a refreshing inflection which produced a lively and pleasing result.

George Flanagan and Donald Young, tenors, sang solos and boys who sang by themselves were John Shields, James Cruise, Victor Mele and Eddie Hawkins. Mr. Harold Armstrong was piano accompanist.

POLICE CAR CLIPPED

When Police Constable Sherman Keliele, brought the police cruiser to a stop at the McDonnel-George intersection at 1.15 this morning, the car was rammed in the rear by a car driven by Mrs. H. Barrack, Parkhill Rd. Damage was not extensive.

Student Council Presents Two Paintings to School

Two beautiful paintings, an oil and a water color, were presented on Friday at the senior assembly to C. S. Browne, principal of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School by Henry Dinsdale, president of the Student Council. This is the beginning of a collection of original paintings by Canadian artists.

"One of last year's Student Council projects was to begin a collection of original paintings by Canadian artists," said Henry Dinsdale. "It was decided to buy one of A. J. Casson's water color paintings."

Mr. C. S. Browne, J. Londerville and, Gerald Hillis, last year's student president and myself went to A. J. Casson's studio in Toronto. When Mr. Casson heard our plans, he made us a gift of an oil painting. It was a difficult choice but we decided on this one."

"Since we bought this painting, the artist A. J. Casson, RCA, OSA, has been elected ppresident of the Royal Canadian Academy."

"These paintings will be an asset to the school in future years and we of this year's Student Council intend to set aside an amount of our objective for another painting."

"The lack of original paintings in PCVS is regrettable. Our Collegiate is recognized as one of the leading schools in Ontario. This is due to the students, staff, and the co-operation of the Board of Education," said C. S. Browne when he accepted the paintings on behalf of the school.

"It is with great pleasure that I accept these paintings and with gratitude accept the gift of Mr. Casson. They will be of great educational value to the students. I hope I am expressing the appreciation of you, the student body, for these gifts."

Both the paintings are landscapes. The water color painting is a scene painted from some high place looking down on a group of lakes and hills. The varied blue colors attract one attention immediately. The gift of Mr. Casson is a scene of a village in late winter.

REWARD FOR FAVORS

Farmers Ask 75 Cts. A Pound For Turkeys

Market this morning had all the appearances of Christmas except for snow. It was not large and there did not appear to be a crush of buyers, although there were in great numbers upstairs in the basket market.

A few turkeys were selling at 75 cents a pound geese at 65 and ducks at 55 cents. Chickens ranged from 50 to 55 cents and even capons could be had at the latter price. Boiling fowl ranged from 40 to 42. One lady was offering a few cold roast chickens from 1.50 to 2.00 complete with everything but the gravy.

There was a large variety of apples in both bushel hampers and six-quart baskets; Greenings, Spies and Jonathans $2.75 and 55 cents, Talman Sweets, Baldwins and Snows were $2.50 to 45 a basket and a few McIntosh at $3.

Both Katahdin and Sebago spuds could be had for $1.50 a bag and other vegetables ranged from parsnips at $2 a bushel to carrots at $1.25 and turnips at $1. Eggs were from 55 cents for extra large to 45 for small grades.

Loads of Christmas trees from Apsley and Wilberforce made up the largest section of the seasonal decorations and were selling from $2 to 75 cents. There were only about three truckloads and a few farmers had thrown six or eight trees to top their trailer loads to sell for $1.25. One lady on the curb market had bronze, mauve and white chrysanthemums, last of the season, and cut from her garden on Tuesday; they sold for 50 cents a bunch. Other ladies had sheaves of gilded milkweed and broom grass for the same price and there were waxed crepe flowers from 25 cents to one dollar a spray. Goose down pillows were selling at $12 a pair, orders and deposits in advance.

In the fuel section truckloads of four-foot locust was selling for $16 a cord, the same as beech and maple, mixed. Hardwood in stove lengths was $14 a load and mixed softwood at $12.50.

FIRST OIL WELL

The beginning of the petroleum industry dates back to the middle of the 19th century, when the first oil well was sunk in deliberate search for "black gold."

COSSA Champs Honored By Supper Club

Junior and senior football Central Ontario Secondary School Association champions and the cheerleaders were entertained by the Friday Nite Club at a banquet in the YMCA on Friday night.

"Anti-submarine warfare is comparatively new in naval strategy," said Jack Raine, guest speaker. "Naval policy demanded changes when four discoveries were made — steam, breech-loading, oil instead of coal for fuel, and the submarines.

"When the Germans introduced the submarine into warfare in the last war, the large Allied ships had to have escorts. They tried everything to protect themselves from underwater craft. Finally the hydrophone was invented. By this devise a submarine could be detected but not accurately enough to help destroy the submarine. Depth charges would then be dropped.

"Radar was more important in bringing the Second World conflict to an end than the atom bomb. This invention was mainly developed by Canadian scientists. Objects could be traced at a range out of the sight of the human eye. Guns would then be trained on the object and the object would be destroyed," said Mr. Raine.

"Asdic equipment was put in all ships. Submarines could be discovered by the use of sound. The distance and direction of the craft could be determined, but it was not accurate enough. The Germans would employ their hydrophones and could escape easily. The Allies developed the equipment to the extent that it was worked electrically. A panel indicated the distance from the submarine. course the submarine following, depth of submarine, and in what direction to go to intercept the submarine. Depth charges then became a thing of the past. Squids, which consisted of one ton of TNT were used," he said.

"The difficulty of submarines having to surface for fresh air was overcome by the Germans. They invented the 'snorter.' A long tube similar to the conning tower, the snorter changed the air in the submarine."

"With the possibility of a third world war darkening the horizon, I say the navy offers a great opportunity to the young man of today. Most of you are young enough to take an active part if there is a war. The navy of today should be right up the alley of most of you. The food is good. The life isn't tough."

The speaker was introduced by Clare Dayman and thanked by Trevor Lillico.

Bev. Goulding gave a short interesting talk on Massillon, Ohio's Booster club. On behalf of the citizens of Peterborough Mayor Ovens said the whole city is proud of their champions. He added that other things are in store for the boys. C. S. Browne and Fred Hills offered their congratulations on behalf of the school and the YMCA.

Guests of the club were Fred Hills, Mayor W. Ovens, C. S. Browne and Mayor-elect M. Swanston.

A lively sing song was conducted by S. Northrop and R. Stinson. The sing-song was ended with a school yell led by the cheerleaders.

Members of the TNT club served at the banquet.

Fatal Shooting

SUDBURY, Dec. 11——CP)(Police said Friday night no charges had yet been laid against Gerard Chretien, in hospital here after a shooting in which a man was killed and a woman seriously wounded. Police said Chretien Thursday night fatally shot William Wilson, a tenant in the home of Mrs. Rose McRoberts, who was wounded.

Recreation Centre Opens Mayor Lauds Citizens For Work at Burnham's Point

A recreation centre for adults, 'teen-agers and children has been opened at Burnham's Point. An abandoned warehouse, formerly used to store Wartime Housing building supplies, and owned by the city, can now be used for dancing, cards, bingo and other social gatherings. The building, 40 ft. by 30 ft., has been painted and decorated by volunteer labor. Spare time for this project in the Burnham's region is particularly scarce as many householders are busy completing their homes.

In August three trustees — Thomas McQuigge, Joseph Coss and Stanley Purser—negotiated a lease on this half-acre piece of land from the city at a cost of a dollar a year. And since then they have endeavored to make it into an exemplary recreational centre.

During the summer Mrs. F. Roberts was playground councillor and other ladies from Burnham's Point volunteered to help keep order among the children. Apart from the lease granted, the city has not had to pay more than an estimated $300 to maintain the centre.

In the children's playground swings, sandpits, slides, teeter-totters and picnic benches have been provided.

The new community hall has a good floor suitable for dancing and has white clap-board walls trimmed in powder blue. For the opening ceremony green and white crepe paper was placed on the ceiling and windows. Partially inflated balloons were hung from the ceiling adding to the gay appearance of the hall.

Mayor Ovens was called upon to officially open the centre. The Mayor said he had been looking forward to this event since members of council had been asked over to see if the location and other arrangements were satisfactory.

Deserved Bouquets

Speaking to the citizens of Burnham's Point he said, "If there are any bouquets to be thrown around they should go to you and the committee for the time and energy you spent in painting and revamping this building."

"As long as you are able to maintain the good community spirit you have over here Mayor-elect Swanston and his council will support you," said Mayor Ovens.

He further complimented those present on the success of the project and wished them the best of luck.

The centre has several card tables, a large number of chairs, and a phonograph to play dance music. To belong to the club each 'teen-ager is charged 50 cents and each adult $1. Children under 13 who are unable to belong to the 'teen-agers have sleigh rides and other activities planned for them.

On the adult group are Mrs. S. Purser, chairman; Mrs. D. Barclay, secretary; Mr. and Mrs. F. Roberts, Mrs. N. Dunlop and Mrs. S. Hall.

'Teen-agers are reprecented by Harold McQuigge, chairman; Shirley Johnson, secretary; Wilhelmina Irwin, treasurer; Leo Jones and Grace Jones.

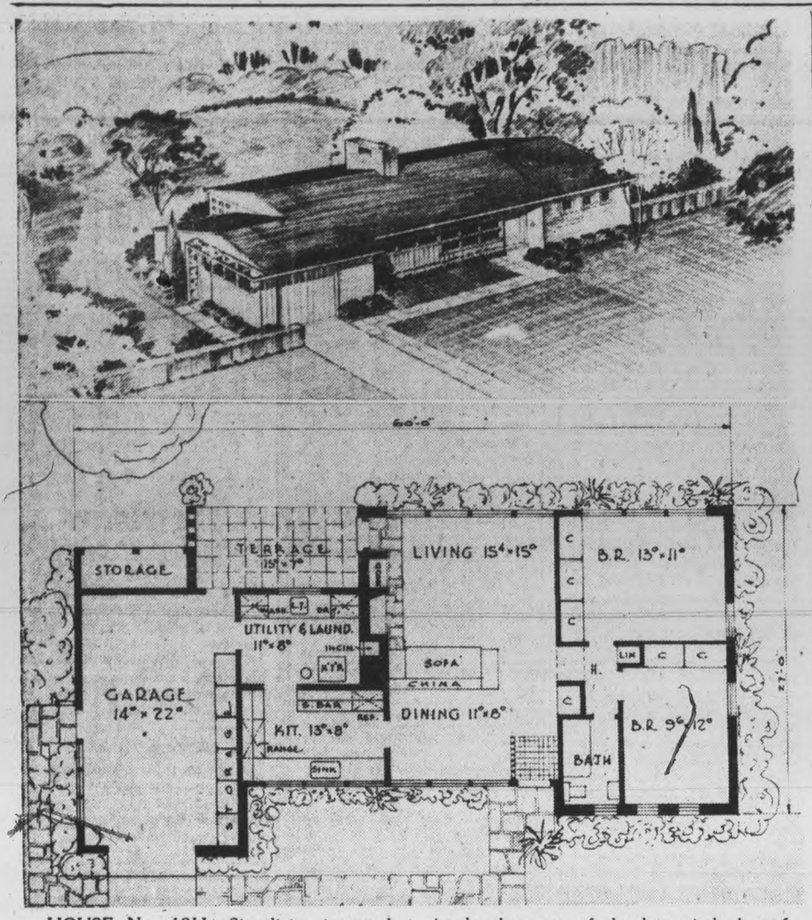
PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT



HOUSE No. 19H—Simplicity in good modern design will last many years. It is not a fad. It is a direct expression of good taste in architecture. In this house, the simple character of the low pitched roof, the simple detail of the windows to add interest and the relation of these elements to the wall surfaces and landscaping are all a part of this straightforward design.

VITAMIN A SOURCES

Yellow vegetables and dark green leaves are good sources of vitamin A.

COLD SPOT

Temperatures of 90° F below zero have been recorded in the Siberian province of Yakutsk.

Cardboard Model Available Furniture Drawn To Scale

In the plan of the 19H House the large central room is used for living and dining. A built-in lounge and china cabinet unit serves as a partial separation for the two areas so that furniture groupings can be easily arranged. Large windows at each end of the room furnish an abundance of light.

Each bedroom has an entire wall of built-in storage wall cabinets. With these units providing a place for everything there is little need for other bedroom furniture with the exception of beds and chairs.

The kitchen and laundry is automatically equipped and has many cabinets and work surfaces that prove a valuable aid in routine chores. A combination planning desk and snack bar unit in the kitchen is handy for many uses. The hobby garage provides a lot of storage space and ample room for play. It could be easily heated for year 'round use. Note the large outdoor garden tool storage space at the rear of the garage. The covered terrace is convenient to the living and service areas and should provide a fine summer recreation space.

The exterior materials suggest the use of ledgerock combined with natural stained cedar vertical boards and batten strips. The colorful stone and natural wood blend beautifully with the landscaping for an enchanting effect.

If you like this home, Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto, has a ¼-inch scale full-colour, cardboard model available at $3.00. The model comes knocked down, in a large envelope, die-cut for easy assembly and can be put together in a short time. Also in the envelope is furniture drawn to the same scale as the floor plan for you to cut to see if your present furniture will fit in your new home. Complete building blueprints and specifications are also available for this home at $6.00 per set.

Windows Can Make or Mar Beauty of Present-day Home

Windows are the "eyes" of your home. They can make or mar its beauty—can be a source of constant irritation or of enduring satisfaction. That is why it is so important to select your windows wisely and well.

If you choose from a reliable dealer, you can be sure of complete satisfaction. There is a wide selection from which to choose, thus assuring appropriate windows for every purpose.

The natural qualities of wood contribute to window progress. Wood is an insulating material. The other materials of which windows are sometimes made are not. Therefore the heat loss through wood windows is noticeably less than through any other kind.

This saving is markedly increased if the wood sash is weatherstripped, and is still further increased if the wood sash is used with storm sash. The ease with which storm sash, screens and weather-stripping may be installed in standard wood window frames is a source of additional convenience and economy.

A "Warm" Material

The insulating quality of wood is valuable in yet another way. Wood is a "warm" material. In winter, the wood sash and frames do not get cold enough to cause condensation of moisture.. Drapunder windows are better proeries, curtains and inside walls under windows are better protected from dampness and staining. And wood sash work with ease in all temperatures.

Wood is resilient. It acts, consequently, as a shock absorber. It helps protect against glass breakage, and reduces the tendency of glass to be vibrant and noisy. If misalignment should occur due to settling of building, wood sash are easily and quickly refitted to again operate smoothly.

Every home deserves good windows, and there's no reason why every home can't have windows, that are good—for the life of the house. Your lumber dealer will be glad to help you order—your architect or builder to help you choose.

Window Recommendations

1. Handle carefully — do not drop or jar. Store in dry place until primed. If already exposed to excessive moisture, dry thoroughly before installing or painting.

2. Before installing sash in frame, paint exterior (putty side) with white lead in oil or best mixed paint. Overlap paint slightly onto glass to seal joint between glass and putty. Paint top and bottom edges of sash. Prime inside surface of sash soon as fited. Overlap paint or varnish on glass to seal joint between wood and glass.

3. While plaster is drying, ventilate rooms by keeping windows partly open so that all moisture leaves new building rather than soaking into framework, insulation or masonry and later coming out through walls to loosen paint.

4. Watch your heating plant. Do not over-humidify building with heating plant or air-conditioning system. This may cause frost or water to form on windows and damage draperies, furniture and wall decorations.

Drunk Driving Code Change Suggested

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 (CP).—The Canadian Temperance Federation today adopted a resolution urging an amendment to the Criminal Code to permit an automatic drunken-driving conviction after evidence had established that the motorist had been drinking any alcoholic beverage.

The resolution suggested that recognized scientific tests of moshould be employed to determine torists involved in accidents their condition.

Another resolution the Federation urged that all members of Provincial Legislatures be free to vote on any law that "affects the moral and social welfare of our people without fear of being 'read out of the party' or without censure of any kind from their leaders."

Liquor advertising—including what was termed "so-called good-will advertisements" — was criticized.

THERE'S PLENTY OF SNOW for skiing up northern Ontario way these days, especially around the Gravenhurst area and skiers are losing no time getting out their equipment and trying the slopes. This skier is going at full speed and, with a push from his bamboo poles, makes a spectacular high-jump. But it's a difficult trick so don't try it until you get some experience on your skiis.

Board Votes $500 To Recognize Teams

"Suitable recognition" to the members of the city's two school championship rugby teams—senior and junior—is planned by the Board of Education. Directing that letters of congratulation be sent to the two teams, the Board on Thursday night voted $500 to be used to purchase that recognition. Fifyt boys on the teams will share in the honors.

"Just a thought in passing" was offered the Board by Superintendent K. S. Wightman.

"Without being in the least critical of this motion," he said, "I was just wondering when Boards would reach the stage where they would vote similar recognition to students making scholastic achievements. There are many of our students desiring to continue their education, and who have demonstrated their worthiness in that regard."

Mr. G. Wilson Craw added support to Mr. Wightman, and proposed a $500 scholarship be placed in the 1949 estimates.

ISAAC DON LEVINE, Russian-born writer and editor, assumes a prayerful posture as he testified before the House un-American activities committee in Washington that Whittaker Chambers secretly retained microfilms of state department documents for use as "ransom" just in case he or his family were seized by Soviet agents in the United States. This injected an entirely new note in the testimony, since Chambers had not advanced this explanation when the films were uncovered in a hollowed-out pumpkin on his Maryland farm last week.

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One-Fourth The Cost

Thousands of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough syrup, they get a dependable, effective medicine. They use a recipe at only one-fourth the usual cost of cough medicine, but which really breaks up distressing coughs in a hurry.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all, and makes a splendid medicine. Keeps perfectly, tastes fine.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, helping to clear the air passages and soothing away irritation, has caused it to be used universally throughout Canada.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

Rehill, Mrs. Vernor and Miss Brownscombe.

Forget Nationality In YW Greens Ceremony

There was something different and wonderful about the annual "hanging of the greens" at the YWCA Friday evening. Something that was felt, not seen, but it declared that the challenge of the past year to this organization has been me with the utmost success.

Dressing windows, trees and walls of the Y's main floor were boys and girls from many countries of Europe, the British Isles, other parts of Canada, and lifelong residents of Peterborough. All were working happily with a spirit of comaraderie that gave no hint of birthplace. There was just one way to tell which ones had endured the horrors of displaced persons—to the keen observer their smiles conveyed a much deeper meaning than the fact they were having fun. They have been given that precious feeling of belonging

Miss Leta Brownscombe, general secretary, issued a hearty welcome to the assembly. Speaking of the ceremony which has been an annual custom at the Peterborough Y for the past six years, she explained that the underlying idea of "decking the halls" in this manner was that all might serve.

Miss Nancy Rowell, Junior

Orphan Children To Get Toys From Gym Girls

Business Gym girls are donating presents for the children's Aid and St. Vincent's Orphanage children who will be guests at the annual gym Christmas tree party for juniors and babies gym and dancing classes on Wednesday, December 22 at four o'clock. A party for the business gym girls will be held Thursday evening, December 23, with the Y Gym Auxiliary in charge of refreshments and Miss Hazel Wilson heading the entertainment committee.

Mrs. J. Lewis, new honorary president of the Auxiliary, was introduced and welcomed to the meeting.

Miss Kay Hales gave a brief report concerning the National Convention to be held in Ottawa in May and the Aux[illegible] decided to hold a raff[illegible]elp raise funds for the tra[illegible] being set up. Mrs. Jean [illegible] gym representative to the Fi[illegible] Board, reported that Dr. Kidd will speak in Peterborough on January 4th on "How to get the best out of films."

Miss Caroline Littlefield outlined the new year activities planned with a gym campaign for new members in January and Health Week in February.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion with Mrs. M. McBride pouring coffee.

Golden Mile Club With Soroptimists For Dinner Party

Enjoyment of the Soroptimist Club's annual Christmas party was heightened this year when they also entertained members of the Golden Mile Club. Dr. Agnes K. Moffatt opened her home to fellow members and guests for this very special event of Friday evening.

A scrumptious turkey dinner was served by the social conveners, Miss Jane Saunders, Miss Abbie Robinson and Mrs. Enith Scott with the assistance of the hostess. Senior members of the party sat at the dining table, made gay wtih a Christmas centrepiece and crackers, while Soroptimists enjoyed buffet style.

A galaxy of parcels, individually done up in colorful wrappings and trim, was piled beneath the branches of a pretty Christmas tree in the living room. Anticipation of the contests rose while guests took part in party games with Mrs. Dorothy Sullivan leading, Miss Helen Gerrard was winner of the grand prize. Mrs. Mae Thompson then set the scene with a lovely story of Christmas and Santa Claus arrived to distribute gifts for everyone.

DOROTHY DIX

Domestic Girls Passed Up For Giggling Little Twerps

DEAR MISS DIX: A great deal is being written about girls not being trained for the kitchen, but the reason of it is that Mary Jane being a crack-erjack cook does not insure her getting a good job. There is always a place for a competent bookkeeper, secretary, nurse, laboratory technician, as well as a sales person, and they offer an incentive for preparation.

Dorothy Dix

But if a girl spends a lot of time in learning about homemaking and keeping, she has no insurance that she will ever have a home to make or to keep. Boys do not select wives for their domestic ability. My own boys were better cooks than their wives were at the time of their marriages.

Men are queer when it comes to marrying, and I have seen too many good, domestic girls passed up for silly, giggling little twerps. So it is easy to see why girls nowadays fit themselves for a possible mythical career.

A MOTHER

ANSWER: Right you are, Mother. It is the Gospel truth that although every girl wants to marry and intends to marry and expects to marry, she is given little or no incentive to fit herself for the career that she expects to make her lifework. Of course, the reason why girls do not feel it necessary to qualify as good housekeepers before they undertake the job of running a home is because they don't have to, for men are obsessed by the belief that all women are born expert cooks and know how to concoct every dish from frying potatoes to making crepes suzettes.

Bitter Disappointment

And life holds no bitter disappointment than that which devastates the young husband when he finds out that his bride cannot make a cup of coffee that does not taste like dish water, or cook a meal that is not first aid to stomach ulcers.

More is the pity, for much sorrow and many divorces would be prevented if girls had to graduate in housewifery before they could get a husband as they do in any other profession before they can hold down a job.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Won't you please write something about what mothers should teach their sons? For example: To hang up their good suits on racks instead of on the floor. To clean their shoes in rainy weather before entering the house and tracking up the carpets. To use a waste basket and not the floor on which to strew gum wrappers and scrap paper. To use Cleanex. To revise their table manners and eat like gentlemen instead of starving pigs. To come to the breakfast table in more clothes than their underwear.

Not to sit on the back of their necks. Not to gargle their coffee. Not to take out all of the grouches they have accumulated elsewhere on the family. Not to speak to their wives and mothers and sisters as they would not do to any woman who had an able-bodied husband or father or brother. In a word, can you think of any reason why men should act like gentlemen abroad and boors at home?

THE WOMEN IN THE FAMILY

ANSWER: No reason. It is just a common masculine custom. The idea seems to prevail among men that it is a waste of time and effort to be polite and considerate to their women folks, and that they are likewise entitled to make all the extra work they please by scattering their cigarette stubs, newspapers and laundry all over the house.

Many a wife, as she watches her husband's gallant attitude of a strange woman and notes the charming way in which he hangs on the words of a feminine bore, asks herself: "Can this really be MY husband?"

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a divorced woman of 44. Have beautiful wavy hair and am considered very lovely, but what I want to know is if there is a gentleman left in the world who wouldn't rather come home to a dinner of fried chicken and apple pie than spend his time in a beer garden. If there is any such man left, where is he and how can I find him?

ANSWER: Your handicap, sister, is that you are a woman and, unfortunately, can't go out and pursue a man until you catch him. Men outsprint us when we run after them. With such bait to hold out as fried chicken and apple pie, I should think you could catch any man.

A child born on this day is bounteously supplied with talents, skills, ingenuity and faculties for a spectacular and happy career. Its life may be romantic and adventurous, as well as serious and worthwhile.

For Monday, December 13

Monday's astrological forecast holds excellent encouragement for the development and launching of basic ideas for enduring and long-term growth with rewards for meritorious propositions or ambitious projects, of public service or influential financial stability. Investments, "big business," charitable or educational plans prosper, moving to high importance through practical skill and forceful manipulation.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are given conspicuous opportunity and encouragement for putting over major operations or objectives, for long-range and enduring development or sustained rewards or recognition. Increased scope for growth and expansion along solid and basic propositions, or in connection with real estate or other substantial interests, should be grasped with daring and dynamic manipulation. However, in domestic, personal or social investments or contacts there is need for precaution and wise economy.

A child born on this day is amply gifted with stability, responsibility, ambition and skills for a progressive and honored career, possibly in the limelight. It may accumulate surprising riches.

Greeting Card Shopping Adds To Christmas Chaos

From the time stationery stores open in the morning, Mrs. Peterborough can be found at the greeting card sections trying to choose appropriate Christmas cards. Hers is a chore indeed for she must do all the picking for the family and the variety is so great this year that it takes many hours from her precious shopping time.

There are cards to meet every taste and pocket book and whether their messages run from the sublime to the ridiculous, each bears the main theme, MERRY CHRISTMAS. Starting at the top of the scale are the monstrous dollar cards, about one foot square, with satin appliques, down to the penny message.

Canadian artists are getting their main chance, this year, as importations from the United States are banned, and salespeople report the Canadian products are the prettiest and best selling of all lines. They are so popular that some merchants have to produce these series for American tourists in summer, those who want to take home a Canadian souvenir.

The earliest buying is done by people with relatives in the Old Country. Many veterans also mail early greetings to wartime friends in Great Britain and on the Continent.

Believe it or not, the open weather has had a lot to do with sales and people do not feel inclined to buy greeting cards any more than they do woollens and winter sporting equipment. Merchants are keeping one eye on their card counters and the other on the few snowflakes that drift down in front of their show windows.

Cards wtih religious themes are not so prominent this year nor are those portraying Biblical themes. Birds and animal subjects are more in evidence, from handsome boxed sets of game birds and dogs which appeal to sportsmen, to animated Hollywood animals to tickle the fancy of children.

Before Mrs. Peterborough gets away from the card counters, displays of Christmas wrappings, seals, ribbons and coloured strings remind her of the parcel wrapping ritual.

Everyone Takes Part

In the evenings the family gathers at the dining room table to chose cards with appropraite messages for mailing to members of the family in other towns and cities. Though each card comes complete with an envelope, there is always a shortage of envelopes and this adds to the general confusion. The youngsters make off with the prettiest wrappings to various dark corners to do their own secretive gift wrapping and weild the shears at random on the prettiest of the papers. Father practices his best bank signature with a flourish and goes through a pile of cards, regardless of their message, in a hurry.

On the way to work he clutches loose armfuls of addressed cards and stands in the long queues at the post office and fumbles with change at the postage wickets. He is lucky to get them stamped and fed into the mail chute and get to his desk on time.

This sort of thing is going on all over the land and then postmen take over. They cancel, sort and forward an avalanche of Christmas greetings. Another mounting avalanche comes into the city from all parts of the world and carriers stagger under bulging sacks. They groan under the added burden of thousands of little cards each carrying a hope for happiness. It makes their loads no lighter.

EVERY FAMILY in the small community on the south shore of Lake Wilcox, Ont., is keeping its doors locked as soon as dark approaches—all because of a Peeping Tom, who prowls around at night peeping into windows and trying to force doors. Fred Forbe, above, is convalescing after being kicked and beaten when he tried to catch the intruder. Forbes noticed the face in the bedroom window, ran out to catch him but was struck with a rough, heavy object, tearing his arm. Police are investigating the matter.

Jurymen Laud Managers Of Institutions

General satisfaction with the conditions of public institutions in Peterborough County and high praise for officials in cnarge of them was expressed in the report of the Grand Jury last week. The report of the jury's inspection was presented to Judge Sheldon L. Smoke.

Lighting in some of the institutions was reported as inadequate and in some cases obselete. The jury recommended that lighting in the judge's chambers adjoining the court room be made more modern, and that the chambers be redecorated before the next sittings of the Supreme Court, if possible. The jury also suggested that better lighting be installed in the chambers of the county judge.

At the county jail, conditions were reported to be "very satisfactory." A minor change in the surfacing of tables in the men's quarters was suggested.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Garbutt, managers of the Old People's Home at Lakefield, were commended in the report "for the very efficient manner in which they are carrying out their duties." Also commended was the action of the County Council in installing a fire warning system in the home. At this institution, too, the jury suggested that more modern lighting conditions be installed.

At the Children's Shelter, the jury reported: "The house was in wonderful condition, bright and cheery, and the management is excellent." They recommended that railings be erected in both of the back stairs.

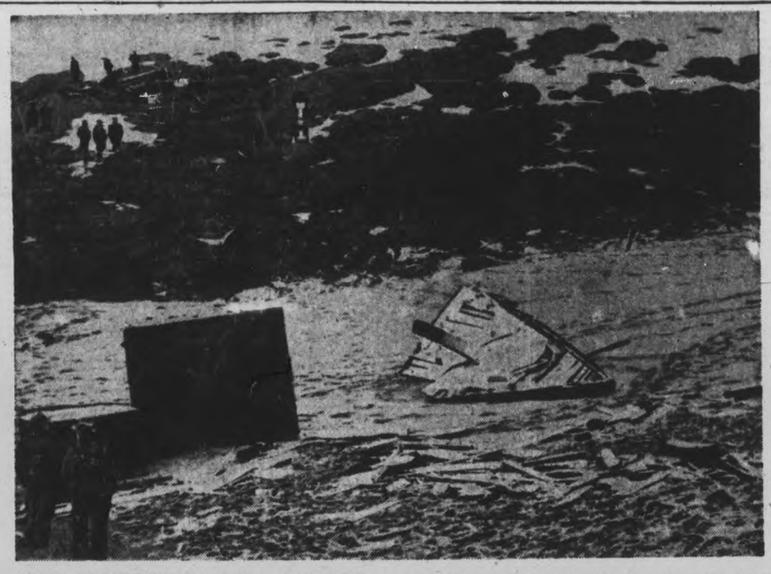
James Brownlea, caretaker of the county buildings, was commended by the jury for "the very efficient manner in which he is carrying out his duties." The report said: "Cleanliness is exceptionally noticeable." Rubber mats on the main corridor of the building, the jury suggested, would avoid a great deal of unnecessary noise.

The report was submitted by Henry Batten, foreman of the Grand Jury.

Poles Buying Farms Aided By Experts

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 (CP).—Effective immediately Polish war veterans wishing to buy their own farms may obtain free of charge the assistance of appraisal experts of the Veterans' Department, the Dominion Provincial Farm Labor conference was told today.

J. A. Paul of the Veterans Land Act Administration, outlined the plan to delegates. Where desirable, field officers would appraise the land for Polish veterans and check legal documents to ensure that prospective buyers were not cheated.



BAY OF FUNDY tides in New Brunswick, well-known for the distance they rise and fall, pounded to splinters the 78-ton freighter Coritcelli. This photo shows remains of the freighter scattered over the barren rocks. The eight-man crew was forced to abandon her during the storm and reached shore safely with lifebelts.

Secretary Resigns Office In WI

MARMORA, Dec. 11—(ENS)—Owing to ill health, Mrs. James Gordenier has resigned as secretary-treasurer of the W.I. At the December meeting at the home of Mrs. H. W. Sabine on Wed., Mrs. W. G Chrysler, who has been acting as secretary-treasurer in Mrs. Gordenier's absence, was elected to the office. Mrs. ". S. Sweet was appointed social welfare convener in succession to Mrs. H. A. Burwash, who recently left the village to live at Sarnia.

It was decided to hold a bingo and bake sale early in January to raise money for the town hall decoration fund and it was hoped to augment the funds with a further project. Mrs. Chrysler reported on the activities of the Teen-age Hostess Club.

A letter from the Sick Children's Hospital was left for consideration at the next meeting.

Following carols and a duet by Mrs. P. Gray and Mrs. L. R. Rundle, the guest speaker, Mrs. J. M. Brownlie spoke on the traditional observance of Christmas and the origins of Christmas customs

A stocking contest, organized by the president, was won by Mrs. Percy Grey. Mrs. E. C. Prentitce, president, was in the chair. The committee in charge served refreshments.

The next meeting, at which the topic will be Home Economics, will be held at the home of Mrs. Eugene Brady.

Flag Committee Renews Battle

QUEBEC, Dec. 11 (CP).—In an official "bulletin" La Ligue du Drapeau National du Canada today sought fresh support in the fight to have the flag of its choice selected eventually as the official Canadian flag.

"Today sees the opening of a new national campaign for obtaining official recognition at the next session of Parliament of our flag as Canada's national flag," Lucien Dubuc, league secretary, said.

This is the flag which placed second during the 1945-46 Parliamentary session's deliberations to a modified version of the Red Ensign which was chosen by a Commons committee as the likeliest Canadian flag.

The League's flag, with green maple leaf in the centre, is divided by a green diagonal from upper left to lower right which leaves the upper triangle red, the lower triangle white.

The Canadian flag, the League's bulletin declared, "must be free from all idea of foreign domination or protection." It added: "The Red Ensign, even under its modified form, still contains the Union Jack in the centre and is therefore unacceptable to true sons of the Canadian soil."

"The cloudless, sapphire heaven of her territorial skies . . ."
. . . Pauline Johnson.

Calgary was founded on the corner stones of cattle, wheat, coal, oil and natural gas and, above all, on that Albertan spirit of the adventure-minded. She is blessed with a people to whom every upset was a challenge to their ingenuity. Nearby is one of the most extensive coal fields in the world and the great Turner Valley with its millions in oil . . . and there is a super-abundance of natural gas.

In the town proper are giant flour mills . . . great cattle yards of the meat packing industry . . . sleek department stores and lovely, tree-shaded streets and homes. There are art and educational institutions, too, and, of course, there is the world-renowned Calgary Stampede. Visit this chinook-blessed metropolis. You'll like the friendly, stimulating City of Calgary.

'Twas the night before Christmas
and all 'round the tree
The family had gathered
To talk about me.

Mother thanked Dad
with her face all aglow
As she thought of how fast
I would make her work go.

"There's no bag to empty"
said mother with glee,
"It quickly cleans rugs
And keeps them moth-free."

"The filter's the secret"
said Dad, the explainer
"It collects all the dust
in the metal container."

"Once a month when it's emptied
all YOU need to do
is add a new filter
and it's good as brand-new."

"And that self-cleaning brush
means you'll have not a care.
For it gets dust and lint
and even dog's hair."

"The motor's so quiet
you won't know it's toiling.
It's super-strong, too,
and it NEVER needs oiling."

"With the snap-on attachments
that lock safe and snug,
You can spray wax or paint
. . . Even shampoo the rug."

"You can dust all your blinds
or polish the floors,
Demoth all your clothes
It does ALL of those chores.

"I guess I'm a hit"
Said the new FILTER QUEEN.
"I'm the cleaner that's different
. . . that KEEPS the home clean."

HERE'E A HINT TO ALL HUSBANDS:
To keep your wife happy and your home life serene, Treat the Mrs. this Christmas ta a new FILTER QUEEN.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

HE HAS A SURE STOPPER

YOU MAY BE pretty sure that a man who doubled your No Trump game while sitting at your left with a marked weak hand has what he considers a positive stopper in the long suit you had bid. Hence, in your playing plan, it is well to figure out, if you can, some way to get enough tricks without having to run that entire suit. Otherwise you may find at the end that what you originally added up to nine may aggregate only eight and leave you thwarted.

	♠J 5 2 ♥J 9 6 3 ♦K 10 4 ♣6 4 2
♠Q 7 ♥K Q 10 5 2 ♦Q 6 5 ♣Q J 9	N W E S	♠A 10 8 4 3 ♥A 4 ♦A J 9 7 ♣10 8
	♠K 9 6 ♥8 7 ♦8 3 2 ♣A K 7 5 3

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Dbl

With South showing enough for an overcall at the level of two, West knew North could not have much. With such a thin double, he should have reckoned, North would be sure at least to be able to stop a straight run of all the hearts. But apparently he did no such thinking. As soon as he won the third club lead, he attacked the hearts.

After winning the A, K and Q, he had the bad news from South's discard on the third one, that North still held the J. Then, too late, he switched to diamonds. The Q was led, the K covering, and he let it win since if he covered he had no re-entry for a finesse. North now scored his heart J and led the spade 2 to the A. The dummy was able to score the diamond A, J and 9, but that made only eight tricks. West had to give up the setter with the spade 10 to the K.

West should have protected himself against that series of events, if he had looked forward. He could have tried for all the diamond tricks, instead of giving up one, if he had retained his hearts for entries to his hand, so he could finesse diamonds twice. On taking the third club, he should have led the diamond Q, using the A when North covered. The heart A, K and Q would have put him in his own hand for a second diamond lead. This time his assignment would have been to finesse the 9 in the hope that North had the 10. This being the case, he then could have scored the diamond J and 7, and the spade A would have been the game trick.

That would have been hoping for a good deal, to find both the diamond K and 10 with North, but it would not have been hopeless, as was the heart run effort.

Your Week-End Question

What logic should tell declarer the most hopeful way to play a trump suit of seven cards to the king-jack-ten opposite two little ones, in order to avoid loss of two tricks in it?

AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVES of the counties in Central Ontario discussed trends and problems of their work in a two-conference here this week. They were left to right (above) clockwise: A. W. Sirett, Frontenac county; Edward A. Summers, Durham; A. Oliver Dalrymple, Hastings; G. W. Montgomery, assistant representative in Hastings county; Donald A. Taylor, Prince Edward; Frank C. Paterson, Prince Edward. Richard H. Graham, Ontario Livestock branch director, Toronto; J. A. Garner, director of extension, Ontario Department; A. M. Barr, assistant director of extension; Prof. W. H. Sproule, head of the dairy department, OAV; Dr. H. D. Bernion, department of nutrition and animal feeds, OAC. LeRoy Brown, Victoria county; H. Lynn Fair, (light colored suit) Ontario County; N. Ashton, Lennox-Addington; and in the centre foreground, Mr. Ralph Banbury of Brighton, agricultural representative in Northumberland. The discussions through two days covered a wide range of agricultural subjects, all the way from the seeming decline in the cheese industry to vitamins and animal feeds. Prof. Sproule expressed the hope and the opinion that the present lag in the Cheddar cheese industry was not a permanent decline.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Farmers Uneasy About Signs Of Deflationary Movement Aimed At Agriculture . . . Hastings Tops Ontario Counties In Cheese Production . . . . Exhibition Board Proposes Five-Day Show.

"There appears to be a dead set being made to introduce a defrationary period, and its first evidence is seen in an effort to depress agricultural prices," Mr. V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, commented to the Examiner to-day.

"Farmers are being asked, and that is probably too mild a word, to bear the burden of deflation. It is the same old story. Prices of farm products have always been the last to rise, thereby gaining a measure of advantage for agricultural producers, and the first to fall.

A usual procedure in accomplishing the depressing of farm prices is through the medium of consumer discontent. That is evident again now.

"Taking the long view, it can be said from the proofs which history provides that a cheap food policy is ruinous to the economy of every nation that has permitted it. One of our problems is to convince the consumer that he is directly affected in various ways by a cheap food policy that furnishes inadequate returns to agricultural producers. In the long run it means that his children will not be fed."

Mr. Milburn said that farmers as a whole, and especially their leaders, are deeply concerned about the present trends. Ultra free traders and advocates of free enterprise should realize that the whole economy of th nation is based on a sound agriculture.

Farmers have come through a period of controls, some of which were irritants, but their general effect was an assurance of markets for their output which enabled them to make definie plans to take the future by the forelock.

"I think there should be a disposition of compromise by other interested groups who must realize that farmers are an important and integral part of the whole economy."

Farmers have found themselves for many years to be the victims of a free marketing by which they virtually subsidized protected industries by feeding the nation on a basis of prices that failed to return to agriculture a fair share of the national income.

The depression period disclosed the weakness of their popsition, actually from lack of a directive policy that took account of their needs. Prices during the war provided them with funds which they have been largely spending on the upbuilding of their industry, even as other branches of industry do. Replacements is a common word in industrial maintenance, and it applies just as necessarily to agriculture. Purchase of new machinery, repair and alterations of farm buildings, and the investment of money in restoring the fertility of the soil have all been a recent necessary expenditure in an industry that had come through exceedingly lean years.

The prospect of a repetition of that experience is bound to be resisted by farmers who recogniz in present agitations a move to penalize them first in a shakedown from present levels. That sentiment takes full account of the uncertainties and confusions in the world to-day, with dependence on the British market and the Marshall plan's money.

HASTINGS CHEESE

Hastings County farmers will receive an estimated $2,000,000 from the output of their cheese industry this year. Of their 47 factories, 45 are owned and operated by farmers. Production this season is estimated at 5,800,000 pounds, placing Hastings first in the province.

Although cheese production has declined this year in volume, the firmness of the British demand as compared with wheat, eggs, and one or two other commodities suggests that degree of certainty of sales which farmers desire. Britain will take all the cheese Canada offers, according to recent reports from Ottawa regarding the British contracts.

BACON OUTLOOK

The overseas market for 160,000,000 pounds of bacon has also been received with satisfaction by Ontario producers. Home consumption has been around 87,500 hogs a month, and with approximately 60,000 a month required for Britain, it might entail a reduction in the domestic marketing.

FIVE-DAY "EX"

Directors of Peterborough Exhibition recommended last night to the 1949 board extension of their 1949 show from four to five days.

Hugh Stewart, Tom Brown and G. A. Gillespie attended at Orono Friday the district fairs meeting. Of the 25 fairs in Central Ontario, 22 were represented. Letters were received from Port Hope, Norwood and Apsley asking for the same dates as in the past.

Peterborough is taking the August week, and the general schedule of dates is unchanged. Claude Bottom of Bobcaygeon was chairman of the meeting.

NEXT WEEK'S MEETINGS

Annual meeting of Peterborough Plowmen's Association is down for Thursday, Dec. 16, at 8 p.m., in the office of F. C. Paterson.

Directors of the cheese producers are meeting Tuesday.

Zone finals in the junior farmers' public speaking competition will be heard at the Normal School here Monday, Dec. 13, in the evening. John Lewis of Smith is the local group representative.

EXPORTS NOT ALARMING

Exports of cattle are only a small percentage of the number owned and produced by Canadian farmers, Francis A. Flood, agricultural attache of the U.S. embassy, Ottawa, told the Carleton-Russell Holstein Breeders' Club.

And, because it is a profitable business, breeders were not going to export to the extent of hurting their business, Mr. Flood said. They need not fear results of the continuing demand and sales of pure bred cattle to the American market.

ONE COW'S RECORD

A Holstein cow owned by James R. Henderson, Portsmouth, has produced in her 16 years enough milk to supply a school of 25 pupils with one pint each a day for 35 years, on the basis of 200 days in the average school year. "Ruby", as she is known in Holstein circles, recently completed a life-time world record in milk and butterfat, on twice-a-day milking. The official figures are: 219,536 lbs. milk containing 7,624 lbs. butterfat. In more familiar terms her production is equivalent to 87,814 quarts of milk and 9,350 lbs. of table butter.

Estimating that an average family would use two quarts of milk daily, Ruby has given enough milk to keep one family supplied for 120 years. At her advanced age she is still hale and hearty, and her owner expects that she will be able to increase her production totals.

Berlin Mayor Asks West Reorganize Kommandatura Think Response Favorable

Urges Abolishing Boundaries Of 3 Zones; Compromise Finished Russia Warns Vishinsky Smarting Over Drubbing In UN

BERLIN, Dec. 13—(AP).—Mayor Ernst Reuter asked the three Western Powers tonight to reorganize the Allied Kommandatura without the Russians. The response was favorable. The Social Democrat leader was elected in the Dec. 5 voting. He placed the revival of the Kommandatura, which has been inactive since the Russians walked out last summer, at the top of its agenda. The Kommandatura was the four-power agency through which the occupying powers covered Berlin.

Reuter also proposed that boundaries between the three western zones be abolished, putting western Berlin on the same plane as western Germany.

The military governors of Britain, the United States and France will meet tomorrow in the Kommandatura building. An American official said it is highly possible the session will be devoted to organizing three-power rule.

No Compromise—Russia

PARIS, Dec. 13.—(AP).—Russia, bitter over the drubbing she has taken in the United Nations General Assembly, dropped diplomatic niceties Sunday night to issue a no-compromise warning to the west.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russian deputy foreign minister, attacked Britain and the United States in the closing minutes of the Paris Assembly.

That part of the session usually is reserved for expressions of praise and hopeful thoughts for the future. John Foster Dulles, acting chairman of the United States delegation, led off in traditional fashion.

But Vishinsky strode to the rostrum and reviewed every case in which the Russians had fought the west.

This is not the time, he said, for "paeans of praise."

He said the Russian delegation could not speak of any affirmative results in Paris. He declared the session would be described in history as one which took further steps toward a policy of wrecking international co-operation.

To Meet in April

The Assembly adjourned at 6.11 p.m. (12.11 p.m. EST), to meet again in New York April 1, 1949, to complete its work.

Vishinsky's outburst came soon after the Russian bloc had taken a severe beating in the Assembly. The delegates voted 48 to 6 with one abstention (Sweden) to endorse the government of the Republic of Korea (South Korea).

The vote also continued a U.N. Korean commission and instructed it to seek again to unify Korea. Russia has bared the U.N. Commission from Northern Korea where she has set up a "people's republic."

The end of the Paris Assembly, the longest so far in the world body's history, found the western powers and Russia further apart than ever.

But many delegates said they were relieved. They said they had arrived in Paris last September fearing war might break out; they are going home feeling more optimistic about peace.

SayGermanReds Dickering For Republic

BERLIN, Dec. 13—(AP)—A British-licensed newspaper said today German Communists are dickering with Russian authorities for creation of a republic of eastern Germany next spring.

The Socialist newspaper Telegrap said the republic apparently would be set up after the Communists complete a purge of their party ranks.

Communist Max Sydewitz, minister-president of the Soviet-occupied state of Saxony, was said to be the choice for president of the future republic.

Both the Communist and anti-Communist press have been carrying reports for months of a house cleaning in the Socialist Unity party, which the Communists created by forcing the Socialists in their zone to merge with them in 1946.

Telegraf said "weak" former Socialists were being dropped from the rolls of the party, which is dominant in the Russian zone.

Asked for comment on Telegraf's report, a spokesman for the Socialist Unity party said:

"No statement will be given. The whole article is a fabrication and not worth denial."

Plan Baptism For Wednesday

LONDON, Dec. 13. (CP)—Princess Elizabeth's son will be baptised by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, at a service in one of the state rooms on the first floor of Buckingham Palace next Wednesday afternoon.

This was made known today in an official announcement.

The first public description of the four-week-old baby is that he is "golden haired, with a most beautiful complexion."

Countess Granville, sister of Queen Elizabeth who recently peeked at the prince at Buckingham Palace, gave the description in a talk to a Girl Guide conference.

The infant who may some day rule the commonwealth "couldn't be more angelic looking," he said, and added he has "amazingly delicate features for so young a baby".

Report King Making Substantial Progress

LONDON, Dec. 13—(CP).—The King's doctors announced today that His Majesty has made substantial progress in fighting a serious leg ailment. They added, however, that he had been advised to undertake no public engagements before next summer.

The third medical bulletin since the announcement of the King's illness Nov. 23 said "further improvement in the circulation of both legs and feet may be anticipated."

The brief bulletin from the Palace shed no further light on the exact nature of the King's malady—names so far only as obstruction to the blood circulation in his legs, particularly the right one.

The bulletin was signed by six doctors, the five who signed the previous bulletins and Prof. James Paterson Ross, professor of surgery at London University and surgeon at St. Bartholomew's Hospital.

Dismisses Writ

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 13 — (CP).—Mr. Justice Brian Dunnfield today dismissed a writ brought against Governor Sir Gordon Macdonald and other members of the commission government by six former Legislature members. The writ contested the legality of Newfoundland becoming a Canadian province.

Police Provide Escort For Liquor Trucks

TORONTO, Dec. 13—(CP)—Police are providing guards for trucks bringing Toronto's Christmas liquor supplies from Windsor, it was revealed today.

Ontario Provincial Police said the convoy system was started to forestall robbery attempts. Provincial police escort the trucks from Windsor, on the 250-mile trip to Toronto city limits where Toronto police take over.

Police said one transport driver reported he had been followed by a large black limousine which attempted to force him from the highway. Other drivers said strangers had been inquiring about their cargoes, worth as much as $50,000.

Toronto's last liquor robbery was in 1943 when Donald (Mickey) McDonald held up a liquor transport in downtown Toronto, abducted the driver, and escaped with $35,000 worth of liquor. The driver was bound and dumped in a ditch and the cargo stored in a barn in suburban Weston. The cache was discovered when the barn floor collapsed under the weight of the liquor.

McDonald was sentenced to 15 years. He has been at large since 1947 when he escaped from Kingston penitentiary.

Trio Pleads Guilty To Car Theft Again

BRANTFORD, Dec. 13 (CP)—Three youths, already serving sentences for car theft, pleaded guilty to similar charges here today and were remained in custody to Dec. 20, for sentence.

They are: Douglas Wise, 17, of Brantford; Edmund Clarke, 21, formerly of Brantford; and his brother, John, 19.

John Clarke and Wise are serving jail terms for attempted escape from custody at Port Hope as well as terms for car theft involving an auto stolen from Port Hope.

Edmund Clarke is serving a three-year penitentiary term for the auto theft. The Port Hope magistrate classified him as a habitual offender.

The local charge arises out of the theft of an auto belonging to Joe Misuida, R.R. 2, Cainsville.

CCC Gives Red Warning

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 — (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent and his ministers were warned today by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to be on guard against growth of Communist influences in Canada. A large delegation of the chamber executives, headed by President Henry G. Birks of Montreal, gave the cabinet the policy resolutions adopted at the 19th annual meeting held last October in Vancouver.

Shocked At Evacuation Britons To Stay In China

SHANGHAI, Dec. 13. (AP) — British business, with the biggest foreign stake in China, is determined to "see it through."

The United States is evacuating non-essential personnel and dependents. Britain plans to concentrate her nationals within Shanghai and protect them if it comes to that.

Most Americans you talk to either have sent or are sending their families home. Britons are, well, shocked at the idea.

One English lady, a 20-year resident of Shanghai, was stopped on the street by a friend. "Are you evacuating?" the friend asked. "Good Lord, no!" she replied.

British holdings in China are rooted in generations of trade. Americans began doing business here in the comparatively recent past.

The British-owned North China Daily News, in one of its many editorials of late assailing the "spirit of defeatism," commented:

"The great trading machinery built up over so many years will not be saved by evacuation.

"The solution—the only solution—is over-all protection and maintenance of this machinery. To denude existing organizations of efficient staffs required to handle present and future business would be a serious disservice to our country."

has to be faced that if no attempt

The newspaper added: "The fact is made to protect British trade, if all the wealth that has been sunk in this country will be allowed to go by default, the chances of ever recovering it will be of the slimmest."

Mme. Chiang Mission A Failure

Reds Press Attack Only 50 Miles From City Of Nanking

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The United States—prepared to write off China as an almost certain loss—concentrated today on securing a non-Communist Western Europe.

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek's extraordinary mission to Washington her two appeals to State Secretary Marshall and her one direct plea to President Truman, appear not to have changed any important part of the American attitude toward the global struggle with the Communists.

Her mission is widely regarded here as a failure; the government she represents as a failing regime.

Only a "military miracle" seems capable of putting Generalissimo Chiang in position to make an effective bid for United States help in any way comparable to the money and supplies being poured into Europe.

Draft Alliance

Representatives of the United States and Canada and the five Western European union countries—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—settled down to work in earnest on the drafting of a North Atlantic military alliance.

The Chinese have estimated the cost of their tentatives program for United States economic and military help at around a $3,000,000,000 total for three years. There is no evidence that Marshall or Truman has ever given this program the slightest serious consideration.

By contrast, estimates of military help alone to Western Europe have run as high as $3,000,000,000 for the first year. This would be in addition to the billions already committed for economic recovery purposes under the Marshall Plan.

NANKING, Dec. 13 (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek's grim watch on the Yangtze is coming sooner than expected.

Car Hits Pole One Man Killed

FENELON FALLS, Dec. 13 — (CP).—Murdoch W. Cameron, 36, was killed and David Blair suffered a shaking up when the automobile in which they were riding skidded on an icy roadway, overturned and crashed into a telephone pole near here on Saturday night. Both men's homes are in nearby Norland.

Provincial Constable Lloyd Lyle, stationed in this Victoria county community 15 miles north of Lindsay, decided to charge Blair with dangerous driving. But he changed his mind when police cruiser in which Cpl. William Milton arrived from Lindsay to help in the investigation skidded on the same patch of ice and crashed into Lyle's police car.

Pickets Guard French Frontier

BRUSSELS, Dec. 13—(Reuters)—Pickets guarded the frontier today when 60,000 Belgian workers who cross into France daily went on strike against a French order preventing them taking more than half their earnings back to Belgium.

The strikers registered at Belgian labor exchanges.

A French finance ministry spokesman said in Paris that the French decision would not be modified at present.

Reports from the frontier indicated that the French employers fully approved the action of the Belgian workers, engaged mainly in textile, steel and building enterprises.

The workers' move will greatly increase Belgium's already rapidly rising unemployment figures, which stood last week at 200,000.

Commission Names 5 Western Bread Firms 2 Bakers, As Members Of Alleged Combine

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 — (CP).—The Combines Investigation Commission today named five Western Canadian bread companies and two bakers' associations as members of an alleged combine.

A report by H. Carl Goldenberg of Montreal, special commissioner, said they had committed "acts in restraint of trade" which violated the Combines Investigation Act.

Copies of the report have been sent to the Attorneys-General of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, the provinces where the alleged combine operated.

The report said the five companies operated in all three provinces and the Bakers' Associations in Alberta and British Columbia.

The companies were McGavin Bakeries Ltd., McGavin Ltd. (Alberta), McGavin Ltd. (British Columbia), Canadian Bakeries Ltd., Weston's Bread and Cake (Canada) Ltd. The trade associations named were the Alberta Master Bakers' Association Inc., and the Master Bakers' Association (Vancouver).

Significant By-Election Held In Nova Scotia To Choose Ilsley Successor

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, NS, Dec. 13—(CP).—In this historic area of Nova Scotia where British and French soldiers once shed blood to decide a government, voters began polling today to elect a member to the Federal House. The 156 polls in Digby-Annapalis-Kings opened at 8 a.m. and despite a prediction of overcast skies most observers predicted there will be a large turnout among the 37,319 eligible voters.

When balloting ends at 6 p.m. AST, the electors will have decided from among Liberal, Progressive Conservative and CCF candidates their Commons representative to succeed former Justice Minister Ilsley, who resigned some months ago.

Candidates are: Liberal, J. D. McKenzie, 59-year-old dairy operator and former Nova Scotia highways minister; Progressive Conservative, George C. Nowlan, 50, Wolfville barrister and former member of the provincial house, and CCF, Lloyd Shaw of Halifax, 35, former research worker and provincial executive of the party.

Predominantly Liberal

The riding has been predominantly a Liberal seat. Mr. Ilsley held the seat for 22 years.

The constituency, which will dissolve in the next general election, returned Mr. Ilsley in 1945 with a vote of 14,685. Progressive Conservatives captured 10,108, the CCF 1,255 and the Labor Progressives, 362.

Political men say this is probably the most significant by-election ever held in Nova Scotia, because three other similar ballotings are pending in Manitoba's Marquette, Ontario's Carleton and Quebec's Laval-Two Mountains.

Present standing in the House of Commons is: Liberals, 122; Progressive Conservatives, 65; CCF, 32; Social Credit, 13; others, eight; and vacant, five.

300 Invaders Sealed Off In Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Dec. 13—(AP)—Costa Rican authorities said today they have the country well under control, despite an invasion they claim was launched from Nicaragua with communist support.

Authorities said the invaders, estimated at not more than 200 to 300, have been contained in a small area in the northwestern extremity of the country near the Nicaraguan border.

Martial law has been decreed in this Central American country, which lies 180 miles from the Panama Canal. Civilians were mobilized as the governing Junta quickly improvised a defence force to take the place of the army which was ordered disbanded 11 days ago.

A Junta spokesman said the invaders were led by former Costa Rican president Rafael A. Calderon Guardia and were made up of communists, Nicaraguan national guardsmen and Costa Rican exiles.

Protest Violation

Costa Rica has protested to Nicaragua that the invasion constituted a "flagrant violation" of two inter-American accords—the 1928 pact of Havana and the Rio de Janeiro pact, ratified this month.

A similar protest was placed before the United Nations Security Council in Paris.

In Washington, the council of the organization of American States voted Sunday night to refer Costa Rica's plea for aid under the Rio pact to the foreign ministers of the 21 American republics.

Under terms of the Rio pact the foreign ministers meeting would issue a cease fire order, officially identifying the aggressor and adopt—by two-thirds vote—such enforcement measures as breaking of diplomatic relations, invoking economic sanctions or outright military assistance.

200 Marines Search, Find Girl In Jungle

GUAM, Dec. 13.—(AP).—Ruth Farnsworth was found alive but unconscious today in the jungle some 200 yards behind the small curio shop from which she disappeared mysteriously Saturday night.

Police said the 27-year-old San Francisco beauty apparently had been seized by a gang, criminally assaulted, beaten and left for dead.

The officers said there was evidence the attack was planned and carried out by at least "several persons."

Her condition was regarded as critical.

More than 200 marines, soldiers and island police had combed the jungle for Miss Farnsworth — one of the most beautiful girls in Guam.

She had been a navy civil service employee for two years. She disappeared from the Oriental goods shop, presumably about 8 p.m. Saturday. A passerby reported that he noticed the lights of the shop go out at that time.

Flood Crest Advances On Oregon Farmlands

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 13—(AP)—A rain-swollen river flood crest swirled out of here today toward the farming heartland of Oregon's fertile Willamette valley.

Four persons have perished in the floods and storms that sent 500 fleeing from lowlands here, stranded 200 neighbors away from home and ripped apart transportation and communication links throughout the state.

Trunk highways and rural roads are blocked by high water in the lowlands and earth slides and snow in the mountains.

Pair Washed Ashore In Bay After Boat Upset, Half Hour In Icy Water

Takes Father Long Time To Climb Onto Rocks Then Two Walk 1½ Miles To Reach Brother's Boat, Badly Exhausted

LITTLE CURRENT, Dec. 13—(CP). — Stanley Hebert of Killarney and his son, Bernard, 14, were still recovering this morning from half an hour in freezing Georgian Bay waters suffered Saturday morning when their motor boat sank 11 miles east of Killarney. The two were heading for a hunting camp near the east end of Collins Inlet when a big comber broke over the side of their 16-foot outboard, upsetting it and plunging them into the freezing water. They clung to the upturned boat for 25 minutes while big waves drove it toward shore.

The anchor caught after they had drifted across two shoals and they had to swim the last 25 yards to the ice-sheathed rock shore. The ground was covered with snow about two inches deep. Both said fingers were still numb and stiff this morning from exposure and the father was nursing a bruise on his head, received when the boat overturned, and bruised, gashed knees from frantic attempts to climb out of the water onto the icy rocks.

The father helped the son to shore. Without dry matches to start a fire they hiked a mile and a half around the shoreline through the bush to where Stanley Hebert's brother, Joe, had anchored his boat for lunch. He heard their cries and helped them the last 500 yards to the shelter of his 35-foot cruiser, the Elwood H.

Completely Exhausted

"They were exhausted when they got to the boat," Joseph Hebert said. "They would have died if I hadn't been there. They crossed the mouths of two bays to get to where I was and they couldn't have gone any farther."

When father and son decided to spend the week-end at a hunting lodge, Joseph Hebert agreed to take them in his fishing boat to a point where they go the rest of the way in their outboard. Father and son had barely rounded a point out of sight when the big wave broke over their boat and upset them.

Mimico Turns Down Cocktail Lounge

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP) — Suburban Mimico Saturday voted down proposals for a cocktail lounge and for sale of distilled liquors in the dining room of its only hotel.

To permit hotel owner Thomas Holmes to apply for the licences, it would have been necessary for 60 per cent of the 7,000 eligible voters to vote in favor of them. The vote was 2,287-1,874 in favor of the dining lounge licence and 2,209-1,973 in favor of the cocktail lounge licence.

The balloting in favor of the liquor proposals was approximately 55 per cent of the eligible vote.

The town of approximately 10,000 population just west of Toronto has one beverage room and a brewers' retail beer store.

See German Morale Higher But Feel War Inevitable

KITCHENER, Dec. 13—(CP)—Although the German people do not forget such occasions as Hitler's birthday, they have no desire to see a return of the Nazi regime, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Eubanks report. They have just returned to Kitchener after 2½ years in the Frankfurt area of Germany.

Mrs. Eubank is the former Joan Langridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. (Pat) Langridge.

Mrs. Eubanks served with the U.S. occupation forces as a civilian. Her role was that of placing U.S. personnel in positions suited to their skills. Her husband, a former army officer from Illinois, was attached to U.S. ordnance as a civilian.

They said that Frankfurt was a terrible sight to see, due to the fact that it had undergone terrific bombing during the war. It was an important railway centre and close to the I. G. Farben chemical works.

When they left Germany they said things were beginning to look better. After the war goods simply were not available, but in recent months supplies have become more plentiful and as a result the morale of the people is mounting.

Germans, generally speaking, feel that a war between the western allies and Russia is inevitable. The conquered nation has had its fill of Nazism and in centres where the war damage was not too great people have buckled down to business and cleaned up the rubble and are making an earnest effort to rehabilitate themselves.

5 Die In Fire Sweeping Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 — (AP).—Five persons died and 12 others suffered injuries or burns as a result of a flash fire which raced through the fifth floor of the seven-storey Victoria Hotel in the Loop District early Sunday.

Otto Dahl, a deputy fire-marshal, said that quick work by two bellboys and the recent encasement of the hotel's stairways as a fire prevention measure probably prevented a much worse disaster.

The bellboys, Sanders Davis and Rudolph Taylor, groped through the dense smoke to sound alarms for the sleeping guests.

Dead are William James Keane 25, in whose room the fire was discovered about 4:30 a.m.; Eugene Oyler, 48, and Allan McCullough 40, all of Chicago; Richard W. Cline, 18, of Xenia, O., and Richard I. Ulven 18, of Austin, Minn., both sailors stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Three of the dead were trapped in their rooms, one died in the hallway, and Keane died later in hospital.

Cause of the blaze, the second hotel fire in two days, was undetermined. Last Friday morning the six-storey Hubbard Hotel on the north side was destroyed with damage estimated at more than $100,000. The Victoria fire was extinguished in about an hour with damage estimated at about $10,000.

Pin-Ball Games Seized By Police

BRANTFORD, Dec. 13.—(CP).—Seven pin-ball machines valued at approximately $5,000 have been seized by an anti-gambling squad of the Ontario provincial police, Toronto, in Brantford sandwich shops.

Local O.P.P. officers offered no explanation regarding the seizure. The machines have been stored at the Brant county detachment office, Nelson St.

Corporal J. L. Whitty, officer in charge of the local detachment, said: "It is solely a matter of the anti-gambling squad. Members of the squad asked us for storage space and the machines have been stored here since the seizures on Friday and Saturday.

It is believed that the machines were seized when the proprietors of the snack shops allowed juveinles to play them.

If Freedom Preserved Aid Any Chinese Gov't

SHANGHAI, Dec 13 — (AP)—Paul Hoffman, economic co-operation administration chief, said today the ECA would continue to aid China under a different government—if that government preserved the freedom of the Chinese.

Hoffman was asked at a press conference whether ECA aid to China would continue if the Chinese communists or a coalition government should overthrow Chiang Kai-Shek and his Kuomintang governing party.

"If we are satisfied that the government represented all the people, guaranteed their freedom, permitted the operation of free institutions, free speech, free assembly and a free press, I would recommend that ECA continue and I think our government would approve a continuation," he said.

Newfoundland To Be Given $42,750,000 Grant Over A Period Of Years

Only One Member Of Delegation Refused To Sign Confederation Terms; Won't Pay Income Tax For Three Months

OTTAWA, Dec. 13—(CP).—Framework for a greater Canadian Confederation has been prepared and awaits only official and formal seal of parliamentary approval. One of the last steps was taken Saturday when eight men met in the stately Senate Chamber of the Parliament Buildings and signed historic terms of union of Newfoundland with Canada.

They were Prime Minister St. Laurent and Hon. Brooke Claxton, acting External Affairs Minister, who signed for Canada, and A. J. Walsh, chairman of the Newfoundland Negotiating Committee, and five other Newfoundlanders who signed for the people of the 450-year-old island colony.

They dipped their pens in an inkstand used at Quebec in 1864 by the original Fathers of Confederation, who envisioned a Canada which would include Newfoundland as well as the other British North American colonies.

That dream will reach fulfillment next March 31 when formal union is expected to take place.

Between now and that date, terms of union will be approved by the parliament of Canada and the government of Newfoundland in an enabling bill passed by the British parliament.

Appoint Lt. Governor

Then, a lieutenant-governor of Newfoundland will be appointed. He, in turn, will select an executive committee to govern the island until elections are held and the first provincial legislature of this new Canadian province convenes. The legislature must meet no later than four months after March 31.

Under terms of union, Newfoundland will receive a "transitional" grant of $42,750,000, spread over a number of years, as well as other payments and Canadian services, such as old age pensions, family allowances, veterans benefits and unemployment insurance.

In general, Newfoundland people will receive all the rights and privileges of Canadian citizens, which they will then have become.

Present at the signing as an onlooker was Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, who played a leading part in the negotiations before his retirement as prime minister a month ago.

Besides Mr. Walsh, signers for Newfoundland included F. G. Bradley, Joseph Smallwood, G. A. Winter, Philip Gruchy and J. B. McEvoy.

Refuses To Sign

One member of the Newfoundland delegation did not sign. He was Chesley A. Crosbie, who announced Friday he would not attend the ceremony because he was dissatisfied with the financial arrangements granted Newfoundland.

Terms of union provide that Newfoundland, including the coast of Labrador, will have seven members in the House of Commons and six in the senate. Date of by-elections for the Commons seats was not announced. They must take place under Canadian electoral law within six months after the speaker has been notified of the vacancies.

Terms also add $16,500,000 to the $26,250,000 which was offered to Newfoundland as a transitional grant a year ago, boosting the total to $42,750,000. In addition, Newfoundland will get $2,000,000 in re-establishment credits for her veterans and $5,000,000 as amounts recoverable and payable to the colony.

Canada will take over Newfoundland's net debt of $63,000,000 and try to provide dollars for the colony's sterling surplus of $8,000,000 to $9,000,000 within a year after union.

Retain a Surplus

Newfoundland will retain a surplus of between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 built up during the war.

She will receive the annual subsidy of $130,000 plus the 80-cent per capital grant provided for provinces in the British North America Act. For the island, with a population of 325,000, this will amount to $260,000 a year.

At the end of eight years, Canada will appoint a Royal Commission to review the province's financial position and decide whether any additional federal assistance is required.

Newfoundland, which has little agriculture or dairy industry, will retain the right to manufacture and sell margarine within its borders. But it may not ship the butter substitute to other provinces unless the supreme court of Canada rules that the federal ban against margarine is invalid.

No Income Tax

Residents of the new province will not pay federal income tax on earned income for the first three months after union and will not, of course, be liable for tax on income acquired in the three months between Dec. 31 and March 31.

The purpose of the provision is to extend to Newfoundland a benefit Canadians got several years ago when they began paying income tax in installments or through deductions at source.

On July 1, residents of the island will start paying fedral income tax on the usual basis—through deductions from salary cheques or other sources of income. The exemption applies mainly to earned income but also extends to investment income up to $3,000.

The purpose of the arrangement, as it applied to Canadians several years ago, was to facilitate the changeover from paying tax in a lump sum at the end of the tax year—in arrears—to pay it currently.

Tax on investment income more than $3,000 may be postponed until the death of the taxpayer and settled from his estate or paid immediately with a discount.

Corporations, however, do not get the same benefit as individuals. They will start paying federal income tax from the date of the union—March 31.

"It was snowing pretty thick," Stanley Hebert said, "and the waves were really rolling. We were right out in the open bay when the boat filled and rolled over. We hung on to the bottom of the boat while she drifted in toward shore and then swam the last 25 yards when the anchor caught.

"The shore was all rock with ice about 1¼ inches thick and we tried several times to get up on the rocks before we finally made it."

Didn't Think He'd Make It

"I didn't think dad was going to make shore when he struck out for it," the boy said. "He was hanging to the stern and I was hanging to the bow. The waves were washing over his head and I couldn't see him at times. The spray was freezing on the keel and then when he got to shore I didn't think he was going to get up on the rocks."

Joseph Hebert had just finished making tea when he heard their shouts and went to meet them. He poured a drink of hot tea into each and got them on board his boat. It took an hour and 10 minutes to get back to Killarney where father and son were put to bed under medical attention.

The outboard and motor valued at $600 were lost.

Holstein Breeders Meet Review Successful Year

"You are the most important people in the country," Dr. R. A. McIntosh of Ontario Veterinary College told the Peterborough Holstein breeders at their annual meeting here on Saturday.

"The livestock you raise are the most important animals, and I don't care much what breed you are in. The cow is the most couldn't get along without them. important animal on the farm. We

"Every country producing good livestock is always among the wealthiest. The United States leads the world in wealth today, and incidentally it is the greatest livestock producer. We in Canada follow close behind them in per capita production of livestock. Ontario leads in this regard and is the wealthiest of our provinces."

In South America, the Argentine leads in livestock and wealth, and down through the years Great Britain has been a world leader in the quality and number of livestock, and in the purity of its breeds.

"So, don't grow tired of your job. Your cows are of more value thany any of the other animals you raise, and in your job of production of good stock you are contributing to the wealth of this nation."

Dr McIntosh spoke on the subject of sterility, and expanded it with pictures in color into a discussion of the health of cattle. Sterility was one of the most difficult problems confronting veterinary science, especially in determining its cause. Sometimes it developed in cows of the heavy milk prdouctions records which breeders like to build up. Secretion of milk was a natural reproductive function.

Give More Milk

"Through selective breeding you get cows today giving three or four times as much milk as one calf requires. The whole being of that cow becomes directed to the production of milk. In some instances if she has been milking nine, twelve or fifteen months steadily, it is hard to get her to conceive. When a sterile animal of that type is brought to us, the first thing we ask for is permission to dry her off. I don't think it is wise to keep on milking if she does not conceive."

Norman McConkey, chairman, asked to be relieved of the presidency, which he has held three years.

"I think this has been the best year in our history," he said. "Our breed has made most progress this year, and I feel that it is going to be improved by the new artificial breeding unit that was greatly enlarged at Maple this year. I am grateful to the Holstein fraternity for electing me president these last three years. It was the first chairmanship I ever occupied. I think it is time I stepped down, and I do so humbly and regretfully."

Continuance of the championship shows in 1949 was recommended in a motion by Joseph T. Tully, and Joseph Coughlin.

Directors were re-elected as follows: Stewart Nelson Everett Elmhurst, Ed. Bulmer, Earl Doris, Walter Thorn, Vern Campbell, J. T. Tully, Ernest Fife, Henry Sharpe, Jos. Coughlin, Floyd Buck, Alan Davis and Mr. McConkey. Officers are elected later by the directors.

John A. Tamblyn, Orono, salesman, reported having sold this year 53 of the members' cattle for $18,969, an average of $358, as compared with 90 head in 1944 at an average of $246. The average in 1945 was $259; in 1946 it was $243, and $275 in 1947.

Stanley Wood, secretary-treasurer, read the financial statement, and Roy Ormiston reviewed the finances of the district championships show here in October.

"This Peterborough group is one of the keenest in our area" Mr. Ormiston said, "and I hope you are going to keep up that interest. You have built up a strong organization, but the job is still before you in keeping it at that level."

Mr. Ormiston said he expected one of the reserve all-Canadians would be nominated out of this county.

2 Angry Boys Shoot At House

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Two young boys, under arrest on charges of malicious damage, fired three air rifle shots through a suburban home Friday because they had been refused shortcut privileges across the backyard, police said Sunday night. The pellets ripped through a nursery window at the Port Credit home of Mrs. Constance Cook and barely missed Mrs. Cook's seven-month-old daughter, Mabel.

Following a house-to-house search of the district, Constable Gordon Stanfield arrested the juvenile gunmen today and charged them with malicious damage.

They admitted standing outside the Cook home and blasting the lead pellets through the window. The shots pierced the glass five feet from where the child lay asleep.

The gun, police said, was stolen from the father of one of the boys. "He said he and his pal wanted to get even with Mrs. Cook," the policeman said. "They were told not to cut across her backyard because they were ruining the flower bed."

Mrs. Cook recalled asking some children not to go tramping through the yard because their noise awakened the baby.

With a Chinese Communist attack reported only 50 miles northwest of this capital, government military sources said Communist infiltration and heavy Nationalist losses may soon force abandonment of the new Hwei river defence line. That would shove National defences back to the Yangtze river.

These sources reported that more than 50,000 troops of the government's long encircled 12th Army Group have been wiped out southwest of Suhsien, about 145 miles northwest of Nanking.

The 12th, which originally numbered some 110,000 now has been compressed into an area of less than four square miles. Its critical shortage of supplies is worsening. Pilots report difficulty in dropping material into the shrinking target area.

The Communist radio asserted that remnants of the 12th Army Group are "being mopped up." Neutral observers said elimination of the 12th would free at least 80,000 Red troops for action against the understrength Sixth and Eighth Army Groups.

Rail Traffic Disrupted

Communist units crossing the Hwei east of Pengpu already are threatening the vital rail link between Pukow, on the Yangtze, and Pengpu. Traffic has been disrupted frequently.

Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, minister of war, told the Kuomingtan political council, that only two Communist brigades were presently operating against the railroad. He said the line had been repaired and traffic again was moving to Pengpu.

The darkening military picture in North China was almost equally bad. Associated Press correspondent Spencer Moosa reported clashes only eight miles from Peiping, China's ancient capital.

He said it was reported without confirmation that the Nationalists had abandoned Changping and Nankou, only 20 and 25 miles northwest of Peiping. The communications bureau said no messages could be accepted for Nankou.

50 Miles From Nanking

NANKING, Dec. 13—(AP)—An atack only 50 miles northwest of this capital city strongly suggested today and immediate Chinese Communist drive on Nanking.

And if the Communist radio claims are true, Communist Gen. Chen Yi has the potential strength to bring Nanking under cannon range by year's end—or before.

It depends on whether, as the Communists say, they have completely smashed the Nationalist 12th Army group and cut to half the strength of the former Suchow garrison.

Fresh trouble arose for the government almost in Peipling's backyard. Communists were reported only 13 miles from the city, with skirmishing five miles beyond west airfield.

An official of the British-Chinese Kailan mining administration confirmed that government troops have quit the great Tangshan coal mine area. Left behind him was a stockpile of 1,000,000 tons of coal. Nothing was destroyed at the plant.

Sever Rail Line

The Communists, in striking a bare 50 miles from Nanking, severed the railway supply line to the front near Chiashan.

The infiltration was viewed by neutral observers as the first step in Communist plans to cut off the last free government force north of the Yangtze. The marauders appeared to come from the possibly 30,000 Communists who crossed the Hwai River 40 miles east of Pengpu.

The government's Suchow garrison appears to be stalled 50 miles south of the fallen city. It started out Dec. 1 with an estimated 250,000 men ordered to the relief of the trapped 12th Army group under Gen. Huang Wei.

The government has acknowledged more than 30,000 casualties in the Suchow force led by Gen. Tu Li-Ming.

Official sources admitted the 12th has lost 40 per cent of 110,000 men. This force has been trying to fight through a Communist trap to the Sixth Army group 25 miles to the southeast.

Gold Issues Hold Spotlight On Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 13.—(CP). — Gold issues held the spotlight on the stock exchange here today, advancing strongly in brisk trading to pull up to the best levels since early November. Industrials and base metals moved quietly firmer and western oils showed a slight improvement in dull action.

Piccadilly Mines started the gold list on its upward swing. The stock climbed to a new high at 19 cents in the first few minutes of trading following news that a well in which Piccadilly has an interest was showing 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Senior golds suddenly attracted interest for advances ranging up to McIntyre's $1. A wide range of juniors were also strong as most of the action on today'ss board centred in the golds.

Industrials moved irregularly higher on small advances. International Paper was strong for a gain of about $1 and several utilities brightened.

Smelters led a strong base metals group, adding $1. International Nickel and Noranda were fractional gainers and Silver Miller, Waite Amulet and Sherritt were pannies lower.

Thieves Wreck Station Safe

PICKERING, Dec. 13. — The safe of the CNR station here was blown open with high explosives sometime in the early hours of Saturday morning and looted of $100 in cash, a quantity of postal notes, money orders and non-negotiable cheques. David Warren, section foreman, found the station office scattered with soap and the safe wrecked beyond repair when he came to open the office Saturday morning.

A number of the cheques were later found blowing around in a ditch at Liverpool, several miles west of Pickering. Warren, who lives about 150 feet away from the station, said he heard nothing during the night and it is believed the safe crackers took advantage of a passing freight train to cloak the sound of the explosion.

Police Chief John Irvine said he believes the burglary was the work of the same gang who blew the safe of the Peterborough Cooperative store at Sunderland last week and escaped with $500.

"Soaping the safe crevices with explosive before blowing it is exactly the method used at Sunderland," the chief stated. CNR detectives and provincial police are co-operating in the investigation.

The series of safe-blowing jobs in Ontario County has now reached a total of five, beginning with the removal of the Port Perry post office safe last September. The Sunderland robbery last week was a "repeat performance" as the same store safe had been pried open a month before and looted of $600.

Union Committees Discuss Problems

Negotiating committees from the various UE-GE plants in Toronto, Cobourg and Peterborough met over the week-end in Peterborough to discuss aspects of the Master Agreement in the 1948-49 contract.

According to C. R. Sullivan, secretary of UE-GE Conference Board, purpose of the meeting "was to discuss problems affecting GE workers and work out arrangements for the maximum protection of the workers as laid down in the Master Agreement of this summer."

"Main discussion centred around the task of completing arrangements on a plant for seniority and job-rate relationship throughout the GE works," he said.

Included at the conference were delegates from the Royce, Davenport, Ward and Carboloy Work in Toronto as well as the Cobourg and Peterborough plants.

C. S. Jackson president of District 5, was chairman.

Discover Stolen Township Records

OSHAWA, Dtc. 13—Reeve D. Thomas of East Whitby Township announced Sunday that the township's assessment roll and tax arrears ledger, stolen when the municipal offices were burglarized on Oct. 5, had been discovered in a clump of bushes near a country road.

Provincial Police declined to discuss the location of the find, made on Friday by three men hunting foxes. Names of the men were also withheld. Condition of the books is said to be quite good, with all writing still legible.

Reeve Thomas said: "We are certainly very happy to recover these documents. Township officials had already started the task of making up a new roll and I was informed by the deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs that it would have required an act of the legislature to put it in effect."

Covers of the books alone were damage. Officials said they were damp and had earth clinging to them.

Story of Jack Miner's Work Told To Fish and Game Club

COBOURG, Dec. 13 (ENS) — Captain George Cox of Cobourg Salvation Army, who was raised on the farm next to Jack Miner's Bird Sanctuary, was the speaker at the monthly meeting of Northumberland Fish and Game Association. Charles Miner, brother of Jack Miner, was the grandfather of Captain Cox. When a young lad, Captain Cox raised young quail, using the hens at the Bird Sanctuary to hatch them.

"Jack Miner would have been at home in your midst tonight because Miner was a sportsman. Unlike so many bird fanciers who ride a hobby and resent anyone interfering with their wildest dreams, Miner never gave up hunting. He never had any dislike for hunters and sportsmen. Rather his life was devoted to keeping wild life in abundance so that generations to come would still experience the thrills of early day pioneers, that of bagging real wild life," Captain Cox told his listeners.

"He detested, however, with all his soul, indiscriminate killing and slaughter just for the love of killing. Kill a goose and eat it but please don't make it a business and commercialize it, he would plead. In this respect some of his worst enemies were his own brothers. When he was working so hard to win the confidence of the geese, his own brothers hadn't yet caught the vision and would shoot almost at his back door. Let me say, too, that when he persuaded the government to set seasons and restrict areas, so that a haven amidst the storm of gunshot might be available. He did not hesitate to lay a charge against his own brother until they learned to respect the law," Captain Cox declared.

Jack Miner loved deer hunting and went every year, the speaker said. But when his brother was accidentally shot, Jack Miner never went again. He has a very interesting theory on moose horns, from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. Cow moose must have protection against the love-crazed stag. Thus she has no horns and can crowd into light standing timber. The States, coming from Dover Cenhorns fall off December 15 and begin to grow again in spring. In ten weeks they are full size again. Thus young moose are only born in spring.

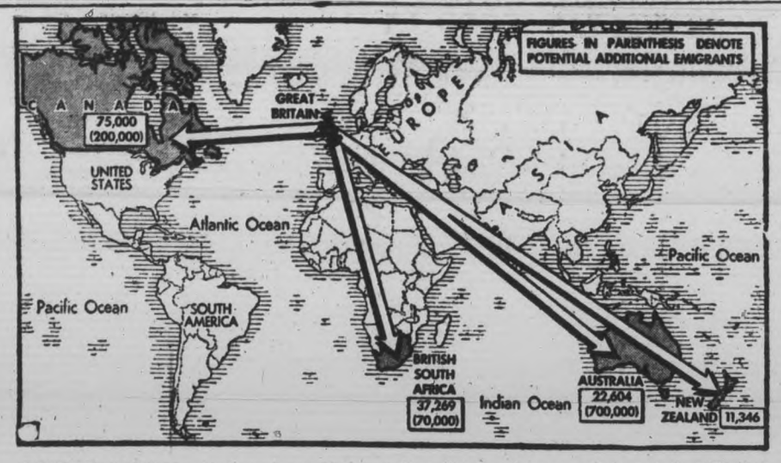
Miner was born in the United States, coming from Wover Certre, near Cleveland, Ohio, and in 1878 crossed to Canada at Kingsville. He was taught how to make bricks and the old brickyard still stands, although it is no longer worked. The clay hole has become part of the great pand in which 5,000 Canada geese spend a part-time vacation and around which they live for five months in the year. His education, as far as schooling was concerned, lasted three months. Despite his lack of early schooling, Jack Miner has tuored all across Canada and great sections of the United States as a lecturer and has several books on the market.

Partnership with God

"He was never pretentious. 'Uncle Jack' or 'Jack' was all he ever got or wanted. He would wear a plaid shirt and no tie unless his sons or daughters-in-law got hold of him. He was an ardent Sunday School teacher, not a religious fanatic but one who always felt that life was so much fuller if it were lived in partnership with God. And besides the birds, he has influenced dozens of young boys who are now influential men in the community. He had a sign 'my home is private on Sunday' and this indicates how rigidly he held to his religious duties. The grounds have been planned to accommodate Sunday School picnics from near and far. The fame and worth of Jack Miner's project came into recognition when he was able to supply scientific research committees and groups with previously unavailable data on migratory birds and habits of birds. This was done by tagging. It didn't happen overnight. He had his pond—trees had been brought from northern Ontario but in 1912 only one goose landed and from then until 1921 only eight had visited the place Since then it has become a very popular resort for birds and the whole migratory course of birds has been changed. 5,000 birds and upwards visit every fall and spring, staying from early September to freeze-up and then in the spring a stopover for a few weeks," Captain Cox related.

The tags bore Jack Miner's address and a verse of Scripture. This idea was taken from the Salvation Army Calendar with daily Scripture verses. It worked this way, that whenever they were shot down, the unique idea of the Scripture reading appealed to the hunter. In the Hudson's Bay district the Indians would get the tags and take some to the missionaries for identification and thus they would be returned to Jack Miner. Jack Miner knew that the goose was a very smart bird and he knew that if a goose was smart to go half a mile to avoid an enemy it would cross a continent for a friend. This he proved by the 5,000 and more geese that return every year. They leave the Miner sanctuary every night about 4:15 as regular as clockwork, rise and circle, gain altitude and then float calmly and evenly in formation far out into Lake Erie where they spend the night, he said.

"Jack Miner does not agree with several supposed authorities on the hawk question. The Department says to let nature take its course and if the hawks kill, then it will even up somehow. However, Miner says it is not natural for birds to be so congested at his place and therefore must be protected. Three boys carry on—Jasper, Ted, Monty. Miner said that he was building a memorial and wanted to be buried there. What a lovely place to spend eternity. In my last chat with him, he said 'mother and I are building a memorial here. We want to be buried here.' If you had heard him I doubt if you could help feeling the same as I. To so live that eternity held no fears or regrets. A useful life, building a better future is the only life worth while," Captain Cox said in conclusion.



BRITISH EYES are looking beyond the island kindgdom to distant points in the empire untouched by war's bitter and heavy hold. With each passing day, ships and planes leave England for far-away horizons taking as cargo families who seek new lives in a future of hope. It is not that English families are foresaking their fatherland. English families are tired of rationing that began almost 10 dreary years ago. They're tired of living midst the ruins of war, and tired of a life that holds little immediate hope of brighter days.

Strikes Today Boomerang Speaker Says

"Strikes were necessary long ago but are now acting as a boomerang," said the Rev. L. A. Gregory, Toronto, General Secretary of the Baptist Board of Religious Education, at the Sunday evening service of Murray Street Baptist Church, his topic being Authority of Jesus Christ. "They were necessary to obtain certain freedoms. No one objects to paying taxes because they know there has to be money to maintain the different governments."

"We must obey the laws whether our own or of a higher authority. Authority is associated with loud voices and large forces to maintain this authority. The authority of Jesus Christ is the one authority that does not rest on these two things. His authority rests on His character and personality. He was persuasive and domineering but not too domineering. There is a authoritative rule in the hearts of men."

"There were three great qualities in this Man. They are compassion, wisdom or intelligence. He was uncompromising. He healed the sick and helped the needy and the sorrowful. Jesus spent most of His time with the forgotten men and women. He had power that could be used not for Himself but for all that could be helped without giving anything in return. His guidance is ever ready," Mr. Gregory said.

"His intelligence is universally acknowledged. The Jewish people recognize Him not as the Saviour, but as a great leader and interpreter of God. He was quite uncompromising. He met His opponents of the world squarely and beat them at their own game. Jesus Christ was too good for them. He didn't hide but spoke in the open without fear or favor. When there was no other way, He laid down His life for us."

"The authority of Jesus Christ stands on those things. There stands about us a Master who reigns by means of the truth of His claims and His teaching."

In addition to preaching Mr Gregory sang "Be Thou My Vision."

Young People's Groups of the Church conducted the service. Some members lead the congregation in prayer.

The CGIT choral group sang and held a small candle-lighting service telling the meaning of the five candles.

Man Dies After Fighting Sunday Fire At Marmora

Pupils Present Unusual Musical Show

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 13. — (ENS).—An audience of about 400 that filled the High School auditorium heard a delightful musical performance on Friday evening by the pupils of St. Josephs Convent. The program was arranged by the pupils of St. Joseph's Conpanist was Miss Colletta O'Keefe, ATCM.

By-Lo-Land, taken from Miss Moynahan's Plays, was beautifully portrayed by babes of the dancing class and grades 1, 2 and 3 of St. Mary's School. The little tots, dressed in colorful pyjamas and carrying pillows, had fun after their mother, Arlene Beli, and the angels, Judy Hopping, Sharon Rodgers, Iona Sharp and Darleen Lloyd, had been in to see them.

The rhythm dance, "Hickory, Dickory Dock," by the juniors, clad in yellow fur-trimmed dresses, was well done. The junior dancing class, costumed in dainty red gowns and with high hats of the same color, cleverly executed a movement, "Tips and Taps." The "Ballerina Dance" by the senior girls in their flowing gowns and carrying tambourines was gracefully performed and well received.

The senior dancing girls in the "Military Tap" with their red coats, blue shirts and guns, presented a very pleasing appearance and added a lively military touch. Shirley Jewell, dressed in Scottish plaid, cleverly manipulated the intricate movements of the Highland fling.

A little pair who captured the hearts of the audience were Iona Sharp and Judy Hopping in the "Court Minuet." Iona was clad in a floor-length gown, while Judy portrayed the gentleman in her swallow-tailed coat, satin breeches, buckled shoes and white wig.

Youthful Bobby Fredericks, dressed in plaid shorts, bronze and yellow cape, tapped to the tune of "Yankee Doodle"; James Loucks, garbed as a school master, performed a waltz clog; and wrapped in a quaint costume, six-year-old Kenneth Kirk did a tap solo. The hoop drill was cleverly done by the senior and intermediate girls who wore dresses of crepe paper of various hues.

The instrumental and vocal sections of the program were of a high order. Gerald Young, who is a frequent performer on the violin, gave an outstanding interpretation of the "Country Dance," and those who took vocal parts showed excellent control and a fine sense of expression and timing.

Delightful Carol Service Held At Lakefield School

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 12 (Staff)— To herald the second successive carol service arranged by the Lakefield Preparatory School in St. John's Anglican Church, the church was filled to overflowing by all denominations on Sunday afternoon. A service held for many years at the School Chapel, it was found necessary to stage it in larger quarters to accommodate people from Peterborough, Toronto and even a few from the United States.

The Grove boys' choir filled the chancel stalls and the student body was accommodated in the front pews. The beautiful small stone Gothic church was decorated with greens and holly and two large lighted trees flanked the altar. By their illumination and altar candles the boys' choir sang by soft candlelight under direction of choirmaster Christopher Gledhill of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough.

The service opened to the rollicking strains of "Good Christian Men, Rejoice," by both choir and congregation followed by a rendition of "The Wassail Bough" by the choir only; they also sang the "Coventry Carol". Other favorite carols were sung by all in unison and included "A Virgin Unspotted", "O Little Town of Bethlehem", "The First Noel", "When Christ Was Born" and "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen".

Scriptural readings, throughout the program, were given by the following Grove boys, William Gibson, Lee Broard, William Hill, Blair Whittemore and Anthony Johnston the latter so short that his head just appeared above the top of the lecturn.

Followng the offertory both choir and congregation joined in singing "We Three Kings", "Unto Us A Boy Is Born", "All My Heart This Night Rejoices", and "Christ Was Born On Christmas Day". The service was brought to a close with a fine rendition of "Adeste Fideles" in which the thin piping voice of the smallest child could be distinguished in the grand roll of the final line "O Come Let Us Adore Him."

After the service was over, the children went to the front of the church to admire a lighted Creche and each of the congregation was greeted by the rector the Rev. Delaney in the porch entrance of the church. Grove headmaster G. Winder Smith, who was responsible for the overall organization of the splendid service, said enthusiastically that it was the finest service that has ever been held.

Design For A New Province

The terms under which Newfoundland will federate with Canada were announced on Saturday. It is too early to say whether, financially, they are more costly to Canada than to Newfoundland. Fifty years hence a just appraisal may be possible, and then nobody except fretful provincialists will be concerned. It can be said now that politically, militarily, socially and economically, the union will be a boon to both Newfoundland and the existing nine provinces. The complexity and magnitude of an act of union between a long-established if small nation like Newfoundland and a modern state like Canada is shown by the details of the pact. When union between these two closely allied countries which have the same political and racial roots involves such a multiplicity of terms and constitutional issues, can it be wondered that a complete European union seems a practical impossibility?

Newfoundland's accession will benefit Canada in a political way which has been little commented on. Newfoundland will help to adjust the balance between various sectors of the country. Now the separate voices of Ontario and Quebec are too loud in Federal affairs. Newfoundland will strengthen the Maritime group. The four smaller eastern provinces will together help to offset the proponderant influence which Ontario and Quebec can at times use to the detriment of the country as a unit.

Will President Truman Follow Middle Course?

The more cautious among political commentators in the United States, who hesitated to rush into print with predictions concerning President Truman's future course following his surprising election triumph, are now in a better position than their more hasty colleagues. The latter had predicted wholesale Cabinet changes and a sharp swing to the left. Neither trend has yet become apparent; instead, there are indications that Cabinet changes will be few and that any swing to the left will be less pronounced than that expected by industrial and financial leaders. On this evidence—admittedly not conclusive—and President Truman's moderate attitude at his first press conference, the commentators who waited now base predictions that Mr. Truman will follow a safe middle course, as he sees it.

In support of these predictions, it is contended that Mr. Truman is now less likely than ever to be influenced very strongly by advisers of either the right or left. Mr. Truman, quite naturally, now regards himself as his own most trusted adviser—the one most likely to be right. He was almost alone in predicting the outcome of the Presidential election, confounding opponents, experts and pessimistic well-wishers alike. And it is now learned that his optimism regarding the outcome was not artificial, but the product of what proved to be shrewd political calculation.

When Mr. Truman returned from his first campaign tour in September, he wrote out a state-by-state prediction of the outcome. He called the turn in forty-five states out of forty-eight, and it may be argued that he was wrong in only one and one-half states. He was wrong on California, which he conceded to the Republicans; his predictions in Virginia and Maryland were only reversed when the former went Democratic while the latter went Republican.

It is reasonable to assume that the accuracy of Mr. Truman's state-by-state calculations will lead him to rely more on his own judgment than on that of any circle of advisers. And if that assumption proves correct, a not illogical deduction is that President Truman, who in the past has shown no striking tendency to swing either to left or right, will follow a similar course in future.

The Hon. Phillipe Roy

The man who was Canada's first Minister to Paris, and our second to any foreign country, died last Friday at the age of eighty. He was Dr. Phillipe Roy, who gave up his medical practice in Edmonton and a seat in the Senate to which he had been appointed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and in 1911 went to France as Commissioner-General. From that year until 1938 when he retired to Ottawa, Phillipe Roy served Canada in France.

In many ways he was the servant of both France and Canada. His simple charm, his discreet and informed diplomacy and his popularity not only with Canadian soldiers during the Great War and Canadians travelling in France, but with the French people, made him a valued member of both countries. He was a Grand Officer of the Legion of Honour and an honorary citizen of Paris. If he needed a monument, it could be the student house in the Cite Universitaire which was erected through his initiative. On the 25th anniversary of Dr. Roy's arrival in Paris, Gabriel Honotaux said to him in the name of France: "It is now 25 years we have possessed you and we are ready, if you are, to renew the lease for another such period". He continued to serve Canada in France for another three years until his retirement a decade ago. We have had no official abroad more devoted than Dr. Roy, whose diplomatic career spanned the first quarter century of Canada's diplomatic service.

Army Pants—Slightly Used

We have been reading a shop's advertisement offering for sale "Army Pants, Slightly Used". What a host of conjecture the advertisement rouses! "Slightly Used". Why only slightly? Were the former wearers lazy soldiers, swinging the lead? Perhaps they belonged to infantrymen so zealous in their duties that they never sat down in them long enough to wear and tear them. Or were they the property of men in semi-tropical theatres of war who were clad in khaki shorts and kept the longs in kit bags ten months of the year? Perhaps they have had a dull history—no parades along the Via Roma in Naples or in Piccadilly, no desperate campaigns at Ortona, Boulogne, Kiska, Camp Borden; no skirmishes with hedges in Kent, pubs in Surrey, Germans in the Hochwald.

Perhaps some are exalted pants. May there not be one pair that travelled in General Crerar's caravan, another that mounted guard at Buckingham Palace? "Slightly Used". By a padre deep in prayer under an olive tree, by a V.C. being decorated by the King, by a bashful trooper taking tea in Lady Bottomley's drawing-room, by a Provost Corps corporal doing point duty on "Maple Leaf Up", by a private quaking on the Colonel's mat for being three hours A.W.L.?

Alas, we fear that too many of them are merely shop-worn from lying idle too many months and years in ordnance depots. No Charing Cross commando came to rescue a pair from the shelves, saying, "These will fit" (had he had the choice). No lad has had them as part of his new outfit for the proud return to Canada. No crafty soldier has secured them as an extra pair to "flog" for a souvenir of Florence or a bottle of giggle-juice. These men probably never came for the pants. So now they rest in a shop in an Ontario town, condemned to a drab civilian future, with no glowing khaki past.

Good Ontario Legislation

In the last session of the Ontario Legislature, an act was passed revising methods of recording vital statistics. This Act comes into force with the new year. The Ontario legislators and Mr. Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs, are to be commended for the reforms embodied in the new Act. The complete record of births, deaths, marriages, stillbirths, divorces, changes of name, and adoptions, will be centralized. This will not only clarify the statistics but make them more easily available. The increased penalties for misstatements about births and deaths, and the fortified regulations to ensure that doctors will not sign statements that they were present at the time of death unless they actually were, will be an added protection to our society. The ruling that the mother has the primary responsibility for registering a birth is sensible, since even a child born out of wedlock is hers.

The best clause of the new Act is that which removes the names of the father and mother from a birth certificate. Thus a child born out of wedlock will no longer be branded as illegitimate every time his birth certificate is produced. Illegitimacy is not the fault of the illegitimate child and Ontario now recognizes that a person should not be called a bastard on his own birth certificate.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Rheumatism is said to be "giving British doctors a great deal of concern". Some of their patients find it pretty rough, too.

The Earl of Wilton is in trouble for avoiding British currency regulations. On the carpet, in fact.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

SINCE Hesketh Pearson in 1931 left the stage to write biographies, he has published four which are considered important—Erasmus Darwin (the life of his ancestor), a life of Shakespeare, Conan Doyle and William Hazlitt. His late work on the life of Oscar Wilde has had a great success in Canada, the United States and Europe. But the Pearson biographical essay which has appealed to me most is the life of Sydney Smith—the "Smith of Smith's" to use Macaulay's phrase to describe that poorly-paid and very witty English cleric. This is now fortunately available in the Penguin series, which means that there is no excuse for its absence on any library shelf.

SYDNEY, whose political efforts on behalf of the Whigs in the radical Edinburgh Review were paradoxically regarded by the Tory Party, spent many years away from his beloved London—in the country. Though he hated it as many of his letters and not a few of his witticisms show, he found something to admire there.

"The warmth and softness of the climate was a constant theme of his," Pearson writes, "and he even claimed that oranges grew wild in his garden. To prove his assertion he had oranges tied to the shrubs and trees, and these looked so natural that people believed him—until he told them to pick a few, when they discovered the growth a little too tenacious to be true. Again the villagers scratched their heads and wondered whether the parson was quite right in his.

"BUT they revered him, too. When they were seriously ill he would drive in to Taunton and bring out a doctor. Whenever they were in trouble they would come to him for help and advice and never in vain. He had a horror of debts, encouraged his parishioners to save every penny they could, and always drove round to their cottages before visiting Taunton in order to collect their monthly deposits for the Savings Bank. He was at their beck and call, and nothing would delay him a moment when they wanted him. An instance of his prompt and practical behaviour may be given: he was sitting at breakfast one morning when a poor woman came begging him to christen a new born infant without loss of time as she thought it was dying. Sydney left his breakfast at once and went off to he cottage. On his return he was questioned about the infant. 'Why,' said he, 'I first gave it a dose of castor oil, and then I christened it; so now the poor child is ready for either world.' Apart from the patent armour for rheumatism already described, he was proud of his stomach pump, with which he saved the life of a footman who had swallowed a lot of arsenic."

HOLLAND House, the centre of English society in the latter eighteenth and early nineteenth century, grew dear to Sydney's heart. He was fond of its notorious political hostess as well as her subordinate but lovable husband; everybody of importance knew Lord and Lady Holland and Sydney was early made welcome in its salon.

"One of the chief wits of the Holland House circle," declares Pearson, "was a man after Sydney's own heart, partly because he made 'all the country smell like Piccadilly.' A natural son of the second Lord Carhampton, Henry Luttrell:....soon commuted an appointment he had received in the Irish Government for a pension and lived comfortably on it for the remainder of his life, mapping out his holidays with the care of a general about to open a campaign, and spending them at those country mansions of the titled rich where (1) he was not likely to be bored, and (2) there was a first-rate chef. He was a man of very independent character, with a supreme contempt for riches and rank unless they were accompanied by charm, wit, agreeableness, a talent for providing excellent dinners, and genius in the choice of side dishes. He was popular wherever he went, being an extremely tactful, amusing person, anxious to please and to be pleased, graceful in manner, conciliating in gesture and tone, interested in a wide range of topics and able to talk on them in a fresh, light, entertaining way. He declined invitations to Holland House until Lady Holland had suppressed an aggressive cat which mauled Rogers and was warded off by Brougham with pinches of snuff; and when he did at last go, he was not altogether pleased with dining arrangements Lady Holland loved to see her guests squeezed together, and once sixteen people sat down at a table for nine. 'Luttrell, make room' commanded Lady Holland. 'It will certainly have to be made, for it does not exist,' replied Luttrell.

"HE wrote a certain amount of satirical poetry, which was liked by the people for whom it was written, but his life was chiefly made up of dinners, of journeys to and from dinners, of talks about past dinners, and of speculations upon future dinners. He was an expert on salads as well as side-dishes, and would discuss the art with the greatest frankness....but he was not an authority on any meal except dinner. 'Luttrell, before I taught him better, imagined muffins grew,' Sydney had to confess sadly; 'He was wholly ignorant of all the intermediate processes of sowing, reaping, grinding, kneading and baking.' In spite of such grave gaps in his knowledge, he was an exceptionally delightful companion, pleased with the world, the flesh, the devil and himself, and only drawing the line at monkeys because they reminded him so much of poor relations. 'Luttrell talks more sweetly than birds can sing,' said Sydney, and who could desire a better epitaph?"

HAVE you ever wondered if the author's name you were considering was really his own? For a variety of reasons (not all of them good reasons) writers have chosen to assume a fictitious name for writing purposes. First of all there are the created names to mark a distinctive type of writing. Sagittarius, the famous poet and critic in the New Statesman and Nation, is Mrs. Hugh Miller; Nauticas is (you could almost have guessed it) Sir Owen Seaman; Droch is the American Robert Bridges; Gracchus is Tom Wintringham; Gyp really the Comtess de Martel; Calehas, the famous J. L. Garvin; Callisthenes is Gabriel Costa; Cassandra is Wm. Connor; Celticus is the British politician, Aneurin Bevan; and Cato, a disguise used by Michael Foot (who also poses as Cassius), Frank Owen and Peter Howard; Politicus was the brilliant young French economist, author of the Carthaginian Peace, or the Economic Consequences of Mr. Keynes, Mr. Etienne Mantoux.

ONE of the most interesting chapters in A. J. Barnouw's Making Of Modern Holland discusses the Golden Age of the Netherlands—the Seventeenth Century. That was a time when the population of Holland, no larger than present day Montreal, led the continent in the arts of peace. Sturdy Dutch farmers invested savings in paintings and Dutch masters were alone in Europe in being forbidden to flog their servants. Perhaps the greatest characteristic of that day was the rude severity with which Dutch women ruled their houses. Mr. Barnouw tells a good story to illustrate this point. Sir William Temple, then England's ambassador to Holland, was bothered by a cold while attending a stag dinner at the house of the Burgomaster of Amsterdam. Though brought up at the court of the "Merry Monarch", Charles II, this did not prevent him from constantly spitting over his shoulder on the floor. Every time he did this a servant brought in a mop. He apologized for causing her so much trouble, and his host remarked that had his wife been there, she would have quickly turned him out of doors, ambassador or not, for dirtying her house!

INNOCENT BYSTANDER

Trials and Troubles of Royalty

(By F. M. DELAFOSSE)

IT is a common enough saying today that customs and manners are changing and that in the course of a few years refinement and good manners will have little consideration in the matter of Government. Well, perhaps it will be a good thing when everyone has a vote but education will have to advance very considerably when the ballot can be placed in everyone's hand irrespective of the amount of education he possesses. Yet, one thing can surely never change and that is the existence of what is vulgarly termed "class". There will always have to be employers and employed and grades of society will assuredly remain in every civilized country according to the traditions and tastes that from time immemorial have signalized each country from its fellows.

Thinking these thoughts and bearing in mind what several cycles of life have taught me, my mind turns insensibly to the wonderful effect the English form of government has exercised over the entire world. That a small country of about forty-five million inhabitants should have succeeded in imposing its influence over the wonderful orb in which we live is little short of a miracle, for which the only answer must be that the principles on which it was firmly implanted were for true civilization with Monarchy as its symbol.

My readers must not think that I have started this article for the express purpose of singing the praises of the King and Royal family. God bless them, they don't need it, for, if ever any monarch deserved the love and good will of his subjects our present sovereign assuredly does. He works harder, travels more and goes through greater dangers by land and water than any of his subjects. His splendid consort, whom we all love and revere has proved a wonderful helpmeet to him.

As a matter of fact, my thought of writing came from a chance reading of instructions laid down by the Commissioner of Mounted Police in May 1939 to the members of the Force on the occasion of the then approaching visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Canada. One sentence in the message was to the effect that they must be sure to avoid anything "untoward" happening that would tend to mar the tour of their Majesties during their journey through the Dominion. The reading of that simple word took my thoughts back to an incident in which Captain Marling (a relative of the late Mr. Birchall Marling of the Grove School, Lakefield) was directly involved. Captain Marling was in command of a detachment of the 18th Hussars and had been detailed to act as an escort to Her Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, on her return from the review of troops given in honour of the Kaiser Wilhelm, on his visit to London. The incident is best recorded in Captain Marling's own words, from "Rifleman and Hussar", a book recording his career in the army.

At the close of the review he rode to take his place by the Queen's carriage and says, "The Queen was very gracious and asked my name and one or two questions as I moved off, and then fell fast asleep, and her black bonnet became somewhat awry on the top of her head. What with the heat and the dust and the big horsehair plume under his chin and the leopard's tail that hung down his shoulder my horse began to chuck his head about, and to my horror threw a blob of foam on to the Queen's veil. She woke up with a start and gave me a look which made me wish I had never been born, and the Princess of Wales and the Lady-in-Waiting began mopping her up with their handkerchiefs! Two days later a furious memorandum came down from Whitehall saying that all commanding officers detailing royal escorts were to take particular care that their horses didn't foam at the mouth!" I think that one could offer that incident as an "untoward" happening that nobody could be blamed for.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear my prayer, O Lord, and let my cry come unto thee....My days are like a shadow that declineth; and I am withered like grass. But thou, O Lord, shalt endure for ever; and thy remembrance unto all generations. (Ps. 102: 1, 11, 12.)

The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight in the desert a highway for our God. Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain: and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field. (Isa. 40: 3-6.)

But now thus saith the Lord that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine....

This people have I formed for myself; they shall shew forth my praise. (Isa. 43: 1, 21.)

MOUNTAIN BEAUTY—Scenic thrills spread before Shirley Cain of Banff as she rides up Mt. Morquay's steep ski course on Banff's new chairlife. In the distance is Mt. Rundle while 2,500 feet below is the town of Banff. Actually Miss Cain is only 30 feet off the ground but the steep slopes fall away so rapidly views like this are common on the 3,000 foot ride to the top of the run.

Don't Set Pro Sports As Goal, Says Sportsman

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 (CP).—The Australian-born Mr. Chips of McGill University's Physical Education Department to-day advised Canada's athletic-minded youngsters not to set professional sport as a goal.

"Athletics should provide fun and physical benefits for the development of our citizens, the country's most important resources," said Dr. A. S. Lamb, who far a quarter-century probably has been closer to sport than any other man in Canada.

Dr. Lamb, now 62 and on ill-health leave from his McGill post, talked reminiscently at his Ste. Anne de Bellevue home of his yars in amateur athletics.

Professional sport? "It is entertainment," he said tersely.

Dr. Lamb has no particular dislike for professional sport, but it "should not interfere in the more important need for wider athletics-participation by youngsters of all ages."

Honorary president of the Canadian Olympic Association, of which he has been an executive member since 1922, he also is past president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

"A start should be made now in the preparation of Canadian athletes for the next Olympic Games," he said. Standards of achievement should be set up as goals in all measurable sports. These should not be too hard at first, and increased gradually year by year.

He said team members should work harder and have more opportunity for working together. Too many youngsters nowadays expected to reach championship class with the minimum of effort. With techniques better understood to-day, particularly in track and field, extensive training was necessary to obtain the maximum of performance.

"The case of Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa illustrates that point," said Dr. Lamb. The Ottawa Olympic and world champion figure-skater reached the peak of efficiency only after years of work, he said.

In his younger days Dr. Lamb was no mean shakes as a swimmer, winning numerous competitions in Vancouver where he first settled on his arrival from Australia in 1907. He also played soccer and lacrosse.

UAW To Campaign For Security

TORONTO, Dec. 13.—(CP). — The United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) plan to campaign for social security provisions in agreements with employers next year, it was announced Sunday.

The union's No. 25 District Council, representing locals in Ontario and Montreal, said in a press release it would ask undetermined wage increases.

An eight-man committee, headed by Roy England of Windsor, was formed to study all wage offers made by employers.

The union will also ask employers to provide free hospital, medical and sick benefits and life insurance for workers.

BANDIT'S WEAPON — Chief Frank Pitre of Lachine Police Department, near Montreal, is shown examining the 38 calibre moose gun allegedly used in the wounding of Cst. Norman Aumis Sept. 23. Ronald Birchmore, 22, of Montreal, was arraigned in Criminal Court on a charge of shooting with intent to maim. Two others will appear in Juvenile Court. The police officer was shot during the routine inspection of a suspicious auto, later found to have been stolen.

Canada Bigger Than Europe

By The Canadian Press

Union of Newfoundland with Canada will make the Dominion larger than Europe, raise its population to more than 13,000,000 and give it a new 14th city.

It will do these things to Canada:

Population—Raise it from an estimated 12,883,000 by 320,000 to 13,203,000.

Area—Increase it from 3,690,000 square miles by 152,000 to 3,842,000, compared with Europe's 3,776,000.

Expanse — Extend its width about 275 miles to roughly 3,350 from Cape Race to Queen Charlotte Islands.

Border—Add nothing to the 3,987-mile border with U.S.

Provinces—Give it a new ninth province in population, a new seventh population in size.

Cities—Give it a new 14th city, St. John's with 60,000 people, between Verdun, Que., and Regina.

Moffatt Becomes Reeve

WINCHESTER, Dec. 13 —(CP). —Walter Moffatt, veteran member of Winchester town council, Saturday became reeve of the town when six of seven nominees declined to stand. Among those declining was John Fader, former reeve, who defied Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission blackout orders and kept the community's lights on during the height of the Ontario power crisis. The new reeve is secretary of Winchester's public school board.

Newfoundland Highlights

OTTAWA, Dec. 13—(CP).—Highlights of the terms of union of Newfoundland with Canada:

The date of union will be March 31, 1949, following approval of the terms by the Parliament of Canada and the Government of Newfoundland and confirmation by the British Parliament.

Newfoundland, including the coast of Labrador, will have a parliamentary representation of six members in the Senate and seven in the House of Commons.

The new Provincial Legislature of Newfoundland must meet not later than four months after the date of union. There will be a temporary administration until that time.

All Newfoundland women of 21 or over will be given the vote. At present, only those of 25 or over may vote.

Laws in force in Newfoundland on union will continue, subject to repeal or change by Parliament or by the Provincial Legislature, whichever may be appropriate, since it is not feasible to have all Federal legislation become effective in the new province immediately.

All courts and other judicial authorities will continue until changed by appropriate authority under the B.N.A. Acts.

Arrangements will be made to finance the interim Provincial Government until the Legislature can meet.

The fisheries laws of Newfoundland relating to export of salt fish, an important industry, will be continued in force for five years and thereafter until Parliament otherwise provides.

Canada will take over the Newfoundland sterling debt and the sinking fund established against this debt. The Newfoundland financial surplus will be retained by the Provincial Government for provincial use.

The Provincial Government will receive annual subsidies of $180,000 plus 80 cents a head of population and an additional annual subsidy of $1,100,000 annually for purposes similar to the various allowances and subsidies now provided for the existing provinces.

The Provincial Government also will receive a "transitional" grant of $42,750,000 to be spread over a number of years.

Canada will appoint a Royal Commission within eight years of union to review the financial position achieved by the Provincial Government and recommend the form and scale of additional assistance required, if any.

Benefits available under Canada's veterans' charter will be extended to Newfoundland veterans, whether they served in the Canadian or the British forces.

Canadian welfare and other services, such as family allowances and unemployment insurance, will be extended to the people of Newfoundland.

The Canadian tax system, including the pay-as-you-go income tax provisions, will be extended to Newfoundland.

He will be buried here Tuesday.

Stay In Winter Quarters

KINGSTON, Dec. 13.—(CP). — The salvaged collier Milverton will remain in winter quarters near Morrisburg, because of the lateness of the season, salvage officials said Sunday. The collier was refloated last month. It sank after a collision near Morrisburg in September, 1947, when 12 crew members were lost. Salvage officials originally planned to tow the Milverton to Port Weller for the winter.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Pro grapplers are wrapping up a nice Christmas gift for mat followers here at the Brock Avenoo this Wednesday night. Haven't heard the prelims yet, but the main team match bout is a honey. Replacing Flanagan on the team of "good guys" is none other than Whipper Bill Watson, lining up with Fred Atkins. Opposing them are the rough-and-tumble Dan O'Connor and big Ben Morgan, the bearded mountain, noted for his "mountain slide" hold—simply a 322-pound body slam. The teams were even up to now, but with the Whip on his side, Atkins should turn the trick this time. But it shapes up as a redhot tussle before a big crowd, and the last show here for several weeks.

* * * * * *

Frank Buckland was quite correct last week when he told us the Legion couldn't use Bobcaygeon players this season and the Petes couldn't sign up any Belleville puckists. At an executive meeting in Toronto o'er the week-end, the officials made this definite—and other towns were interested, too. Players cannot leave their own town (if there's a team there) to play, after the residence date, beyond a 25-mile radius, even when the home town or nearest one agrees to waive. As 'Cayeon has a team and is more than 25 miles from here, and Belleville is certainly more than that—with Kingston being in senior "B"—that halts both Legion and Petes from using these pucksters.

* * * * * *

Going By The Book

The OHA executive some weeks ago decided to "go by the book" this year, and not make exceptions on rules to certain clubs. If clubs don't like any ruling in the book they have the right at each annual meeting to ask for a change—enough votes assuring such change. Personally, we believe in going by the printed rules, else why have rules? But there should be no exceptions, unless for a mighty good reason and one acceptable to all. In this case, both local senior "B" clubs will suffer to some extent, the Petes as far as some good needed forwards are concerned and Legion in goal particularly.

* * * * * *

Our senior "B" grouping will consist of Legion, the Petes, Lindsay Meteors, and Toronto Bells. Latter will play at Richmond Hill, about 90 miles from here. Meteors (also a Toronto team) make Lindsay "home" ice. Sounds okay to us, with but one fairly long haul several times through the season, that one being 90 miles. Kingston comes up with three senior "B" teams, for goodness' sake! The Navy, the Nylons and the Aces, and they'll interlock with two intermediate "A" squads, Queen's and Gananoque. Belleville, which could have a dandy grouping with them, aren't in at all, despite having a fine artificial-ice rink. And some smart players.

* * * * * *

A Six-Team Setup

And our junior "B" Oddfellows are in a six-team setup along with Whitby, Lindsay, Oshawa, North Toronto Lions (playing at Richmond Hill) and Toronto Royals. Don't know yet where they play home games. Stew McTavish of Oshawa is the convener to draw up the schedule. (Frank Buckland is senior "B" convener up this way.) That's not a bad grouping, though there are some fairly long trips in there and the club here will have to draw well to break out of the red ink. We think the IOOF-ers will do okay with a rink in town and a good team in such a grouping. The local lads and their backers—who have stuck in there gamely the past several lean years—rate a break this semester.

* * * * * *

Latest suggestion we've heard regarding an amalgamation of the two local senior "B" clubs probably won't jell, either. But it calls for the teams to combine player forces under a board of, possibly, Ed Riley and Fred Scates of the Petes, with Cy Withers and Glen Carson of Legionnaires. Club could be called, for this year, the Petes-Legion Combines. Of course, there'd be the problem of choosing the coach—either Red Creighton or Ned Vitarelli. Also what players to carry. And then you'd have to round up a fourth club to make a suitable grouping. No, it probably wouldn't meet with the approval of both clubs—but it's not a bad suggestion, at that.

* * * * * *

Closerthanthis, Eh?

Two right nifty men's cage exhibitions at the Collegiate on Saturday night. Toronto Harbor Hoopsters yanked out a 40-36 win o'er our Marines "B" crew, while the senior Queen's squad edged out a 40-39 decision against the good Marines "A" intermediates. You wouldn't want them much closer, eh? Gord McIntyre's "B" outfit is coming along okay these days—and will likely be grouped with Oshawa, Port Hope, Cobourg and Lindsay in the so-called Lakeshore League opening Jan. 8. Al Clark's crowd continue to show class, led by Joe Stewart. They made a swell showing against a senior intercollegiate team and, with a bit better ball-handling and shooting, should have won this tilt. They go against Toronto Varsity here next week-end, with Lindsay playing the "B" bunch.

* * * * * *

GRAB-BAG: Bob Bazos, big UCC gridder, well remembered by the PCI-ers, won the college mitt title by default; no one wanted to meet him. . . Congrats to Ron Akers (classy pitcher, curler and golfer) who became the proud poppa of a baby boy the other day. . . . Industrial Puck Loop entries close at a meeting at eight tonight in the "Y". . . . Rural league hockey schedule is in elsewhere tonight. . . . Meteors trounced the Petes 8-0 in Lindsay on Saturday e'en. . . . Petes and Legion are slated for an exhibition in Belleville tonight, if it hasn't been called off. . . . Ross Nicholls, now living here, didn't move in time to beat the residence rule. . . . Doug Free is going okay with Sudbury Wolves as they prepare for their European jaunt. . . . George Sullivan was in on one as Marlboros beat St. Kitts 3-2 in junior "A" on Sat'day. . . . Leafs did themselves a lot of good over the week-end by twice edging the Bruins by a goal. . . . Local puckists and skiers aren't overly-happy with this mild weather at all, at all. . . . But we're definitely not to blame for this.

BROCK ARENA -- WEDNESDAY

BOMBER PREXY—E. A. Armstrong, a newspaper man, said the Winnipeg club needs three things next year—a coach, players and funds.

US Overpowers Badminton Team

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 13.—(CP.—The United States overpowered Canada's veteran badminton team during the week-end, taking eight of nine matches to qualify as the American zone repreesentative at the world championships in England next February.

The American team swept all four matches played Saturday night and then made it four-out-of-five Sunday night. The United States took all five singles and three of the four doubles events played.

The Dominion's lone victory came when Dick Birch of Toronto, Canadian singles champion, teamed with Gordon Simpson of Montreal to defeat Dave Freeman of San Diego and Wynn Rogers of Arcadia, Calif., 15-9, 15-8.

Particularly for the 35-year-old Birch, who has been playing the game for nearly 20 years, the triumph provided some measure of solace. He and Johnny Samis of Vancouver, 30-year-old former Canadian champion, had failed dismally in their specialty—the singles. Each had been beaten twice.

In one of the three singles matches Sunday night, Freeman, the United States titlist, found Samis' unorthodox service and defensive game no puzzle. He trimmed the Canadian 15-1, 15-5. This was the key game for the Americans and put them ahead 5-0.

The bonspiels over the week-end showed a big improvement in attendance. In both the afternoon and evening bonspiels the turnout was good.

In the afternoon the winning rinks were skipped by R. F. Downey, Dr. W. Clark, Ira Moore and J. Richmond.

In the evening, J. Welsh, G. Green and O. Price were the successful skips.

The entry list for Tankard and District Cup playoffs closes on this Wednesday evening and we understand that so far there are six rinks entered in Tankard playoffs and four in the District Cup playoffs. This should prove to be an interesting series.

Don't forget the euchre party and turkey draw this Wednesday evening in the club's parlors.

The leading rinks in the ladies' schedule as posted up till Saturday night are:

	Won	Lost
Mrs. G. Wood	7	1
Mrs. G. Green	6	2
Mrs. V. Selkirk	5	3
Mrs. H. Dulmage	4	2
Mrs. J. Bruce	4	2

Tonight Group No. 1 and Group No. 2 continue with the schedule.

Generals Dump Guelph 4-2; Barrie Winner

By The Canadian Press

Windsor Spitfires — and Bert Giesebrecht—have been idle for the last four days but they both still maintain their pace-setting positions in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A division.

The Spitfires, with 15 wins, one tie and four losses for 31 points enjoy a one-point margin over the second-place Barrie Flyers.

Big Bert Giesebrecht, fleet Windsor forward, still heads the individual scorers with 42 points, made up of 21 goals and 21 assists.

But while Bert's total kept him at the top, brother Bruce's second-place 38 points was tied by fleet Paul Meger who scored two goals as he led Barrie Flyers to a 3-1 victory over the lowly Toronto St. Michael's College. St. Mikes are in eighth place in the nine-team loop.

In the other junior games during the week-end, the last-place Toronto Marlboros beat St. Catharines Teepees 3-2, Oshawa Generals downed Guelph Biltmores 4-2 and Galt Rockets edged Stratford Kroehlers 6-5.

Down Tigers

In the senior division, Kitchener Waterloo Flying Dutchmen beat Hamilton Tigers 5-1 and Toronto Marlboros whipped Owen Sound Mercurys 4-1.

Barrie split two goals in the first period, battled through a scoreless second and counted two in the final frame to gain their win against the Irish.

St. Michael's netminder Tom Shea was taken from his chores twice as the Majors sent six forwards into the battle in an effort to get the equalizer. Barrie's clinching goal came when Meger blasted the puck from centre ice into the empty nets.

Bob Bingley scored the other Barrie goal while Bud Marshall accounted for the Toronto counter.

Toronto Marlboros got their fourth victory in 21 starts as they grabbed a 3-0 margin by the end of the second period and then withstood a desperate rally by the Teepees. St. Catharines drove hard in the final period and netted two goals.

Bob Hassard counted twice for Toronto and Bob Knowles once. Red Sullivan and Conn Switzer scored for St. Catharines.

Third Ptriod Good

Galt Rockets gained their win in a third-period goal by Ronnie Bell. The Rockets grabbed a 3-2 lead in the first period but were outscored 3-2 in the second. Bell got the only goal of the third stanza.

Other Galt marksmen were Jack McArthur, George Ford, Ken Green, Lumley and Pete Tkachuk. Pierre Cadieux and Dinny Flanagan with two each led Stratford's attack. Joe Beda scored one.

Oshawa took sole possession of fifth place in the junior circuit with their win over Guelph. The Generals held a 2-0 margin at the end of the first period and went scoreless in the second while the Biltmores scored once.

Ted O'Connor, Gerry Scott, Blaid and Dick gamble accounted for the Oshawa markers. Ron Plumb and Don Bellringer scored the Guelph goals.

The Dukes strengthened their second-place spot in the senior group as they scored once in the first period, once in the second and twice in the final period.

Both netminders spent a busy evening. Howie Harvey in the Toronto nets was sensational, robbing the Owen Sound players on several occasions. Gillson had a busier time at the opposite end with Marlies firing 36 shots at him, 14 in the last period.

Al Buchanan led the Toronto scorers with two counters, while Johnny McLellan and Scotty Mair scored one each. Jack Ingoldsby tallied for Owen Sound.

A STIRRING VIEW of the field rounding the turn at Tropical Park, Miami, Fla., in the third race on a recent card. Leading here is "Languid Lady" (8). She was far from languid at this moment. But it developed later when she dropped to third place. Winner was Vinita Ed, which paid $9.70.

Queen's Edge Out Cage Win Against Marines By 40-39

Queen's University senior cagers just managed to eke out a 40-39 exhibition win over Marines "A" intermediates at the Collegiate on Saturday night. The crowd really enjoyed the tight, rugged tussle, right to the thrilling windup. In the preliminago, Toronto Harbor Hoopsters had to step to gain a 40-36 nod over the Marines "B" intermediates. Both were fine games all the way.

The Harbor outfit had only a 23-21 edge in the first half and were only 17-15 better in the last stanza, as Marines "B" bunch showed plenty of improvement. It was aggressive ball by the locals as they hurled good opponents every minute. Dadson, McLaren and Trimm on the line were good with Vic Griffin solid on the rearguard. A. Butler and Smith proved the pick of the visitors. Coach Gord McIntyre's crew showed plenty of promise in this lively fray. The teams:

Toronto: A. Butler 12, Beggs, Carr, Sequin 2, Davey 3, Smith 8, Brownbridge 5, Caruso 4, B. Butler 6.

Marines "B"; Smith 3, Gardner 3, McLaren 2, Butcher 2, Dadson 14, Griffin 6, Green 2, Trimm 4.

Second Game

Queen's proved tough customers in the second gamt but they found plenty of stiff oppopsition all through. They had a 23-18 edge at the half but were outscored 21-17 the last half. Their foul-shooting was good the initial inning but Marines did better than their rivals the last half in this division. Queen's were well drilled, passed accurately and finished off well under the hoop, with lank Soutter good on rebounds. But Marines showed good coaching too, despite some poor shooting and ragged ball-handling in spots. Bahner, Soutter, Smyth, Bland, McNiven and Weir all went good for the winners, as Joe Stewart, Edger, Burns, Plunkett (in the last half), and McLaren the first half, led the local snipers. The teams:

Queen's: Weir 1, McNiven 4, Bland 6, Dobbins, Logan 2, Smyth 5, Bahner 8, Soutter 5, Aisenberg 2, Holder 3, Whitney 4.

Marines: Edger 8, Smith, Mengies 2, Nicholl, MacPheson, Gillespie 2, Stewart 12, Plunkett 5, Dadson, Trimm 1, McLaren 4, Burns 5.

Umpire, J. Phillips; umpire R. Dyer.

Citation Has Easy Victory

SAN FRUNO, Calif., Dec. 13.—(AP.—Citation, leading money winner at Tanforan race track in only two starts, needs only a victory in his next scheduled race at Santa Anita to become the richest winner in history.

The great three-year-old leaves Tanforan Wednesday for Santa Anita and the $100,000 Faturity Jan. 29. His winnings to date are $865,150. Victory at Santa Anita would put Citation above Stymie's world record of $911,335. Citation also may enter the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 26

An easy victory in the $50,000 added Tanforan Handicap Saturday made Citation top money winner of the Tanforan meet to date—in only two races. The Handicap, in which he finished five lengths ahead of Stepfather, was good for $31,800, and a sprint earlier last week netted a $3,100 purse.

Trainer Willie Molter is within one victory of equalling a 12,-year-old American record — the 177 winners Hirsch Jacob turned out in a single season. Molter to date has 176 and is far ahead in the competition for national trainer honors for the third consecutive year.

Snap Flyers Winning Streak

By The Canadian Press

Providence Reds, American Hockey League eastern division leaders, Sunday night snapped St. Louis Flyers' 10-game winning streak by downing the pacesetters of the western section, 4-2.

Indianapolis Capitals racked up their seventh straight victory by drubbing Hershey Bears 7-3 while Pitsburgh Hornets and Buffalo Bisons battled to a 2-2 stalemate.

New Haven Ramblers scored the only shutout of the loop's heavy eight-game week-end schedule when they blanked Washington Lions 5-0.

Johnny Chad, veteran right winger, played a leading role in the Reds' victory. He tallied once and helped set up two others. Jack Hamilton, Ray Laplante and Jack McGill accounted for the balance of the scoring. St. Louis marksmen were Steve Black and Barry Sullivan.

Storybook Finish Brings Prize To Henry Rink

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Dec. 13—(CP—A quarter-inch decided the ownership of four new automobiles. That was the margin by which Jack Henry's Winnipeg rink counted a single in the extra end of the $15,000 Portage Bonspiel final Saturday night to defeat Howard Wood's Winnipeg quartet 10-9 and take the major award of four cars.

The story-book finish saw the Henry rink, skipped by Al Derrett, force the extra end by coming from behind in the 12th to draw even with the last rock. Then came the 13th end, with each rink placing a rock so close that an umpire's measurement had to be made before it was known Henry had the match.

Presentation of the cars followed to Henry, Derrett, Jim Jackson and Jim Doig. Canoes were presented to the four men of the Wood rink.

The win gave Derrett the distinction of being the only curler in Canada to twice having played on championship rinks in automobile bonspiels. His first car was won at Nipawin, Sask., in January, 1947, at the Dominion's inaugural auto 'spiel.

Ironically, Wood, who lost in the Portage final Saturday, was skip of the rink on which Derrett played at Nipawin.

The Henry rink, in addition to taking the major prize Saturday, also won one of the three preliminary events in which all 102 rinks in the 'spiel competed. The No. 1 event was won by Walter Polski of Virginia, Minn., the No. 2 by Henry and the No. 3 by Bill Donnelly of High Bluff, Man.

Watson and Atkins To Team Up Against Morgan and O'Connor

In presenting his final card before the Christmas holiday layoff Brock Arena Manager Jim Laidlaw is certainly endeavoring to give his mat customers a smashing send-off. Laidlaw has a feature attraction that would do credit to Maple Leaf Gardens in the tag team scrap between the team of Whipper Billy Watson and Fred Atkins and the Ben Morgan-Dan O'Connor combination. On top of that Jack Sharkey is being brought in to handle the officiating. There will be no time-limit and with the iron-fisted Boston Gob refereeing it is likely that even Big Ben and Dangerous Dan will have to toe the mark on the rules. It shapes up as one of best team affairs ever presented at the Brock.

Leafs Down Boston Bruins Twice In Weekend Play

By The Canadian Press

Two victories by Toronto Maple Leafs helped shoved Detroit Red Wings back into first place as three pairs of National Hockey League clubs squared off in week-end home clashes.

Detroit went a point ahead of Boston Bruins in the league standings with a 5-2 victory over New York Rangers Saturday and hung on despite a 2-0 licking from the Rangers Sunday.

Twice in the two nights, Toronto came from behind in the final minutes of play to dump the faltering Bruins. They won 3-2 Saturday, following it up 4-3 Sunday.

It was a costly week-end for Montreal Canadiens who salvaged a single point from their two games with Chicago. They lost 5-2 Saturday, and lost centre Elmer Lach and defenceman Butch Bouchard with injuries, but fought back to a 4-4 tie Sunday.

Chicago came up with a one-point hold on third place, with Toronto right behind and Montreal two points behind the Leafs. Rangers Sunday win—their first in eight games — left them six points back on Montreal.

Clicked For Leafs

A rookie and a veteran Sunday night clicked for the Leafs. Ray Ceresino, former Port Arthur and Oshawa junior star, got his first NHL goal with less than three minutes left and beat the Bruins. He got it on a rink-wide pass from Max Bentley.

Bill Barilko and Harry Taylor sent the Leafs ahead 2-0. Then Kenny Smith scored for Boston and two goals by Warwick sent Bruins ahead before Howie Meeker's marker tied the score again.

The night before Cersino and Taylor had fed passes to Bentley for a goal in the first 20 seconds. But a Boston comeback forced Bill Ezinicki to score the winning goal from Harry Watson with 47 seconds left.

Ed Sandford and Paul Ronty got the other goals for the Bruins in the middle period with Cal Gardner scoring for Toronto in the first period.

Two Ranger rookies — Pentti Lund and Nick Mickoski—gave New York its first win over Detroit this year and Goalie Chuck Rayner his second shutout. Lund scored in the first period from Tony Leswick and Wally Stanowski with Mickoski tallying in the second from Don Raleigh.

Snap Winning Streak

The game snapped the Wings winning streak at five games.

The night before Rangers held the Wings to a 3-3 tie until the third period when Pete Horeck smashed through to beat Rayner and Ted Lindsay hit an open net with Rayner on the bench and 10 seconds to go.

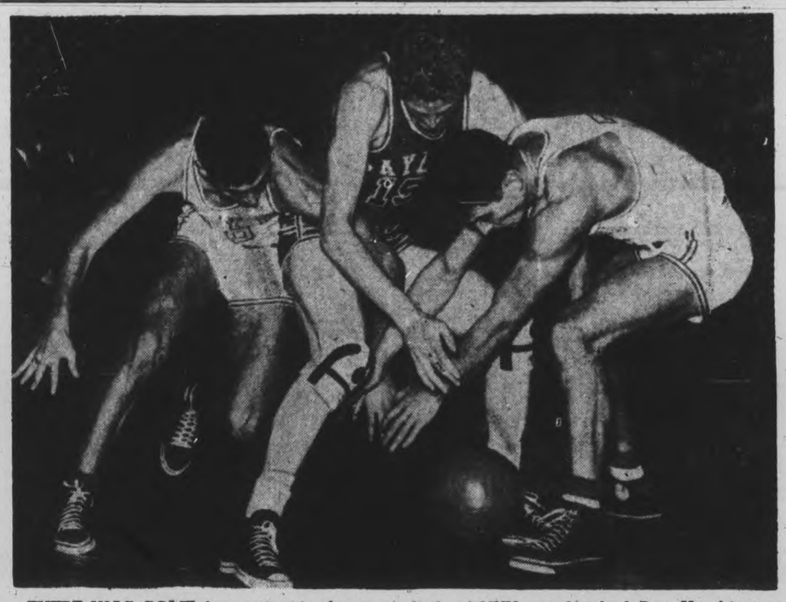
It was Lindsay's second goal of the night, with Marty Pavelich, and Jim McFadden getting the others. For the Rangers it was Clint Albright, Leswick and Buddy O'Connor who also rated an assist on Leswick's goal.

Lach probably will be out of action for three weeks after fracturing his jaw in a crash with Bob Goldham in the final period Saturday. Butch Bouchard aggravated his leg injury

Jim Conacher led the rejuvenated Hawks with two goals and an assist, with Bill Gadsby right behind with two goals. Red Hamill got the other with Maurice Richard scoring twice for Montreal.

Canadiens came from behind three times Sunday night to tie it up. Ernie Dickens and Metro Prystai put the Hawks ahead 2-0 in the first period before Billy Reay connected for Canadiens. Hal Laycoe tied it up in the second only to have Ralph Nattrass shoot Hawks ahead again with Ken Mosdell making it 3-3.

Prystai and Reay each scored their second goal of the night in the final period to leave it 4-4.



THERE WAS SOME fast action in the recent basketball game between NYU and Baylor at Madison Square Garden, New York, as Dick Kor (7) and Bob Derderian (9), both of NYU, sandwiched Don Heathington (15) of Baylor, between them in a scramble for the ball. NYU chalked up a victory with a score of 67 to 47.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

Victoria Paper Observes 90th Anniversary

VICTORIA, Dec. 13 — (CP) — The largest single edition of a newspaper ever published here will make the 90th anniversary of The Daily Colonist tomorrow. It will contain 152 pages and weigh three pounds.

The Colonist began its career Dec. 11, 1858, four years before the city was incorporated and nine years before Confederation.

Its founder and first editor was a migrant Nova Scotian who was born Bill Smith, but changed his name to the more romantic Amor de Cosmos — "Love of the Universe." He became the second Premier of British Columbia.

One of the oldest papers in Canada and the oldest west of Toronto, the Colonist is unique in another respect. It is the English-language daily in the Dominion to publish on Sundays. It does not publish on Mondays.

The Colonist nearly came to an early end. In 1859 De Cosmos and Governor Douglas of the young Crown Colony were bitter enemies. To silence his critic, Douglas revived an ancient British law requiring the posting of an £800 bond before further publication. Subscribers raised the money in time.

The paper scored one of the greatest scoops in Canadian newspaper history when it reported General Cronje's surrender in the Boer War six hours before the British War Office knew about it.

It had one of the important political successes of Canadian journalism at the time of British Columbia's entry into Confederation. Always a proponent of responsible government, the paper informed Ottawa that unless responsible government was conceded as one of the benefits to the province, The Colonist would not support the deal. Sir John A. Macdonald gave in, and British Columbia had full political liberty.

THROUGH THE OFFICER of the United Nations Organization, an agreement recently was reached whereby a food convoy was to have been sent through Israeli lines near Gaza, to Egyptian forces encircled in the Falluja pocket. On checking the convoy at the front lines, however, observers found that the trucks which were to have carried only foodstuffs, also carried military equipment, and the convoy was turned back. Here, searchers confiscate part of the cargo. These boxes, marked for Haifa, had been confiscated some time earlier by Egyptians at Alexandria, from ships bound for Haifa.

IT ISN'T COMPULSORY
...but Wise Men are doing it!

In our way of life a man is allowed to manage his own affairs. He can choose his own job and live where it suits him. He can spend his earnings in any way he pleases. He can set aside as much of his income as prudence dictates to safeguard the future of his loved ones through life insurance and at the same time provide for his own declining years.

That is why life insurance is so vital to the economic needs of our people. It is so adaptable it can be planned to the exact requirements of individuals and families under the most widely varying circumstances.

Why take the future of your loved ones for granted? Wise men seek expert advice. How recently have you reviewed your own life insurance needs? We suggest you talk it over with a representative of the Manufacturers Life.

Bob Hope Will Entertain In Berlin

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 13 (AP)—Bob Hope will entertain United States troops in Berlin for Christmas— if his picture schedule works out.

Providing he finishes "Easy Does It" on time, the comedian will leave here December 22 and arrive in Berlin Christmas Eve. He would be part of a show sent from the United States to bring Yuletide cheer to the beleaguered city. He would be back by the New Year.

Scrounging for News

George Sanders, who needs friends, isn't making any by his rudeness on the "Samson and Delilah" set....If star interest is any yardstick, Cecil B. DeMille should have a hit on his hands. Stars seldom visit other sets, but "S. and D." has seen a steady parade of them. Such gawkers as Gary Cooper, Alan Ladd, Bing Crosby, Hope and others.

Edgar Bergen and Kay Kyser must be wondering if testimonial dinners are so lucky after all. N BC tossed each of them a big dinner for their 10-year anniversaries on the network. Now Kay is doing a daytime show on ABC, and Bergen temporarily retired after his show was dropped.

Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy spent but four months together this year, he tells me on the "Top o' the Morning" set. Cronyn, born in London, Ont., has been making pictures in Hollywood and London, England, and his wife is the hit of "Streetcar Named Desire" on Broadway. She will be out of the show next June when she reports back to 20th-Fox. But then he might have a play to do.

Capsule Review

"Letter to Three Wives" (TFC) is that rarity—a thoroughly enjoyable picture. It is the story of a small-town woman (never seen in the film) who writes three wives that she is stealing one of their husbands. The suspense is great, as are the laughs and the drama. Wonderfully written and directed by Joe Mankiewicz, the film features Ann Sothern, Jeanne Crain, and Linda Darnell.

No Christmas Spirit

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 13—(CP)—There is one North London woman who has not yet caught the Christmas spirit. She called police Friday night and complained that three boys had been singing Christmas carols on the street near her home. She said it was "just a money-making scheme". Police reported they were unable to locate the "hoodlums".

REGISTRAR RETIRES—Two wars and 50,000 students after first entering the registrar's office of the University of Toronto as an employee, A. B. Fennell, who has been registrar since 1930, is retiring. Shortly after the turn of the century he started to work at the university and, with the exception of a few years when he served overseas during the First World War, he was the first member of the staff encountered by new students. Mr. Fennell, left, is shown turning over a file to his successor, Joseph C. Evans.

A. B. Fennell To Retire Soon

TORONTO, Dec. 12—(CP)—A. B. Fennell, registrar of the University of Toronto since 1929, will retire at the end of the year.

He has been a familiar figure on the university's campus since 1902 when he first registered as a student. To most of Varsity's 50,000 living graduates, he was the man who told them what courses they could—or couldn't take——and gave them their examination results.

Mr. Fennell joined the staff of the university in 1910 as assistant registrar. He left during the first world war and won the military cross with Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The 67-year-old bachelor was born near Napanee, and entered the university with a scholarship in mathematics.

President Sidney Smith announced he will be succeeded by Joseph C. Evans, wartime adjutant of the university's unit of the Canadian Officers Training Corps.

THANKS! LABOUR and INDUSTRY

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario and the municipal systems appreciate the co-operation of labour and industry in rearranging working schedules, which helped so much during the recent critical period of the power shortage.

Because of recent rains in the right places, the output of the Commission's generating plants and deliveries from its suppliers have considerably improved as indicated by the table below. As a result, it has been possible to increase quotas to the municipal systems.

It is the Commission's belief that these improved water conditions and continued mild weather will make it possible for most municipalities to eliminate the need for labour and industries to operate on Sundays. However, if the present rate of production is to be maintained, it will be necessary in most cases to spread working schedules over six days and six nights per week. Because conditions vary in each municipality it is important that your local Hydro System be consulted before any working schedules are changed.

4 Congregations Unite For Carol Service

Annual Christmas carol services were held in many churches throughout the city on Sunday, some of them of a community nature. Under the auspices of the Friday Night Club of the YMCA, one of these drew large numbers to the PCVS auditorium. Musical assistance was given by the Salvation Army Silver Band and a collection was taken for YMCA World Service.

Ronald Watson, vice-chairman of the club, presided at the gathering and Quirt McKinney kept the audience in the spirit of the occasion by his leadership. The benediction was offered by the Rev. J. M. Aiken of St. Andrew's United Church.

The band gave five selections spaced between the fine singing of the audience in 15 of the most popular seasonal carols commencing with "I Know Thou Art Mine" and ending with "Joy To The World." A male voice party sang "Praise Ye The Lord" and their rendition called for an encore, the spiritual, "A Little Talk With Jesus."

In the South End of the city four churches united in a carol service: they were St. James United, Park Street Baptist, Knox United Church and the new United Church on Howden Ave. The gathering took place on St. James on Sunday evening. It was presided over by the Rev. E. W. Rowland, temporary pastor of the new United Church. Jack Telford led the singing. Prayers were offered by the Rev. E. J. Whan and season's greetings were given by the Rev. H. G. Douglas, the Rev. E. J. Whan and the Rev. Fred Craik.

Besides a united choir of 100 voices led by Cecil Lapp at the organ, W. R. Potter and Adam Hawley played pianos. The request selection, "The Christmas Story" was sung by the combined choirs and the solo parts were taken by Mrs. H. F. Doig and Mrs. D. Jackman. Mrs. J. Barry sang the solo part of the Park Street Baptist choir rendition of "While Shepherds Watch Their Flocks by Night."

Mrs. N. Hughes and Mrs. D. Jackman, both of Knox United Choir, sang solos and Mrs. Leslie McFarlane and Mrs. Doig sang a duet entitled "Bright Star of Hope".

The service was brought to a close with a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Douglas after the congregation had joined the choir in singing "All Hail The Power of Jesus' Name" and the ever-popular carol "Silent Night, Holy Night."

The reports show that hunting without a license was the principal offence, with 52 convictions registered. Having loaded firearms in motor vehicles sent 37 persons to court, and other charges were: hunting in a closed season, purchasing mose meat and shooting ducks from a motor boat.

Creek Beautification Plan Outlined By Armar Butcher

Rescue of Jackson Park creek from its long neglect as repository for a repellent assortment of tin cans, worn out rubber tires, bottles, boxes and other waste materials is one of the proposals of improvement in the report of Armar Butcher, superintendent of parks, to the committee of which Ald. Young is chairman.

Mr. Butcher mentions localities, such as George St., Charlotte St. parking lot, Donegal and Murray Streets. "If adjacent properties are not acquired in the near future, they will be built on, and the city will be left with this potentially pretty creek remaining nothing but a rubbish dump."

North of McDonnel St. the creek retains its rural and natural beauty, but as it moves south into the city it becomes blighted with the careless deposits of community junk.

At Donegal and Murray Streets there is ground for "a good playlot that could be cleaned up and the creek bank landscaped."

Redemption of the creek has been a project of years. The stretch of it north of Bonaccord St. is gradually being developed into Hamilton Park, gift of James Hamilton, former Mayor. Kiwanis Club has undertaken this project.

Mr. Butcher observes: "At present there is a wading pool in the creek which is being considerably used. The property requires more fill, and should be top dressed, and planted with trees, shrubs and flower beds. Play apparatus should be installed. This park has the natural setting to be developed into one of the show places of the city."

Morrow Park (Exhibition Grounds) should have Lansdowne St. landscaped and the balance of the park developed for all active recreation such as baseball, softball, football, in fact all sports requiring large areas.

Mr. Butcher offered twelve suggestions for improving Riverside Park through a period of four or five years. One of them was a beautification dream of the late John Edgar as a member of the council. It is still a possibility. "That the islands south of this park be brought into use. Rustic bridges could be constructed to connect them with the park and the CPR bridge to the south. If underbrushed these islands could be made into rest spots or swimming places."

Mr. Butcher visualizes a splendid ski jump at Jackson Park, controlled by the Nicholls Park Trust. "Adjoining property to the west would have to be secured, but the results would be encouraging. If completed, it would save our young people from going miles from the city to ski, and would bring hundreds of young people into the city."

A car was almost totally wrecked and a telephone pole smashed in two when a driver fell asleep at the wheel of his car Saturday. The accident, a mile south of Lakefield on No. 28 Highway, happened to Lloyd Cord, RR 3, Bancroft, who was not injured in the crash. There was about $150 damage to his car. Provincial Constable George Henderson investigated.

Gets 30 Days And Fined $40

Thirty days imprisonment for receiving stolen goods and a fine of $40 and $2.50 costs for resisting a police office were imposed on Donald Good, 705 Gilchrist St. at the police court on Monday.

Good pleaded guilty to receiving a plane and goggles from a tool box at the Co-Operative Store and not guilty to resisting the police officer.

Detective A. Clark said that when he asked Good to go to the police station with him, he refused, saying that he wanted to take his truck to his brother-in-law. Detective Clark said he explained that the police would take care of the truck and would deliver it to the brother-in-law. Good then struggled and it was not until two men from the Co-Operative store came to his assistance that he could handcuff the prisoner.

Crash Victim Grabbed Arm Driver Reports

John Cupoli, 529 Elm St., charged with reckless driving, told a jury today what had happened a few seconds before his car crashed into a tree on Lansdown St., killing 27-year-old Vera McKinley, his passenger. The accused young man, still limping from the injuries he received in the fatality of April 24, said that his car had got out of control when Miss McKinley had grabbed his arm as they were driving along Lansdowne St.

"It sort of threw me off balance . . . and I turned my head for a minute . . . the next thing I remember was heading for the tree . . ." The accused said he recovered consciousness in the hospital, where he received treatment for a broken leg and chest injuries.

Cyril Pavey, 67 Lansdowne St., placed the time of the accident at about 6.20 in the morning. He had heard the crash of the car into the tree and had rushed from his house. Cupoli was moaning in great pain and was in a dazed and shocked condition. The McKinley girl did not move. She was on the side of the car which was crushed against the side of the tree.

Identification Officer William Aggas entered several photographs and a sketch of the scene of the accident.

PC's Allan Edmison and Douglas J. Farthing, investigating officers, both testified that Cupoli's breath smelled of liquor when the injured accused was taken from the car. Miss McKinley was dead on their arrival, they said. PC Farthing said he had been unable to pry open the door on her side with a crowbar and that the body had been removed from the other side. He estimated that the car must have been travelling "at quite a great speed" to cause the crushing impact to the car and the tearing off the heavy tree bark.

Jack Russelle, service station attendant, testified that the accused had visited the garage about 3 a.m. that day, where he bought two soft drinks. At that time, Russelle said, Cupoli was "normal." Under questioning by defence counsel W. F. Fair, he said that "he was not under the influence of liquor." He detected no signs of drinking. Russelle told Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry.

In his own evidence, the accused admitted that he had been the driver of the death car. He said that he was going about 30 miles an hour when the accident happened. Describing the movement of the girl in touching his arm while they were talking, he said that it "is possible" that the action may nave caused him to accelerate the speed of the car somewhat.

Difference of Opinion

Mr. Fair and Judge Sheldon Smoke were in dispute while counsel argued whether the accused could be questioned on a previous conviction. Mr. Fair referred to statements he said he and Mr. McElderry made in addressing a jury in another case before this sitting of the General Sessions of the Peace. Mr. McElderry denied having made several of the remarks attributed to him by Mr. Fair His Honor also replied that Mr Fair had not made some statements which he quoted from a statement last Saturday. Mr. Fair continued to press his argument that he had made the statements.

"I will not be contradicted in my own court," ruled Judge Smoke.

"I have sat here and heard you contradict a Justice of the Supreme Court three times—but you will not do it to me."

Members of the jury are: Rendall Dickson, Asphodel; Louis Brooks, 199 Dalhousie St.; Edwin E. Campbell, 135 Stewart St.; Bruce E. Aiken, 162 Aylmer St.; Lawrence Sanderson, Havelock; Albert Bowles, North Monaghan; Bruce Bell, Smith; Samuel Carpenter, 750 Lansdowne St.; Sidney J. Black, Water St.; John S. Curtis, 13 Benson Ave.; William A. Cochrane, 547 Water St.; Harry A. Carter, 517 Romaine St.

Christmas Shoppers Tardy Volume of Sales Down

Christmas sales are generally up over last year, a Canadian Press survey covering the whole country reveals, but local merchants are inclined to disagree.

Consensus is that up until Saturday the volume of business was somewhat below that of last year. And a number of reasons were advanced for this.

"Customers look in the shop windows and see an abundance of stock and consequently feel they can postpone purchasing their Christmas presents," said one department store manager.

He said that two weeks ago the increase had been hardly noticeable and that during the week "it was just nip-and-tuck with this time last year." On Saturday, however, the rush began, he said.

Another possible reason he advanced was that this year Christmas is on a Saturday which gives a long week for shopping, while last year the Christmas week was much shorter. The last minute brigade feel they have ample time to fill their shopping lists.

"What we need is a good cold snap to bring the customers," said another sales manager. He stated that to date the sale of textiles had been low, chiefly because winter clothing was not yet needed.

He agreed that the volume of business was low during the past two weeks, but said his store was now about even with last year because of extensive purchasing on Saturday.

"Many customers have shopped early this year," he said, dissenting from the opinion that they wer all waiting for th last minute. While convinced there would be a huge crowd of tardy shoppers milling around the counters on Christmas Eve he claimed that this was always the case, but he insisted that many people had already done their shopping.

"Sales of rubber footwear are quite low," said a shoe retailer. As yet, he stated, there was little demand for overshoes. rubbers, or even ski boots, but flight boots and slippers (apparently popular gifts) were selling well.

Apparently the best thing for Christmas sales generally would be a spell of real Christmas weather.

Rambling Reporter

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

It was in a busy furniture store Saturday afternoon. The two boys—in their twenties—finally managed to push their way through the crowds, found a quiet eddy and mulled over their gift problem. They finally selected the piece they wanted as a Christmas gift for their mother and began with the clerk the mundane matter of money manoeuvring. The transaction was nearly completed when they heard a quiet voice behind them: "Don't you think the green leather one would fit the living room furniture better?". Turning, they found their mother who had been watching the whole operation approvingly.—RB.

Three Veterans Of Brinton Given $100 Bonds

Two new members of the Peterborough Brinton Carpet Quarter Century Club were presented with $100 bonds on Friday afternoon. Another employee, who died before the club was formed, was honored when his widow received the bond on his behalf.

J. M. Mackie, president of the Brinton Carpet Co. made the presentations to Mrs. Jack Adams, Miss Francis Rosenburgh, and to Mrs. Alfred Bishop who accepted on behalf of her late husband.

After the recipients had thanked the president for the bonds, they were congratulated by Vernon Dawson, director of the company; David Leether, mill-manager, and Wilfred Jones, superintendent of the wiring department.

Congratulations were also extended to the trio by other members of the Quarter Century Club who were present for the ceremony.

City Still Below Hydro Quota

Peterborough averaged 234,000 kilowatt hours for the five days Monday to Friday last week, as compared with the quota of 260,-250. This was the highest consumption since the five working days of the last week in October. Top last week was 242,000 on Tuesday.

Sunday's power used was 178,-000 kwh, another new high for that day since the 224,000 of Sunday, September 19. The low since then for the first day of the week was 124,000 kwh on Sunday, November 28. The previous Sunday, November 21, was 132,-000 kwh.

Wilson, was being taken by Mongraw along Simcoe Street.

Seek To Avoid Further Grant For Hospital

The preparation of plans and the letting of the contract for the east wind of Civic Hospital and the nurses residence was discussed by the hospital committee this morning with the purpose of completing the work within the additional $1,500,000 approved by the ratepayers at the recent municipal elections.

"The council was in the front line in the matter of raising this money," said Ald. Dick Raine, chairman, "and we want to be sure that we are not to be asked for any more."

City council is responsible for the letting of contracts, and the Board of Governors for the supervision of the work.

The expressed desire of the committee is to obtain estimates of the cost of the remaining construction as a means of determining before hand that the two units to be built will fit into the enlarged financing. Another objective is to avoid delays in proceeding with the planning and building that remain to be done.

Mr. J. S. Craig, representing the arcitects, said the east wing plans would be ready by May 15.

In the prosject of that date, a subcommittee subsequently decided that the chairman consult Mr. J. H. Eastwood of Eastwood Construction Co. in regard to a bid on the east wing job. Their disposition was in favor of the contractor assuming the additional wing, thereby enabling him to arrange in the meantime for subcontracts for materials and supplies.

John R. Marshall, who is chairman of the Board of Governors, said that much of the detail of the east wing was similar to that of the west, with which the contractor was familiar, and that preparations would be facilitated if the additional contract was let to Eastwood Construction.

Ald. Raine promised to consult Mr. Eastwood immediately in respect to those suggestions.

"I am in favor of Eastwood Construction doing the job so that they could order materials now, and let us save time," Ald. Hugh Waddell said.

Let Subcontracts Soon

"If we have to wait until May 15, when we get the plans, for the contractor to arrange for subcontracts, it would probably take 18 months before the east wing would be completed," Mr. Marshall remarked.

The members of the committee attending today were: Ald. Raine, Mayor Ovens, Ald. Swanston, Ald. Dodds, Ald. Young, Ald. Waddell, T. T. Rodger, treasurer of the Board of Governors, J. H. Eastwood and W. R. L. Blackwell and Mr. Craig of the architectural firm.

Mr. Blackwell said arrangements were made to get help from the Toronto office in speeding up the plans and specifications of the new wing.

"We want to get away from any avoidable delays," said Ald. Raine.

Mr. Marshall and Mr. Rodger were appointed to the council's special hospital committee with Ald. Raine and Waddell, and Mayor-elect Swanston as an ex-officio member, to provide a small group more readily available than the general committee on questions of detail requiring immediate attention.

Mr. Marshall said he was agreeable to that proposal, although the committee seemed to him "an extra cog in the machinery". But, if it was going to be any help in the projection of the work he was in favor of it.

A motion by Aldermen Waddell and Young provided for a meeting with Eastwood Construction in regard to the east wing contract "just as soon as possible".

Ald. Raine said it might be Tuesday, and promised to call Mr. Eastwood at once.

Discover Grave Of Flier Missing 4 Years

Wing Commander W. R. Gunn of the RCAF Casualties Service notified Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Hallihan, 269 Perry Street, last week that their son, Flight Lieutenant Thomas Hubert Oscar Hallihan, has been buried in the cemetery at St. Manview which is six miles west of Caen in Normandy. Wing Commander Gunn reported that The Missing Research and Enquiry Service said Flight Lieutenant Hallihan had crashed at Noyers Bocage, 10 miles south west of Caen in France.

Flight Lieutenant Hallihan was last seen about 30 miles south of Caen at 1:45 p.m. on July 11, 1944. His aircraft had been badly hit by anti-aircraft fire. He was alone in his plane and was to carry out armed reconnaissance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallihan have been notified that the reverent and perpetual care of the burial tasks of all who served in the RCAF is the task of the Imperial War Graves Commission (of which Canada is a member). A headstone will be placed at the grave.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallihan were notified their son was missing on July 13, 1944.

"We were always in hopes he would turn up but now all hopes are gone," said Mrs. Hallihan.

Traffic Saturday Heaviest Yet

Heaviest motor traffic in years was the police department report on conditions in the city on Saturday. A heavy influx from the district along with a mob of city Christmas shoppers put parking space at a premium, and when a motorist was lucky enough to get a spot, he continued to feed the coins into the meter, and held the parking space as long as he wished.

Motorists cruised from McDonnel to King streets, but found no available space, and they report parking lots were also jammed to capacity.

Mayor Wm. Ovens suggested this morning, the only solution appears to be educating motorists to park along the river bank below the Dewart Mill on Simcoe St. "People just won't walk a block to shop, they want ot park in front of the store," Mayor Ovens said.

Chief Constable John Thompson had to put his car in the police garage when he brought his wife uptown to shop, and he reports the congestion was the worst within his memory. He added too, there was ample parking space along the river if people would make use of it.

NAMED DIRECTOR

A. S. Couper, the city treasurer, was elected as a director of the Commercial Travellers' Association of Canada. There was an executive meeting of the organization over the week-end in Toronto. Mr. Couper was a commercial traveller for a number of years before taking his present position.

Slight damage to two vehicles was caused early Saturday evening in a collision at King George and Lock Sts. Drivers were Mrs. Kathleen McLaren, 208 King St. and Arthur Wagstaff of 252 King George St. Fenders on both cars were damaged. STARTS FREAK FIRE

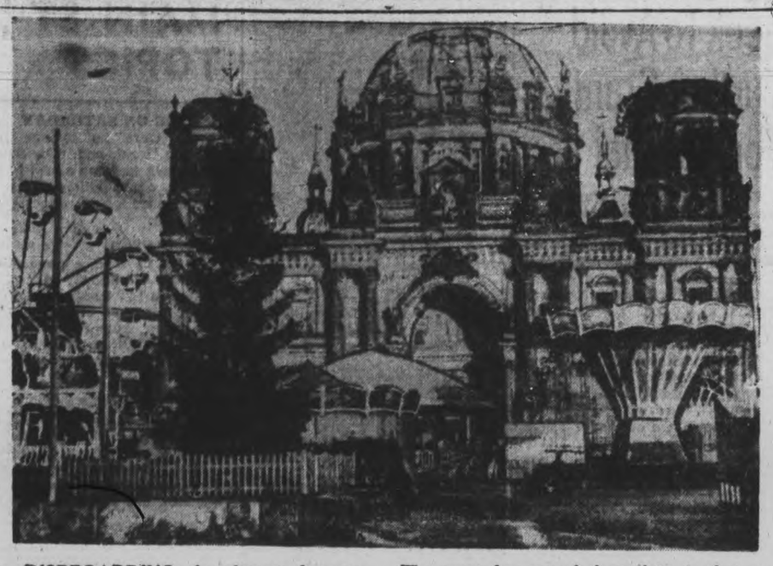
A pedestrian who casually threw away a match on Sunday afternoon was astonished to find that he started a truck fire. The truck owned by M. Armstrong, Lakefield, was parked on a parking lot at Reid and McDonnel Sts. In some manner it had leaked a large quantity of gasoline, and when the pedestrian walking by tossed away his match after lighting a cigarette the gasoline puddle flamed up and started to burn the truck. Firemen report that there was no damage.

HOUSEBOATING IN DECEMBER

George Cook of Lakefield has just completed and floated a new houseboat for himself. It measures about eight by 12 feet, weighs about one tone and has built-in wheel wells for the attachment of landing gear. The structure is painted cream trimmed with green and very attractive and the interior is complete with two stationary and one folding bunk, kitchen and bathroom. Mr. Cook says it will travel about five miles an hour by outboard motor power but does not plan on going far with it before freeze-up.



DISREGARDING the dispute between East and West sector governments, Berlin will have its traditional Chrsitmas fairs with ferris wheels, carousels and colored flags. The most famous of these fairs is that at the Lustgarten, now in the Soviet sector. The bombed-out Berlin Dom furnishes a background for the gala event with which Berlin is chasing grim winter reality.

Toronto Milk Price To Be Studied Again

TORONTO, Dec. 13 (CP)—The way was cleared Sunday for reconsideration of the price farmers in the Toronto area are paid for milk.

Arbitration proceedings on the milk price were stopped last week when some delegates to the annual meeting of the Producers' Association suggested that farmers withhold milk shipments to force a price rise.

But the advisory board of the Toronto Milk Producers' Association announced that it frowned upon any suggestion of stopping shipments. Judge J. B. Moon, chairman of the arbitration board, Sunday night expressed satisfaction that the situation had thus been clarified and said he was ready to proceed with the arbitration.

Ex-Mayor Dies

WELLAND, Dec. 13.—(CP). — Frank Springer, 75, three times mayor of Welland, died here Saturday. He was mayor of Welland from 1933 to 1935 and served for many years on city council, the board of education and was chairman of the city Hydro-Electric Commission at the time of his death.

Pressing To Have Reserve Army Compulsory

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 — (CP). — An authoritative appeal for the government to fill the ranks of the Reserve Army by compulsion will be directed at Defence Minister Claxton within the comparatively near future.

It arises out of the recent meeting of the Conference of Defence Associations, an organization of senior officers who were on active duty in the war and now are key men in the Reserve Force.

Their concensus was that reserve units are badly undermanned, that it is "imperative" they be filled, that voluntary recruiting has failed and that some form of "selective" training will be necessary.

The conference accepted the government's argument that full-time conscription is unfeasible at the present time because of lack of accommodation or enough instructors. However, its delegates said the world situation made it urgently necessary that the Reserve Army be filled, whether by ballot, draft, or any other means.

Prices.

The Prices Commission will bring to an end this week the Federal Government's 11-month investigation of the reasons behind the high cost of living.

The commission's report, which will probably re-survey some of the ground covered in the evidence taken by the committee, is not likely to be available before late in January at the earliest. Its preparation has been under way for some time, but a great deal of co-ordinating work remains to be done, along with the analysis of the most recent evidence.

Fatalities Reach Total Of 19 Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

A week-end jaunt by four University of Michigan students from Ann Arbor to Buffalo ended in death for two and injuries for the others when the automobile in which they were riding went out of control and crashed into a tree near St. Thomas.

Killed were Barbara Silverthorn, 20, of Menominee, Mich., and Edward Fedor, 20, of Homested Park, Pa. Injured were Ruth Fawcett, 19, of Buffalo and Howard Crasher, 27, of Battle Creek, Mich.

Another double fatality in a highway crash was at Kingston with Ernest Jarvis, 31, and Harry Simpson, 30, both of the Kingston area as the victims.

The four deaths helped swell to 19 the toll of fatal accidents reported in Eastern Canada during the week-end. In all, there were 14 traffic deaths.

A Canadian Press survey showed that in addition to the highway fatalities, two persons were asphyxiated, one was killed by a train and one in a fight. The body of an unidentified man was found Sunday in the woods near Bout de l'Ile at the eastern end of Montreal Island.

Cecile Henry Kelly, 26, of Berwick, N.S., died near Windsor, N.S., after his truck collided with another vehicle.

Ontario Victims

Victims of Ontario traffic accidents, in addition to those in the two causing double fatalities, were: Mrs. Anita Mallet, 23, in an Ottawa area collision; John Fisher, 66, struck down by an automobile near St Catharines; Murdoch W. Cameron, 36, of Norland, in a crash near Fenelon Falls in which David Blair, also of Norland, suffered injuries; David Graham, Middlemiss, who died of auto accident injuries; Norman Lechty, 52, St. Jacobs, struck by a motor car.

Herbert Gowland, 52, of Brampton, died after a fight during which he is said to have fallen on a floor. Dr. W. C. Bovaird, Brampton veterinarian, faces manslaughter charges as a result of the fight.

Alex McLachlan, 74, was killed in Strathroy when struck by a freight train.

Believed asphyxiated by fumes, Louis Brisson, 32, of Montreal, was found dead near an oil furnace in his garage.

Fireman L. H. d'Amour, 27, was suffocated while fighting a fire in the Montreal suburb of Verdun.

Boyer Scores Hit In New New York Drama

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Dec 13—(CP)—Actor Charles Boyer scored a hit and author Jean-Paul Sartre an apparent miss in "Red Gloves," the much-discussed drama of revolutionary tactics which has just moved into the Mansfield Theatre.

There was general acclaim for the brilliant performance of the suave French actor as a revolutionary party leader. But the reviewers generally found Sartre's philosophical melodrama talky and dull. An exception was John Lardner of the Star, who called it "a stimulating and satisfactory show."

A controversy between producer Jean Dalrymple and the French author over the adaptation of the play created somewhat of a furore. Sartre was reported to feel his drama had been given a red-baiting twist.

The setting is in a country hemmed in by Nazi Germany and Communist Russia. The revolutionary leader is suspected of treason and an irresolute party intellectual is ordered to kill him. The young intellectual is unable to do this until convinced the leader has seduced the young man's wife. John Dall plays the assassin and Joan Tetzel the wife.

Jeritza Comeback

Maria Jeritza, star of the Metropolitan Opera Company in the '20s, says she plans a comeback tour on the European opera stage next spring. The glamorous soprano, who retired 16 years ago, reappeared this week at Newark's Mosque Theatre in the title role of Puccini's "Tosca."

Raoul Jobin, Quebec tenor, and Alexander Sved were the other two leads in the Newark production.

Aisle Jottings

Margaret Sallavan and Leo Genn have been signed for the lead roles in "People Like Us," a play based on a sensational British court case. Author Frank Vosper took his theme from the Thompson-Bywaters murder case which ended with the execution of Mrs. Thompson—the last woman hanged in Britain. It is due on Broadway late in February.

Milestone

"A Streetcar Named Desire," Tennessee Williams' sombre psychological drama, started its second year on the New York stage Dec. 3. After prolonged research, press agent Ben Kornzweig claims that it is the first serious play shown here during the last quarter-century that has played to standees at every performance for a year.

German Toy Factories Busy Again

NUERNBERG, Germany, Dec. 13 (Reuters). — A factory in this old city is producing an average of 2,000 automobiles a day and having no trouble in selling them although the car's design is almost 13 years old.

This Nuernberg production line —which to date has evoked no loud expressions of either envy or surprise from Detroit, is producing toy cars for the Christmas trees of the world.

Manufactured by the Schucco Toy Company, these vehicles come equipped with such realistic accessories as four-speed gears, tiny bleating horns, and mica-plated roofs which cause the car to halt as a spoken command.

The manufacturers of the little cars are afraid that the Schucco 1935 model may have to serve for several years yet unless a new and stringent patent law is put into effect.

Alexander Gerz, general manager of Schucco, summed up the reasoning of many of Germany's finest toy-makers when he said: "We are keeping many new toy patents in our heads until there is a real German patent law which gives real protection to our inventions."

Current statistics show that the toy makers of Western Germany are only producing approximately 35 per cent of their pre-war volume.

Approximately 95 per cent of all Western German production of toys is at present reserved for export.

Post-war Germany's toy production to-day ignores the lead soldiers, panzer tanks, and miniature guns which were the pride and joy of many youthful members of the Hitler movement.

Although Allied control law in Germany specifically forbids the manufacture of toys of a military nature, most manufacturers seem genuinely glad to transfer their efforts to more pacific subjects.

Faces Cheque Charges

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP) — Gertrude Robinson, also known as Gertrude Broadfoot, Friday was arrested on 15 false pretences charges arising from the alleged passing of bad cheques. Police said she also faces other charges in Hamilton and Windsor.

Investigators said that a few weeks ago she promised a magistrate in Kitchener that she would make restitution for worthless cheques she was accused of passing in that area. She was then remanded for a Dec. 17 court appearance.

AS IN CHRISTMASES PAST, a giant star man-made and electric-powered, ushered in the traditional Yule-tide celebration at Bethlehem, Pa., again this year. Night pictures shows the city's Christmas tree and a portion of the Christmas lights on the Hill-to-Hill bridge. Citizens in Ontario are urged to conserve power during the Christmas season by limiting the use of hydro-electric energy for indoor Christmas trees and decorations. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario prohibits the use of electrical power supplied by the commission for lighting of outdoor Christmas trees.

Farm Wife Wants Utility Room In Ideal Home

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP) — Are better farm homes just ahead for Canada's rural dwellers?

Kathleen M. Taggart of Toronto hopes they are. And she's one of the Women's Institute officials associated with a Canada-wide contest just completed to find out wha rural women think is needed in farm homes.

Results of the contest, sponsored jointly by the federal and provincial governments and the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, will be announced early in 1949.

The contest has touched off widespread discussion among women's groups concerning the ideal farm home.

Miss Taggart says these discussions indicated the farm wife wants a heated utility room next to the kitchen, a refrigerator and an electric stove where possible, at least one ground-floor bedroom for use of the elderly or the sick, a basement the full length of the house and central heating.

Chapter News

57th Regiment Chapter IODE met in the officers' mess in the Armouries on Thursday for the monthly meeting. Money was voted to the following funds, Endowment Fund, Shipping Fund, Empire Work in India, Lucy Morrison Memorial Fund, and to the Ship Magnificent.

As a nucleus for the Chapter's gift of $500 to the new Civic Hospital $200 was voted to be put in a separate account.

The treasurer reported very pleasing returns from the Remembrance Day Tea in November.

Current matters concerning the various departments were discussed.

Members who drive cars were asked to give cheer to elderly people by taking them for drives.

The Christmas parcels for the adopted school was reported ready. Many members had helped in different ways to add to this happpy message.

The members' response to the sale of IODE calendars was gratifying.

It was decided to hold a community bridge party on January 8, 1949. Mrs. D. Eldred was appointed convener.

A happy part of the meeting was an excellent program provided by visiting artists. Mrs. W. B. Brown sang a delightful solo, fitting to the Yuletide season. A sextette composed of Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, Mrs. V Morphet, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, Mrs. W. B. Brown, Mrs G. H Crowe, and Mrs. A B Burrows sang three carols in melodious voice. Community singing of four carols was much enjoyed.

Accompanists for the musical part of the program were Mrs. T. Williams, and Mrs. Al. Clark.

Mrs. Wm. Tinker made an excellent literary contribution in a resume of the life of an outstanding Canadian poet, Duncan Campbell Scott, and read examples of his poetry showing beautiful imagery and power of description. Mrs. C. M. Scott read his "Legend of Christ's Nativity."

With Best Wishes to All for A Very Happy Christmas, the meeting then closed in the regular way. Tea was served.

Red Cross Sponsored Club Now Ski Patrol Specialists

Twelve Peterborough skiers have completed an intensive course of study in "Winter First Aid" and ski patrol work and will be on duty at local ski runs whenever there is skiing this winter. The group is under direction of Bruce Upper who was instrumental in organizing the Club. For this special work he was awarded a membership in the Canadian Ski Patrol System by Mr. W. Hearn, first aid instructor of the Canadian Red Red Cross Society, who was first satisfied that he was worthy of belonging to that small group.

The volunteer patrollers have given their time for two nights each week taking ten lessons in Medical First Aid pertaining to injuries that might be suffered by skiers. Particular emphasis was placed on recognition and treatment for shock. This is an injury, often disregarded when trained first-aiders are not on hand, which can have serious after-effects.

Careful instruction and advice was given on dealing with concussion, fractures, sprains, dislocations and lacerations and patrollers will carry a small first aid kit with the necessary equipment.

Registered nurses, Miss Mary Robson and Miss Muriel Langmaid, were obtained as instructors by the Peterborough Branch of the Red Cross Society, sponsor of the course. Examinations were then given with the assistance of Dr. Ralph Clark and Dr. Robert Bell with Mr. Davey, Red Cross Supervisor, presiding.

An advanced course of ski patrol work with stress on the preventative angle was taken during the week-end by Mr. W. Hearn of Toronto instructing. Main purpose of the practical demonstrations was to show what skiers are most likely to do that is wrong and how they get into accidents. Patrollers will be continually on the watch for these points and striving to correct them. Through this plan skiing will be made safer for everyone.

The curative angle was again introduced under "winter first aid" and Mr. Hearn showed how to improvise splints for a broken leg using poles and bandages from the kit. Transportation of the injured can be handled by making a toboggan of four skis. Duties of the patrol were outlined and a system of signals arranged. Subjects, other than injuries touched on were protection of eyes, skin protection, clothing and protection from cold, ski lessons, pre-season exercises, carrying and shipping of skis, treatment of frozen parts, providing shelter in the snow, hazards of fire and avalanche. General advice for all skiers was under the headings, safety, accident and etiquette.

Ski patrol qualifications are the highest standard in the country and each member of this club is now a specialist in first aid. Graduates of the first course given in this district are Misses Mary Dodds and Shirley Mortimer, Mrs. Peggy Griffiths, Mrs. Molly Craig, Messrs. Bruce Upper, Jim Craig, Morley Geraghty, Miles Ellison, Tony Clark, Ted Craig and Gerald Monkman. Owen Cauley has completed the work but was absent for examinations and will take them later.

Certificates and pins were presented to each graduate by Mrs. F. E. Hooper who is in charge of the first aid group of the Red Cross Society and the Disaster Relief Unit at the Peterborough Branch. Mrs. Chas. Ray, president, expressed appreciation to the nurses and doctors who had assisted and to Bruce Upper for his work in bringing the Club into being. All classes have been held in the Red Cross rooms on Brock St.

Accent betrayed the nationality of one graduate patroller, Tony Clark. When he got his first glimpse of Canada on arrival from England 15 months ago he decided at once to make it his home and set out to be a real Canadian. Though he had never seen skiers in action, he was fitted out for the sport before the first snowfall of last year and with lessons and practice he became an expert with the hardwoods. This year he will be on the slopes again, ready to give advice to the less skilled and treatment to casualties.

DOROTHY DIX

Marry In Own Age Range Good Advice For Any Man

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: You seem to discuss mainly the love affairs of young people, but what about we middle-aged men? Specifically me. I am 48 years old and am very much interested in a girl who is 32 and who has been twice divorced. My problem is twofold. (1) Is the age difference too great for a happy marriage? (2)—Is a girl who has been twice divorced at the age of 32 a poor risk for any man?

Dorothy Dix

I command a very high salary in my profession and am in a very good financial condition. Because of this I question my Girl Friend's sincerity, and yet would she be likely to risk making another matrimonial mistake? She comes of fine stock, but there is something unstable about her.

I appeal to you for your opinion because to be truthful I lack the confidence I had when I was twenty years younger. What are my chances of success?

THANKS

ANSWER: A man of 48 does well to stop, look and listen and do a lot of hard thinking before he marries a girl much younger than himself. For at middle age the cards in the love game are stacked against us. We are no longer pliable. We are set in our ways. We have been to the circus and ridden on the Merry Go Round and we want to settle down and rest our feet. And, above all, we have acquired habits and tastes that are nearer and dearer to us than our next of kin and that we can't bear to part with.

Serious Step

Marriage is a much more serious proposition at 48 than it is at 28, so put that fact in your cigarette and smoke it before you take the fatal step. To marry a girl who is 16 years younger than you are is under any circumstances a dangerous risk, for the nearer the same age a husband and wife are, the more apt they are to have the same point of view and to have less to fight over.

Nor is it any recomendation for a girl to have been twice married and twice divorced at the age of 32. It indicates that she is a poor picker of men, or that she is fickle and changeable, or that she is a quitter who would not stand by her husband in any emergency and bat it out with him.

But, on the other hand, there is always the chance that the girl who has been married and divorced a few times has learned her lesson in the hard school of experience, and that it has developed her from being a playgirl into a fine woman. Of course, every rich man stands a chance of bein gmarried for his money, but that doesn't happen to the middle-aged man as often as it does to the boy. A man at 48 knows lots of things about women that he didn't know when he was a kid.

Anyway, marriage is a gamble for either the young or old, and perhaps a divorce is as good a risk as any.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 19, a senior in high school and will graduate this term. I have never had a date and I would so much like to have dates and to go about as other girls do, but my father and mother keep me a virtual prisoner. My mother says she never even thought about a boy until she was 30 year old. My father says that as long as I am under his roof he has a right to control me. When I remind them that things have changed since their youth, they say that all the young people of today are going to hell and that I am going with them.

Is there anyway I can make my lot less miserable.

ANSWER: It is no wonder we have so many delinquent children when we have so many tyrannical parents who use no sense or justice in dealing with their teenage boys and girls. It is a pitiful thing for girls who want to enjoy the springtime of life, who want to have pretty clothes as the other girls have, and have boy friends, and to dance and go places, to have fathers and mothers who deny them all the pleasures that go with their time of life.

The parents think that they are doing their duty by their daughters and protecting them from what they think are the dangers of life, but they are really throwing them to the wolves. For youth will not be denied, and the girls who cannot take their pleasures openly take them secretly and do things they would never dream of doing if they could talk their affairs over with Mother.

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it wrong to marry a man I met through the Lonely Hearts Club? I have been going with one for two years and have met his family and they are fine people. He makes a good salary and has a large sum saved.

MRS. D. M.

ANSWER: Certainly not. Many happy marriages have resulted in shy and lonely men and women, who had no social tacts, meeting at the Lonely Hearts Club. The danger is the Lonely Hearts Club is that so often men and women who have their only contact through the mail marry strangers of whom they know nothing whatever.

Cream the shortening, sugar and egg together. Dissolve the soda in the applesauce and add. Sift, salt, cinnamon, cloves with part of the flour and add to the first mixture. Add enough more flour to make a fairly stiff batter. (If desired ½ to 1 cup raisins or nuts may be added). Foremen's Wives Are Entertained

Foremen of the Western Clock entertained their wives Saturday evening at the annual ladies' night party. A turkey dinner was served to about 70 guests at the Empress Hotel where each lady was given a box of candy. Later the party adjourned to the Westclox Club House where they were welcomed by the Foremen's Club president, Mr. Jos. Watson. Mr. Albert Croasdale entertained at the piano and an exhibition of sleight of hand tricks was presented by Mr. R. Hardie. Games were then enjoyed and the ladies went home laden with prizes of groceries. Appreciation was voiced on their behalf by Mrs. Jos. Watson. Chairman of the entertainment committee in charge of the arrangements was Mr. Fraser Watson.

IRON SHIP BATTLE

The battle of the "Monitor" and the "Merrimac," a naval engagement during the American Civil War, was the first conflict between iron-clad vessels.

LINGUIST—Hilda, pretty 24-year-old Estonian girl shown in this Department of Mines and Resources photo, has become popular among displaced persons in Ottawa by helping them with language difficulties. Hilda, who prefers to keep her last name secret since relatives live under Russian domination, arrived in Canada more than a year ago. When she arrived she had a basic knowledge of English but spoke Russian and German fluently. Now, after attending night shool, she is helping other D.P.s master the language. When the Russian-Estonian boundary was set after the First World War, Hilda and her family found themselves just inside Russia. In 1929 they were sent to Siberia where her father died. She and her mother were allowed to return to Estonia but were forced to flee before the Russian occupation in 1944. They made their way to East Prussia, on through Czechoslovakia to the British zone of Germany where Hilda worked for the Allied Military Government. Since coming to Canada she has brought her mother to this country.

HARRY MAYZEL, high-scoring forward of Toronto YMHA, tried to get away a shot at the Montreal basket but found various parts of 6 foot 3 inch Sid Strulovich (10) blocking the way. On the alert for Montreal are Mendy Morein (4) and Ben Lands (9). Picture was taken Saturday night at Central "Y" when the teams opened the two-game, home-and-home series for intercity YMHA honors. Montreal won in overtime, 62 to 55.

Hockey 'Experts' Not Happy In Predictions

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 (CP). — The so-called expert shot-callers who study the National Hockey League closely and prattle about it quite some are feeling not so hot these days. Not so hot, that is, except for those, if any, who tagged Chicago Black Hawks as slick, stuff before the season started.

Those who picked Chicago had several reasons, as Dink (Montreal Gazete) Carroll points out. One was the continued managerial presence of Charlie Conacher who worked considerable improvement in the club after he succeeded Johnny Gottselig in the middle of last season. Another was acquisition of Goalie Sugar Jim Henry from New York Rangers.

The latter- meant the Hawks had solid goal work to bolster firepower, so many thought. But soon Hawks were in their familiar cellar place. Then Conacher went to work on his Hawks and a Detroit-Chicago deal brought Jim Conacher, Bep Guidolin, and Doug McCaig to the Hawks for Bud Poile and George Gee.

Boston Leading

Now, for two weeks or so, the Hawks have been really hot and the critics of Chuck Conacher haven't so much to say.

Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson notes that the Boston Bruins were expected to drop out of the bottom of the league, but have done just the oposite. "Too many old men and too many kids," was the way the team was described in pre-season guessing, Elmer recalls.

Now Boston is leading the league.

Fergie also is all-embracing in attributing the Hawks' uprising to "the inspiration of Conacher, and the vast firepower of the front wall, the best collection of forwards in the league, which is out-scoring almost all opposition and offsetting its own defensive weakness by punching home the goals.'"

Incidentally Fergie adds, "Not one selector so far as we know, and that goes for this observer, picked Hawks to finish better than fifth."

Outfielder Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox Saturday officially was crowned the 1948 American League batting champion, the third player in the league's 48-year history to win the coveted title four or more times.

Thumpin' Teddy, now 30 years old, was credited with an average of .369 in official statistics.

In retaining the honor he won in 1947 with .343, Williams finished 14 points ahead of runner-up Lou Boudreau, manager-shortstop of Cleveland Indians. Boudreau, battling Williams for the top rung most of the campaign, settled for a final .355.

Third behind Williams and Boudreau was Cleveland's Dale Mitchell with .336. Fourth spot went to Al Zarilla of St. Louis with .329.

Rounding out the top 10 were: Barney McCosky of Philadelphia, .326; Bob Dillinger, St. Louis, .321; Joe DiMaggio, New York, .320; Walt Evers, Detroit, and Luke Appling, Chicago, tied at .314; Hank Majeski, Philadelphia, and Bill Goodman, Boston, knotted for 10th at .310.

The Oilers improved their lead in the southern division and knocked Houston into the cellar by defeating the Huskies Sunday night 6-4.

Bob White's three-goal performance helped Fort Worth to an 8-2 decision over Dallas, squaring the series between the two teams at a tie and two victories apiece.

Minneapolis and Kansas City battled to a 1-1 tie.

Louis Says Charles Earns Shot At Title

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13. — (AP).—Joe Louis says he figures Ezzard Charles has earned a shot at Joe's championship.

But there are a couple of ifs. Sunday the heavyweight king, in training for a six-round exhibition at Convention Hall tomorrow night against Arturo Godoy, said emphatically:

"Charles proved in Madison Square Garden last Friday night that he's the leading heavyweight contender."

Louis added quickly that the Cincinnati slugger could establish his ranking "without question if the licked Savold and Conn."

Charles socked Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., all over the Garden Friday night in a decisive 11-round bout.

'Twas the night before Christmas
and all 'round the tree
The family had gathered
To talk about me.

Mother thanked Dad
with her face all aglow
As she thought of how fast
I would make her work go.

"There's no bag to empty"
said mother with glee,
"It quickly cleans rugs
And keeps them moth-free."

"The filter's the secret"
said Dad, the explainer.
"It collects all the dust
in the metal container."

"Once a month when it's emptied
all YOU need to do
is add a new filter
and it's good as brand-new."

"And that self-cleaning brush
means you'll have not a care.
For it gets dust and lint
and even dog's hair."

"The motor's so quiet
you won't know it's toiling.
It's super-strong, too,
and it NEVER needs oiling."

"With the snap-on attachments
that lock safe and snug,
You can spray wax or paint
. . . Even shampoo the rug."

"You can dust all your blinds
or polish the floors,
Demoth all your clothes
It does ALL of those chores.

"I guess I'm a hit"
Said the new FILTER QUEEN.
"I'm the cleaner that's different
. . . that KEEPS the home clean."

HERE'S A HINT TO ALL HUSBANDS:

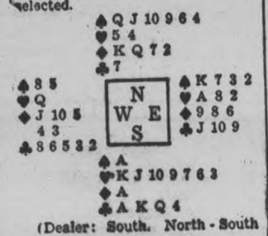
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

HOW TO FIGURE IT OUT

DETERMINING the better of two ways to play a particular combination of cards in a suit depends upon considering all the ways the opponents' holdings may be composed. Next banish from your mind the arrangements which produce the same result regardless of which course you pursue. Weigh then the lineups that give the desired result by one line of play and those that produce it under the other plan. Ordinarily the method which pays with the larger number of these possible arrangements in the opponents' hands is the one to be selected.



(Dealer: South. North - South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
2 ♥	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	6 ♥

West leads the diamond J and then develops the problem clearly explained in Florence Osborn's Whittlesey House book, "How's Your Bridge Game?" which bridge players all over are now getting for their own and friends' Christmas gifts. The sole problem is the trump suit, as the club 4 may be ruffed for an entry to dummy. As dummy's last trump is led, there is no problem if East puts up the A, but if he plays low, South must decide whether to play the K or the J.

The answer is not a guess, but a straight matter of probabilities. After East plays low, the A, Q and 8 are still out. They may be divided eight ways, with West holding A-Q-8, A-Q, A-8, Q-8, A, Q, 8 or none. Note how the decision fits each of those. With five of them you are doomed to lose tricks and be one-down, no matter what you do. That leaves three.

Mrs. Osborne states the case succinctly, thus: "South sees that only three adverse heart distributions will enable him to make his slam in any case—ace-small in West, queen-small in West, queen-singleton in West.

"The play of the jack will win in the first instance, but the king play will win in the last two instances. Therefore, putting the king on East's low heart gives South a two-to-one chance of success. He plays the king, catching West's singleton queen, and now he loses only to East's trump ace, making six."

Failed To Get Hydro Permits Fined $60, Costs

Fines totalling $60 were imposed today on George Tweedy and Alan Morris, electrical contractors, in the first hydro permit court case heard in Peterborough for a number of years. They were each fined $10 on each of three charges of carrying out electrical installations without obtaining permits and $3.50 costs on one case. They pleaded guilty in each case.

Giving evidence for the Crown, Hydro Inspector Fred Hardwick said that permits had not been granted for installations at Cherney Bros. furniture store on Hunter St., nor for work at the Williamson Bros. garage, nor at the house of G. J. Gordon, Chemong Road. The permits were not granted on account of ineffective wiring in other jobs done by the contractors, Mr. Hardwick said.

Before judgment had been passed, John A Bradshaw, prosecuting for the Crown, asked for fines of $50. This was the first case to be brought before the court during the busy post war construction period, he said, and the only reason for prosecution was that there seemed to be no hope of co-operation.

While in the witness box Mr. Hardwick agreed with W. B. Gordon, representing the defendants, that it was the custom for electrical contractors to start work on a job before making application for permits. In effect, nearly every contractor was breaking the law.

Super Roadside Garage System Operated For Berlin Planes

By SHAUN McQUILLAN

BURY ST. EDMUNDS, Suffolk, Eng., Dec. 13—(CP)—Behind the story of Britain's contribution to the Berlin air lift, now five months old, is operation "Plumber Flight," working from nearby Honington RAF station to keep British air-lift aircraft flying.

Dubbed a "Super Roadside Garage System," the station is the central servicing unit for RAF transport command. In six Dakota freighter aircraft, engines and electricity generating equipment, wheels and instruments are flown on highest priority to airports in Germany where air-lift planes are maintained.

"It's a round-the-clock service we have here," said Wing Cmdr. H. Furner, chief technical officer at Honington, who also was senior technical officer at Dorval airport for three years during the war.

"With 800 odd men on shiftwork we have dealt with 450 power plants since the air lift began. Every month we service about 600 wheels, 15,000 sparking plugs and 1,000 aircraft instruments."

Have Control Room

Wing Cmdr. Furner keeps a sharp eye on technical organization through a planning and progress control room similar to that which he had at Dorval. Charts on the walls registering output, demand, work on hand, and stages of servicing, look like a thousand draught boards bestudded with multi-colored tiddly winks.

Only flying Canadian is FO J. E. Fitzsimons, 26, Toronto, who joined the RAF after serving with 226 squadron, RCAF, in England. He is a radio operator and most days is flying to air bases in Germany or the United Kingdom.

Servicing British aircraft working the Berlin air lift is only a part of Honington's task. As central servicing unit it also copes with all planes of transport command in Britain. Honington's "delivery vans" fly 25 trips weekly to British stations, whereas the air-lift service requires 14.

Honington has been servicing transport command aircraft since April, 1947, and since that time it has renovated 1,672 power plants, 8,281 wheels, 30,629 instruments, and 290,885 sparking plus.

Canada-Trained RAF Vets Still Remember Dominion

BURY ST. EDMUNDS, Suffolk England, Dec. 13 — (CP).— Canada has an unknown army of boosters in Britain—the boys of the RAF who took wartime training in the Dominion and still rave about Canadian hospitality.

One of these "emigrate-to-Canada-if-you're-emigrating" agitators is Douglas Hamilton Raphael, 32-year-old radio engineer of Bury St. Edmunds, former bomber pilot stationed in Canada from 1941 to 1944.

"Who can forget their generosity?" the cheerful, black-moustached Raphael said. "It first started at Halifax, where I disembarked in 1941 from England. A welcoming band was playing on the quayside. Women and children swarmed round us with cigarettes, candies and fruit.

"Then at several stops on our westbound trip—one of the places I recall was Moncton—we were feted right and left. At Winnipeg where we stayed for only four hours, more's the pity, we were cheered through a whirligig of railroad station dance and slap-up meal.

"And so on, till we came to our camp near De Winton, Alta. It was the fun of a lifetime."

Raphael has often thought of emigrating with his wife and two young daughters to Canada, but his business tie-ups in England prevented it.

Why does he like Canadians?

"Well," says Raphael, "I like the way they mix hard work with a care-free spirit that harms neither."

Dense Smoke Fogs Central Windsor; Starts Near Furnace

WINDSOR, Dec. 14.—(CP). — Unofficial estimates of the damage caused in the fire which early today swept the downtown Adelman department store have been placed as high as $750,000. The store's Christmas stock was destroyed, while smoke was responsible for huge losses in adjoining buildings.

A whole area of downtown Windsor wah soaked with the dense, penetrating smoke. Windsor's largest departmental store, the C. H. Smith Company which adjoins Adelman's, was filled with smoke as were other establishments on Pitt St. between Ouellette and Goyeau Sts. The fire scene is a block from the river front.

Firemen believe the fire started in the furnace room. It was discovered shortly after 7 a.m. and had a tremendous start when the first alarm was turned in. The Adelman stock, chiefly dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, was burning fiercely and the structure itself was aflame, the blaze having reached the upper storey.

Firemen were momentarily delayed by the locked iron grills which are across the two Adelman entrances on Pitt St.

Smoulders For Hours

Firemen used six lines of hose on the blaze in addition to aerial equipment and by 9.30 its spread had been arrested. The piles of merchandise are expected to smoulder for hours.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the flames burst through the roof and tongues of the flame licked the sidewalls.

Firemen of day and night shifts were held on duty as the three alarm fire gained headway and at 10 a.m. nine pieces of equipment were in use.

The building was originally put up as a theatre, according to former Windsor Fire Chief, Controller J. Defields. More than 30 years ago it was turned over to the retail trade.

The huge column of black smoke attracted attention in Detroit. Fire Marshall Edward Hall and other Detroit officials came to the scene.

Hold 6 For Vagrancy After Safe Robbed

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — (CP) — Police last night laid vagrancy charges against six men following recovery of money orders stolen when a safe was blown open last Friday in a railway station at nearby Pickering.

Charges were laid after police picked up nine men and three women for questioning. The thugs who blew open the safe escaped with money orders which, if cashed, would have been worth $6,000.

The six held as vagrants are: Warren Barry, 27 Stephen Severson, 32; Douglas Cummings, 35; John Rice, 25; Gerard Gauthier, 23, and Robert McTaggart, 30, all of Toronto.

Report Mennonites Want To Come Back

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., Dec. 14 — (CP). — Members of the Summerfield Mennonite sect who emigrated to Paraguay earlier this year from the nearby Gouldtown district were reported today to be seeking transportation back to their former Canadian homes.

Some of the emigrants were said to be communicating with relatives at Gouldtown in efforts to obtain their assistance in returning. Parents still resident in Canada have in some cases been asked by their children for aid.

Escapes With Bruises

OSHAWA, Dec. 14 (CP)—A 60-year-old laborer, Thonat Kostiuk, escaped with only slight bruises today when a 700-pound 12-foot section of the sewer he was digging collapsed, pinning him in frozen earth. He was extricated by firemen using a rope.

Say Industry Can't Afford Another Raise

CMA Believes Payment Of Higher Wages Will Prevent Expansion

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(CP).—The Canadian Manufacturers' Association said today industry cannot afford to pay another round of wage increases from its current profits.

"Such increases can only be paid by the consumer in the form of higher prices," the association maintained in a brief submitted to the Prices Commission.

"Even if profits were large enough—and they are not—the payment of higher wages from profits would deprive Canadian industry of its largest source of funds for expansion," the association said. It added:

"A thorough examination of all factors leads to the conclusion that profits of Canadian corporations are reasonable."

The brief maintained that reasonable prices and better standards of living depend on greater production, and that higher wages to factory workers "should be accompanied by increased physical output."

It suggested that while wage increases were not "the sole reason" for higher prices, they were a very important factor.

"The portion of net corporation profits after taxes not paid out in dividends is vital to the growth and expansion of business, upon which the employment hopes of most Canadians depend," the brief said.

Since the end of the war, the association estimated, Canadian manufacturers have spent about $1,500,000,000 on new plants.

PC's Sweep NS By-Election

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, NS, Dec. 14—(CP).—For the first time since it was constituted in 1933, the Federal constituency of Digby-Annapolis-Kings voted Progressive Conservative on Monday and elected George Nowlan, a barrister, to the House of Commons. Liberal candidate J. D. McKenzie conceded defeat at 8.22 p.m. AST—two minutes after The Canadian Press reported Mr. Nowlan's election. Lloyd Shaw, CCF standard-bearer, trailed throughout and lost his deposit.

The Progressive Conservative victory made the standing in the House of Commons: Liberals, 122; Progressive Conservatives, 66; CCF, 32; Social Credit, 13; others, eight and vacant four. This provides the Government with a scant margin of three votes over all opposition.

A comparison today of complete returns with the results of the 1945 general election showed:

	1948	1945
Liberal	11,578	14,685
Progressive Conservative	13,980	10,108
CCF	1,894	1,255
Others	—	362
Total	27,452	26,410

Three of the four vacancies will be filled in Dec. 20 by-elections with George Drew, new National Progressive Conservative leader, seeking a seat in Carleton in Ontario.

The other two are in Manitoba's Marquette and Quebec's Laval-Two Mountains.

Big Jump

In Kentville, only urban centre in the three-county riding, Mr. Nowlan polled a majority of 444 votes compared with 240 recorded by Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, former Liberal Finance and Justice Minister, whose resignation made the by-election necessary. Mr. Ilsley is the only other member the riding, as it is constituted at present, had.

Wolfville, hometown of the victorious 50-year-old former member of the provincial legislature, and Middleton, hometown of Mr. McKenzie, voted for their native sons.

Mr. McKenzie, 59-year-old dairy operator and former provincial highways minister, came out of political retirement to accept the Liberal nomination.

Mr. Shaw, 35, is provincial secretary of the C.C.F. and a graduate of Acadia University at Wolville.

Peiping City Now Isolated Chiang Closes Two Airfields

PEIPING, Dec. 14—(AP).—Peiping was isolated today, with Communist armies almost knocking at her walls. Authorities closed the south air field, last air link with the outside world. Peiping's west field was closed yesterday. Nationalist ground troops were reported looting the west field today.

Passenger traffic was halted on the Peiping-Tientsin railway, only land link with the outside the Communists do not control. This action was taken because of troop movements.

Closing of Peiping's two airfields was not so simply explained. Well placed quarters said Gen. Chow Jih Jou, head of the Chinese air force, ordered the air force to withdraw without consulting Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, Nationalist commander of the northern fronts.

The withdrawal deprived Fu of air support at a most critical time. Al signs indicated the days of Nationalist rule of Peiping are about ended.

Claims Victory

Nevertheless Fu issued a special communique claiming he won his first "real battle" against forces of Gen. Lin Piao, top Red Manchurian commander.

Fu said his troops trounced Lin's fourth column yesterday in a battle seven miles north of Peiping.

During the night, sporadic gunfire was audible in Peiping. It appeared to become more distant early this morning.

The city, largest in North China, is rushing defences inside and outside its ancient walls. Troops reinforcements have arrived. Conscripts are being drilled. Civilians have been put to work filling sandbags.

Peiping, cultural centre of China, is under a virtual state of siege.

(In the battle for Nanking, meanwhile, pro - Government sources reported new efforts to dislodge the 12th army group from its Communist trap west of Kuchen, 30 miles northeast of Pengpu.

(The reports said intensity of the fighting has dwindled in the last two days. It appeared likely, informants said, that the Reds moved some forces back either to await reinforcements or re-supply.)

Here, briefly, is Peiping's position:

Peron's Trusted Aides Held

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 14 (AP) —Police disclosed Monday that 14 persons, including trusted aides of President Juan D. Peron, have been arrested in conection with a newly - discovered government fraud.

The amount involved may exceed 11,000,000 pesos ($2,100,000). Oscar Palma Baltran, the investigating federal judge, said this amount had been obtained as a loan and transferred to Italy for purchases of an aluminum plant which was found to be non-existant.

The judge did not say whether this was the only transaction involved, but he said 12,000,000 pesos worth of property had been embargoed to cover the loss.

The disclosures came following a secret investigation which started Nov. 12 after the president had become suspicious of two of his aides.

Judge Palma Baltran said those under arrest included Herminio Antonio Fassio, federal inspector in charge of the presidential bodyguard. Fassio, a few months ago, was awarded the No. 1 Personista Medal of Loyalty.

Among others arrested were Lt.-Col. Juan Carlos Basso, co-ordinator of the five-year plan in the president's office, and Horacio Colombo Ramallo, vice-president of the Banco Credito Industrial.

Judge Palma Baltran said the alleged fraud had been planned by three Italians who had 3,200,000 pesos for use as bribes. One of the Italians, industrial technician Antonio Banfi, was arrested.

To Stand Trial

WHITBY, Dec. 14 (CP)—Earl Hopkins, 27-year-old Uxbridge township man today was committed for trial, charged with the attempted murder of his brother Marlin. Police believed the shooting followed an argument between the brothers over money and a young woman.

British Troops In Malaya Good Footpads, Poachers

SINGAPORE, Dec. 14—(AP)—Britain's young soldiers, training to wipe out Malaya's communist insurgents, are learning to be combination "footpads, cat burglars and poachers."

That's how one veteran officer describes the special education in jungle warfare given in a British army camp "somewhere in the jungles."

The 3,000 or more communist guerrillas fighting to overthrow British authority in Malaya specialize in hit-and-run tactics. Counter - attacks, consequently, depend on split-second raction, boldness and accuracy.

The jungle fighter must be quick and daring in close quarter combat, with or without weapons. One course at the training camp teaches everything from how to break a half-Nelson to how to disarm a sword-brandishing attacker when weaponless.

Yellow and green tin targets in head and shoulder shapes are set up along a narrow winding jungle path. Some of the targets spring up automatically when the soldier approaches. The novice jungle fighter creeps along the path, firing at every target sighted. Reminded that everyone represents a shooting enemy, he learns quickly.

Britain's jungle warriors learn, too, how to become part of the jungle shadows, camouflaged by green uniform and makeup for hands and face.

King Observes 53rd Birthday

LONDON, Dec. 14.— (AP). — The king today observed his 53rd birthday, cheered by news that his leg condition is improving.

But despite Monday's reassuring medical bulletin, the royal family plans no formal celebration. The king's birthday, always a quiet family affair, will be more than habitually subdued this year.

The queen will dine with her husband at his bedside. Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret, and Prince Philip, will see him for as long as it is deemed advisable. His mother, Queen Mary, is expected to drop in from nearby Marlborough House. A few others may call.

Little note will be taken of the day publicity. Flags will be flown here and there over the country, but the commonwealth reserves its big display for the "official" birthday celebration in June.

A lover of the active life and the outdoors, the king admits that his enforced rest is irksome Yet members of the royal household report that he submits to the necessary restrictions willingly and often jokes under treatment or examination.

Federation May Appeal Oleo Ruling

Says Dairy Industry In Worst Position In Farming History

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(CP)—H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said today the CFA might appeal the supreme court's decision on the margarine question to the privy council.

"We will consider the possibility of appealing the decision if the government itself does not," said Mr. Hannam, adding that the dairy industry "today is in the least favorable position of any agricultural industry."

Mr. Hannam said the decision was "confusing, because it divides the authority for the butter substitute between the provinces and the Dominion."

Adding confusion to the judgment, said the CFA head, were the "important dissensions" of Chief Justice Thibadeau Rinfret and Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin from the main decision—that the manufacture, sale, use or possession of margarine is legal.

He declined to comment further. The federation represents a majority of Canada's farmers, including butter producers.

Need Regulations

However, it was understood that the agricultural industry was concerned not so much with the sale and manufacture of margarine in Canada as with the need for regulations to govern the making and selling of butter substitutes.

Informed quarters said the industry feared that margarine and other substitutes would be put on the market before standards governing color and other qualities could be legislated. For example, there was a fear that some might attempt to sell margarine as butter at butter prices.

(In some of the United States, there are prohibitions against the sale of yellow-colored margarine, presumably to prevent the fraudlent sale of margarine as butter.)

The effect of today's judgment, declaring that butter substitutes might legally be manufactured and sold in Canada, though the import ban remains, is to vest the provinces with jurisdiction over margarine. Control of imports is still in federal hands, however.

Up To Provinces

In effect, the judgment said that the manufacture and sale of margarine comes within the scope of those sections of the British North America Act dealing with property and civil rights, two fields belonging exclusively to the provinces.

This means that it now will be up to the provinces to say whether or not margarine may be manufactured and sold within their boundaries.

In Toronto, Premier Kennedy of Ontario said today he did not expect any action by the province to ban manufacture or sale of margarine, permitted under today's supreme court of Canada decision which retained the ban on imports.

Woman 63 Killed In Futile Rescue

CHICAGO, Dec. 14—(AP)—A frail, 63-year-old woman failed in an attempt to rescue her aged, invalid brother from their burning home early today and both perished in the fire which attacked the two-storey frame structure. A sister who lived with them escaped.

The dead were Miss Calista Pratt and her brother, Richard, about 80, who had been confined to his bed for a month. Their sister, Jeanette, 62, who discovered the fire in her brother's second-floor room, summoned firemen and was forced to flee because of heavy smoke.

Miss Pratt told firemen her sister, who was about five feet tall and weighted about 100 pounds, ran to their brother's room when the fire, of undetermined cause, broke out. Firemen said the woman apparently died trying to carry or drag to the stairs her ill rother, who weighed more than 200 pounds and was more than six feet tall.

Sell Margarine In Toronto Stores Friday

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — (CP) — Margarine will go on sale in Toronto by this Friday as a result of the Supreme Court decision permitting its manufacture and sale in Canada, an official of a large packinghouse said today.

This official said margarine-manfacturing machinery in his company's plant will start rolling within a few hours. It will be two days before the first cartons for packaging the butter substitute will be available. Toronto will get the first margarine because the plant happens to be here. The product is expected to reach all parts of the country within a few weeks. He said he could not predict the retail price.

Another company, which may not get into margarine production for a year or so, suggested the price might be 35 or 38 cents a pound.

Newfoundland Angle

One other Canadian company can start selling margarine in Canada after March 31 when Newfoundland becomes part of the Dominion.

This announcement came today from C. A. Massey of Lever Brothers, commenting on the Supreme Court decision permitting sale and manufacture of butter substitutes in Canada but retaining the ban on imports.

Mr. Massey said his company's plant in Newfoundland has a surplus production of margarine available for the Canadian market and will import it from there as soon as Newfoundland's entry into Confederation makes it possible.

His company has no plant in Canada which could be converted to margarine production, he said. It had equipment but no space without shifting other products. It probably will build a margarine plant in Canada but that would take at least a year.

Mr. Massey said there was uncertainty as to what individual provinces would do. Some might decide on a provincial ban.

TRENTON, Dec. 14—(CP)— "Life is nice, but a trifle long," Mrs. Mary Howe, of nearby Consecon said today. She had just turned 100.

Substitutes Can Be Made Judges Decide, But Importations Barred

Two Justices Dissent On One Section But Other Five Agree; Becomes Law At Once, Unless Appealed

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(CP).—The Supreme Court of Canada declared today that butter substitutes may be legally manufactured and sold in Canada but that the ban on their importations must continue. This covers the sale and manufacture of oleomargarine, margarine, butterine or any other substitute for butter manufactured wholly or in part from any fat other than that of milk or cream.

The long-awaited ruling, unless an appeal is taken to the Privy Council, means that Canadians may make and sell and consume margarine and other butter substitutes immediately.

The court was asked early in October to rule on the validity of the 19th-century legislation which has kept margarine from Canadian dinner tables for 62 years.

The Court found:

1—That the prohibition of the manufacture, offer, sale, or possession of butter substitutes is ultra vires of Parliament.

2—That the prohibition on the importation of butter substitutes from other countries is intra vires of Parliament.

The Supreme Court judgment has the force and the effect of law, unless there is an appeal to the Privy Council.

Two Dissenters

Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret and Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin dissented with respect to the prohibition of manufacture, offer, sale or possession of margarine being ultra vires.

The other five Justices of the seven-man court were agreed upon the illegality of that section of the legislation.

However, Mr. Justice K. H. Locke, while holding that the whole prohibition section of the Act was ultra vires, expressed no opinion as to the power of Parliament to ban importation by appropriate legislation. The other six Judges were unanimously of the opinion that the importation provision was intra vires, or valid legislation.

The Chief Justice, in his dissenting judgment, found the entire section of the Dairy Industry Act within the power of Parliament on two main grounds.

He found, first, that it came within Section 35 of the British North America Act, giving the Federal House jurisdiction over agriculture. This section had not been raised in court, but he nevertheless considered that it supported the Act.

Further, he contended that the Act "has effect, notwithstanding any law of the legislature of a province relating to agriculture which may be repugnant to it."

Direct Jurisdiction

The Chief Justice termed the Act "nothing more than the direct exercise of Parliament's jurisdiction over agriculture matters, or at least necessarily incidental and necessary for the effect control of agricultural matters in respect to milk and its by-products."

"The fact that oleomargarine and margarine do not come directly from the cows (of course they do not) and the mere con-

Petrillo Lifts Ban On Making Records In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP) —The government Monday night gave James C. Petrillo a legal go-ahead on his Musicians Union Welfare Fund, opening the way for immediate resumption of record making by AFL musicians.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark and Labor Department Solicitor William S. Tyson said the welfare arrangement between the recording companies and the Federation of Musicians is legal.

Both sides had agreed on the selection of Samuel R. Rosenbaum, director of the Philadelphia Orchestra Association, as the sole trustee of the $2 million a year welfare fund.

The fund would be financed from a royalty of 1 cent to 2½ cents on each record. It would be spent on free concerts to be staged by unemployed musicians who would be paid for their services.

The end of the union ban on recordings will signal the first recording of the new numbers since January 1 by instrumentalists who are members of the AFL-American Federation of Musicians, headed by Petrillo. Some new numbers have been recorded overseas during the ban and some in the United States with vocal accompaniment, but none by top American bands and instrumentalists.

RCA Victor, Columbia, and Capitol planned quick resumption of recordings to get new numbers in record dealers' hands in time for the Christmas trade. Decca officials said they were in no particular rush.

LONDON, Dec. 14 (Reuters)— Princess Elizabeth's son will be known as Princes Charles of Edinburgh, it was officially announced tonight.

The young Prince's full name will be Charles Philip Arthur George.

The baby will be christened tomorrow at Buckingham Palace by Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury.

The announcement of the names ended weeks of speculation on the part of the British press and public.

Offered Eye For $10,000 To Give Children Christmas

PATERSON, N.J., Dec. 14. — Anthony Navarino, who wanted to sell one of his eyes to give his five kids a good Christmas, is 30 years old, but he believes in Santa Claus.

Until Monday, Navarino was desperate. Bills were piling up. The electricity and gas had been turned off. He had no job. And, worst of all, his brood faced a miserable Christmas.

That did it, he decided. The only way he could think of to get money was to offer one of his eyes for sale for $10,000 to be surgically transplanted.

Today, though, that's all just a bad memory.

After reading of his plight, more than 50 persons and business firms contributed to the flood of gifts that poured into his drab, four-room flat.

Now he has:

A job (the president of a glass company paid him a personal call to offer him work. Four other firms also offered him jobs).

A complete layette for his three-months-old daughter, Anna (from a woman who lost her child at birth).

Two tons of coal for the winter (from a coal company).

A load of preserved foods and staples (from various donors).

Besides that, an anonymous donor offered to pay all back bills plus the rent through March "to carry him over the winter."

Marshall Plan Hits Bottom Of Aid Barrel

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP) —The Marshall Plan hit the bottom of its foreign-aid barrel today after earmarking $536,600,000 for European recovery during the first quarter of next year.

With the allotment of these funds, the economic co-operation administration said it has used up the $5,055,000,000 first-year appropriation from the United States Congress.

The new commitments bring to $4,957,600,000 the amount set aside for recovery operations in 16 countries of Europe and China.

Reid Elected Reeve Of Otonabee

Richard Stewart Wins Deputy-Reeveship; In Heavy Voting

Harry Reid is the 1949 Reeve of Otonabee. He defeated present Reeve W. W. Dawson by 132 votes on Monday night in one of the heaviest polls in the township's history.

Ever since nomination day on Nov. 26 it was clear that there would be a hard-fought battle for the office of Reeve. Last year, in a controversial election, Mr. Dawson nosed out Mr. Reid by a scant 13 votes; but after a strong campaign this time Mr. Reid emerged victorious.

Two 1948 councillors fought it out for the office of Deputy Reeve which was left open when the incumbent, Harry McIntyre, dropped out. Richard Stewart decisively defeated Percy Davidson 780-549.

New councillors for 1949 are, in order of standing: Dave McIntyre 928, Roy Spears 780, Norman McConkey 779. Allan Eason, only member of last year's councillors to seek re-election, was edged out, polling 762 votes.

Of an eligible vote estimated at 2,334, a total of 1,406 ballots were cast. Early reports on the election indicate there were few spoiled ballots. A crowd of about 50 stayed in the Keene Town Hall to watch the results come in.

Mr. Reid has served formerly as deputy-reeve and councillor. When he was defeated in 1948 it was his first time out of municipal office in many years.

Trustees for School Area No. 1 were returned by acclamation. They were Fred Hall and Wellington Sutton.

The following is a statement of the polls of Otonabee at the 1949 elections:

Submit Briefs To Board On Milk Increase

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — (CP)— Milk producers and distributors Monday submitted briefs to a government - sponsored arbitration board whose decision will determine whether milk in Toronto will remain at 18 cents a quart next year.

The finding of the board, headed by Judge J. B Moon, is expected to set a pattern to be followed by other Ontario markets, particularly Hamilton.

A brief presented by the Toronto Milk Distributors Association claimed that producers' costs were largely dependent on labor demands. Negotiation of wages and price at the same time would prevent any price increase to consumers "becoming the unfortunate municipal football it so often does to the detriment of not only distributors but producers as well."

The Toronto Milk Producers' Association said the average cost of producing 100 pounds of whole milk had risen from $4.30 in 1947 to $4.63. The rise was caused principally to increased costs of feeds, labor and transport.

W. Wilmot, representing producers, said he was concerned only with the price paid farmers and added that distributors "can charge 30 cents a quart if they want to."

HARRIETSVILLE, Ont., Dec. 14—(CP)—A family of four barely escaped from their automobile Monday before it exploded and caught fire following a collision with another car. Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Wooley and daughters, Margaret and Patsy, were travelling in the car during a fog when the accident occurred.

Veterans Adopt New Constitution

About 200 members of the CGE Ex-Service Employees' Club met at the Canadian Legion Hall on Monday night to ratify the club's constitution which has just been drawn up.

The executive felt that the organization was so large it needed a constitution, and a special committee under the chairmanship of Carl Heintzman was set up to attend to this task. On Monday night it was presented to the membership who accepted it.

Nominations for five vacancies on the Executive Council began but the list is not yet closed. The election will be at the annual meeting in January.

When the business portion of the meeting was concluded there followed a full evening of entertainment. Herbert Taylor played a number of piano solos, Jack Waldon played a few selections on the piccolo. A rousing sing song was led by William Rickard.

Altogether 15 turkeys were raffled off and the winners of the Christmas Draw were announced. Thre were 14 cash prizes amounting to $300.

Stewart MacLaren, president, was chairman and Lowery McQuade, secretery was present also.

300 Refugees Cross Ocean In Vessel Built For 14

HALIFAX, Dec. 14—(CP). — A 47-year-old Estonian sea captain landed "the worst cargo I ever had" here Monday after a 30-day tussle with rough seas and today the "cargo" was being questioned, documented, examined and fed by immigration teams. Capt. Linde August sailed the 700-ton converted minesweeper Walnut out of Gothenburg, Sweden, Nov. 13 bound for "this free, democratic land of Canada" with some 300 eastern European refugees jammed into a ship built to carry 14 persons.

His cramped passengers were hungry and weak from seasickness when they arrived but their spirits were high as they were herded into immigration barracks. The spectre of Russian domination in their homelands—Poland, Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania—was a distant thing.

Said the captain: "It was the worst cargo I ever had. Human cargo is always risky, but with so many in such small quarters—it was bad."

Terrible Trp

One of them, who has spent 10 years in Canada, most of it when a child, gave this description of the voyage:

"It was fairly rough and the ship kept going up and down, back and forth. We were packed in like sardines. We had four pregnant women on board, and they were sick—my wife was one of them.

"Then, a few days at sea, I ate meat or something, and it must have been bad because I got sick. My bones were shaking and even yet I am weak. But I am all right now. At the same time I had to look after my year-old son.

"It was almost impossible to cook any food with the ship tossing around."

He smiled appreciatively as he told of the food, clothing, and candies given them by residents of North Sydney, NS, where the ship spent the week-end tied up by bad weather.

Stock Prices Mixed In Active Trading

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — (CP)— Prices were mixed in moderately active trading on Toronto exchange today. Industrials held steady and golds were ahead slightly on small gains. Base metals dipped downwards and western oils were also easier.

Volume for the first three hours was 725,000 shares.

The whole board was selling under pressure of the heaviest ex-dividend list this year. Industrial issues were dull because of large number of stocks ex-dividend. Great Lakes Paper Pfd., and Canada Packers A sold down fractions at new lows and CPR and Bell Telephone sagged in utilities.

Consolidated Smelters led the downward trend in the base metals list, dipping 1½ at 127½ despite announcement Monday of an extra 4.50 dividend. The street had expected that the extra would be between $7-$8 50 and had already discounted more than the $4.50 actually distributed.

Piccadilly continued to shine in the gold list, climbing to a new high at 20 cents. Kerr Addison was strong in the seniors and several key juniors also improved.

Calgary and Edmonton, Home Oil and Central Leduc weakened in a dull western oils grouping.

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 — (CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent, leader of the Liberal party, said Monday night the Progressive Conservative victory in Digby-Annapolis-Kings was a "disappointment" but the party would "try all the harder to win the next time."

City Taxpayers Must Maintain Orphan Although Neither Parent Ever Lived Here

Peterborough has been made responsible for the wardship with the Children's Aid Society of a three-year-old child whose unwed parents never lived here City Solicitor Huycke told the finance committee of the council Monday night.

The mother was born at Bathurst, N.S., joined the army and served for a time at Ottawa and Kingston. The child was born in Sept. 1945 at the Victor Home, Toronto, and was placed for adoption with a Peterborough couple in Jan. 1946.

The baby girl was found to be subnormal, and as legal adoption had not been effected she was taken to the CAS, and the usual application was made for wardship, Mr. Huycke reported.

Magistrate Philp had no alternative but to make the child a permanent ward of the Society on the basis of nearly three years' residence here, holding the city liable for its maintenance.

"Hence, we have the extraordinary result of a child whose parents never lived here, and who was brought to this city for a special purpose, and which purpose having failed, the taxpayers of Peterborough are obliged to maintain it. The couple who had taken the child were heartbroken that their wishes turned out that way. I don't think it is proper that the Victor Home should send a child here without anybody knowing it."

tention that they are not natural products but manufactured articles is not sufficient to remove them from the domain of the Federal Government in respect of agriculture.....They are just as much a dairy product as butter, cheese, ice-cream...."

His second reason was that "the so-called prohibition is not prohibition at all but a regulation of trade and commerce and properly within the competence of Parliament under Section 91 of the BNA Act."

No question could be raised about the competence of Parliament to deal with import of the material.

No Foundation

Mr. Justice J. Estey found no foundation in fact for the statement in the preamble of the Act that "the use of certain substitutes for butter.....is injurious to health" as affecting margarine. Therefore the preamble "cannot be regarded as either a basis for or the construction of the legislation."

He agreed that importation was within Parliament's powers but said "the prohibition of the manufacture and sale directly interferes with the freedom of individuals and corporate bodies to engage in the business of manufacturing or selling the specified food products.....As such, it is legislation in relation to property and civil rights with respect to which the provinces have exclusive right to legislate...."

Mr. Justice Estey ruled out the validity of arguments that the prohibition is "for the protection of an industry that has attained 'such dimensions' or is of such national concern as to give the Dominion a jurisdiction validity to enact it under the peace, order and good government clause" of the BNA Act.

No Longer Valid

Falling in with the majority decision, Mr. Justice Ivan Rand agreed that the preamble no longer had validity.

In dealing with a Federal argument that the Act was a public purpose which could support it as being in relation to criminal law, he found that its object was economic and its legislative purpose was 'to give trade protection to the dairy industry in the production and sale of butter; to benefit one group of persons against competitors in business in which, in the absence of the legislation, the latter would be free to engage in the provinces."

He said that "to forbid manufacture and sale for such an end is prima facie to deal directly with the civil rights of individuals in relation to particular trade within the provinces."

There was nothing of a general or injurious nature to be abolished or removed in this case. It was a "matter of preferring certain local trade to others."

As to the argument that the legislation related to agriculture, Mr. Justice Rand said "its object is to benefit the trade in a product of agriculture, but that is merely consequential effect and does not of itself relate to the legislation of agriculture."

Has No Bearing

Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin, in his dissenting judgment, adopted a principle handed down by the Privy Council in a previous case and said this showed that "there is no ground on which it may be held that the legislation in question is not what it professes to be, an enactment creating a criminal offence...."

Even, he said, if it were granted that margarine is no longer injurious to health, as stated in the Act's preamble, once it is concluded that the Act is true criminal legislation, the Privy Council decision "does show that the incorrectness of the recital" or preamble has no bearing.

Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock noted that the preamble to the original Act called for the prohibition of the substitutes on the ground they were "injurious" to health and that the Dominion based its argument partly on this contention.

However, he noted further that parliament had permitted the manufacture, sale and importation following the First World War and that the Canadian Medical Association Journal recently had termed margarine "exactly equal" to butter as a source of energy.

These factors made it plain, he felt, that "no element of public health" now was involved in the case.

Nor did he think that the Act

Peiping City

1. The Communists form a semi-circle around it from southwest to east at distances from seven to 15 miles.

2. Nationalist commander Futso-Yi's withdrawal route to the northwest — the Peiping-Kalgan railroad — has been completely sealed. The Communists are in control of most of the line.

3. Peiping's two airfields—west and south fields—are in danger of being overrun by Communist ground forces.

4. The Communists could at almost any moment now cut the Peiping-Tientsin railroad and thus completely isolate Peiping by land.

On the surface, Chiang's National government appeared to function normally. But actually, most government departments were operating on a day to day basis. Most ministers were simply marking time.

An indication of the official "wait and see attitude" is seen in the delay by Chiang's new premier, Sun Fo, in forming his government. The entire official body seems to be permeated by this attitude except for some of Chiang's most trusted lieutenants, who are working under the full effect of his strong determination to continue the war against the Communists.

A rumor that Chiang Kai-Shek had resigned from the Presidency cause excitement in Hong Kong but was immediately denied in Nanking.

A message from Hong Kong said the rumor was believed to have been circulated by speculators, who wanted to buy gold at a cheaper price. The rumor caused the price of gold to drop in that British Crown colony, and speculators bought at the lower figure.

May Fly Men To Check Invasion Story

By The Associated Press

The Costa Rican government, charging the country is invaded by land, sea and air forces from neighboring Nicaragua, looked to a special meeting of the organization of American republics in Washington today to settle the Central American dispute.

Diplomatic authorities in Washington said a fact-finding commission may be sent by plane to report on the claimed invasion.

The Costa Rican governmeent charges the invasion force is made up of Communists, Nicaraguan guardsmen disguised in "flashy blue uniforms" and Costa Rican political exiles.

The Nicaraguan government has formally denied any forces have entered Costa Rica from Nicaraguan soil. The Nicaraguan foreign minister said his government had closed the southern border to prevent the crossing "by the inhabitants of any nationality."

The military command in San Jose, Costa Rica's capital, under Col. Jose Figueres, reported four rebels were killed and an undetermined number captured in border skirmishes Monday.

The San Jose regime has charged the rebels are led by Rafael Calderon Guardia, a former Costa Rican president who was routed by the current military junta last May.

Serious Note On Christmas Given Rotary Ladies' Night

Hats, singing, laughter, and music mixed with a little serious thought combined on Monday night to make the Rotary Club's Christmas party a success. This party was for Rotarians and Rotary Anns.

Charlie Allan led the Glee Club and the rest of the Rotarians and Rotary Anns in singing Christmas carols. "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" was sung by the Glee Club for the ladies.

"In these surroundings of good fellowship, good cheer, good food, and festive gaiety it is not easy to direct one's thoughts to questions of a more serious moment," said B. Smitheram, speaking on "Will the Angels Sing Again." "Yet as we approach this season of joy, merriment and rejoicing, I feel there is need foor sobering meditation to focus again our attention on the spirit and meaning of the Christmas festival."

"We are apt to regard Christmas as one of frenzied haste, ostentatious commericalism, and too obvious insincerity. I then ask this question, Will the Angels Sing Again?"

"Angels sang at the coming of Jesus. They sang because there was born a man who was to do good in a world of sin, disease, and selfishness. Will the angels' song be heard again? In 1948? In 1949? In our lifetime? In the lifetim of our children?"

"Socrates, Confucious, and Christ were of the same era. They each enunicated an ideal of service to others. Rotary bases its entire program upon that ideal of service. Essentials of Rotary are in one word, Service, and in three words, Service Above Self."

Stined With Selfishness

"The long history of man is stained with selfishness. The world in which man lives is full of inequalities. We see it in the broken family of nations. We see it in the war-ravaged lands. We see it in the tortures of hunger, disease, famine and fear. All these are enemies against which the spirit of service is the one effective weapon."

"Apply the ideal of Service above Self. We have seen it applied and believe what was done on a unit size of our community can be applied on a world-wide scale. And then angels will surely sing again."

B. Smitheram was introduced by Dr. H. Long and thanked by H. Gorrell.

Gordon Dobbin introduced Ross Dobbin who gave the ladies a pair of nylon hose each on behalf of the Rotary Club. Ross Dobbin made this presentation one of the liveliest moments of the party with his good humor.

Harry Northrop and Charlie Allen played "Bolero" and "Moonlight Cocktails" on the piano. Alan Tucker, an accordionist played "Twelfth Street Rag," a Ukrainian folk song, and "Remembering You." Miss M. Mayneord, a whistler, was accompanied by Mrs. Hubbell at the piano. She thrilled the audience with her skillful renditions of "Valse Parisienne", "Moon Winks" and "Pale Moon". The deep, mellow voice of Adam Hawley held Rotarians and Rotary Anns attentively, especially when he sang "The Holy City". Mrs. J. Goldie sang "I Would Weave a Song For You", "Four Leaf Clocer" and "The Birthday of a King".

Public Schools Get Tape Recorder

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 14.— Another advance in the modernization of Belleville educational facilities is the recent move by the Queen Mary Home and School Association to purchase a tape-recording machine for use in the school.

Known as the "Sound Mirror," the machine has recently undergone preliminary tests to assess its value to the teaching staff and pupils. The main uses will be for speech training, allowing pupils to hear their voices recorded and better note errors. Educational broadcasts can be recorded to be presented to pupils at convenient times. The use of the machine will also enter the music field, aiding in the noting and subsequent correcting of vocal and instrumental errors.

The machine will be put at the disposal of all grades, and is the first of its kind in Belleville public schools. The expected cost of the machine will be approximately $250. One machine of this type has been in use at the Belleville Collegiate for some time and had met with considerable success.

Vigilance Committee For The Civic Hospital

Citizens generally should approve the sober, careful attitude of the hospital committee at its meeting yesterday morning. The committee are determined to see that the hospital will be completed as rapidly as possible, according to planning, and within the limits of the money available. Referring to the additional $1,500,000 approved by the ratepayers a week ago, Alderman Raine said: "The council was in the front line in the matter of raising this money, and we want to be sure that we are not to be asked for any more".

The committee are attempting to determine beforehand the costs of new construction, and to obviate the delays both large and small which have dogged the work thus far and increased the costs. A most useful decision made at Monday morning's meeting was to form a small special committee. It is a move which we recommended indirectly in our editorial ten days ago in support of the hospital by-law. Its members are Mayor-elect Swanston, Aldermen Raine and Waddell, Mr. John R. Marshall, chairman of the hospital's Board of Governors, and Mr. T. T. Rodger, its treasurer.

* * *

The committee will provide a small group to watch over the daily details, and readily available to discuss matters requiring immediate attention. It will be, in a sense, a vigilance committee. Although Mr. Marshall said, in agreeing to sit on the committee, that it seemed like an extra cog in the machinery, we believe that it may be a very essential cog, the cog which will make the machinery run more smoothly and efficiently.

The Victoria Colonist

One of Victoria's two daily newspapers is the Colonist. It has enough distinctions to warrant its sticking out its conservative chest today in a special 152-page edition. The occasion of the grandiose three pound issue is its ninetieth birthday. Vigorous longevity may not be as exceptional in the superannuated atmosphere of Victoria as in rougher, tougher Ontario; nevertheless even in Victoria the anniversaries of the aged are observed with portly ceremony (three pounds of newspaper is indeed portly).

What distinction has the Colonist that other newspapers have not? It has a founder and first editor named Amor de Cosmos — a Nova Scotian born Bill Smith who had his name officially changed to 'Love of the World' in Latin, French and Greek. Amor de Cosmos also became the second Premier of British Columbia. It is the only Colonist in a country which is a free and independent nation. Its editorial columns contain at times the longest sentences ambulating in any newspaper in the western world. It is the only daily newspaper in Canada that takes a holiday on Monday and publishes Sunday instead. And it is ninety years old So many of its special characteristics are typical of Victoria that one wonders whether the Colonist shaped Victoria, or Victoria the Colonist.

The British Stand On The Ruhr

We have already discussed in these columns the importance of the Ruhr valley to the economy of Germany and the whole of Europe. The three western powers agreed last spring to the disposition of the territory and the control of the industries, but lately France has become suspicious that the Americans may be attempting to revive Germany's heavy industries at the expense of France, and that the British are too intent on bolstering Germany's economy so that the British taxpayers will be relieved of the burden of feeding German mouths. The French believe that both Britain and the United States are concentrating their attention on building up Germany as a buffer state against Russia and overlooking the potential threat of a revived Germany to France, which has already twice in this century been invaded by militant Germans.

France wants either the Ruhr to be detached from Germany and set up as a separate state, or its industries internationally owned. Mr. Bevin, the British Foreign Secretary, presented the British point of view in the House of Commons on December 9th:

"France has a right, and so have we and all other of Germany's neighbours, to be assured that the vast resource of the Ruhr shall not be used for the purposes of aggression, but we have to make sure of complete security in a way which permits and encourages Germany, without loss of self-respect, to play a proper part in the economic recovery of Europe".

He said that if an attempt were made to force international ownership of the Ruhr industries, it would lead to endless friction, would depress production, make German co-operation in the work of European reconstruction difficult if not impossible.

For nearly two years the United Kingdom has been exclusively responsible for the administration and rehabilitation of the Ruhr. That has imposed an enormous burden on British taxpayers. The present suggestion of a trusteeship scheme (including German trustees) for the industries, was not thrust on France without notice. The French government was informed about it last August. The question of ownership in the Ruhr should be speedily settled, for not only is Britain finding the present situation costly, but production cannot be increased while the matter remains unsettled, and while the workmen themselves are uncertain for whom or what country they are labouring.

A Column's Incursion

Military reports are bewildering—that is, the kind we ordinarily read in newspapers. Simple official ones are easy and explicit, something like: "At 0834 hrs. enemy c/a Force est. 3 tks 100 inf. S.A. and M.G. fire. No H.E. Attack broken up by arty stonk. All quiet 1020 hrs. Enemy cas 1 dead 2 wounded. Own tps no cas". We are a bit rusty on military messages, but that would be the gist of one. It is plain, factual, no trimmings: 'a hundred infantrymen and a couple of tanks opposite ventured to disturb the peace along the front at 8.30 a.m. It wasn't much of a show and our artillery fire sent them back with three casualties to our none. Everything serene by ten-twenty and our chaps have resumed their tea-brewing'.

Compare that with a report from Palestine which we were reading this morning. "Incursion into Trans-Jordan by an Israeli column". What do they mean by "incursion"? An attack? A joy-ride in jeeps to see what kind of wine was to be had in Trans-Jordan? A company commander making a mistake in his map reading and leading his troops where he had no intention of taking them? And what does the high-falutin word "column" mean? A patrol of ten men, a company on a route march, a battalion in a thin khaki line, an army on the scrounge?

Across the morning page our eye encountered a report from Tel Aviv: "When the dust of the desert battle subsided and the invaders (Egyptians) had been dispersed, the sands were littered with dead and wounded". That sort of stuff sounds real until we become suspicious of "dust of battle", "invaders dispersed" and "littered sands". What happened? It seems that there was a "foray" (a handy vague word) and 100 men were killed or wounded. That is as explicit as the story became.

There are Chinese reports of "armies trapped" (what do armies look like in a trap?) and of the 12th Army Group (that is supposed to be 110,000 men) breaking free from an encirclement. That sort of thing is beyond both our mind and imagination, except as a chapter in a story-book.

If we read many more such reports we shall begin to think all military history romantic nonsense. Can we any longer put faith in the stories of the first war; in Trevelyan and Carlyle; in the records of the deeds of Marlborough and Charlemagne? Perhaps Caesar can be trusted because of his brevity, and Xenophon because he was explicit about the march of the ten thousand, even to the point of telling how the gallant warriors got drunk on mead. It is details like that which substantiate history, not bland words about incursive columns and the subsiding dust of desert battles.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A columnist writes that "exercise will destroy any germ". That's why we keep away from it, fearing that it might destroy the germ of an idea.

Eels live 40 years, on the average. They watch the years slip away, and then slip away themselves.

A Christmas Book Review

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

EVERY year, by this time, we have received many more books than we can hope to review in the regular way before Christmas. As we know that many of our readers depend heavily upon books to fill out their Christmas lists, and as we hope that they have some faith in our judgement, we offer the following list of brief reviews in the hope that they may be helpful.

SUNSHINE SKETCHES OF A LITTLE TOWN, by Stephen Leacock (McClelland & Stewart). Here at last is a worthy and handsome edition of one of Canada's few classics, distinguished by admirable illustrations by Grant Macdonald. This is the solution of many of your Christmas problems, and a book to buy for yourself. It is safe to say that it will never have a finer presentation or more understanding and artistically appropriate decoration.

IN PASTURES GREEN, by Peter McArthur (Dent). It is good to have a volume containing so much of the best of Peter McArthur, who has been neglected for twenty years or more. He was one of our pleasantest Canadian essayists, and a humorist of distinction. This volume contains some of his best comment on farm life. It has been edited by K. M. Wells, and is decorated with woodcuts by Lucille Oille. Collectors of Canadian writing should not neglect it.

I CAPTURE THE CASTLE, by Dodie Smith (McClelland & Stewart). This charming novel is the first work in that form by a well-known playwright. It is a love story, lightly and ingeniously told, and sentimental in the best sense of that abused word. Two English girls (poor) fall in love with two American men (rich) and after a good deal of misunderstanding and agreeable torture everything comes out satisfactorily. Well above the average in its line, and highly recommended.

GRENADINE ETCHING, HER LIFE AND LOVES, by Robert C. Ruark (Doubleday). This book, described as "a very historical novel", is a satire upon all the pretentious rubbish which followed the success of "Gone With The Wind". The satire is of the rough-and-ready variety, and none the worse for its occasional crudity, for one does not clean up a mess without using harsh cleansers. This cannot be recommended for your Aunt Mamie, but your more intellectually agile relatives will be grateful for it.

THE GOLDEN WARRIOR, by Hope Muntz (Clarke Irwin). This extraordinary historical novel tells the story of Harold of Britain and William the Conqueror, and makes these men and their contemporaries—so dimly apprehended in school histories—live gloriously. It bears the recommendation of G. M. Trevelyan, which will tell historians what to think of it, and in the opinion of the present reviewer it is the finest historical novel of the year.

CAPTIVE PRINCESS, by Margaret Irwin (Clarke Irwin). This is a companion volume to "Young Bess" which this author produced about four years ago. It continues the history of Elizabeth Tudor during her nineteenth year and it is written with the restraint, scholarship, taste and sense of history which makes Miss Irwin one of the best of living historical novelists. It contrives to be both romantic and trustworthy at once. Highly recommended for literate, demanding readers.

THE RICH MAN, by Henry Kreisel (McClelland & Stewart). The author of this interesting novel is a Viennese who, after many adventures and disappointments, has become a Canadian. In this, his first published novel in English, he shows a richness of invention and an understanding of simple people which should gain him a high reputation as a writer. It tells the story of Jacob Grossman, a humble tailor working in Canada, who returns to his native land and lets it be thought that he is a man of means. Sincerely felt and vividly written, it is worthy of the attention of discriminaing readers.

THE WASHBOURNES OF OTTERLEY, by Humphrey Pakington (Clarke Irwin). The novels of Humphrey Pakington have become a cult with a large group of readers who admire the stateliness and subtlety of his style, and his careful reconstruction of Victorian life. If he were a mere writer of careful period pieces Mr. Pakington would not be particularly interesting to the present reviewer, but he illuminates his novels with humour of a rare flavour; he cracks no jokes and arranges no obviously funny situations, but he manages by a turn of phrase or a single word to offer amusing comment upon his characters and the predicaments into which they manoeuvre themselves. This novel is in his best vein, and adds substantially to his reputation as an ironist.

ONE THING AFTER ANOTHER, by C. B. Pyper (Dent). This is a volume of short essays by a well-known journalist who has long been resident in Canada, but who is still an Irishman at heart. Mr. Pyper touches upon a wide variety of subjects with spirit; the book is illustrated with drawings by his wife, Nancy Pyper, who is known to a very large public as a director of plays.

JAMES CARDINAL McGUIGAN, by Claude Laing Fisher (McClelland & Stewart). The many admirers of Cardinal McGuigan will be glad to have this lavishly illustrated volume which tells the story of his life up to the present. As well as being a prince of the Church of Rome, the Cardinal is a distinguished Canadian, and this account of his career will be of wide interest.

THESE ENGLISH, by Bernard Braden (McClelland & Stewart). Here, in book form are the impressions of a Canadian observer in Britain, already delivered as radio broadcasts. Good decorations by John A. Hall.

STILL GLIDES THE STREAM, by Flora Thompson (Oxford). This is a quiet, beautifully written account of life in an Oxfordshire village in 1887, when Queen Victoria's Jubilee was the preoccupation of most of its inhabitants. The author has already made a distinguished reputation with "Lark Rise To Candleford". Recommended for those who appreciate good writing.

THE LAST ENCHANTMENTS, by Robert Liddell (Clarke Irwin). This is a refreshingly literate novel about life in Oxford—the city itself, and not the life of the colleges, about which so much has already been written. The people in this story live, as it were, on the fringe of the university. Though written with a feather touch, there is a considerable measure of pathos in this book, and discerning readers will discover that there is a great deal more in it—more understanding of people, and more literary skill—than immediately meets the eye.

A MEMO TO YOU

Parade Of New Stamps

(NEW YORK TIMES)

A GENTLEMAN whose practice it is to make a weekly purchase of postage stamps in quantity sufficient to meet the needs of his family of prolific letter-writers has suggested to this corner that unless something is done about the wholesale authorization, by Congress, of commemorative stamps, the postal service eventually may become demoralized. It seems that for three successive weeks last month when he visited the post office to buy his usual block of stamps he received three-cent issues of a design he never had seen before. On the fourth week he attempted a feeble joke with the man at the stamp window about the parade of new stamps only to be presented with yet another new stamp issue plus the news that last month no fewer than five commemorative issues had been placed on sale, a total with which, had he been a collector (he was told by the man at the post office stamp window), he would have been familiar.

On further inquiry it was found that whereas in 1946 there were six commemorative issues and last year nine, this year there are twenty-nine, all but two of which are three-cent stamps. One of the two, a five-cent stamp, was issued to hail the Swedish pioneers in America, and the other, a five-cent airmail stamp, commemorates the golden anniversary of the City of New York. (Future sales prospects of the latter appear to be dim; rates on airmail letters increase to 6 cents on Jan. 1.)

THE three-cent issues placed on sale this year are officially and concisely titled as follows: Dr. George Washington Carver, California Gold Centennial, Mississippi Territory, Four Chaplains, Wisconsin Statehood, Progress of Women, William Allen White, United States-Canada Friendship, Francis Scott Kay, Salute to Youth, Oregon Territory Centennial, Harlan Fiske Stone, Palomar Mountain Observatory, Clara Barton, Poultry Industry, Gold Star Mothers, Fort Kearney, Volunteer Firemen, Indian Centennial, Rough Riders, Juliette Low, Will Rogers, Fort Bliss, Moina Michael, Gettysburg Address, American Turners Society and Joel Chandler Harris.

Scanning this impressive list, our acquaintance was embarrassed to discover that one of the titles puzzled him. Additional research filled the gaps in his knowledge: Moina Michael, a native of Georgia, who died in 1944, first advanced the idea for a memorial poppy, and the commemorative stamp was placed on sale at Athens, Ga., Nov. 9, on the thirtieth anniversary of her Poppy Day proposal.

Our informant observes that there is no way to estimate the number of commemorative stamps which the Eighty-first Congress may authorize next year, but he asks, if the "do-nothing" Eightieth Congress found time to approve twenty-nine issues, what may we expect from a new Congress full of zeal and determined not to be outdone by its predecessor?

Single License Plates

New York Times: Fifteen of our forty-eight states have shown the good sense to determine to use only one license plate on their automobiles next year. In 1942 all states were issuing front and rear plates. The war emergency and restrictions on the use of metals caused all but a few states to adopt a single-plate plan. With the end of hostilities the practice of issuing two plates was generally resumed. We do not see why it should be. The front plate is chiefly extra baggage. Its practical use as an identifying mark is almost nil.

Five states now issue permanent type plates, validating them with tabs giving the date of the year. This is sensible procedure. The rear license plate is the important identifying mark, and it should be kept as legible and simple as possible. As a practical matter, especially in view of the continuing shortage of steel, of which our millions of vehicles use a surprising tonnage for license plates, we hope the single-plate habit will grow among the states.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge.

There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard. Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. In them hath he set a tabernacle for the sun, which is as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoiceth as a strong man to run a race.

His going forth is from the end of the heaven, and his circuit unto the ends of it: and there is nothing hid from the heat thereof. (Ps. 19: 1-6.)

Praise ye the Lord: for it is good to sing praises unto our God; for it is pleasant; and praise is comely....He telleth the number of the stars; he calleth them all by their names.

Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite. (Ps. 147: 1, 4, 5.)

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God ....All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. (John 1: 1, 3.)

By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and al lthe host of them by the breath of his mouth. He gathereth the waters of the sea together as an heap: he layeth up the depth in storehouses.

Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast. (Ps. 33: 6-9.)

The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works. (Ps. 104: 31.)

Party Leader's Family

Lethbridge Herald: The bachelor political leaders get more attention than the married. We have had Mr. King and Mr. Bennett in that role, and Robert Gardiner, an early House leader of the Progressives, too. But why overlook the married leader? Alberta produced one in the person of John Blackmore, once Federal Social leader, and he can boast of being the father of the largest family of any leader past or present, and quite possibly in the future, 11 boys and girls. When we come to look at the leaders from that angle, Mr. St. Laurent runs second with five. Mr. Drew is the father of two, Mr. Coldwell of one. Earlier leaders like Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier were childless. Mr. Meighen had two sons and a daughter. So the Lethbridge M.P. has a distinction all his own.

Mama Dolls, 2-Faced Dolls Wetums Dolls Galore A Nightmare To Reporter

By DAVE WHITE

Anybody who thinks a reporter's job is one continuous round of meeting celebrities and covering headline stories charged with human drama should take a whirl at the game sometime. Take that doll story which I was assigned to the other day for instance. It all started innocently enough, but so did the Chicago fire. The city editor beckoned to me with a confidential jerk of his head as I sat dreaming behind my typewriter. When I approached the copy desk for instructions he pushed his hat well back on his forehead in the approved manner for newspaper editors and barked: "I want you to get a story on dolls."

After clicking my heels to attention (one of my better military hangovers) I noticed that the original toughness in his manner had passed to be replaced by a sudden touch of kindness.

A benevolent smile jerked across his face and he said softly: "The toy departments in Peterborough are overflowing with the most personable dolls of all times. There are cuddlesome dolls that drink water, maybe eat cookies, coo, cry, or blow bubbles. Write a feature on it."

He handed me a memo to that effect and watched me for a few minutes as though debating whether or not I was worthy or capable of the mission.

"Right, chief," I said, manufacturing less than a grain of enthusiasm. And then I was on my way.

"Of all the blankety, blank assignments," I muttered to myself as I walked away from the office. And the words came back to me "cuddlesome dolls that drink water, maybe eat cookies, coo, cry or blow bubbles." Like Dorothy Parker's "Tonstant Weader" I wanted to "fwow up."

My first stop was at a George St. department store where I saw some dolls displayed in the window. I stepped inside to be greeted by that smell peculiar to similar department stores everywhere—an indescribable combination of everything desired by the species from ladies cosmetics to hot dogs.

As I procrastinated by lolling against a counter distant from the toy department, I became aware of a sharp-eyed floor-walker studying me. He suddenly slipped up behind me and crooned "can I help you sir?"

"Well, us.... I'm interested in looking at dolls," I said.

After a short intake of breath he gave me a measured answer. "We don't like our female employees being bothered by strangers. Who they associate with on their own time, however, is their own concern."

I ignored the unexpected Runyonesque twist he had given my remarks, and the school teacher side of me got the upper hand. "Not 'who they associate with,' but 'whom they associate with'," I said patiently, "or better still, 'with whom they associate'.... Simple grammar old man."

The floor walker's eyebrows seemed to close together and his lips made a single straight line; his hands kept opening and closing as though he were pondering an extreme course of action. He looked at me and then looked directly at the door, repeating the gesture not more than seven times.

I'm not so stupid. I knew what he meant almost right away, and I walked straight out through the swinging doors, whether he liked it or not.

Making Progress

In the next store I had more success. I introduced myself to a salesgirl and told her my purpose. "Why, yes, we'd be glad to help you," she said and accompanied me to the kiddies' section of the store.

When I asked her about the supply this year she had a prompt answer: "We have enough dolls to meet the demand this Christmas. In fact, we now have as many in stock as the total of the previous three years."

Another girl clerk joined her, and promptly volunteered the information that she was surprised more had not already been sold.

"I guess the Christmas rush just hasn't started yet," was her conclusion.

The friendly newcomer then showed me an array of large dolls, made of cloth, composition or a mixture of both. Dresses and bonnets were attractively cut and in a variety of colors. Some of the smaller dolls had materials provided so that little girls could get experience in making clothing.

"We now have the greatest assortment of dolls since pre-war days," said the first sales girl. "No kiddy should be disappointed if she wants one for Christmas. The only shortage is in rubber dolls, which are particularly popular because they are easily washed."

"This year we are featuring the Smile-N-Cry doll", she stated. And she explained that the head of the toy can be revolved inside the bonnet—on one side revealing a smiling face and on the other a tearful one. Other have asleep and awake faces.

When I asked her how this type was described she answered "two-faced dolls." "H-m-m-m-mm," I said.

Something told me it was time to leave and I did.

When I walked into the next store I had made up my mind that I was going to be master of the situation and not be browbeaten by clerks. In show business the slogan is "the show must go on," but not less noble is that of the fourth estate, "get that story at all costs or you've had it."

I stepped up to the toy department counter where shelf after shelf of dolls were being displayed, rapped sharply on the counter with my pencil and drew out my pad in a business-like manner.

"What's new this year in dolls," I demanded of a meek looking salesgirl who approached.

"I don't know very much about it; I'm new here," she said.

Prics Higher

On the shelves were topsy dolls, dolls with jointed arms and legs, some that would cry when doubled over and others that closed their staring blue eyes when laid horizontal in a doll carriage or bed.

"Prices are higher this year," she said, "but then the cost of everything is up."

"Right," said I and made a note of it.

She began to show me some tiny celluloid figures, comparable in size to a peanut, that could be used when playing with miniature furniture. But I cut her short.

"What's the bottle stuck in this baby's mouth for," I said.

"That's a Wetum Doll," she replied. "She drinks from the bottle and then wets."

The accompanying box had printed on it in large letters, "You'll Love Her; She Drinks and Then She Wets." It was sold with an appropriately large supply of diapers, and cost less than $1.50.

"See, just like the real thing," she said, the faintest touch of enthusiasm creeping into her voice.

"A demonstration won't be necessary," I said.

"What are you blushing at mister," she asked, "haven't you ever seen a baby wet before?"

"I'm not blushing!" I insisted, "it's the heat. Perhaps I'd better take off my coat."

She smiled at me sympathetically and then left while I stood there fiddling with my pencil and trying to look unconcerned.

Once again thrown on my own resources I tried to gather together the last few elements of my devilled story. I noted with approval that furry animals—scotty dogs, elephants and teddy bears—are still popular with tots. Then an economical gift struck my eye.

It was a scrap book containing doll cuts outs. An attractive heroine was provided with a variety of wearing apparel, from morning coat to bedtime pyjamas. Any small child would have a wealth of fun snipping out the various dresses for her paper-doll favorite.

As I was mentally juggling with the problem of whether the doll would look best in an evening gown or sports clothes, I was accosted by one of Peterborough's finest.

"I've been watching you," he said. "What are you doing around the counter—annoying the girls are you?"

Then his eye caught the subject matter that I'd been studying. "Looking at paper dolls, eh! H-m-m, and the dolls haven't any clothes on either. I've heard of chaps like you before."

Leaning close to one of my burning ears he snarled, "I'll bet Dr. Kinsey would have something nasty to say about you."

I tried to explain but he just motioned me toward the door. As I scurried down the aisle toward the exit with my head buried in my coat collar I noticed that some people were looking down their noses at me and others were laughing in an insinuating sort of way.

When I got back to the office I was breathing hard and broken in spirit. "Anybody that wants this job can have it," I said to myself.

"Where have you been," bawled the editor as I entered the office. "I've been trying to get hold of you; drop that story on the dolls and do one on lingerie and female hose."

English Garden Tours Planned For Tourists

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(Reuters).—The stately homes of England, with their famous flower gardens, are to go on show for dollars next summer.

Tours are being planned by the government-sponsored Travel Association of Great Britain to enable American fanciers to see the finest country estates in England, Scotland and Wales. During the spring and autumn, one to three week itineraries will be arranged to see early and late flowers at their best.

They will enable overseas visitors to enjoy mass shows of daffodils in some of their most noted settings round the English lakes, beneath the trees of landscaped gardens and cottage homes. Later in the season some of the roses and herbaceous borders, for centuries identified with the trim lawns and ancient trees of Britain's oldest estates.

Tours An Experiment

These garden tours will be an experiment. If successful, they may be extended in following years.

Once the tours have been mapped out, it will be left to United States travel agencies to sell the idea through garden clubs and societies.

The parties will not be large; they will be of an intimate character, easily adaptable to the special privileges of visiting private homes and estates. Many distinguished families have agreed to throw open their gardens—and some of their historic mansions as well.

The tours will cover every corner of Britain—two in Scotland, two in the north and Midlands of England, one in East Anglia, one in the southeast and another in the southwest.

Daffodil displays will be on show at Carberry Tower, Musselburgh, Midlothian, Scottish home of Lord and Lady Elphinstone. Lady Elphinstone is a sister of Queen Elizabeth.

Famous estates now out of family hands and maintained by the national trust will be included.

Major Business Increases in 1948

A. E. Arscott, President, The Canadian Bank of Commerce, States Agriculture, Industry, Forestry, Mining All Progressive

Future Likely Determined By International Events

James Stewart, General Manager, Presents Strong Statement of Bank

At the Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, held in the Head Office of the Bank in the City of Toronto, December 14th, Mr. Allan E. Arscott, C.B.E., President, and Mr. James Stewart, C.B.E., General Manager, presented the Annual Statement of the Bank's operations in the past year, together with a review of business conditions. Mr. Arscott's address to the meeting follows, in part:

When we consider the size of Canada we can say that the country as a unit is in a relatively prosperous condition.

A year ago those engaged in agriculture faced difficulties, largely the result of poor crops over most of the farm and ranch areas. The crops this year, to the contrary, have been for the most part of high yield, exceptions being in limited areas in the West and the orchards of Nova Scotia and in parts of the Fraser Valley of British Columbia. The improved crop situation is best indicated by the fact that grain yields in 1948 are about two hundred million bushels greater than in the preceding year, the increase being divided between the Prairie Provinces and Eastern and Central Canada. This should mean that there will be larger food supplies in this country as more grain is converted into dairy, poultry and meat products and that our exportable surpluses can be greater.

With regard to the matter of exportable surpluses, the wheat agreement between Great Britain and Canada has one more crop year to go before expiry. In the coming months, therefore, it may be necessary for us to reconsider our position in the world wheat markets. The world wheat agreements were not ratified within the designated time limits, so that Canada, if new agreements are not made, is left in the main to her own resources to search for markets where the purchasers have the ability to provide satisfactory payment. There have been hopeful signs in recent weeks that proposals again will be placed before the governments concerned. Out of the discussions there may emerge a programme for orderly international marketing and distribution of food supplies.

INDUSTRY

Industrial production continues to increase although the rate of increase in some industries has been more or less irregular during the past year. In part this is due to the fact that the flow of materials from the United States had to be curtailed to conform more closely to our reserves of American dollars, and in part because of shortages in some materials, both in Canada and elsewhere.

While industrial expansion has not been as great as in 1947, due to the factors mentioned, nevertheless it has been important, since work undertaken prior to this year on new plants and extensions has continued toward completion and a number of new factories and mills have been brought into operation. New projects were started during 1948, many of which will be completed or will be well on the way to completion during the coming year. As well, some plant expansion programmes have been held in the blueprint stage in the hope of lower building costs. However, with the continued high level of business a number of these will be started next year where efficient operations cannot be carried on in existing cramped quarters. These activities are serving to enlarge our productive capacity and are adding considerably to the quantity and variety of goods available to the people of this country, and those elsewhere who seek Canadian industrial products.

FORESTRY

In forestry, production of lumber, wood pulp and paper again established new records, although some of the Eastern lumbering districts have been less active than for some years past. Over all, Canada will have cut in 1948 about five thousand million feet board measure of lumber and made over seven million tons of pulp and paper. The output of newsprint this year is four times greater than that of any other country and accounts for over half the world's supply of this essential commodity. Impressive as these figures are they do not represent all the progress in forestry operations because of continuing technical changes designed to increase the supply of wood materials of all kinds, notably pulp, and also to improve the quality of forest products.

MINING

Mining resumed in 1948 the upward course which was interrupted in the early post-war period by labour shortages and the run-down condition of many properties following the wartime pressures for non-ferrous base metals of which Canada was one of the major sources of supply. In the past year production of most minerals has increased—substantially in the case of coal and oil. One outstanding feature has been the further extensive development of the Alberta oil fields, now regarded as one of the major projects of its kind in the Western Hemisphere; so important is the extent of the discoveries of oil in this field that it seems to forecast a possibility of its reducing substantially our need of U.S. dollars to pay for the importation of petroleum products. Another important factor has been the exploration work on the Quebec-Labrador iron deposits, which has indicated ore reserves sufficient to justify commercial development on a scale which would make this area potentially one of the world's major sources of high-grade iron.

CAPITAL INVESTMENT

Canada has made great strides towards wider industrialization. The recent war speeded up this activity. In the circumstances, when planning capital investments for further industrial development it should be kept in mind that the supply of raw materials and available labour will have an important bearing and should be considered among the limiting factors in examining the long trend possibilities of our industrial economy. The enlargement of processing and manufacturing units to service temporary needs well may lead to later disappointments. These factors suggest that before decisions are reached on capital account searching enquiry should be made into the possibilities and probabilities of getting along on a competitive basis domestically and internationally over a reasonably long period.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE

A noticeable important change in direction of our export trade centred in the American market which took more Canadian goods and materials of all major classifications than in 1947. The value of such exports exceeded $1,200 million, close to the war-time peak when the United States was importing military supplies in large quantities. When all Canadian exports are taken into account the total amount is above that of the preceding year, over $2,700 million in value, but perhaps somewhat smaller in volume.

With respect to our trade with other countries, our exports to the British group declined by more than one hundred million dollars from 1947, as the result of smaller shipments to the United Kingdom, and substantial reductions in those to other markets in this group, particularly Australia. There was also a marked falling-off in exports to Continental Europe.

European countries are now obtaining goods from Canada through allocations made under the European Recovery Programme whereby purchases are permitted to be made in Canada and payment arranged for in U.S. dollars. Also having a bearing on Canada's trade, it has already been indicated that the balance remaining of the United Kingdom credit from Canada, namely, $235 millions, is likely to be "unfrozen" over the following months. The above arrangements should continue to stimulate temporarily at least the overseas demand for Canadian products.

DEFENCE PROGRAMME

With regard to defence measures now being considered and those in hand, the query arises as to what the effects will mean in terms of our economic activity. At the moment our position is not clear but it seems obvious that some resources will need to be withheld from domestic consumption. A military programme at the present is very different from other periods of defence preparation in this country. At other times, war for Canada, in the earlier stages at least, took up the slack in our economy and encouraged the expansion of production. Today with high employment, preparedness comes as a competitor not as a supplement to the productive machine and this fact will require consideration in making plans for next year.

There can be added a note of warning on this subject, namely, that notwithstanding the strong demand for most products it is only prudent to keep inventories under constant supervision. As we move forward into 1949 with a number of uncertain factor confronting us it is desirable that business take into account the various possibilities that could affect inventory positions and give careful consideration to physical volume as well as the values of inventory that must be maintained in order to assure an even flow of goods.

It is evident that to-day we have conditions in our economy which vary greatly from those that we have had in the past. In effect we are endeavouring to travel along the paths of peace, reconstruction and defence preparation simultaneously, each of which would in itself have a direct bearing on industrial decisions.

Domestically our economy has never been so flourishing. This is not to say an ideal situation has been achieved but it can be stated that our facilities for production have improved to an extent beyond even the most optimistic estimates of the last two years.

There have been incidents in the international sphere which have given, and are still giving cause for considerable concern. Statesmen not only from this continent but from abroad who have been close to international problems have warned us repeatedly of disturbances that might affect various European countries and which in turn could involve all the countries of the civilized world. We can only hope that the deliberations and patient efforts of those charged with the task of working out a peaceful solution will be successful in convincing potentially belligerent nations of the wisdom of foregoing any actions which might lead to an actual war. The cloud, however, is hanging over us and is affecting our thought no matter how prosperous the country appears to be in a general way. It would seem, therefore, that the pattern of the year ahead is likely to be determined more by international than by purely domestic economic considerations.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

The assets of the Bank have now reached a gure in excess of $1,500 million, an increase of the year of $102 million. In referring to the progress made in this respect during the year, mention might be made than an apparent misunderstanding in some quarters exists that such an expansion in the Bank's business reflects a larger proprietary interest of the shareholders; in other words, that the assets generally belong to the shareholders. This, of course, is incorrect, since the assets of the Bank, apart from the shareholders' equity, are the offsetting counterpart of the Bank's liabilities, which are represented largely by the deposits of its customers.

DEPOSITS

Aggregate deposits during the year increased by $93 million, of which $9 million was in non-interest bearing accounts, $50 million in Savings, and $34 million in Dominion Government Balances, the latter reflecting to some extent the proceeds of the sale of Dominion of Canada Savings Bonds. The non-interest bearing accounts, made up mostly of business accounts, fluctuate within quite a wide range. The Savings Accounts for the most part are moneys belonging to individuals. This continued evidence of thrift on the part of the public must be viewed with satisfaction as the accounts are well spread among all classes and occupations. Our deposit customers now number in excess of one million five hundred thousand, which figure represents a gratifying increase over last year.

LOANS

Our Curent Loans in Canada show an increase of $30 million which is indicative of the active part this Bank is taking in the business of the country. While loans continue to show an upward trend, the rate of increase which was evident last year has slowed down. The figures this year signify a combination of two factors—first, the continuation of the increased tempo of business compared to war and pre-war days and, second, the higher level of prices. There rate of increase in prices is slowing down and has been evidence in recent months that the it is to be hoped that the levelling-off point is near at hand. The continuing upward trend of business has inherent in it some elements of uncertainty. Increased production is essential to the well-being of the country, particularly in those lines where supply has not yet caught up with demand. However, there seems to be a tendency by some to reach out for volume beyond the point where existing capital can reasonably support financial requirements. Expansion of this kind should be taken care of by obtaining additional capital, and working capital positions should be analyzed with this in mind.

Most Canadian chartered banks operate on a national-wide basis and they number amongst their customers every industry and enterprise in the country. That being the case, banks' balance sheets reflect not only their own financial position but the economic condition of the country as a whole may be judged from their figures. When business is buoyant and expending throughout the country, bank figures reflect that condition, and, conversely, in a time of contracting business bank balance sheets mirror the changing trend. In these confused times one could not predict in anything but general terms what the future holds. However, with the resources with which this country is blessed, we can, if we handle our affairs with prudence now, look to the future with confidence.

STAFF

During the past year I had the pleasure of meeting members of the staff at a great many of our branches that I visited on a trip across Canada from Halifax to Victoria. I also had the opportunity of meeting a large number of our customers at the various points visited. It was evident from my contacts that there exists strong and widespread confidence in the present banking system. In turn I cannot speak too highly of the efforts of the staff. They have been working loyally and efficiently to give first-class banking service to the public.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

In a couple of weeks we'll be starting out on the hockey grind again Have been doing it quite a few years and still get a bang out of puck coverage. Started off back in '31 as a cub, doing southend and church loops, finally graduating to EPL by playoff time. Ted Outram was handling OHA stories for the paper at that time, with the late Fred Craig keeping his hand in occasionally on sports. Cogs had a pretty fair EPL club that winter, carrying such players as Foley, White, Williams, Rooke, Wilson, Cripps and Graham. So did L[illegible]field and they had one speedy junior that caught the eye—lad by the name of Joe Blewett.

* * * * * *

King George won the public school hockey title in March of 1931, with such boys as Hunter, Hill, Epps, Lipsett, Burton (yeah, Les), Howland, Hoy, Loescher and Gardner. Art Heal was with King Edward in the series. We had two junior OHA teams. Peterborough Hockey Club juniors included: Foley, Wood, Whatley, Epps, Jones, Dallin, Tuck, Meagher and Thirnbeck. They lost out to St. John's, comprised of: Miller, Howe, Ellis, Calladine, Cuthbertson, Gardner, Willshaw, Milliken and Merrett. Some good boys in those lineups, but not one is still playing. How the years slide by!

* * * * * *

They Come And Go

And the intermediate Petes of that year have but one chap still active in the game, Red Creighton. Our new alderman, Jim Gillespie, was in goal, with Lackey and Lebarr on defence. Scotty Maudsley was at centre between Hatton and Dallin. Subs were Pat (Rocket) Calladine, Jarvis and Creighton. The team was handled, we believe, by Jim Coursey. They lost out to Oshawa and also dropped a challenge series to Lindsay for the Harry Boyle Cup. A chap who played a long spell in the OHA here, Bun Kingdon, was probably just a junior school leaguer then. Yeah, we've seen a lot of 'em come and go over the years.

* * * * * *

Now that our senior "B" squads know their OHA groupings—Toronto Bells, Toronto Meteors, Legion and Petes—it's high time for Legionnaires and Petes to start repairing their fences. Their offences and de-fences, in a manner of speaking. Minus the Nicholls of 'Caygeon, Legion have a few tough spots to fill, particularly in goal. Some talk of a Cornwall goalie in town and he might be the answer. And minus the Belleville puckists, the Petes have to get busy and build up their attack. Need a few more good forwards. Bun Kingdon has been out with them a bit lately and may have shelved his decision to retire. Still no word from Joe Blewett, and the Creighton crew could certainly use him.

* * * * * *

A So-So Exhibition

These teams staged an exhibition on the large Belleville sheet last p.m. before 400 fans, Legion winning out 7-4. Bill Crowley sparked the attack for Ned Vitarelli's pack with three goals, and flying William should have another good season. Percy Nicholls was in on a pair, and Honey Tompkins tallied twice for the Petes. Just a so-so encounter as some of the boys aren't in peak form as yet. Both sides used players which they won't be able to carry once the OHA schedule opens. Convener Frank Buckland will be calling the clubs together shortly to draw up the schedule. If the weather wasn't so mild lately, it would be time to start flooding—but you can't have natural ice till it's cold enough.

* * * * * *

How Kingston can enter three senior "B" teams is something of a mystery. As they can't draw on Queen's, where there's an intermediate "A" entry. We note in the Whig where Randy Ellis writes from Scotland wanting a bashing defenceman, of the Bud Goodfellow type. Says the large rinks over there can't accommodate the crowds. Joe Lay has returned from the Maritimes and will likely line up with one of the Kingston senior "B" outfits, but there's a chance that old starry threesome of Carr-Harris, Catlin and Partis may wind up with a Maritime senior team. The pay is good down around Halifax, as Jake Wade found out in recent puck seasons.

* * * * * *

Church League Ready

Secretary Harris Glen of the Church Hockey League informs us that they decided at their recent meeting to extend the closing date for entries to Dec. 28. And that'll be he final deadline. They have 23 teams aboard at present, so it looks like a banner hockey season coming up for this large loop. A flock of young fellows get a good start in the game here through the church association each winter. Haven't heard yet what the breakdown is as to sections in the circuit, and we trust the minor divisions are well padded. The executive meets this Sunday at Mr. Edward's house at 532 King George St., we're told.

Hiss Resigns Post

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—(AP)—Alger Hiss, a principal in the Russian spy investigation Monday submitted his resignation as head of the Carnegie Endowment for Internatoinal Peace, but trustees tabled the resignation. He was granted a three-months leave of absence.

Jack Sharkey To Referee Team Go At The Brock Arena Wednesday

For the last wrestling show until some time in January the mat fans here will see the Dan O'Connor-Big Ben Morgan team battling two of the greatest wrestlers the British Empire has ever produced. Whipper Watson is of course the Empire titleholder but there are many who think his team partner of tomorrow night here, Fred Atkins, is equal even to the high-flying Whipper. In any case Atkins and Watson present a mighty threat to Big Ben and his Irish teammate. The fact that iron-fisted Jack Sharkey, ex-boxing champion of the world, will be enforcing the rules should give Billy and Australian Freddie a full chance to force the issue to a satisfactory conclusion. There will be no-time-limit so a winner must be declared. It shapes up as a sizzling match.

Indians Trade Eddie Robinson

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP)—The world champion Cleveland Indians, a spokesman announced today, traded first baseman Eddie Robinson and two pitchers to Washington Senators for first baseman Mickey Vernon and pitcher Early Wynn.

The Senators obtained pitchers Ed Klieman and Joe Haynes in the straight player deal. Klieman was used exclusively in relief roles last season. The Indians recently obtained Haynes, 31-year-old veteran, from Chicago White Sox for rookie catcher Joe Tipton.

Vernon, 30-year-old left-hander with the Senators for six full seasons, led the American League in batting in 1946 with a mark of .353 but slumped to .265 in 1947 and .242 last season. Robinson, who will be 28 tomorrow, has been with the Indians for the last two seasons. In 134 games last season he hit .254 but was credited with driving in 83 runs.

Wynn, 28-year-old right-hander, had his poorest season in 1948 since he joined the Senators in 1941. He had a record of only eight victories against 19 losses. In 1947 he won 17 and lost 15.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Hockey Association Monday at Toronto announced groupings for six of its eight series.

The list shows 23 teams in six junior C groups; 43 in nine junior B groups; 10 in nine junior D groups; 23 in five senior B groups; 41 in 12 intermediate B groups; 26 in 10 intermediate A groups.

In some cases, teams get their season's activity in a higher classification but come back to their own level for playoffs. For instance, junior D teams play in junior A and junior C groups during the season but drop to junior D in the post-schedule title hunt.

Murdo MacKay of the fourth-place Buffalo Bisons is out in front by six points in the American Hockey League scoring race with 43 points, it was announced in New York Monday. Carl Liscombe of Providence Reds holds second place with 37 and two points behind in third position is Sid Smith of Pittsburgh Hornets. Paul Gladu of St. Louis Flyers and George Pargeter of Buffalo are tied for fouth. Gladu is undisputed leader in goals scored with 24. Murdo MacKay continues to lead in setting up plays with 27 assists.

The Maritimes will have no junior A hockey teams and no Memorial Cup contender this season. Scarcity of top junior players and financial difficulties have forced Halifax St. Mary's, the seaside province's only junior A club and defending Maritime champions, to disband.

Lifetime suspensions of six harness racing drivers, accused of participating in fixed races in Kentuck last summer were lifted Monday night at Columbus, O., by the United States Trotting Association, governing body of the sport. The suspensions were lifted after association directors heard appeals of men from penalties handed following investigation of the races at Brentlawn near Louisville, Ky. The directors said the suspensions were "reversed on jurisdictional grounds."

Joe Louis said Monday at Philadelphia he will demand $250,000 from television and radio rights when he defends his heavyweight title next June in New York. "I sold myself too cheap in my last fight with Jersey Joe Walcott," the champion said. "My end from the television and radio was $40,000. The television-radio fee for the Louis-Walcott bout last June 25 was $100,000. The brown bomber received 40 per cent, Walcott 22½ per cent.

Chandler Gives Strong Hint Leniency For Durocher

By JOE REICHLER

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(AP). — Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today described Leo Durocher as "not a man who is deliberately mean, but rather impulsive."

In that way, the commissioner gave a strong hint that today's hearing of the "Freddy Fitzsimmons tampering case," will result in leniency toward Leo, in contrast to suspicion in some quarters that Chandler is "gunning" for the New York Giants' manager.

Leniency might mean a fine or at worst, a 10-day suspension. The same was true to Fitzsimmons.

The hearing was the most discussed topic among the baseball men gathered here for the major league meetings, even surpassing in interest the deal whereby New York Yankees acquired pitcher Fred Sanford and catcher Roy Partee from St. Louis Browns for $100,000 and three players.

The Durocher inquiry developed from the hiring of Fitzsimmons as coach by the Giants five weeks ago, while he was still on the reserve list of Boston Braves.

Ordered to Attend

Chandler ordered Fitzsimmons, Durocher, and a member of the Giants' official family to attend the hearing. Edgar Feeley, the club's treasurer, was appointed as the Giants' representative.

"There is just no excuse for a coach or manager who leaves one club for another without letting his former employers know what he intends doing," the commissioner said.

The Yankees-Browns deal was easily the most important made during the current meetings. In addition to the $100,000, the Browns got pitchers Charles (Red) Embree and Dick Starr, and catcher Sherm Lollar.

Embree, used mainly in relief roles last season, won five and lost three. Starr, who was out on option to Newark, won 14 and lost nine with the International League club. Lollar batted .211 in 22 games. Partee hit .203 in 82.

Sell Trinkle

The Giants announced they had sold pitcher Ken Trinkle to Philadelphia Phillies. Trinkle, used exclusively in relief last year, worked in 53 games last season and had a 4-5 won-and-lost record.

Philadelphia Athletics signed Jimmy Dykes, former White Sox manager as coach, and picked up veteran outfielder Wally Moses for "pinch-hitting purposes." Dykes piloted Hollywood last season. Moses was released by Boston Red Sox last fall.

The National League rejected the minors' proposal to curtail television and agreed to recommend a committee be appointed to reconsider bonus legislation and attempt to come in with new legislative suggestions that would be acceptable to both the majors and minors.

Remember When . . .

By The Canadain Press

Condition reports on Irving (Ace) Bailey, Toronto Maple Leaf in a Boston hospital with brain concussion, were hitting the headlines of both Canadian and United States newspapers 15 years ago today. Two days after he was spilled by Eddie Shore, the sports world heard doctors announce his condition as "fair, but still on the danger list." The accident ended his hockey-playing career.

Prizes Awarded At Millbrook Commencement

MILLBROOK, Dec. 14—(ENS)—A capacity audience gathered in the Town Hall on Friday evening for the annual Commencement of the Continuation School, when a varied and lengthy program was cleverly presented with Mr. F. P. Stinson, chairman of the school board, presiding. Mr. Stinson stated that promotion of educational work locally will be furthered by having a number of speakers from the Department in Toronto visit the village at intervals, presenting features of advanced education for enlarging and improving the school curriculum.

Pupils sang choruses under direction of C. Renaud, musical supervisor, with George Ingham at the piano. The presentation of diploms, certificates and proficiency awards followed, the members of the staff, Messrs. J. A. Thompson, principal, B. E. Ingham, and James A. Powell, having this honor. Mrs. B. L. Richards received the Honor Graduation Diploma won by her son, Ralph Richards, now a dental student at the University of Toronto. Principal Thompson spoke in the highest terms of Ralph as "a star student, and one of whom any school might well be proud." Ralph also won the embossed oak shield, donated by W. R. Howard, formerly of Millbrook and now of Merritton, for proficiency in Grade 13.

Mrs. N. Belch received the graduation diploma won by her son, Lindsay Belch, now a student at the Harrow High School, in Western Ontario; and the cheque for the Allen Scholarship, presented by L. H. Winslow, vice-chairman of the School Board, who noted that Lindsay is the third one of the Belch boys to win this high award, the other two, Tom and Willoughby, being now medical students at Toronto University.

The girls in the graduation class were attractive in dainty evening dressese and included Jessie Dawson, Ann Stinson, Velma Thexton, Betty North and Bob Bigelow.

Intermediate certificates were presented to: Edwin Challice, Myrtle Seymour, Alan Wright, William Lunn, Irene Trick, Bennett Handley, Velma White, Arnold Best and Ross Jamieson. Mr. Thompson explained that these certificates are awarded to those who leave school at the end of two years in order that they may have tangible evidence of the course taken.

The Mirror-Reporter shield, donated by J. H. Barringer, was won by May Hubbeard; and the silver cup, donated by Homer Ouellettte, by Gerald Hubbeard, Dr. M. E. Hobbs making the presentations. This cup has been for proficiency in Grade 10, but will now be for proficiency in music.

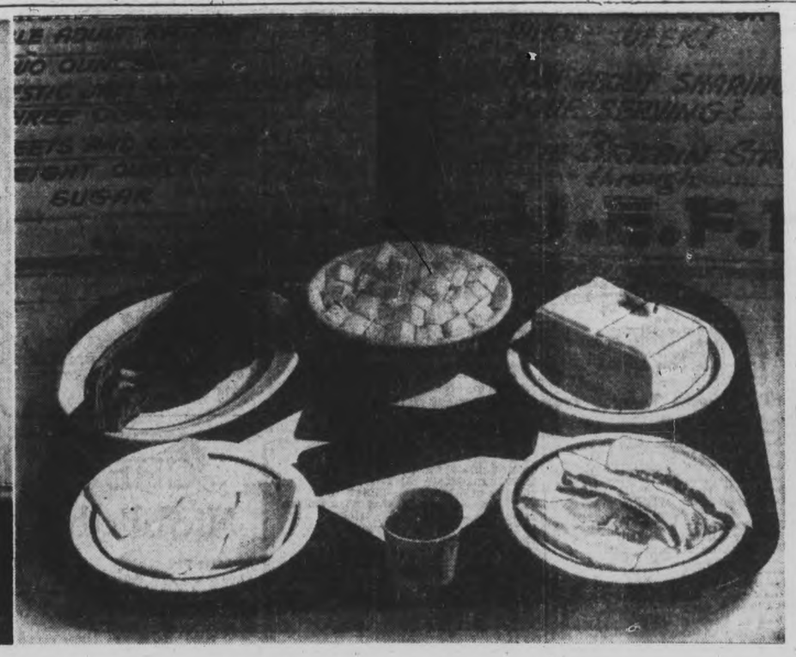
An ambitious number was the Murder Scene from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," B. E. Ingham directing, and giving credit for the costumes that had to be made to Miss E. Kent, and Mrs. Guy MacKay; and to Mr. Powell for providing rental for those brought from Toronto. The scene was well done, and well received, the caste being; Julius Caesar, Ross Jamieson; Marcus Brutus, Karl Adams; Cassius, Bob Thompson; Decius, Herb Fallis; Trebonius, Alan Wright; Publis, Arnold Best; Popilius, Allan Hutchinson; Cinna, Howard Rowan; Casca, Bill Lunn; Metellus Kimber, Bennett Handley; "the reveller," Lyle McMahon; the messenger, Don Kent.

Velma Thexton gave the valedictory address, with excellent material, manner and voice, sustained applause showing the approval of the audience. Adding variety to an interesting program, two selections were played by the school bugle band, directed by H. V. Kent, and with Hazel Rowe an attractitve drum majorette. Probably no number was more popular than "The Old Favorite Drill," directed by Mrs. B. B. Dawson, with Margaret Aiken at the piano. It was featured by appropriate costumes and songs, with rhythm of movement, those taking part being: Miss Canada and John Bull, Marguertie Hancock, and Alan Kinsman; Old Timers, Patricia Crowley, and Ken Blair; Spaniards, Robena Hancock and Don Danford; Farmers, Anne Dawson and Ken Fallis; Negroes, Yvonne Richards, Creighton Carr; Scotch, Doris Hutchison and Paul Sanders.

"A Quiet Home Wedding," a one-act rollicking play, was directed by Mrs. B. E. Ingham, with the scene laid in the living-room of the Dodds' home on a late summer afternoon. Taking part were Wilbur Dodd, Senior (George Ingham), the bride's father; Gertie Pringle (Velma Powers), the bridesmaid; with a tendency to giggle; Wilbur Dodd, Junior, (Fraser Carr, always quarrelling with his younger sister, Jody Dodd (Marilyn Palmer); Emmy Dodd, the bride's mother (Margaret Dawson); Connie Dodd, the lovely bride (Betty Wright); Mrs. Twenny (Margaret Aiken) and Mrs. Gadwood (Wilma Seymour) two inveterate gossips; Willie Gadwood (Creighton Carr); Mrs. McSnoop (Kathryn Bigelow) a reporter; and Horace Pottle (George Smith, the bridegroom who forgot 'he license, nearly lost the ring, and held up the wedding. Anne Dawson played the wedding March.

Two school choruses, with Betty North and Fraser Carr as the soloists, completed the program, which was successfully repeated on Saturday night before a large audience. The athletic awards, won at the annual Field Day, were presented Saturday night, those to the junior champions, girls, Anne Dawson and boys, Alan Kinsman, by Gordon Powell, president of the Lions Club, donor of the cups. Dr. J. W. Wright, on behalf of the local Legion, donors of the cups, to the senior champions, Betty Wright and Bob Bigelow; The Intermediate champions, Marguerite Hancock and Alan Wright, received their cups from Ronald Palmer, representing the donor, the Business Men's Association, George Smith, convener of the Athletic committee, presented the crests to a long list of winners.

Spot lighting was in charge of Bob Thompson, Don Kent and Arnold Brackenbridge. A total of $233 was taken in at the door, with $70 expense to be deducted. Money will be used for some neededde school equipment, possibly a projection lantern.



FOOD TO BOOST a decreasing calory total in Great Britain is the objective of the United Emergency Fund for Britain. First shipment of food left Halifax last week; more will be on the way next week. Joan McColl of Toronto (left) carries tray loaded with steak, potatoes, peas, carrots, milk, pie and butter in man-sized portions, all of which it's possible to obtain at any cafeteria at one order. Miss McColl's dinner tray presents a stark contrast to the tray at right, which is the week's ration in Britain, now on 2,790 calories daily, below calory danger-line.

Lawyer Denounces Canada Evidence Act Claims Terms Unfair To Man With Record

In an address to a jury on Monday, defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair made an attack on the Canada Evidence Act. He termed as "most unfair to the accused" the provision in that Act which permits the Crown the right to question a witness —including the accused, if he takes the box in his own defence—about past convictions.

"Unfortunately, that is the law," said Mr. Fair. He pointed out that in many cases before the highest courts, the effects of this have been held to give an unfavorable impression on the jury. Its only purpose, according to the Act, is to show the credability of the witness —that is, whether he is telling the truth.

But the effect which such an admission of a previous conviction makes on a juror's mind cannot be offset by anything which is later told to them to disregard it in reaching their verdict.

"It is just about impossible to see how a jury can honestly disregard such evidence in reaching their verdict, hard as they might try. Information like this is bound to color their decision." He referred to the Mickey McDonald appeal, which had been sent back for a new trial. One of the points made by the Supreme Court had been that the jury's decision had been effected because the accused, in his evidence, had been forced, by the crown's right under this Act, to testify on previous convictions.

"You must keep before you that this man is on trial for only one thing, not for his reputation in the past," said the lawyer.

"Many persons are kept out of that witness box by fear of this," he said.

"How would you like to be in a position where you'd made some foolish mistake in the past, pair your penalty to society, and then—in some minor court case—have the whole thing dug up?" he asked.

"The past record may be for some minor slip, a mere collision which could happen to anyone. The defence cannot go through the matter of the old case."

"But the effect on the jury remains, and it is not in keeping with the British principal of a fair trial for the accused."

PETERBOROUGH MERCHANT SEAMAN, Neil Oliver, whose parents live on RR 4, Otonabee township, indicates the place in the South China Sea where a typhoon struck a ship he was on not more than two weeks ago. He was a crew member on a Canadian-made freighter which sailed from Quebec to Hong Kong for delivery to a Chinese industrial company. Following a fast sea voyage, the crew were flown home in four days from the Orient.

Peterboro' Seaman Home After Rough Trip To Orient

Neil Oliver, Peterborough youth, was one of the crew on the motorship Chi Min which sailed from the yards in Quebec to Hong Kong, where it was taken into service by Sun Ming Industrial Co. there for use on the Yangtze River. The ship was in command of Captain L. Goddard of Grafton, who was at once time captain of the Empress of Japan and sailed for many years in Oriental waters. Captain Goddard laid the cornerstone of the Seamen's Mission in Hong Kong about 40 years ago.

The Chi Min is 165 feet long, shallow bottomed and weighs around 950 tons with a speed of 12 to 16 knots. She carried among her crew, six able-bodied seamen, all young fellows who had seen service on the lakes here, and included was Neil Oliver of Peterborough.

It was a fast trip going and a much speedier one returning. They left Sydney, NS, early in September and headed across the Atlantic, buffetted on occasions by storms, to Ceuta in Spanish Morocco, where they stayed five days while they took on oil and stores. It gave the boys their first chance ashore since they left Canada and they took in the waterfront spots of Ceuta.

The ship stopped again at Port Said overnight and then went through the Suez and out into the Gulf of Aden, then across the Indian Ocean to Colombo in Ceylon for more stores and fuel. The Chi Min continued on and took in Singapore. In the China Sea they met trouble in the form of a typhoon. About 100 miles out from a port below Saigon, racing to escape the typhoon, they were caught as the tail of the storm swung around and took a terrific battering for about 12 hours. However, the sturdy little ship, her twin diesels working smoothly, made it safely into Cape St. Jacques in French Indo China, and after things calmed down, continued on to Hong Kong.

It was to have been Shanghai but in view of troubled conditions in that part of China the new owners took possession of their craft at Hong Kong, when it arrived on November 25. On Dec. 1, the crew of the Chi Min climbed aboard a transocean plane and headed homeward, with stopovers at Guam, Wake, Midway, and Honolulu. Next stop was San Francisco and then to Vancouver, and finally the last air stop at Montreal on Monday of last week.

Mr. Oliver will spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver, and has signed on as crew member to take another ship to China in January.

Road Users Warned

COBOURG, Dec. 14—(ENS)—Hazard created by the actions of cyclists and pedestrians were emphasized by Corporal Robert Cherry of the RCMP, when he spoke on traffic safety at St. Michael's School on Monday. Chairman of the meeting was the Rev. P. T. Collins, and the speaker was thanked by the Rev.

SPIRITS SOAR

Trent canal was held fast from shore to shore today by icy fetters that brought joy to the hearts of schoolboys. Impatient with the mild weather, the youngsters want ice for skating, and a few more nights like last night will make their dreams come true. Below the Lift Lock it is dangerous because the water is deep, but above the high bridge on the Norwood Road water is just four feet deep except in the bays where it goes to ten feet.

Firemen Reject Council's Offer Of Wage Boost

In their appeal to the council for an increase in wages to cover the advance in the cost of living, the city's firemen have "unanimously rejected" the proposed $150 which was recommended from within the council.

The firemen asked for $1.40 a day increase. The police commission recommended an increase of $200 to each employee of that department. The Swanston committee last night pondered the difference between the sums of settlement, $150 to the firemen and $200 to the policemen, and generally discussed terms that are likely to be brought out in a meeting of representatives of the firemen Wednesday morning with the council's executive committee.

One clause that is objectionable to the council is the request from the firemen for the closed shop. Opinions last night were that if the union was given the right to engage and dismiss employees they were bound to usurp the authority of the Chief of the department, weaken his position, and eventually embarrass the department itself. And the comment was to the effect that the expressed wish of the firemen was to maintain the department efficiency in every respect.

Nothing precisely definite was expressed as a directive to the executive committee, but the council members said they were greatly dubious of the closed shop idea.

Balance Budget Surplus $12,000

City council will balance its budget and close the year with a surplus of approximately $12,000 as estimated by Mayor Ovens last night from a draft financial statement received from City Treasurer Couper and City Auditor Humpage.

As chairman of the finance committee, Ald. Swanston asked some weeks ago for a summary of the year's financing, as close to the final figures as could be obtained, as information for the members of the treasury standing as the year ends.

"I would like to congratulate the chairman for steering the ship of state neatly into port," was the smiling tribute of Ald. Gordon Armstrong. "It is a nice way to end the year."

"The chairman of the committee did their part by not overspending," Ald. Swanston said.

The balance was struck by adding estimated receipts and expenditures for December to the actual amount for the eleven months to the end of November. It is not a complete statement, but the allowance for December payments has been ample, and it is expected that it will come close to the ultimate totals for the year.

The statement for 1947 showed a deficit of $30,241 which had to be included in the liabilities for this year.

A helpful item in this year's financing was the $31,000 the council received for the Sherbrooke St. property at George and Water Streets.

There is also an item, which is taken into the reckoning, for $30,000 to be received from Wartime Housing by the agreement for the sale of 100 houses at $300 each.

NORMAN W. McCONKEY was one of the three new councillors elected on Monday night in the Otonabee elections for 1949. He is president of the Peterborough District Holstein Breeders' Association, and is well-known in local agricultural circles. He was defeated in his first election bid last year.

Jury Acquits John Cupoli In 10 Minutes

It took a jury just 10 minutes on Monday afternoon to find John Cupoli, of 529 Elm St., not guilty of reckless driving. The young accused man was the driver of the car which crashed into a tree on Lansdowne St. on April 24, bringing death to 27-year-old Vera McKinley.

Judge Sheldon Smoke, discharging Cupoli, said that "I believe you have learned a lesson . . . and I hope that lesson will remain with you for the rest of your days."

Evidence given by the Crown had shown that Cupoli's car had struck the tree about 6.20 a.m., killing Miss McKinley. PC's Allan Edmison and Douglas J. Farthing both testified that Cupoli's breath smelled of liquor when he had been removed—moaning with the pain of a broken leg and chest injuries—from the car.

The accused's evidence was that he had been distracted from his driving when Miss McKinley grabbed his arm during conversation.

W. J. Arthur Fair, defence counsel, told the jury that "this is one of those accidents which might happen to you or me or anyone else. The explanation of what happened, given by the accused, was the logical reason—it was the truth."

There is a president, vice-president, second vice-president, secretary - treasurer and a maximum of 10 executive members to be elected.

Trafalgar House Is Ready For Boys' Town

It was open house for the Peterborough Optimist Club Monday when a large number of club members and Opti-Mrs., gathered at Trafalgar House, Nicholls Oval. It was the first function to take place at the newly-formed Boys' Town but was not the official opening. This is to take place early in the new year.

All afternoon the men were busy transporting tables, chairs, food and Christmas decorations from their homes to Trafalgar House. By supper time the Opti-Mrs. had prepared a fine turkey dinner with all the trimmings. When everyone arrived in the evening complete with cutlery and dishes and members lined up at a temporary buffet and carried well-filled plates to their tables.

After the meal, president John Broadhurst welcomed the following guests, all potential members of the club: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ouimet, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. A. DeNoble, and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Grindrod.

Shell Huffman, as Santa Claus, distributed presents to every banquet guest from a well loaded Christmas tree. Later there was dancing and card games and everyone took the opportunity of examining the house thoroughly. For some it was their first visit.

The amount of work club members had put on their renovation program throughout the summer and fall, was evident to those who knew the house in its former dilapidated condition.

Smooth plastered walls in each room showed the result of hours of removing old paper, plastering crack and holes and the final painting. very room was painted in a different color with a pleasing trim to match and all floors were finished in dark red.

Three fuel oil heaters keep the building comfortable and there are attractive lighting fixtures. Wiring was their greatest problem and several of the men had to remove flooring and baseboards to attach safety current cable to the solid 12 by 12-inch beams which form the framework of the building.

There is a fine kitchen upstairs with ample built-in cupboard space and electric outlets to supply current to such appliances as rangettes and hot plates. Although the turkeys served at the supper were cooked by George Aboud at his home, the rest of the meal was prepared in the club kitchen.

Frank Hamon reported on the final plans for the Optimist Christmas carnival which will be staged at Brock St. rink on Sunday. Admission has been set at two packages or cans of unperishable foods which will be assembled for underprivileged children and needy families of the city.

TAXI-CAR COLLIDE

There were no injuries in the collision, which caused about $175 to the two vehicles. The taxi driver was A. R. Carney, 1227 Kenneth Ave. V. H. Mills, 337 Donegal St., was the driver of the car.

Northenders Want Outdoor Rink

A request for an outdoor rink at Wolsley and Aylmer Streets was presented to the finance committee by Ross Payne Monday night. The petition was signed by the heads of 57 families in the vicinity of Benson, Geraldine and Aylmer Streets.

"We might be able to get by without a shack for keeping warm," Mr. Payne said. "We don't want a repetition of the experience of last winter. If there was a building and it wasn't properly supervised we would be better without a hut."

He said some of the parents of the neighborhood might undertake to keep the rink in their attention, but the sentiment of the committee that supervision was a job for the police, with their authority.

Ald. Herbert Young promised that his parks committee would try to provide a rink in that north end area.

Full Time Planning Dept. Too Expensive

City Council Wants Action On Zoning By-Law At Early Date

"I don't think we are ready for a full time planning department," said Mayor Ovens as the finance committee briefly discussed Monday night recommendations of the planning committee of which James Dutton is chairman.

"We couldn't afford it," Ald. Grant Miller remarked. "A separate department would eat its head off."

Mayor Ovens: "They'd have to go to our engineer from time to time, and that would interfere with his own department work."

"I don't think it would work," said Ald. Dodds. "There would be a lot of criss-crossing as we have seen between other bodies."

"It seems to me we should get something done about the zoning bylaw first," was the advice of Ald. Adam Sands. He recalled that the preparation of the Master Plan of the city had cost quite a sum, in fact he mentioned the amount of $25,000, and suggested that the council should endeavor to get some returns from that investment.

Mayor Ovens explained that necessary publicity of the zoning bylaw had not yet got under way: "I was talking to the chairman, Mr. Dutton, recently, and he was quite apologetic that the series of meetings that were proposed for December had not been held. He said they would be undertaken in January."

The finance committee decided to invite the planning board to meet the council in the early future for a discussion of the planning proposals as outlined in the statement of the planning committee.

Much Work Done

The planning committee has already devoted a great deal of time to the broad subjects of zoning and the setting up of the master plan. Their report to the council mentions some of the preliminaries that have been done.

One is the establishment of planning areas, as required by the Ontario Planning Act. "The council shall request the Minister of Planning and Development to define and name the planning area (a) for local purposes; (b) covering parts of adjacent municipalities."

Appointment of planning boards: "When the planning area is defined for local purposes, the council should appoint the subsidiary planning board of nine members. (b) When the planning area covering the adjacent municipalities is also defined, the council should appoint a planning board of nine members of which 5 are citizens of Peterborough and 4 represent the adjacent municipalities."

Urban development area: "The council should, by bylaw designate the total undeveloped land in the city as an urban development area."

Committee of adjustment: "When the plan is adopted by council by bylaw and approved by the Minister, the planning board should constitute itself as a committee of adjustment."

Items for the implementation of the official plan that are still in progress are the adoption of that plan by the council and its submission to the Minister for approval.

Other items in abeyance are the establishment of a planning department, which was recently outlined in the Examiner; designation of city owned property.

Another is acquisition of land.

"The council should carry out from year to year the land acquisition program of the official plan as the yearly budget can afford it according to the priority program to be submitted by the planning board; and the council should submit to the citizens in six year periods those items which require long term financing.

Must Adopt Bylaw

Item 10 in the list is this: "The council should adopt the zoning bylaw."

Item 11 sets out a public works program. Of thi snine subsections the last one is: "Appoint a cultural centre commission for the implementation of the civic centre project concerning auditorium and art gallery."

Another is: "Establish a housing commission and apply to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for grants for redevelopment of blighted areas under the National Housing Act."

There are many of the representations of the planning committee which have developed out of the plan program since its inception. As indicated in the report from Mr. Dutton, some of them have been carried out, but the broad scope of the master plan is still only in the stage of approach.

13 Cattle Valued at $3,000 Missing from Dummer Farm

Thirteen beef steers whose present market value is estimated at $3,000, and owned by Drover Melville Edwards, of Warsaw, are believed to have been lost or stolen more than two months ago. Edwards discovered his loss late in October when he went to his ranch to round up the animals. He was unable to find one herd of ten two-and-a-half years olds and three one-year-old animals which had been pasturing between the fourth and sixth Concessions of Dummer.

For the past two months eight men have made a township-wide search without success. Mrs. Edwards and neighbors have joined in the search in which many hundreds of man hours have been spent. Mr. Edwards has followed every rumor, followed the new Hydro line for miles and advertised in the Peterborough Examiner.

The animals were ear-tagged with the owner's name.

Fledgling Star Enjoys Job With Bob, Bing

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14 (AP)—Rhonda Fleming finds that working opposite the top two entertainers, Bing Crosby and Bob Hope, is an education in itself. Here is what she has learned:

"To relax, to take everything easy. And to take a kidding."

Rhonda, a red-haired former Los Angeles High School girl, is probably Hollywood's luckiest actress of 1948. First, she was selected to star with Bing in "A Connecticut Yankee." And now she is opposite Bob Hope in "Easy Does It." Before this, she had done only minor dramatic roles and she comments, "No one will recognize me without my hysteria."

They Are Different

The actress pointed out differences between the boys: "Bing is always casual, always kidding and ad libbing while he is working; Bob is more serious. Bing is more sophisticated; Bob is more like a little boy. After he finishes a scene he sometimes goes and sits in a corner. Bing is always the singer and sort of romantic; Bob uses his eyes for comedy."

Rhonda added that both are generous with her. The director had to keep reminding Bing to face the camera. He replied: "They have seen enough of me; let them look at Rhonda."

Here are the boys' comments on her current assignment with Hope:

Bing—"You're slipping."

Bob — "After sacrificing your career in a Crosby picture, the lease I can do is help you stage a comeback."

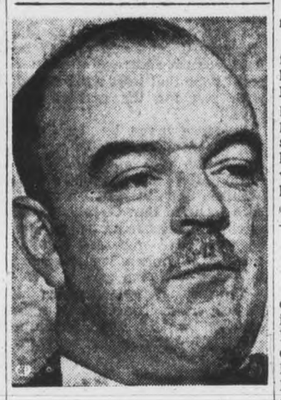
Secty Saw No Harm In Accepting Gifts

LONDON, Dec. 14—(Reuters)—John W. Belcher, Parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade Monday told the tribunal inquiring into alleged corruption in government circles that he had accepted gifts because he had "acquired the mind of the business world."

His contacts over the last 2½ years with business men had brought him into a sphere where the exchange of gifts was a normal occurence. He had therefore seen nothing wrong in accepting such gifts as bottle of liquor from Sir Maurire Bloch, chief of a distilling firm.

Belcher told the tribunal he now saw it had been unwise.

Belcher in the witness stand for the third day, was asked if he had any doubt now that Sir Maurice had given him these present so as to have easier approach to him. He replied that since he disliked imputing dishonorable motives to somebody who had been on friendly terms he would rather not express an opinion.



WOULDN'T SIGN—Chesley A. Crosbie, prominent St. John's business man, was the only member of the Newfoundland delegation who refused to sign the confederation agreement in Ottawa Saturday. He gave dissatisfaction with the financial terms offered by Canada as his reason.

Drunk At Car Wheel

After pleading not guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of drink, Claud Walden, Hastings, was sent to jail for seven days at the police court on Monday. Provincial Constable Kellog said that he was driving along No. 45 Highway on Sunday when he saw Walden's car swerving from one side of the road to the other. When the car reached a straight section of the road he was able to stop it. The driver was obviously drunk, and when he stepped out of his own car to the police car, he was unsteady on his feet.

Walden said he had had only five pints of beer, two earlier in the day and three during the evening. It would require more than that amount to make him drunk, he said.

Prisoner Beheaded

ANGELTON, Tex., Dec. 14—(AP)—Clarence William Redwine, 38, described as one of the most notorious inmates in the Texas prison system, was decapitated Monday night in the mess hall at a prison farm near here. Officials said Redwine's head was found lying on a table about two feet from his body during the evening meal. They said they believed a large knife was used although no weapon was found on any of the inmates. "It all happened so quickly and quietly it was over before anyone realized what had happened," an official said.

CCF Leader 'Insulted' By George Drew

OTTAWA, Dec. 14.—(CP)—C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell told a radio audience Monday night he was both insulted and slandered by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, when they both appeared at Acadia University last Friady.

The two party leaders, along with Finance Minister Abbott spoke before a meeting of students at Wolfville, N.S., during the by-election campaign in Digby-Annapolis-Kings.

"I happened to be the first speaker at the meeting," Mr. Coldwell explained. "We were requested to give some account of the principles and policy of our respective parties."

He said Mr. Drew followed him "with an attack which was both in content and delivery, in my opinion, not only insulting but in the terminology which he applied to the C.C.F., slanderous." Mr. Drew referred to Mr. Coldwell's party as Nationalist Socialist in character.

"I rose, stepped toward the microphone," Mr. Coldwell explained, "so that the audience might hear what I was about to say and protested, and added that if this kind of libellous attack was allowed to continue, I would require five minutes for rebuttal.

Mr. Drew moved between me and the microphone and ordered me to sit down."

Regrettable Incident

Mr. Coldwell said incidents of this kind "are regrettable" but he believed it "grossly unfair and insulting" when the leader of the "Conservative party persists in hurling at the C.C.F. the name of the party led by Adolf Hitler in Germany."

The C.C.F. leader said it was "insulting not only to the C.C.F. but to thousands of Canadian boys who served overseas."

"Mr. Drew should not forget that in the 1945 overseas vote, the C.C.F. received more support than any other party. The language of the Conservative leader certainly suggests that Canadian service men fighting Hitler's National Socialism overseas were voting for it back home."

Name New Officers

Request Appeal

TORONTO, Dec. 14—(CP)—The Toronto district labor council (CIO-CCL) last night asked the Ontario Attorney-General's department to appeal the acquittal of Melville Murphy, an officer of the Steamship Lethbridge, who was found innocent of wounding five seamen who boarded his ship. Murphy was charged after the incident which arose in the great lakes shipping dispute this summer.

Riotous Campaign Waged On State Control of Pubs

By STUART UNDERHILL.

LONDON, Dec. 14 — (CP). — A riotous campaign, mixing malice and mirth, is being waged in Britain over state control of public-houses.

The government's new licensing bill would provide for state management of pubs in "new towns" envisaged in the national rehousing program. But the Conservative press and spokesmen profess to see a trend toward the country-wide control of inns.

"Public-houses of England form an essential part of democratic life of the country," said the London Evening Standard. "Apart from providing relaxation and entertainment, they offer a forum for political discussion.

"Yet if the pubs were brought under state management, how much easier it would be for a totalitarian government to listen to what people were saying how much easier to tell them what to say...."

Hands Off

Nearly every pub displays a petition form urging "hands off pubs" which customers are urged to sign. Some people say those who refuse to sign are out of luck when they try to buy scarce cigarettes over the bar.

There is also talk of forming a fund to fight the government bill.

Meanwhile, cartoonists have been having an uproarious time portraying publicans, and sometimes patrons, in striped pants and black jackets, the traditional garb of civil servants. They and nearly everyone else overlook the fact that the government has been running the pubs in Carlisle and elsewhere since the First World War without visitors noting any difference.

The latest hoot of derision came when Home Secretary Chuter Ede told the Commons in reply to a question that provision would be made in state pubs for darts playing.

"One of the more useful aspects of a dartboard in any of the hostelries will be, it will keep customers happy while their applications (in quadruplicate) for pints of wallop are being sorted, rubber-stamped, sent to the central registry, lost, re-submitted through proper channels, and (at length) passed to the distribution department for action," said the Evening News.

Candidus, writing in the Daily Graphic, suggested that the Socialists would change the historic names of pubs, many of which recall ancient aristocrats. However, he predicted they would leave unchanged the name of a famous London pub. "The World Upside Down."

JAPANESE ORANGES—Pretty Carol Wilson says the first shipment of mandarin oranges to reach Vancouver from Japan are good. The oranges will be distributed in western provinces. Also in the cargo of the Swedish liner Stratus was the first shipment of Australian butter to arrive in Canada since Pearl Harbor.

Stole Butter Given 6 Months

Gordon Scriver, formerly of Rogers St., was sentenced to six months in Reformatory on Saturday when a jury found him guilty of stealing 96 pounds of butter from Silverwood's Dairy last July. Judge Sheldon Smoke passed sentence on the accused, making it six months definite and two months' indefinite.

Police evidence was given that the butter had been taken from the locked chest in the refrigerator room of the dairy. Only way entrance could have been made, the Crown concluded, was by crawling through a milk chute which opened to the street.

Barry O'Shaughnessy, who was convicted and sentenced to a similar term on the same charge in July, also testified for the Crown.

Duck Chief Buried

CALGARY, Dec. 14—(CP)—Duck Chief, 84, head of the Blackfoot Indian Confederacy and one of the few surviving members of the tribe who witnessed the signing of the 1877 treaty, was buried in the Blackfoot reserve mission burial ground Monday. He died Saturday. He was 13 when he attended the signing of the Blackfoot crossing treaty of 1877 under which the Indians ceded their rights to almost all of Southern Alberta to the crown.

Hamilton Tigers Take Fire, Blank Indians

By The Canadian Press

The aging but agile Hamilton Tigers caught fire Monday night, kicked the floundering Stratford Indians lower into the Ontario Hockey Association senior cellar and pulled themselves closer to second place.

The Tigers rolled to an easy 7-0 victory and came within two points of the second-place Toronto Marlboros in the league standings. Marlies, however, can pull away from the Tigers Wednesday if they beat the Stratford Indians in Toronto.

Veterans Johnny Conick and Clare Shillington, the league's leading scorers, bore the burden of the steady Hamilton attack. Conick scored three goals and collected one assist while Shillington scored twice and helped on three.

Weak Defence

Time and time again Dale, the Stratford netminder, beat off Hamilton forwards, but was handicapped by a weak defence in front of him.

Cooper and Lovelace got the other Hamilton goals, with Cooper opening the scoring in the first period on a pass from Laurent.

The junior clubs were idle Monday night, but take up cudgels tonight with Toronto Marlboros meeting Toronto St. Michael's and Barrie Flyers at St. Catharines Teepees.

Second place—and possibly first place—in the junior circuit will be riding on the St. Catharines game—Flyers now lead Teepees by a single point. If Flyers win they will overcome Windsor Spitfires one-point hold on first place.

Marlboros can pull out of the cellar by beating St. Mike's who lead Syl Apps' juniors by a single point.

FIRST MARATHON

When Loues, a Greek peasant, won the first Olympic marathon in the pre-Christian era, his reception was so great that women threw jewelry at his feet.

THE HIGH DEMAND for toys, resulting in sharply increased production, spells good news for parents who, this year, will find more medium priced playthings. It will be possible for the average family to have a better choice of toys for a given amount of money than any Christmas since the beginning of World War II.

Christmas time is family time

The joyous family reunion is a tradition in our Canadian celebration of Christmas. The gaily decorated Christmas tree, loaded with gifts ... the holly wreaths ... the excited laughter of children mingled with the cheerful conversation of the grown-ups ... the tantalizing aroma that heralds the Christmas dinner ... all affirm that Christmas time is family time. During the past year Calvert has paid tribute to Famous Families in Canadian history. At this Christmas season of happy family gatherings we wish to salute all Canadian families with the words written by Calvert himself over three hundred years ago: "May all happiness attend you".

DOROTHY DIX

Swain Of Many Loves Has Tough Time Deciding

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man 22 years of age. I am employed by a company which tranfers me from town to town so that I usually stay about three months in a place. In the last year I worked in five different towns and dated girls in every one, and I am engaged to three of them though I have not given them any engagement rings.

Dorothy Dix

One girl is very intelligent and I love her because she is my mental equal. One girl has a stupifying figure and I love her for her looks. One girl is very beautiful and I love her because she is a knockout. A fourth girl is very sweet and kind and gentle and I have fallen for her, although she does not have much physical appeal. Another girl is married and is very much in love with me, but I never did like her very much. However, I am deeply in love with all the girls.

Please tell me which one I should marry? Or do you think it best for me to marry none of them?

E. J. D.

ANSWER: You must have a big heart if it can accommodate so many different lady loves simultaneously. I congratulate you upon your prowess with the fair sex, but I am glad to know that you are carrying on your little romances before you get married, instead of afterwards, for it is much easier to ditch a sweetheart than it is a wife.

Hard To Advise

With your capacity for falling in love at sight, it is difficult to advise you about which girl to choose. Take your case, for instance. Certainly an intelligent girl with a fascinating line of conversation would keep you from ever being bored, but wouldn't your eyes inadvertently wander to the maiden with the stupifying figure? Men always fall for beauty, but doesn't it seem silly to marry for a charm that lasts so short a time?

When a bachelor finds that he hasn't a shirt with a button on it, or a pair of socks that don't need darning, doesn't he succumb to the homely girl with a sweet, kind and gentle face who knows how to cook, and then wonder what made him do it? And as for the married woman, she's dynamite.

So, taking it all in all, son, I would advise such a great lover as you are to go slow on the wedding rings.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been engaged to a man for two years and we were planning to be married this fall, but I called it off because this is what he asked of me: To change my religion. To live in his home with his family. To keep on my job and have his father put the money I made in the bank because I wouldn't have time to do so, as I would be so busy earning it. To help him pay for a car he bought, but I could not be co-owner of it.

He has a job which only pays $30 a week and every time I ask him to do some little thing that would give me pleasure, such as going to a dance or a show, he refuses. My wishes count for nothing. Then he claims he loves me. Would you believe him?—L. E.

ANSWER: Well, if that's his brand of love, give me nice, decent hate. Unless you are not only blind but dumb you are bound to see that this man has no spark of real affection for you and that his only object in marrying you is to get a female slave. Fortunately for you he is so avaricious that he shows his intentions of grabbing every cent you make and putting it in his own pocket. And that gives you a chance to save yourself from a miserable marriage.

When the world is full of good, kind, tender generous men who would love you and protect you and make you happy, why do you even think of marrying this heel?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 20 year old and have a child, a boy of 5. I want to marry, but I do not know how to go about meeting a man who would be a good husband and father to my son. Please advise me what to do.—E. S. B.

ANSWER: Lady, that is the $64 question that thousands of women would like to have answered, but no one knows how to do it. It is the great mystery of the world. It is just that some women have that come-hither look in their eyes and another woman hasn't. And there you are.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, December 14

The auguries are exceptionally favorable for the launching and development of affairs of major importance. The mentality and ambitions are keyed to expansive programs, with much progress to be gained by serious study, well-laid plans and executive ability. While material and large scope ideas may gain, with enhanced power and prestige, yet all should be kept within bounds of reason and good sense. Also, health and personal matters call for sound supervision.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to give serious thought and preparation to plans and ambitions of more than passing scope and security. High aspirations and distant goals should be given particular attention, with "big business" and ambitious objectives encouraged to grasp substantial support from those in influential positions. Seek capital, and get in line for promotion, enhanced power and business standing, but be discreet in utilizing the social or purely personal element.

A child born on this day should be soundly equipped for a successful and productive life, with its business and personal endowments combining for prosperity and happiness.

For Wednesday, December 15

The auguries point to the advent of a tenacious and stubborn situation, possibly with blocks, delays or other obstacles or frustrations, yet there is nothing that could not be untangled or remedied by a clever coup or well-planned stratagem. Subtle or undercover agreements or maneuvers could solve a difficult or static state of affairs For advanced goals, use determination and shrewd tactics, perhaps aided by judicious intrigue or subtlety.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find it discreet and effective to resort to finesse, tact or diplomacy should a stubborn obstacle, a serious delay, or strained relations, come up for consideration. A static or congested state of affairs might yield to carefully executed plans, with a clever show of strategy, compromise, or a gracious attitude rather than blatant force or dogged determination. Meet thwarted ambitions with discernment and fine ideals to build good will and assistance for lasting results and security.

A child born on this day may be able to meet difficulties or limitations by its philosophic and diplomatic conduct, winning friends by tact and compromise.

Power Increased 2 Per Cent In S. Ontario

TORONTO, Dec. 14.—(CP). — Southern Ontario daily Hydro-Electric power quotas have been increased another two per cent, Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, announced Monday.

The increase was attributable to "continuing favorable conditions" on the Gatineau river, one source of Hydro power imported to Ontario from Quebec.

Mr. Saunders read the following messages from C. N. Simpson, vice-president and general manager of the Gatineau Power Company:

"On Nov. 30 we advised you that our run-off from the upper Gatineau watershed had improved and that we were able to deliver additional power to you so that the reduction would be 9,500,000 kilowatt hours weekly. Our water conditions continue to show improvement and I advised you this afternoon we would be able to deliver to you an additional 1,000,000 kilowatt hours weekly so that commencing today the reduction will be 8,500,000 kilowatt hours weekly."

Will Continue

Mr. Saunders said: "I have every confidence that this increase, as well as others recently announced because of more favorable conditions throughout this province and Quebec, will continue until at least the end of January.

"Unfortunately it is not possible to make any predictions beyond that point."

The two per cent increase would enables municipalities to modify their power allotment programs over and above those measures provided in the commission's conservation regulations. These regulations, however, would remain unchanged.

H. J. McTavish, general manager of the Toronto Hydro Commission, said the additional increase can not be expected to end week-end and night work in Toronto factories.

HISTORIC MOMENT—In a historic ceremony held in the Senate Chamber of parliament buildings Saturday, the confederation agreement between Canada and Newfoundland was signed by representatives of both countries. Prime Minister St. Laurent is shown placing his signature on the document while A. J. Walsh, chairman of the Newfoundland delegation and first signer for his country, looks on.

SENATOR J. A. McDONALD suffered a heart seizure and died suddenly at his Toronto home. He was a Conservative Senator from New Brunswick and served 28 years.

Plan Minimum Pay For Clergy

TORONTO, Dec. 14—(CP)—The United Church of Canada Monday took steps to implement a recommendation of its 13th general council calling for a minimum annual salary for its clergymen of $2,100 by next year.

A committee of 44 leading laymen from across Canada pounded out machinery to bring this minimum objective before all congregations urging them to accept the new wage scale. More than 80 per cent. of the church's 2,178 ordained clergymen now receive less than $2,500.

The plan recommended the $2,100 minimum for married and $1,800 for unmarried clergymen. It set a $2,200 objective for 1950 and $2,400 for the following year.

Commenting on the committee's work, Dr. Willard Brewing, of Toronto, said "Clergymen now will be able to do better work."

From the laymen's meeting a "national committee" was forged through which the general council's recommendations will be pushed in every United Church congregation throughout Canada.

Will Be Charged

ST. THOMAS Dec. 14—(CP)—Ruth Joan Fawcett, 19, of Buffalo, N.Y., will be charged with dangerous driving as the result of a traffic accident Sunday night that killed two fellow university of Michigan students, police said Monday. The victims were Edward Jack Fedor, 20, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Barbara Allyn Silverthorn of Menominee, Mich.

Canadians To Know Today If Margarine Ban Lifted

By GEORGE KITCHEN.

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 — (CP). — Canadians will know to-day whether they can spread margarine on their bread.

The Supreme Court of Canada is handing down its decision on the legality of Federal legislation passed in 1886 which prohibits the importation, manufacture and sale of the butter substitute in this country.

Except for a brief lapse following the First World War, it has been that long—62 years—since Canadians have had the legal right to purchase the lower-priced margarine and use it as a substitute for butter.

The test case was placed before the Supreme Court October 5 at the behest of the Senate, which last session adopted a motion urging that the question of the validity of the legislation be referred to his highest court in the land.

The Federal Government, supported by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, opened a traditional defence of the legislation, arguing that it came within the jurisdiction of Parliament since the Dominion had the right to legislate for the peace, order and good government of Canada.

Opposing Act

Opposing the Act were the Province of Quebec, the Canadian Association of Consumers, L'Association Canadienne de Electrices, and a group which included Senator W. D. Euler, Liberal member of the Upper Chamber who long has contested the validity of the prohibition.

Their arguments followed a common line. They contended the margarine was a legitimate article of trade and as such came under property and civil rights, granted to the provinces under the British North America Act. Thus, it came under provincial jurisdiction.

Actually, the case involved three substitutes—oleomargarine, margarine and butterine. Oleomargarine contains animal fats, while margarine includes only vegetable oils. Butterine is butter with a greater percentage of milk than butterfat.

For simplicity, the court arguments generally referred to margarine alone.

Deny Conversion Tried

TORONTO, Dec. 14—(CP)—Murdoch McIver Monday night denied that teachers here are trying to convert Jewish children to the Christian faith. President of the Toronto Public School Principals' Association, he was commenting on a charge made Sunday night by Rabbi Abraham L. Feinburg of Toronto.

Britain's Future Is With Labor Government Tells Working Man

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 14. — (CP).—The Labor Government has told the British working man that he is master of his own destiny, that whether Britain sinks or swims economically depends on him and his production in mines and factories.

The story is hammered home with pamphlets, posters, radio broadcast lunchtime addresses. It is told to men inclined to be suspicious of the "boss," and to grumble about high prices, short rations and taxes that almost put beer and cigarets out of reach.

Government spokesmen say that despite such disappointments as the failure of the coal industry to reach its 1948 production target of 211,000,000 tons, its campaign is beginning to take effect.

The labor year in Britain, which produced only one strike—a two-week tie-up of London's docks at a cost of $3,500,000—saw these developments in the production drive:

The Trades Union Congress, mother body of 8,000,000 British workers, began a campaign to carry the productivity drive right to the workshop floor; open warfare was declared against Communists in the British trade union movement; labor generally reiterated support of the Government's wage-prices - profits stabilization policy, but warned prices can't go higher.

Working with the Government, the TUC, headed by 59-year-old Will Lawther, himself once a 4s. (80-cent) a day coal miner, has taken the lead to "educate" the worker on the importance of production.

Regular Conferences

Conferences are held regularly on production problems in individual industries. A TUC productivity school for shop stewards is also planned.

Lawther, once jailed for six weeks in 1925 during mine labor troubles—and in the very courtroom where he later sat as a magistrate—terms unofficial strikes in Britain today "treason."

The London dock strike of last June was unofficial. It tied up 152 ships and forced the Government to proclaim a state of emergency.

The strike ended before the emergency powers were put in use but later at the TUC conference at Margate, Arthur Deakin, leader of the power Transport and General Workers' Union which includes the dockers, delivered a blast against Communism.

He demanded and got a mandate to pull British trade unions from the World Federation of Trade Unions which he said had simply become a platform for "furtherance of Soviet policy." Later the TUC recommended that the WFTU suspend its functions and followed this with a statement urging British unions to purge themselves of Communists

There was much talk at Margate about wages and prices, but the stabilization policy of the Government was again supported. Communist - inspired resolutions were defeated as were their candidates for office.

However, the left-wing publication "Tribune" said though the Communist challenge was beaten off "it was quite clear that there is a vast reservoir of discontent still to be tapped, and it would be extremely foolish for the Government to assume that everything in the industrial garden is lovely.

Theatre Congress To Be Held In Spring

MONTREAL, Dec. 14—(CP)—Plans for a Canadian theatre conference to be held in Toronto next spring while the Dominion Drama Festival is in progress were announced here Monday night.

The announcement was made jointly by D. Park Jamieson, chairman of the Dominion Drama Festival and Charles Rittenhouse, chairman of the Festival's extension committee.

The conference, first to be held in Canada, will cover all aspects of the theatre. Scheduled are lectures by outstanding international authorities on the theatre, panel discussions and reports on the professional theatre in Canada.

RESCUES CHILD—Mrs. C. T. James of Thorsby, Alta., 35 miles southwest of Edmonton, was painfully burned about the face and hands when she saved a two-year-old child from a blazing building last week. How many things made of aluminum can you see on a street corner?

UNLESS you look at the pictures on the right, you'll hardly believe there can be so many.

Yet this is only a few of them. For aluminum has so many advantages that you may see hundreds of other things made of it—on the streets, in store windows, almost anywhere you look.

This is because aluminum is so very light, and strong, does not rust and has lots of other special features.

Today more than 1000 Canadian companies are making aluminum into so many kinds of useful and beautiful articles that no one can keep track of them all.

Why is this so? Because so many people all over the world want things made of aluminum we have been able to make more and more.

Because we have been able to make more, we have been able, over the last ten years, to reduce the price of aluminum ingot by 25%.

SEEK A BETTER PLAN

THERE are two fundamentally different plans for making most suit contracts. One of them is through ruffing out your losers and the other is through discarding losers on winning cards in the opposite hand. Often the first study of the situation, after seeing the dummy, will show that one of these methods will enable you to make the contract. The first declarer, however, will not proceed with it until he has also looked into the possible results from the other course, or perhaps a combination of the two.

	♠ A 10 8 5 2 ♥ Q 9 6 ♦ A 8 6 ♣ A Q
♠ J 7 4 ♥ A J 8 7 2 ♦ K 7 ♣ K J 8	N W E S	♠ 6 3 ♥ K 10 5 4 3 ♦ 9 4 3 2 ♣ 3 2
	♠ K Q 9 ♥ None ♦ Q J 10 5 ♣ 10 9 7 6 5 4

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	2 ♥

Against that contract in a big duplicate, the heart 4 was the lead at every table, dummy ruffing with the spade 9. Those who adopted the procedure of ruffing out the other hearts made the diamond Q their next lead. It went through, then the J was covered by the K and A. The second heart was ruffed by the spade Q, the club Q finesse won and the heart Q ruffed by the spade K. The using of dummy's three trumps for ruffing set up the spade J as a trick-taker for West, so that declarer got exactly two extra tricks.

Joseph E. Cain, of Indianapolis, saw how well the ruffing method would work, but also weighed the discarding procedure, so set up the dummy's clubs for the purpose. After trumping the heart lead in dummy, he finessed the club Q and scored the A, led to the spade Q, then ruffed the club 6 with the spade 10—a sort of a finesse against the J—which proved too high for East to overruff.

With the clubs now established, he led to the spade K, finessed the diamond Q, led the diamond J to the K and A, cleared trumps with the spade A, returned to dummy with the diamonds 8 to the 10 and with the last two clubs and spade 8 took the remaining tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ Q J 10 6 5 4 ♥ 8 5 ♦ Q 10 3 ♣ 10 6
♠ None ♥ Q J 6 2 ♦ 8 7 5 4 ♣ K Q 8 5 4	N W E S	♠ A K 2 ♥ 10 9 7 ♦ J 9 6 ♣ 9 7 3 2
	♠ 9 8 7 3 ♥ A K 4 3 ♦ A K 2 ♣ A J

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

If East takes the spade K and A, then leads the 2, how should North seek an extra trick at his 4-Spades?

Compeau Leads

By The Canadian Press

His 28 assists, best of the circuit, added to 16 goals, thrust Tod Compeau of Dallas back into the scoring leadership of the United States hockey league last week, it was announced at Minneapolis today. He displaced Bert Olmstead of Kansas City, who is only a single counter behind. Olmstead, with Ray Powell of Kansas City, third-place holder; Joe Bell of Dallas and Dick Butler of Tulsa, topped the goall scorers with 20 apiece.

MAY BE CAUGHT SHORT

City and district people will awake some morning soon to several inches of snow or slush and many of them won't have rubbers or galoshes. Certainly that is the opinion of shoe merchants as rubber footwear is not moving at all, because people have been lulled into a false sense of security by the fine autumn weather.

TODAY 6,027 CITIZENS in Orillia, vote on whether they want their town to become a city. At left Mayor W. M. Seymour, right, and Reeve Hugh Johnston want to see Orillia a city, though it would mean reeve would lose his job. Both have long cherished "graduation." The town has five public schools, a high school, hospital and six parks. Orillia's city hall, (Right) built 20 years ago, also serves as an opera house and theatre. Once the site of Indian villages, Orillia now has a population of over 11,000.

Centenary WA Sells Quilts

ROSENEATH, Dec. 14—(ENS)—The Christmas spirit abided in plenty at he meeting of the WA held in Centenary United Church on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. D. Timlin, president, was in the chair.

A short business session included a report by the traesurer, Miss Hilda Arthur, showing receipts of $30 from sale of quilts and other articles, and a decision to hold the election of officers at the January meeting in the home of Mesdames N. and W. Lean.

Mrs. R. Crego and her pupils from the nearby school were guests of the society. They were addressed by the president and Rev. R. C. White, carols were sung and home-made candy and oranges given them. Pre-school children received similiar treats, distributed by Mrs. Leo Timlin and Mrs. W. Lean, committee of management. A little two-year-old girl in the community was not overlooked either. She is Lynn Marriott, at present in a cast, and to her will go the beautiful doll and wardrobe of clothing displayed at the meeting; also a book, gift of Mrs. R. C. White.

Then the grown-ups had their turn. A parcel containing gifts, fruit a ndcandy from the members was dispatched to Mrs. Frank Dowler, a shut-in member. Other shut-ins or elderly folk will enjoy the six boxes of chocolates provided by Mrs. N. Lean. The folk in the parsonage (Rev. and Mrs. R. C. White and family) were not forgotten, for to them the society's gift will be fowl prepared for the oven.

Four brides present, viz., Mrs. Reginald Timlin, Mrs. Joseph Kelly Jr., Mrs. Irving Thackeray and Mrs. Merwin Smith, were welcomed by Mrs. Silas Sherwin and presented with the society's gifts by Mrs. Neil Sherwin.

To round out the gift session there was the grand exchange of gifts among all, conducted by Mrs. Bruce Arthur and Mrs. W. Lean.

Mrs. Reginald Timlin was convener of the following program: Christmas stories and readings, by Mrs. J. L. Timlin, Mrs. Neil Sherwin, Mrs. Silas Sherwin and Mrs. Bruce Arthur; and a guessing contest arranged by Mrs. W. Lean and won by Mrs. Joe Kelly Jr.

The season's foods were enjoyed at supper.

Norwood Residents Help Great Britain

NORWOOD, Dec. 14—(ENS)—The Rev. E. E. Pugsley was appointed president of the United Emergency Fund for Britain at a perliminary meeting in the Lublic Library on Wednesday.

Mr. C. A. McDonald of Toronto, stressed the needs. The main purpose was to supply food and other supplies for the people of Great Britain and northern Ireland he said. 4 KILLED IN ROOMING HOUSE BLAZE

Urge Chiang Resign As President

Holding Peace Talks As Red Army Closes On Peiping

NANKING, Dec. 15.—(CP). — President Kai-Shek today was studying recommendations by his closest advisers that the surrender control of China's faltering government and withdraw temporarily.

But as yet — despite tremendous pressure —the Generalissimo has shown no indication he will do so.

It was learned reliably that Chiang's closest associates finally suggested to him directly that the only salvation for Nationalist China is for him to step down and let others try to salvage the remnants—probably through negotiation with the Communists.

For weeks, these advisers have discussed these reecommendations among themselves—but only the current military crisis nerved them to present their ideas to the president, China's leader for more than 25 years.

Close to Walls

These Chinese Communists are virtually knocking at the ancient walls of isolated Peiping, in North China. In North-Central China, 150 miles northwest of Nanking, they haves trapped Chiang's major forces.

The advisers' suggestions to Chiang generally involve his resignation, although remaining available for a return to leadership should he be needed at some future time. This was suggested rather than an absolute withdrawal.

Li May Act

Associates of Vice-President Li Tsung-Jen said he is willing to assume leadership of the government, but only if the transfer of that power is made legal in a constitutional manner.

A certain result of such a change, they said, would be immediate steps toward halting hostilities followed by a settlement of differences through negotiations with the Reds.

Here is a view of the "Caronia" lying in the fitting basin at Clydebank. Most striking feature of the liner is the fact that she is painted green, an innovation in the exterior decoration of such a ship.

Two Injured In Second Floor Jump

Janitor Once Safe Goes Back In To Try And Save Wife

By DAVE McINTOSH

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP)— Four persons died by fire today as a sudden blaze ripped through a midtown brick rooming house and gutted it in less than an hour.

Burned to death were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Steele, about 60; John Henderson, 62; Pearl Bingham, 42.

Steele, the janitor, could have lived. He went back into the three-storey house for his wife and died with her on the top floor. All the dead were natives of Toronto.

Henderson, as the other victims, was burned beyond recognition. Charred black, the bodies were carried out by firemen under sooty tarpaulins an hour and a half after the blaze.

Two women jumped for their lives and were injured. The other eight in the house, including a 15-months-old baby were either rescued by firemen or fled the house uninjured.

Ignores Warning

Rowena Devine, 20-year-old waitress, leaped from a second-storey window despite a warning from a fellow-roomer to wait for firemen to carry her down the ladder.

Rosario Gauthier who lived on the same floor, said the girl lost all control and was in such a hurry to get out she caught her leg on the window-sill just as she jumped. She landed on the wooden stairs and pavement in front of the McGill Street house. She suffered severely from shock and had possible internal injuries.

Amelia Baxter, 38, also leaped for her life. As she started through a shattered window, a fireman at the top of the ladder caught her and carried her down. She suffered cuts and bruises.

Started In Furnace

Firemen said the blaze apparently started from garbage being burned in the furnace. The fiery gust swept up the pipes and the house filled with smoke in a matter of minutes.

Henderson could have saved himself, firemen said. When the shouts and screams of "fire!" echoed through the house he rushed to his bedroom door and yanked it open to run out. A sheet of flame engulfed him and he was burned to death in a matter of seconds.

Henderson's room was not gutted. Neither was that of Mr. and Mrs. Steele. The elderly couple apparently suffocated from smoke before the flames reached them.

The rooming house was run by Mrs. Annie Valentine, 70. She escaped out the back door and as smoke poured into her first-floor room.

Clad only in pants, sweater and slippers, John Valentine, the landlady's son, stood in a biting wind ouside the gutted building and, shivering, told this story.

"I was in bed with my wife when I heard people shouting 'fire.' Both men and women. Very loud. There were lots of screams.

Lift Ban On Goods From U.S. Effective January 1 Allow Personal Purchases

Large List Of Goods Placed On Quota, Travelling Funds Still Restricted; Won't Hazard Guess On Volume Of Imports

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—(CP).—A week too late for the Christmas rush, the Government today set Jan. 1 as the date for relaxation of bans on personal purchases brought back to Canada from the United States and simultaneously opened the way again for import of many foods and manufactured goods. Finance Minister Abbott announced:

1. Returning Canadians will be able again to bring back home, subject to the usual regulations, "incidental personal purchases valued at more than $100 provided they have been out of Canada not less than 48 hours."

2. Import now will be allowed of fresh and canned meats, poultry and game, eggs, yeast, prepared cereal foods, peanut butter, condensed milk, beans, peas, honey, nuts in the shell, cigars and cigarettes, and other foods. This took all foods other than fresh and processed fruits and vegetables off the prohibited list and the Minister said those would go by next July.

(Some fresh fruit and vegetables have been, and are currently being, allowed into Canada, but only on a temporary basis during periods of short domestic supply. They remain prohibited.)

3. A large list of goods taken off the banned list and placed on a quota basis, including bathtubs and other iron or steel plumbing fixtures, stoves, furnaces, other cooking and heating equipment, furniture of all kinds and dressed furs and manufactures of fur.

The relaxations affected the November, 1947, restrictions which were set in force in view of what was then considered a "dangerous" shortage in official reserves of U.S. dollars and gold. Improvement in that position made the changes possible, the minister said.

Limit Funds

Government officials said the government still would allow only $150 in U.S. funds to any Canadian visiting the U.S. and that the $100 in personal purchases would naturally have to come out of that.

The announcement meant that 13 months of ban against virtually any personal purchase in LIFT BAN

Sleet Storm Leaves Roads In Bad Shape

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP).—Snow and freezing rain fell over large areas of Southern Ontario today, making roads dangerous for driving and forcing cancellation of plane flights.

Trans-Canada Air Lines officials said flights did not operate today to New York, Cleveland, Chicago, London, Ont., and Windsor.

Planes got away to Winnipeg and Montreal, but all fields were expected to be closed in tonight.

Freezing rain, moving east in a wide strip, was reported from Centralia airport near London, St. Thomas, Listowel and Stratford.

Bus schedules were thrown askew but service continued.

At Galt, a storm that raged during the night was followed by sleet.

Roads were sheathed in ice, making driving hazardous. Sanding crews made their first appearance of the season.

The belt of freezing rain was expected to strike Toronto later today, followed by rain tonight. At noon today, the Ontario capital was getting its first real dose of snow this winter.

At Hamilton, two vessels sank and another foundered with a broken mast as a 40-mile-an-hour gale whipped across the harbor there.

Appeals Case CSU Director Gets Year Longer

WELLAND, Dec. 15 — (CP).—Michael Jackson of Montreal will serve three years instead of two for his "leadership" in the boarding of the Canada Steamship Lines collier Glenelg at Thorold on the Welland Canal last April 22 during the Great Lakes seamen's strike.

The 25-year-old Montreal man, Great Lakes director of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), had his penitentiary term increased by one year Tuesday in a new trial which followed his appeal against the original sentence.

Raymond Fougere, 21-year-old CSU member from Truro, N.S., and one of four union members appealing two-year sentences imposed Oct. 1 for the boarding, was found innocent and his sentence quashed in the retrial which ended Tuesday.

The two others, arrested at the scene of the early outbreak in the summer-long union dispute with CSL, were again found guilty and sentenced again to two years. They were Louis Schmaltz, 26, of Thorold, a CSU official, and Basil Dawson, 28, of Owen Sound.

Judge H. E. Fuller, conducting the new trial, said the CSU picketers along the Welland Canal who boarded the Glenelg as it passed through the Thorold locks had looked to the three convicted men for "leadership and guidance" during the dispute.

Jackson described the raid on the ship as "spontaneous." It ended in failure when water in the deep lock was lowered, trapping a crowd of fighting crew members and boarders on the decks.

Judge Fuller found that new evidence brought forward at the retrial showed that Jackson, as a CSU leader, should have a heavier penalty.

He gave Fougere "the benefit of a very slight doubt" in freeing him. Fougere had testified that the ship was at the bottom of the lock when he arrived, and said he was arrested as he started to run.

Prince Charles Christened In Simple Palace Ceremony

LONDON, Dec. 15—(CP).—A baby prince who some day may ascend the throne was christened today by the Archbishop of Canterbury. The 31-day-old first-born son of Princess Elizabeth was christened Charles Philip Arthur George of Edinburgh. The baby, already "Prince Charlie" to most Britons, is second in line of succession to the throne after his mother.

The ceremony was in the music room because the royal chapel, where Elizabeth was christened, was wrecked by a German bomb in 1940 and has not yet been repaired.

The "lily" font was brought from the royal chapel at Windsor to be used at the christening. Prince Charles wore the historic royal christening robe of silk and Honiton lace.

John Stanley Clare, registrar of births at Caxton Hall, Westminster, arrived at the Palace at 10.30 a.m. to register the birth.

The baby's full name, Charles Philip Arthur George, will be about the 500th entry, beneath that of a laborer's child, in Clare's tattered, dark red register.

Gets Ration Books

The Prince also got his ration books at the same time.

They entitle the baby to extra milk, concentrated orange juice and government-packed cod liver oil — the same as every other baby in the kingdom.

Births in Britain are usually registered within a few days, but that of the Royal Prince was delayed until the announcement of his names.

London morning newspapers nicknamed the child "Bonnie Prince Charlie." Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express noted "he may be King Charles III."

RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN

TORONTO—J. G. Morrow of Hamilton, chief metallurgist of the Steel Company of Canada, was re-elected chairman of the 20-man executive committee of the Canadian Standards Association. R. H. Mather of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company was named honorary secretary.

Belcher Resigns In Graft Inquiry

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP)—John W. Belcher resigned Tuesday night as parliamentary secretary to the board of trade and denied again that he was involved in any government graft.

Prime Minister Attlee accepted Belcher's resignation.

The special tribunal is investigating rumors that money was passed around in an effort to influence decisions by officials on such things as import licences and in dropping a case against a football gambling pool.

In his government post, Belcher was responsible for most of the administrative work in handling export and import controls.

He swore he had never accepted any bribes. However, he conceded he had received gifts and favors from several persons, including Sidney Stanley, 47, Polish-born promoter and central figure in the investigation.

In a note to Attlee, Belcher said he "realized that my acceptance of gifts and hospitality of the nature disclosed was conduct incompatible with the maintenance of the high respect for His Majesty's ministers which is an essential part of the political life of this country."

4 Trenton Men Get Jail Terms

TRENTON, Dec. 15. — Four Trenton men, convicted of assaulting RCAF Cpl. Charles Shortland, were sentenced to jail terms here yesterday by Magistrate T. Y. Willis. It was the second recent outbreak of Air Force-civilian hostilities here.

Two of the four, Keith Menzies, 22, and Clifford Westlake, 21, were sentenced to two months. The others, Gordon Anderson, 20, and James MacDonald, 25, drew six-week terms. Westlake pleaded guilty.

According to evidence, Cpl. Shortland and two girls got on a bus on Dec. 4, after leaving a dance, and was warned to get off or he would be beaten. When he left the bus four men followed him, attacked him and knocked him down. The girls said he was left, after being kicked and knocked unconscious.

The RCAF medical officer said he had a broken nose, bruises and concussion and had to remain in hospital for 10 days.

COMPOSER DIES

LONDON — John Ansell, 74, composer-conductor, died at his home in Marlow. He composed a number of comic operettas, include "Violette," and many light orchestral works.

TCL Asks Gov't Form Price Control Board

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress today declared the Federal Government should establish a price control board to rule on all price increases before they go into effect.

The proposal was contained in a brief submitted to the Prices Commission by two of the Congress' senior officials, Percy Bengough, president, and J. W. Buckley, general secretary-treasurer.

"While organized labor, in seeking wage improvements, has to apear before properly-constituted government boards to justify its requests, organized industry is practically uncontrolled and arbitrarily increases prices through the medium of cartels and combines, both national and international," the brief said.

Root of Trouble

"In the opinion of labor this is the root of present-day evils tending to create dissatisfaction and unrest in the minds of the mass of the people continually finding it more difficult to live properly in the face of rising commodity costs."

The two union leaders said in their brief that labor is not opposed to free enterprise, but believes the government should see that it does not "abuse its privileges entirely by operating in a manner detrimental to the mass of the people."

Demands for wage increases usually follow, rather than precede, price increases, they replied in answer to the argument that higher labor costs are largely responsible for higher prices. They quoted the late United States Secretary of Labor, L. B. Schwallenbach as stating that industrial profits, rather than wage increases, had caused high prices.

"Organized labor does not like this donkey - chasing - the-carrot process," the brief said.

Given 3 Months

SHERBROOKE, Que., Dec. 15—(CP).—Fergus Bonner, Sharbot Lake, Ont., truck driver, Tuesday was sentenced to three months in prison and a $300 fine for careless driving which resulted in the death of Ovila Baron, local taxi-cab driver, last summer. Bonner, whose truck knocked down and fatally injured Bonner, originally was charged with manslaughter but the charge was reduced by the jury, with a recommendation for clemency.

U.S. Says Scrap Deals Must Stop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—European profit-taking on scrap metal bought with Marshall-plan dollars brought warnings by United States officials today that such deals may jeopardize future recovery funds.

Senator John McClellan (Dem. Ark) told a reporter "if we can not get them to stop such practices—which I regard as a breach of faith—then Congress will have to stop the whole program."

The practices he referred to involved the resale to American buyers of more than 20,000 tons of scarce aluminum and lead which British, Belgian and Dutch dealers had bought in Canada and Latin-America with funds advanced by the United States.

(In Ottawa, Canadian officials said the scrap had been sold "in good faith". The supply ministry in London said "these complaints do not apply to Britain.")

Sell Margarine In Two Weeks

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—(CP). — Margarine will go on sale in Toronto in 10 days or two weeks, a packinghouse official said Tuesday night.

"I think the very earliest would be the end of next week or perhaps the beginning of the following week," the official said.

His plant is preparing top produce margarine but he said some delay is expected in obtaining materials and equipment.

The official said earlier reports that margarine would be sold in Toronto by Friday were "overly optimistic."

Hydro Worker Buried By Tons Of Cement

RAPIDES DES JOACHIMS, Que., Dec. 15—(CP)—An unidentified construction worker was believed buried Tuesday beneath tons of liquid cement following a 10-foot break in a lake dam four miles from the site of the Ontario Hydro-Electric project here.

Another worker, Norman Francis Whitton, 22, of Gaspe, Que., was severely injured as the cement came pouring through from one section of the dam to another. Both of his legs were badly mangled. The right leg later was reported amputated.

Both Whitton and the missing man were caught when clamps burst in the bulkhead section of the dam. A 10-foot section broke away and was carried downstream. Whitton was buried up to his neck in cement.

Hydro officials declined to identify the missing construction worker. Crews were sent out to dig into the liquid cement in an attempt to find him.

Would Like Canada's Help In Airlift As Propaganda

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP)— Mainly for the propaganda value in Europe, British and American officials in Berlin would like Canada to participate in the Berlin air lift, I. Norman Smith, associate editor of the Ottawa Journal, said today.

Reporting on a recent trip to Britain and Europe, he told the Canadian Club he believed the Canadian government "would like to be in this show. . . . We missed the bus and don't like to admit it." They had given five reasons for staying out, "a new one each month for the last five months."

In a speech prepared for delivery, Mr. Smith said of his visit to Berlin:

"British and American officials told me they wished Canada was in this air lift job. They'd like us in it not only for the help we would provide. That would be small. They want the added propaganda value in Europe . . . Any gestures that show that the outside world is one with this refusal to submit to community pressure in Germany are eagerly sought by the Allies and dolefully noted by communists all over Europe."

He accepted the statement of external affairs minister Pearson that Canada hasn't been asked to take part but suggested "perhaps the reason we haven't been asked is that we indicated our answer would be no."

Australia had 40 air crew, South Africa 50 pilots in the air lift.

Canada's Dollar Shortage Now Remedied

US Dollar Holdings Have Increased By $353,900,000 Since 1947

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP)— Canada's official holdings of gold and United States dollars had risen to $854,900,000 by the end of September, fiance minister Abbott announced today.

That compared to the $501,000,000 at the end of 1947, shortly after the government announced a series of restrictive measures aimed at taking dollar-short Canada out of the financial woods.

Mr. Abbott said the improvement in reserves made possible a new modification in the restrictions and added, "A continuation of present favorable trends will enable the government to consider further relaxations from time to time."

Mr. Abbott said "particular significance" should be attached to the fact that Canadian exports to the United States in the first nine months of 1948 were 40 per cent higher than in the same period of 1947. He said this "indicates that the constructive measures designed to alleviate the exchange problem by an expansion of trade are meeting with success."

Holdings of gold and U.S. dollars amounted to $741,900,000 at the end of June and $607,500,000 at the end of March. That means they have been vaulting upward at a rate of better than $100,000,000 every three months.

Include Drawings

Mr. Abbott said the figure for the end of March included drawings on the export-import bank credit in the amount of $50,000,000 and that for the end of June in the amount of $140,000,000. These borrowings were repaid in August 1948, but the official reserves at the end of September included $150,000,000 borrowed in the private capital market in the United States.

Mr. Abbott said that in the first nine months of 1948 the surplus of imports over exports in trade with the U.S. amounted to only $265,000,000 compared with $718,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1947.

The reserve position had also been favorably influenced by greatly reduced travel expenditures by Canadians in the U.S.

Trade with countries other than the U.S. produced a net export surplus of $527,000,000 in the first nine months of 1948 compared with $853,000,000 in the corresponding months of 1947. Canadian imports from these countries were up by $173,000,000 and Canadian exports to these countries were down by $153,000,000. About one-half of the increase in imports came from the United Kingdom.

Say Christmas Trees May Cost Up To $15

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP)— Any Canadian who doesn't feel like tramping into the bush to cut his own Christmas tree can buy one this holiday season—providing he has the money to meet the price tag, which may run all the way to $15.

A Canadian Press cross-country survey shows the supply of Christmas trees good—with a few left over for export. Demand is brisk.

In most centres, a man with a small house or apartment and with modest ambitions for his Christmas celebration can buy a tree for from 75 cents to $3.50, depending on the size and type.

Oust President, Jail Him After Coup

GUATEMALA, Guatemala, Dec. 15—(AP)—A military coup has unseated President Salvador Castaneda Castro of adjoining El Salvador after a day of fighting, direct reports from the Salvador acpital said today.

The President's desire for extension of his four-year term of office for another two years from March 1, 1949, appeared to be at least one of the factors. Elections for a constituent assembly to pass on that question were to be held Thursday and Friday.

Four Latin-American governments were overthrown earlier this year. These were in Costa Rica, Paraguay, Peru and Venezuela.

A distinction of El Salvador is her size. She is the smallest of the Central American republics, fronting on the Pacific between Guatemala and Nicaragua. She has a total area of 13,173 square miles. Coffee is the main base of her economy. The population totals 2,018,895.

Reliable sources said Castaneda resigned late Tuesday and was taken to police headquarters in San Salvador, the capital. The city was calm after hours of fighting.

Speculation here is that the trouble might have grown out of an order by the national assembly for the constituent assembly elections.

Castaneda, elected to office in 1945 after the overthrow of Col. Osmin Aguirre Y Salinas, was to serve four years under the new constitution. He has sought an additional two years under the old constitution, which provided for a six-year term.

said his decision probably will be affected by two factors:

1. The outcome of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek's mission to Washington for greater assistance.

Peace Talks

PEIPING, Dec. 15 (AP)—There no longer is any doubt in Peiping that peace talks are in progress as the Chinese Communists slowly surround this ancient city.

Virtually everyone is convinced that talks between the Communists and Gen. Futso-Yi, nationalist commander, actually are going on at this moment.

One strong force of Communists is moving toward the paralyzed Peiping-Tientsin railroad from the east through Paoti 40 miles north of Tientsin.

Another force, also from the east, has by-passed Peiping and is striking southward. It apparently intends to swing eastward to form a junction, which probably will be effected near Langfang, on the railroad 30 miles southeast of Peiping.

On their flight to Canada Mr. and Mrs. Denton were accompanied by their two sons, Charles, six, and Peter, three. When the third Denton baby is born and is old enough to travel, the family of five will fly back to Costa Rica.

Russia Vetoes Ceylon In U.N.

PARIS, Dec. 15—(AP).—Russia today cast her 29th veto in the United Nations Security Council to keep Ceylon out of the United Nations. The veto was Russia's second on Ceylon's membership bid. The Soviet Union now has used 13 of their 29 vetoes in the Council to bar seven countries from membership.

Before turning to the vote on Ceylon, the Council put off action on Israel's membership application until Friday.

Russia's Jakob Malik and delegate Vassili Tarasenko of the Soviet Ukraine cast the only votes against Ceylon. First they argued strenuously against reconsideration of Ceylon's application.

The 9-2 vote was the same as that at Lake Success last Aug. 18, when Russia first vetoed Ceylon.

The council adjourned after the vote on Ceylon. The next meeting was scheduled for Friday morning.

Report Prices Mixed As Action Slackens

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—(CP). J Prices were irregularly mixed as action slackened on the Toronto exchange today. Industrials showed an easier tone with most changes confined to fractions and golds slipped for the first time this week. Base metals and western oils held steady.

The industrial group showed strength early in the session but weakened at noon. A few specialties were strong but generally the list was quiet. Canadian Vickers rose $4. The preferred added $1. Loblaw A, Goodyear, Canadian Celanese and Brown Pfd. were among the losers.

Interest lagged in golds as prices weakened slightly from the recent good advances. Piccadilly was down and Macassa, Wright-Hargreaves and Hosco weakened. McIntyre, Guayana and Giant Yellowknife held firm.

Smelters attempteid recovery of Tuesday's loss, adding ½ in the base metals. Normetal, Eureka and base metals were also ahead awhile, Waite Amulet, Quebec Manitou and Noranda sagged.

Lift Ban

the states will be over within two weeks.

An official said the change meant that a Canadian could once again bring in, say, a radio, shirts, ties, records, or what have you up to a value of $100 without paying customs duty. There would be the traditional ban against bringing in quantities of items which made it appear that the purchaser was in business in that field.

Mr. Abbott hazarded no guess as to the volume of imports the various changes would cause.

Others Off List

Other goods which now go off the banned list are oysters and other shell fish, syrups, paper towels, napkins and doilies, candles, lubricating oils and greases, wet cell batteries, non-electric signs, door frames and sashes, synthetic casings for meat, andirons, brass or bronze cases, boxes and trays.

Cleaned rice also is removed from the list, but imports of both cleaned and rough rice will continue to be controlled in conformity with international allocations. Unmanufactured leather of all kinds and cheese, both under quota, will be unrestricted.

Materials which are transferred from a complete ban to a quota list include slide fasteners, umbrellas, buttons, wall paper, kitchen or household hollow-ware, cameras, binoculars and cocoa powder.

Domestic sewing machines may, after Jan. 1, be imported if a permit is obtained from the trade department.

The minister pointed out that some of the changes open the way for imports not only from the U.S., but Britain and other countries. He mentioned that increased supplies from overseas might be anticipated in such lines as household hollow-ware, cameras, brass and bronze bowls and trays, furs, furniture, wall paper and paper napkins and doilies.

Two Injured

I rushed to our baby, picked her up and put her in a blanket. When I opened the door I couldn't see anything. There were people running and shouting. The smoke was awful. My wife pulled on an old kimona and we felt our way to the back door. We got out somehow with the baby."

Save Carriage

The only thing removed from the house was a baby's carriage. Only a blackened framework remained. It stood on the little patch of hard ground in front of the house. A fire hose snaked by it, up the stairs and into the charred interior.

Gauthier, red-eyed from smoke, said he had awakened his fellow-roomer, Harry Russell.

"I went to the door to pull it open. But I felt the heat on the other side. Smoke was coming under the door.

"I threw a beer bottle through the window. It made just a small hole and I threw a ketchup bottle through.

"I saw Rowena (Devins) on the ledge beside my window. I told her not to jump. I told her to wait for the firemen. She said she couldn't wait.

"I said for God's sake, don't jump. You'll kill yourself.

"Then she jumped. She landed with a crash on the stairs. She landed on her head I looked down and she was lying there with blood all over her face. I thought she must be dead I never saw such a mess."

Gauthier and Russell waited for the firemen and were rescued unhurt. Another person climbed down a drainpipe. A couple that was first awakened got down the stairs before the flames closed in. Firemen carried out the others.

Put Out In Hour

The fire started at 8 a.m. and firemen had it out an hour later although it was some time before they could get the bodies out. The flesh had been seared into the wood.

Fire equipment roared up Yonge Street, the city's main north-south artery, just before the morning traffic rush reached its peak.

The house is just off Yonge Street and three doors from the YWCA building.

An early report from fire department headquarters said the blaze was in Willard Hall, headquarters of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and residence for women.

This report, based on the fact that the alarm came from Willard Hall, was revised quickly. The residence is just one block south of the fire scene.

In the half-hour following the original report the residence received more than 100 telephone calls from anxious relatives.

Gang Fights With Police Officer Gets Black Eye Youths Convicted, Warned

COBOURG, Dec. 15—(ENS)—Fines were imposed on five Oshawa youths in police court Tuesday, as a result of a fight in the park which took place on Saturday after two of the youths had been refused admission to the pavilion because the doorman considered them under the influence of liquor. William Skea, age 23, was fined $25 and costs or one month on a charge of disturbing the peace, and $50 and costs or two additional months for resisting arrest. Mike Conroy, age 18, was fined $50 and costs, or two months for obstructing the police. Harry Keller, age 17, was fined $50 and costs or two months for assaulting Constable H. Pearse. Clifford McLean, age 19, was fined $50 and costs or two months for assaulting Constable Homer Seale and $25 and costs or an additional month for causing a disturbance. Don Lidster, age 19, was fined $25 or 30 days for theft of Constable Seale's cap and badge and made restitution for the damaged hat.

Constable Homer Seale, who bore traces of a black eye, said he was at the pavilion Saturday night when Skea and McLean went into the ticket lobby. They were refused admission because the doorman considered them intoxicated. They started to argue and Constable Seale told them to leave.

"They left and shortly afterwards returned with some 18 or 20 fellows," Constable Seale told the court. "Skea and McLean were doing most of the talking and were swearing within the hearing of the girl in the ticket booth. I had given Skea a chance before so I arrested him. As I started to the door with him, he tripped and before I got him on his feet I was surrounded by the crowd. Some of them grabbed me and Skea got away. I saw him north of the pavilion and shook them off me to pursue him. I got him about 50 feet north and was surrounded again by the group. McLean said 'Come on, he can't take us all in, rush him,' and they charged at me. I looked to one side as one of them came up close and that was when McLean hit me in the eye. Skea got away in the confusion, and was arrested later in Oshawa. Before I started to take Skea I told the crowd that I had arrested Skea and they were not to interfere."

Constable H. Pearse said that he was by the canteen in the pavilion when somebody told him there was trouble at the door. The attendant was holding Conroy. Constable Seale was in the middle of the crowd and was holding Skea. Conroy jumped on Seale's back. He arrested Conroy and was taking him to the police cruiser when the crowd started to gather and tried to take Conroy from him. Keller struck him on the back of the head and also interfered with Seale. Later he arrested Keller in a cafe.

On the charge against Lidster, the evidence of Constable Seale was that somebody grabbed the constable's cap and threw it to the crowd. Later Seale and Pearse located Lidster in a car near the pavilion and found the cap under the seat and the badge in Lidster's breast pocket.

"I cannot take a light view of this affair," commented Crown Attorney Harry Deyman. "McLean and Skea started it. They were given a chance but came back again prepared to force their way into the pavilion. When a gang like that gets together a man with less strength than Constable Seale can be seriously hurt. You have read about the gangs in Toronto and while I am not suggesting that these fellows were in the same class, they did lose their sense of proportion. The ringleaders should be punished," he said.

"I agree with Mr. Deyman," observed Magistrate Baxter. "You read about the Toronto officer who was beaten up and for a time it was feared he might be permanently disabled. It might have happened in this case. The people of Oshawa or any other place are welcome to come down to Cobourg but not when they cannot behave themselves. In the last few years there has been a tendency to lack of respect for the police officer. When disrespect is shown it is disrespect for lawful authority. The pavilion is being run properly and the proprietor should not have to put up with that kind of behaviour and it should not be necessary for the police to patrol the place."

The magistrate sharply reprimanded the youths and warned them that if there was a repetition, the maximum penalty would be imposed.

Two Suits Fail Against Woman At Campbellford

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—(CP). — A $50,000 breach-of-contract suit against Mrs. Jennie Rappaport of Campbellford, was dismissed Monday in the non-jury assize court here. A motion seeking to restrain her from operating a theatre in Campbellford was also dismissed.

The action was brought by Foto Nite Amateur Shows, Ltd., and Louis Davidson, Toronto solicitor, who contended they rented the Hollywood theatre in Campbellford from Abraham Rappaport in 1942 on the stipulation that Rappaport would not enter the theatre business in competition against them for 10 years. They claimed Rappaport had started construction of a competing theatre before his death in 1946 and that Mrs. Rappaport had completed it.

The court ruled there was no evideence Rappaport invested any money in the enterprise now operated by his widow.

Dewey Believes Truman Holdup

ALBANY, N.Y., Dec. 15 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York Tuesday blamed the Truman administration for holding up construction of the proposed $460,000,000 St. Lawrence river power project.

Dewey told a press conference that President Truman had been "sitting too long" on the state's application for permission to build with the province of Ontario a hydro-electric plant in the International Rapids section.

The conference was held after the Governor had conferred with the five members of the state power authority.

Dewey said he "understood that the reason this application is being sat on in Washington is because the administration is once again going to submit the St. Lawrence seaway to Congress."

The President reiterated a few days ago that he favored a seaway and power development, and he said he was opposed to New York's project for developing only the power angle.

"The people of our state have a serious power shortage," Dewey said.

Health Plan May Be Changed

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP)—The federal health department has considered the possibility of making family allowances uniform for all children, regardless of the size of the family, but the government has not yet decided whether the allowances act should be amended at the coming session, it was learned Tuesday.

Health Minister Martin declined to comment on a report that the allowances would be made uniform and that residence regulations would be changed to permit immigrant children to receive the allowances at an earlier date.

From another source it was learned that officials of the department have studied what changes would be necessary to make payments uniform. Under the present act, the allowances are reduced for the fifth and subsequent children in a family of more than four.

At last March 31, there were 67,602 families in Canada with five or more children.

The department officials have also studied the question of reducing the term of residence so as to make the children of new families eligible for allowances sooner.

Plan New School

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP)—The management committee of Toronto's Board of Education Tuesday approved plans for a new school for crippled children to cost approximately $1,000,000. Before construction on the proposed west-end High Park site, the plans must be sanctioned by the senior board and the property committee.

Wild Ducks Find Housing Situation Exceedingly Good

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15.—(CP).—The housing situation still may be tough — for humans. Wild ducks are having a much better time of it.

When the flights of wild ducks head for Western Canada next spring from wintering grounds in the Southern United States and Mexico they will find 200 organized nesting grounds awaiting them, ranging in size from 1,000 to 15,000 acres.

Included in these nesting projects, constructed by Ducks Unlimited, will be 26 areas established this year, Executive Director Arthur M. Bartley of New York said in an interview here.

Next year 25 to 30 more such projects will be constructed on the Prairies under the organization's international wildfowl conservation plan.

Mr. Bartley, who spent last week in Winnipeg conferring with officials of Ducks Unlimited (Canada)—the Canadian section of the organization—said that for the 1949 project a budget upwards of $300,000 is expected to be approved at a meeting of trustees next March.

Spent 2 Million

During 10 years of conservation activities in Canada the organization has spent approximately $2,000,000.

In 1938, when the work of Ducks Unlimited was inaugurated in Canada, two-thirds of the Prairie breeding grounds had been destroyed, said Mr. Bartley. The advancing agricultural frontier pushed the breeding centres northward and drainage of land and drought further imperilled wildfowl.

The organization undertook to provide the wildfowl with marshes and points in which to breed, safety and proper food.

The program was described by Mr. Bartley as having substantially aided in maintenance of the duck population, with the peak of 2,000,000 duck hunters after the Second World War being mentioned as proof of this.

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Syrup at Home

This well known recipe is used by many thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them an effective, dependable medicine for distressing winter coughs. It's so easy to mix—anyone can do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for effect on throat irritations.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all and takes but a moment. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey instead of sugar syrup.)

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough syrup, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

Pinex Saves You Money. Fast Relief. Easily Mixed.

A Great Victory For The People Of Canada

The jubilation we feel over the Supreme Court's decision against the ban on margarine is common throughout the whole country. We of this newspaper are personally elated, because it is a victory for a cause we have been advocating consistently and continually for a long time. Our feelings run deeper, however, than egotistic pride. We are jubilant primarily because the removal of the ban on the manufacture, sale and use of margarine is a triumph of right over special privilege, of freedom over monopoly, of true democracy over vested interests, weak-livered politicians and regimentation.

Parliament could have rescinded the ban without reference to the Supreme Court, but it didn't. The Liberal Government, reluctant to incur the disfavour of the dairy bloc, tried to avoid the issue. It can be said to its credit that, while attempting to wash its political hands of margarine, it did refer the ban to the Court and thereby was instrumental in its removal. The Conservatives and C.C.F., being in opposition, could sponsor margarine without fear of having to take any immediate action. The ban has been removed through the back door, but the significant point is that it has gone. The Canadian system — its parliaments and courts—has been proved thus an effective instrument of the Canadian people's will, and an adequate guardian of the people's rights.

We may not have margarine immediately for the ban on importing margarine has been sustained by the Court. That does not disturb us. The principle that Canadians have the right to make and use a healthful food has been asserted. It is that, and not whether we want or shall ever eat margarine that is important. We now have the right to it. Whether many people use it will depend on how well it is manufactured and on how low the price will be. On April 1st, when Newfoundland becomes a Canadian province, we shall have our first taste of its margarine. Newfoundland already has manufacturing plants and no Provincial Government can prevent the shipping of food from one part of Canada to another, unless it attempts to set up customs barriers at provincial borders and thereby makes a mockery of the Canadian confederation.

* * *

We have not yet heard whether a memorial will be erected to honour Senator W. D. Euler of Waterloo, who for years has been the champion of margarine. The dairy people have erected replicas in butter of champion cows; perhaps Waterloo will one day be adorned by an Euler effigy in marge.

Two Peterborough Court Cases.

Last week at the County Court House, two sentences were meted out which surprised many people. To a certain extent we echo their astonishment, although we make no attempt to judge the matter, having neither the legal knowledge, nor the complete information about the cases which the judge undoubtedly possessed.

Both were jury cases. In one a man was found guilty of indecently assaulting an eleven-year-old girl. At the time of the crime the child was ten. The man was fined $200 and $75 costs.

In the other case two women were found guilty of stealing $940 from a man, $850 of which was recovered the day after the theft was committed. The circumstances surrounding the stealing were such that the defence counsel said that the man "is at least fifty per cent. to blame for this....He presented every opportunity to the girls to commit this crime". Evidence was presented that the two girls had hitch-hiked a ride to Peterborough with the man, had been given beer to drink, that the man had obtained a bottle of bootleg whisky and taken the two girls to a tourist cabin. During the night, after this man had gone to sleep in the cabin, the girls took his freely-displayed money and left the cabin. Last week it was not, of course, the man who was on trial, but the two young women. They were sentenced to a year and a half in the reformatory.

One explanation for the seeming disparity in the sentences is that stealing of this kind is legally a greater crime than indecent assault. The maximum penalty which the two young women might have incurred was nine years. The maximum for the man who indecently assaulted the ten-year-old child was two years and a whipping. Considering these maximum legal punishments, the sentences given by the Peterborough court last week were not disproportionate as many people think.

Cigars For Sibelius

Helsinki, the capital of Finland, has splendid municipal buildings, a stadium where the Olympic games were nearly played in 1940, excellent sculpture at street corners, women brick-layers, Sibelius, and no Havana cigars. Sibelius likes cigars; Americans (as well as millions of other music lovers) like Sibelius and moreover have cigars. When the great composer celebrated his 83rd birthday recently, some American admirers sent him as many boxes of cigars as the old man has years.

It was the kind of present which warms the cockles of the heart: human, not monumental, usefully unimproving, enjoyable for the recipient who has given so much joy to the givers. Cigars go up in smoke, but who can say what wonders the smoke accomplishes? Cigar smoke may have tuned Sibelius' pipes during the many decades in which he has been giving the world great melodies and harmonies. Perhaps a new symphony will rise from the smoke of these eighty-three boxes of Havanas. Robert Burton in his Anatomy of Melancholy attributed great virtues to the tawny weed: "Divine, rare, super-excellent tobacco...goes far beyond all the panaceas, potable gold and philosopher's stones". Even if Sibelius did not yearn for cigars as an inspiration for further musical achievement even if he is beyond great effort, his request which inspired the Americans' gift was as modest as Thomas Hood's:

Some sigh for this and that,
My wishes don't go far;
The world may wag at will,
So I have my cigar.

Peterborough's Nativity Play

On Sparks Street in Ottawa—the principal street of our capital city — there is during this Christmas season a large display of photographs of the production of the Coventry Nativity Play which was given at St. George's Church, Peterborough, last Christmas, and also in the Christmas of 1946. How many hundreds of people pass that display every day we cannot tell, but all who look at the pictures are reminded of Peterborough, and are informed of one or two things about our city which we think are important.

They are reminded, for instance, that the commercial side of Christmas is its least important and enduring aspect, and that in Peterborough the true message of Christmas is given a special form of honour. They are reminded, also, that the great literary treasures of the Middle Ages are not the exclusive property of Europe, and that a church in Peterborough has brought one of these treasures to life for everyone to see and enjoy. They are reminded that artistic creation is a form of worship, and that in Peterborough a play on a sacred theme is offered as a service to God in a spirit of reverence which is also, at times, a spirit of mirth. And they are reminded that this beautiful old play, which was already old in the reign of Richard II, has been transplanted from Coventry in England to Peterborough in Canada, and has found a welcome in the hearts of people here.

Beginning on Friday next, the play will be presented for the third successive year in St. George's Church, showing plainly and sincerely, in drama and music, the story of Our Lord's birth. Remote in spirit from buying or selling, and from the uproarious and rather phoney jollity of Santa Claus, the play fills a place in the hearts of many people at Christmas time—a place which might otherwise remain empty. The play's spirit and message are summed up in these words from its Prologue:

Now be merry, every man,
And see on our stage how this deed was done.
Our play we offer to Almighty God:
May he bring us to his bliss
That is both Lord and King,
And shall be everlasting—
In secula seculos: Amen.

CANADIAN CAUSERIE

Two Bits On "Hamlet"

By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

THERE is one disturbing thing about Sir Lawrence Oliver's film of "Hamlet": it makes one wonder whether the great French producer Marcel Pagnol is right when he says "Talking pictures have inherited the drama tradition of the past, and what we see on the stage today are relics of another age." Critics have complained of this or that point of the "Hamlet" film, but few have denied that it brings a new life into the old drama. One good proof of its vitality is the fact that everyone wants to put in their dime's worth on the matter. Some put in a dollar. I will content myself with two bits.

THE first concerns the part that things—inanimate things—are made to play in the drama. Shakespeare and his contemporaries saw the external world chiefly in relation to man, as a splendid or fearful backdrop to his doings. We look at it for its own sake; we know that everything has its own laws and its own life; armies of men and women spend their days probing into these laws; and one of their chief instruments in this exploration is the lens of the camera. It is not surprising therefore that in this truly contemporary film the camera plays so great a part. With the inquisitiveness of a detective who has given a roving commission to clean up an extremely grisly crime, it wanders around the scene; peers into corners; swoops down corridors; flattens itself against walls; throws sharp, suspicious glances at the furniture, the arras, the foils; lingers thoughtfully over the bed and the sprig of rosemary. There is a danger in this—that one becomes too aware of the silent commentary that it is interposing. But there is a great gain: imperceptibly the drama becomes anchored to its setting; the one belongs to the other as colour and heat to a flame.

MY second bit concerns Canadian audiences. Recently Toronto reminded us painfully how precarious are the gains that education has made over illiteracy and brute sloth. And there is unfortunate evidence that the total incomprehension of Shakespeare and his drama is not confined to the young dopes who disgraced their city at the Margaret Webster production. At some of the presentations of the "Hamlet" film in Ottawa young people have been reported as behaving "like children at an all-cartoon show". On this point Amelia Hall, who is well-known on the Ontario stage, had some pertinent things to say in a letter to the Ottawa Citizen: "People have to be educated to the appreciation of any art. They may acquire that education formally by study, or unconsciously by living in a place where there is a tradition of appreciation. In Canada we have difficulty in acquiring a formal education in theatre-going, opera-going, or ballet-going. There is as yet no appreciation of these things....There are lots of adults who do not know how to watch a play." The road towards the creation of well-informed Canadian theatre-audiences may be a long one. But a film such as Olivier's "Hamlet" must shorten it. Thousands of people who have hitherto thought of Shakespeare as a school-subject are going to discover that his work is as gripping as anything written today. If "Macbeth" follows (as rumour already says it will) the lesson will be driven deeper. By the time Sir Lawrence has given us all the great plays we shall perhaps have Canadian travelling groups springing up naturally by demand, as the green grass springs on watered ground.

IT is probably true to say that the great majority of Canadians who see this film will not have seen a stage Hamlet. For them this will be the one, the only Hamlet. This thought makes one pause. For the film necessarily simplifies, and in some ways it takes the gruesome old melodrama back to an earlier stage of its development, depriving it (by omitting the soliloquies "O what a rogue and peasant slave am I" and "How all occasions do inform against me") of a good deal of subtlety that Shakespeare breathed into it. Perhaps this too is inevitable in a completely contemporary film. For we seem to be in a period like that which preceded the Elizabethan age, the period of the "Hundred Years War"; we want the assurance of hard facts and firm decisions and feel the danger of indulging in subtle hesitations.

THE omission of these two great soliloquies was the subject of the most frequent criticism; but the changed order of some of the scenes also caused indignation. It is a dangerous thing to rearrange the works of a great master; yet somehow one is glad when people of real capacity have the temerity to try it. It shows an adventurous and creative spirit. Another notable English actor and producer, Alec Guiness, has been running the gauntlet of the same kind of indignation in his London production of "Twelfth Night". In this he transposed the opening scenes, answering the critics with the following sensible argument: "When the curtain goes up on a play the first thing an audience usually wants to know is where the action is taking place....Commencing with Orsino's scene, as in the text, for five minutes the audience knows neither where it is, who is speaking nor about whom. All this information is briefly and sensibly supplied by the sea captain to Viola"....

PERHAPS we need not be so careful about the future of the stage, in spite of all the triumphs the film may enjoy. So long as there is bold, original thinking like this it will take care of itself.

New Colleges For London

A $56 million plan to establish 34 county colleges for "under eighteen" has been approved for London. Each college will be sited on two acres of land and provide for 500 pupils, which will allow an attendance of 25,000 girls and boys on a one-day-a-week basis. Young people over school age but under eighteen and not in full time attendance at schools will take compulsory courses in social studies, physical education and English for one day in each of the 44 weeks of the school year.—U.K. Information Service.

Round The Galleries

By MICHAEL MIDDLETON
(Art Critic of The London Spectator)

WILLIAM Scott has been marked out for some time as one of the most promising painters of the younger generation. After four years in the army, during which he ceased to paint almost completely, he has been represented in a good many mixed exhibitions in London and abroad by canvases which have usually shone out from their neighbours with unmistakable power. His recent exhibition at the Leicester Galleries in London was, however, his first big show for six years. Some critics doubted whether the simplification of his style might not prove wearisome in bulk. These fears proved unfounded. Scott must now be considered to have arrived as a mature painter.

With the help of a few homely properties—the wire baskets and toasting forks of the kitchen, fish upon a plate, a tablecloth—Scott builds a monumental equilibrium of utter inevitability. Like Morandi, say, in Italy, or perhaps Braque, in France, one senses behind his work a pure and happy spirit that has no need of rhetoric or extremes. His figure compositions—or at least those in this particular exhibition—seemed a shade less successful.

The Hanover Gallery in London has been showing a strongly contrasted pair in Michael Ayrton and Gerald Wilde. Ayrton, known as a writer, critic and broadcaster, an illustrator and stage designer, as well as a painter, has represented the most literary wing of the younger British romantics. He has been influenced by Graham Sutherland, and even more by the early German and Netherlandish painters. Under such Gothic authority he has in the past produced work of a somewhat torturous theatricality. The recent small studies he brought back from Italy were therefore something of a surprise, for they were lighter and brighter in colour, more relaxed and happier in feeling. They were many of them very reminiscent of Eugene Berman's Italian paintings, but none the less among the most pleasing things Ayrton has shown for a considerable time.

Quite different were the abstractions of Gerald Wilde. Purists of the abstract faith would brand him as a romantic renegade. Wilde exploits his medium to the utmost, with abandon even, and draws from it the wildest textures, the richest colours. His handling is so vigorous and impetuous that it is something of a shock when a specific object or symbol emerges for a moment from its riotous surroundings.

Julian Trevelyan represents a kind of painting less common, perhaps, in Britain than elsewhere, especially during recent years when the younger generation have tended towards a rather introverted intensity of expression. His is a kind of painting in which the visual world is still a smiling, joyous place, full of wondrous things seen with the innocence and affection of a child. At the moment it is his colour which unifies his paintings—his little toy cottages on their downs, the Thames at low tide, the bridges and open places of Paris, or the chimneys of England's industrial "Black Country".

Among a multitude of other exhibitions, that of recent paintings by Ceri Richards, at the Redfern Gallery, must be mentioned. Richards is one of the more radical painters in Britain, and one of the more talented. The final, considered statement that would announce his complete independence and maturity, however, has not yet appeared. Clearly he is impetuous by nature (as his name suggests, he is Welsh) and I often have the feeling that his pictures have been thrown off before he has properly digested the impressions that have caught his imagination. His watercolours are very strongly influenced by Picasso; his oils, by Max Ernst. Passages are always admirable—his drawing can be superb—but the parts always seem superior to the whole. This last exhibition was a disappointment for me, because it did not contain that new step forward I am always hoping Richards will take. At the same time, on present evidence alone, he cannot be neglected in any survey of the contemporary scene in this country. Concurrently at this gallery were to be seen some pleasant oils by an artist new to me—Antony Bridge.

The Tate Gallery has been celebrating the centenary of the founding of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood in the revolutionary year of 1848 with a small, but carefully selected, group of 23 of the movement's masterpieces. The very much larger exhibitions held in Birmingham last year, and at Whitechapel earlier this year, have made further comment unnecessary. Suffice it that in this more compact collection the intensity of the Brotherhood's emotion seemed more strongly than ever to outweigh their idiosyncrasies and lack of taste.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

O Lord of hosts, who is a strong Lord like unto thee? or to thy faithfulness round about thee? Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waves thereof arise, thou stillest them. (Ps. 89: 8, 9.)

Now it came to pass on a certain day, that he went into a ship with his disciples: and he said unto them, Let us go over unto the other side of the lake. And they launched forth. But as they sailed he fell asleep: and there came down a storm of wind on the lake; and they were filled with water, and were in jeopardy.

And they came to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, master, we perish. Then he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water: and they ceased, and there was a calm. And he said unto them, Where is your faith? And they being afraid wondered, saying one to another, What manner of man is this! for he commandeth even the wind and water, and they obey him. (Luke 8: 22-25.)

THREE OF THE PRINCIPAL FIGURES involved in the reported "invasion" of Costa Rica, which only last week disbanded its army of 5,000 men. Mario A. Esquival (centre), Costa Rican ambassador to Washington, is making the flat accusation that the invading army of 1,000 men are followers of Dr. Rafael Angel Calderon (right) deposed Costa Rican political figure, who have been armed and equipped by General Anatasio Somosa (left), Nicaraguan minister of war. The invading column is supposedly advancing on Costa Rica from prepared bases in Nicaragua territory. Esquivel has moved to invoke aggression clauses of the Rio de Janeiro treaty against Nicaragua. Martial law was decreed in the country.

Senator Wants Oleo Colored

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP)—Senator W. D. Euler, leader of the three-year fight to have the ban against oleomargarine lifted in Canada, said here Tuesday it would be "a mistake" for any government to prevent the butter substitute from being colored yellow the same as butter.

(Owing to high federal and state taxes on the sale of colored margarine, the product in the United States usually is sold in its natural white stage, with a coloring capsule included in the package.)

The Ontario Senator said "Oleo in Canada should be colored and made to look as appetizing as butter."

At present, Ontario has no legislation respecting coloring of oleo.

THE BITTER END

"To the bitter end" has a natural origin. A ship's anchor chain, at the point where it was fastened to a vertical timber called the "bitt," was known as the bitter end.

Former Flying School Now Thriving Village

BRANTFORD, Dec. 15—(CP)—A former RCAF flying school five miles from here now is a thriving village that paid $22,000 into the city treasury this year.

City Council officials claim it's the only municipal housing project in Ontario that isn't losing money. In a few years, they say, the city will get back the $152,000 the project cost.

The 65 apartments bring monthly rents ranging from $25 to $35 and the project includes a post office, store, water system, fire department, community council, day nursery, swimming pool and skating rink.

U.S. Official Praises New Margarine Ruling

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(CP)—Paul T. Truitt, president of the National Association of Margarine Manufacturers, said Tuesday the Canadian supreme court decision on margarine is "gratifying news indeed."

"It simply furnished one more instance of the growing realization in Canada, the United States and elsewhere that anti-margarine laws are outmoded and were sought and maintained to prevent the butter industry from legitimate competition," he said in a statement.

Margarine—or oleo-margarine, as by law it must be labelled—sells in the United States for between 40 cents and 45 cents a pound, about half the price of butter.

HANDS AT WORK... for ONTARIO

LEARNING MACHINE ASSEMBLY

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security . . . and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. But to produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts the veteran on the road to skilled craftsmanship. In assembling business machines, for example, veterans must have a thorough knowledge of electricity and must learn to perform intricate work on precision machines having thousands of separate parts. These Canadian-made business machines are sold in all parts of the world, creating new wealth for Canada and Ontario. Therefore every effort of these newly skilled veterans helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contributes to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Captain George Lewis of the Indian badminton team, which lost out recently to Canada in Toronto matches, tells how the game originated. We get it via Dan Odette of the Kingston Whig-Standard sheet thusly: "It all started when the Squire of Badminton, who lived in Badminton County, India, invited a few English army officers to his residence for a bit of tennis. It started to rain, so the men were forced indoors where they tackled another sport, which was discovered long before and was much more popular—elbow bending." Hm, we trust local badmintoneers stick to the birds and let the bottles be. It would be most disconcerting to see two birds coming at you at once, what?

* * * * * *

Anyway, 'tis written: "After they polished off a few buckets of champagne, they figured it would be a good idea to set the tennis net up in the squire's front hall. The hall of the ancestral building was spacious enough to accommodate the net. A fair-sized joint. They picked up a few feathers, stuck them in a champagne cork and, somewhat sozzled, started belting this object around with the bottles. The game took hold and they played it most of the time rather than tennis. That was quite understandable in that they could play the game and drink champagne in the comfortable surroundings of the mansion. Also, their champagne wasn't exposed to the sun this way and it was less liable to get skunky."

They're Finishing Up

Took a look around the Civic Arena the other aft with Manager Dick Ouimet. Some inside work to be done yet, requiring about another week. By the way, Dick needs a second-hand rolltop desk for the office, if anyone can loan one. Two fine large snack bars are nearing completion, one at each end, with plenty of room in front for customers. Ticket offices at the east and west double doors, and a total of eight exit doors. Plenty of parking room all around the arena, and cars will drive in one side and out the other. A balcony at each end of the rink for reserved seats, six rows at the east end for 325 fans, and five at the other for 250.

* * * * * *

The seats are comfortably constructed, angling in underneath to provide foot room without stepping all over the folks sitting in front of you. Runways along the back at either end and both sides. "I'm confident we can put at least 2,500 in there for games," Dick said, and we don't doubt it. The players' boxes, penalty bin and press box are all roomy and comfortable, and they'll add a broadcasting booth. From the press box, the P.A. system will operate and the goals indicated on the $750 sportimer—put in by a firm for advertising. A good-sized storage room, too, at the west end.

* * * * * *

The Rink Looks Okay

All in all, it looks like a satisfactory secondary rink. A real good one, in fact, if a bit small for playoff crowds in a city this size. It has four dressing rooms, with toilets and showers, and everything needed in a modern arena, except artificial ice. That could be installed in practically no time at all—since the setup is ready—if the money was available. Maybe it will be in another year. Hockey will hold sway there five nights a week, with skating on Saturday. Dick is flooded with requests from teams for time there but says he can only accommodate so many. The OHA and the minor league clubs have to be taken care of first. The pressure will be off when the Memorial Centre is built.

* * * * * *

The Trojan Athletic Club will hold a meeting in the Salvation Army Hall on Chamberlain St. at eight this evening. Purpose is to register boys of that southwest section of the city who have not yet joined the club. Also to collect dues and issue new membership cards. Plans are to enter three teams in the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association as well as operate two minor loops down there this puck semester. It's a good club to join with fine coaching supplied by older chaps, the Trojan A.C. taking care of a whole raft of young fellows each year in ball and hockey. Officials and players will miss the kindly interest this winter of the late Art Pagett, Sr., one of the founders of this club.

Cardinals Roll Tops

Secretary Nona Whetung's weekly report of the Girls' Bowling League to hand, and we note where Cardinals this week stole the scoring thunder—and we do mean thunder in this pin-toppling loop. The Cards had top team triple of 3023 and best single effort of 1064. Also, M. Payne of this squad paced 'em all in singletons with a 282 chore, while M. Rogers of the Arcos rolled 700 to pick up the marbles for individual threesomes. M. Bolton of Commandos captured the blind score of 555. The league holds its annual chicken roll next Monday, with all members invited to try for at least a drumstick. The lasses will then relax till after the holiday festivities.

Oshawa Trades Two Players

GUELPH, Dec. 15 — Guelph Biltmores, the "tradinest" team in the OHA Junior "A" loop, made a last-ditch attempt to strengthen their team Tuesday when they arranged a double swap with Oshawa Generals.

Biltmores traded Charlie Waks and Archie Richardson, both left-wingers, to Oshawa in exchange for Bernie Hill, defenseman, and Keith Montgomery, also a left-winter. Montgomery played with the Peterborough Senior B team last year.

The change is effective immediately and Biltmore expect to make use of their new additions here Wednesday night. Trading between junior "A" teams expires Dec. 15.

This was the third trade by Biltmores this season and their second within a week. Last week they sent goalie Dan Kewley to Windsor for goalie Dennis Mooney and left-winger Tom Mouncey. Earlier in the season they traded Joe Kilby to Galt Rockets for Stan Bourdeau.

The sixth-place Biltmores also replaced Coach Bill Sherry a few weeks back. Ken Holmshaw is now in charge of the team.

Six Players In $5,000 Deal

KITCHENER, Dec. 15 —(CP)— Kitchener-Waterloo and Stratford senior OHA hockey teams completed a deal Tuesday night which involves six players and $5,000 cash.

The Dutchmen obtained Mickey Roth and Billy Flick, Stratford's two leading scorers, for Lloyd Roubell, Jerry Olinski, Jerry Bauer and Jackie Vroomen and $5,000.

Officials of both teams said they believed the transaction was one of the biggest ever carried out by two "amateur" clubs.

The league-leading Dutchmen will use Flick and Roth tonight against Owen Sound at Waterloo, while cellar-dwelling Stratford is expected to use their four new additions against Marlboros in Toronto.

Roubell, one of the founders of the Dutchmen last season, has been out of action this year because of injuries and differences with the team. Olinski has only played in two games while Bauer, a brother of Bobby Bauer, has taken part in four. Vrooman, with the Waterloo Kents last season when they reached the senior "B" finals, also has failed to play a game with the Dutchmen.

Omaha Deadlocked With Minneapolis

By The Associated Press

Fans in the United States hockey league are still waiting for a home-club victory in the Omaha-Minneapolis series this year.

The teams have met six times this season, but neither has won at home.

Four of the games have been ties. Omaha has won twice and tied once at Minneapolis. All three games at Omaha have ended in a deadlock, the latest being Tuesday night's 3-3 game.

Lyal Wiseman put Omaha ahead 3-2 in the third period Tuesday night but Wally Atanas deadlocked it again before the final period was over.

Houston came out of last place in the southern division with an 8-2 victory over Fort Worth.

Injuries Still Plague Teams In NHL

By The Canadian Press

With the schedule little more than one-third completed, the injury bug was still plaguing at least two camps as all six national hockey league teams prepared to square off tonight in mid-week engagements.

Both Canadian teams play away from home. The upsurging Maple Leafs meet Rangers in New York while the injury-riddled Montreal Canadiens battle the rugged Boston Bruins in Beantown. Only the Leafs among these four teams have not been plagued by the injury-jinx this year.

In the third set-to, the league-leading Detroit Red Wings tangle with Charlie Conacher's prolific-scoring Black Hawks in the windy city. The Wings headed for Chicago minus Gordie Howe, reported out until February to undergo surgery on his right knee.

The Canadiens, who last week-end lost the services of their ace centre, Elmer Lach, announced before leaving for Boston that defenceman Butch Bouchard now will be out for a month with a recurring leg ailment. Lach, most-often injured player in the NHL, is out with a broken jaw.

No Pushovers

But the Bruins, who are one point back of Detroit in second place, might find the Habitants no pushovers. After losing Lach and a 5-2 decision to Chicago here last Saturday, the Montrealers made an inspired come-back in Chicago the following night to tie the Hawks 4-4.

The Stanley Cup champion Leafs, who tumbled the Bruins out of first place by defeating them twice last week-end, appear on the surface to have an easier chore against the cellar-entrenched Rangers. The revitalized Leafs in the last two weeks have climbed to within one point of the third-place Hawks.

However, Frankie Boucher's charfes, injury-riddled even before the season started, showed signs of coming to life last Sunday by chalking up a near 2-0 victory over Detroit. Rangers are the only team in action tonight who cannot improve their league standing with a victory.

Welterweight Fair After Brooklyn KO

BROOKLYN, Dec. 15.—(AP).—Mickey Alagna, New York welterweight, was reported in "fair" condition early today in hospital, where he was taken after being knocked out in a fight Tuesday night.

The hospital said no report had been made on X-ray examinations.

Alagna was dropped by a right hand blow to the head from Robert E. Miller, also of New York, in the third round of their scheduled six-round preliminary at Broadway arena.

Alagna partly regained consciousness in the dressing room but a physician ordered him taken to hospital for a further check.

Two US Boxers Suspended For Fight Substitution

MONTREAL, Dec. 15.—(CP).—The Montreal Athletic Commission, which handed out life suspensions to Leo Mecucci, New England welterweight, and his manager, Paul Labbe, Jr. for a case of impersonation in a fight card here, has announced it will seek similar action by the National Boxing Association.

Roger Meloche, secretary of the NBA-affiliated commission announced the suspension Tuesday night. He said Mecucci, who fights out of Portland, Me., impersonated Jimmy Dinardo of Boston in the main bout of a Dec. 1 fight.

Meloche said the commission's Maine agent obtained from Labbe in Lewiston an affidavit admitting that Mecucci impersonated Dinardo in the eight-round bout with Eddie (Joe Beef) Leboeuf, Montreal welter. Labbe manages a stable of fighters under the name Paul Junior.

Mecucci was knocked out early in the second round and his poor showing led to a commission investigation.

Labbe's affidavit said Dinardo was scheduled to fight elsewhere the night of Dec. 1 and could not keep his Montreal engagement. The manager swore he telephoned Lawson Bampton, Montreal promoter, and told him he was bringing Mecucci here under an assumed name and that Bampton agreed to the arrangement.

Sign Statement

Mecucci was also said to have signed a statement telling the same story.

Meloche said the commission will summon Bampton at an early meeting to hear his side of the story.

Meanwhile, neither Labbe nor Mecucci could be reached for comment.

The two were suspended last week temporarily by the Maine Boxing Commission pending action by the Montreal Commission.

Labbe, a former New England lightweight champion, said at that time the difficulty stemmed from a Montreal promoter's failure to announce publicly that Mecucci would substitute for Dinardo.

Flyers Blank Teepees 4-0, Leading League

By The Canadian Press

Coach Hap Emms' Barrie Flyers, took over the leadership in the Junior A Ontario Hockey Association last night, the third time within two weeks.

Barrie, farm club of Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League, blanked the high-flying St. Catharines Teepees 4-0 in St. Catharines last night. The Flyers enjoy a one-point margin over Windsor Spitfires. Windsor has three games in hand.

Fleet Barrie forward, Sid McNabney, boosted his fourth-place individual scoring race to 34 points by garnering one goal and two assists. McNabney is seven points behind leading Bert Giesebrecht of Windsor.

While Barrie handed St. Catharines its 10th loss in 25 starts, Toronto St. Michael's College Majors drove Toronto Marlboros further into the junior cellar by defeating them 4-2. The Dukes have won four games in 22 starts.

Barrie scored once in the first period, added two more in the second and one in the third period.

Don Ashbee led Barrie marksmen with two goals, while Real Chevrefils and McNabney counted twice.

Loose Play

Teepees showed loose defensive play through the absence of star Don Telford, who injured a knee during a workout.

St. Mike's moved into sole possession of seventh place with 14 points as they downed Marlies, Gord Hannigan, Conn Bonhomme, Bud Marshall and Joe Decourcy counted for St. Michael's. Howie Lee scored both goals for the Dukes.

Hannigan put St. Mike's ahead early in the first period on a short pass from Neil Buchanan. Bonhomme made it 2-0 minutes later on a goal-mouth scramble.

The Marlboros answered midway through the second frame when Lee scored on Pirie's rebound. But Marshall drove back and put the Irish ahead 3-1. Decourcy and Lee tallied once in the final session.

Ten teams go into action tonight. In the senior loop, Stratford Indians meet Toronto Marlboros, and Owen Sound Mercurys meet Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. St. Catharines play a return match with Barrie, Stratford Kroehlers clash with Guelph Biltmores and Windsor Spitfires play Oshawa Generals in the junior loop.

Duke Invited

BADDECK, N.S., Dec. 15—(CP)—The Duke of Argyle, chief of the clan Campbell, Inverary Castle, Scotland, has been invited to open the Cape Breton Gaelic Mod here July 27, 1949, it was announced Tuesday.

CHAMP JOE LOUIS seems almost bored as he casts a glance downwards toward a "padded" left thrown by Billy Conn in their six-round exhibition bout at Chicago's International Amphitheatre. Both men wore 14-ounce gloves. Louis was an easy winner.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Bob Sandberg, starry backfielder of Winnipeg Blue Bombers for the last two years, said Tuesday night he had received no official offer to coach Edmonton Eskimos football club, whose return to the Western Conference is mooted for next season. Sandberg admitted Edmonton football boosters had been in contact with him but said there was nothing definite.

Citation, the horse of the year, has been injured and will not race in Arcadia, Calif., this winter, Santa Anita Park announced Tuesday. Executive Vice-president Charles H. Strub said he had been informed that trainer Jimmy Jones for Calumet Farms decided to take Citation to Florida after the great three-year-old came out of last Saturday's Tanforan Handicap slightly lame.

It was a blow to Citation's immediate hopes of overtaking Stymie and passing the $1,000,000 mark as the world's greatest money winning horse.

Two high school curling rinks of the 64 expected—were registered Tuesday for the Guelph and Galt second annual school boys' bonspiel scheduled for Feb. 3-4 at Guelph. The event will be sponsored by the two cities and will be arranged by joint-chairman W. C. Whitney Field of Guelph, and Norman Himes of Galt. The opening 'spiel last April attracted 32 rinks.

University of Western Ontario Mustangs, dethroned as senior intercollegiate football union champions this year after holding the title since 1939, will be back in the thick of things next season, according to Coach Johnny Metras. Speaking Tuesday night at the annual fall sports banquet of the University of Western Ontario, Metras said: "In the past season we concentrated on building character. Next year we will concentrate on winning a championship."

Jaroslav Drobny bowed out of hockey Tuesday to concentrate on tennis. The left-handed Czechoslovak Davis Cup tennis star said at Prague he is going to spend all winter in the hope of capturing the first international lawn tennis event of 1949, at Cairo in February. He was invited to the Egyptian tournament last year but was busy playing Olympic hockey at St. Moritz at the time.

Featured by the return of Old Orchard, Me., the addition of Sedalia, Mo., and the dropping of Milwaukee, directors of the Grand Circuit Tuesday at Columbus, O., set up a coast-to-coast program for 1949 extending for 27 weeks. The program opens six weeks later than in 1948, and closes five weeks later, with total purses of $2,200,000 as compared with $2,096,000 this year.

Greenville, O., and Terre Haute, Ind., presented applications for 1949 membership, but both were rejected in favor of Sedalia and Old Orchard.

Lightweight champion Ike Williams of Philadelphia Tuesday was awarded the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as the fighter who had done the most for the sport during 1948. The award was made by members of the New York Boxing Writers' Association, with whom Neil worked before he was killed in 1937 while covering the Civil War in Spain for the Associated Press. Dan Morgan, veteran manager who piloted such men as Jack Britton and Battling Levinsky, was voted the James J. Walker memorial award for "invaluable service to boxing" over a long period.

An Edmonton entry is "just what the Western Canada Senior Football Conference needs," Coach Les Lear of the Grey Cup champion Calgary Stampeders said Tuesday night.

"That is wonderful news," Lear said, commenting on a report that a group of Edmonton business men are reviving the old Eskimos, who played in the pre-war Western Conference.

"With a four-team league, no team will be idle during any week-end throughout the grid season," Lear added.

Besides Calgary, other entries now in the western loop are Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Jersey Joe Walcott battered Earl Griffin of Chester, Pa., to the canvas four times Tuesday night in a four-round exhibition fought at the Camden, N.J., armory before 2,400 fans who paid $4,800. Three of the knockdowns came in the last round.

Walcott came in at 195 pounds —11 pounds over the weight he carried into two losing scraps with Joe Louis. Griffin weighed 192.

Defence Minister Claxton Tells How To Get Votes

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—(CP).—Defence Minister Claxton Tuesday night outlined a four-point method to avoid a repetition of the Digby-Annapolis-Kings defeat for the Liberals in Nova Scotia Monday.

They were the "four ingredients of success and political leadership," he told the annual meeting of the Ottawa West Liberal Association — "party record, leadership, policy and organization."

"Only by a party's record can the voters know just how reliable and responsible that party is for the future. The record of the Liberal Party has been just as good as any party record in any country."

In leadership, the Liberal Party also had been richly endowed, Mr. Claxton said. For instance the secret of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King's success was a "feeling of love for his fellow man."

Policy of the Liberal Party was one which attracted some valuable additions to the Government, Mr. Claxton named Veterans Minister Gregg, External Affairs Minister Pearson, Justice Minister Gibson.

Concerning party organization, Mr. Claxton advised his audience to "keep your powder dry and be ready to face what may be ahead."

He said the Liberal Party would win the next election.

Baseball Trade Market Booms At Meet

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—(AP).—Baseball's annual winter meeting, just concluded, will result in a lot of changes in major league parks next spring.

Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phils, busiest traders in the National League, worked out a four-player deal which sent first baseman Eddie Waitkus and pitcher Hank Borowy to the Phils in exchange for pitchers Emil (Dutch) Leonard and Walter (Mond) Dubiel.

The Cubs also gave outfielder Bill Nicholson and pitcher Russ Meyer to Philadelphia. The Phils sent outfielder Harry Walker to the Cubs.

Earlier in the day, Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators completed a big trade involving five players. The Indians acquired first baseman Mickey Vernon and pitcher Early Wynn in exchange for first baseman Eddie Robinson and pitchers Ed Klieman and Joe Haynes.

The deal was in the nature of an answer to New York Yankees, who on Monday night had obtained pitcher Fred Sanford and catcher Roy Partee from St. Louis Browns for a cash outlay of $100,000, pitchers Charles (Red) Embree and Dick Starr and catcher Sherman Lollar.

Sell Pitcher

New York Giants, wo failed to land a man during the meeting, sold relief pitcher Ken Trinkle to the Phils. The Yankees also traded first baseman Steve Souchock to Chicago White Sox for rookie outfielder Jim Delsing and another player to be announced later.

At the minor league sessions in Minneapolis last week the Cubs traded catcher Clyde McCullough and pitcher Cliff Chambers to Pittsburgh Pirates for third baseman Frank Gustine and rookie pitcher Calvin McLish.

Bucky Harris, who was released as manager of the Yankees at the end of the '48 season hooked on as a pilot at San Diego, and Dick Bartell, former star shortstop and Ted Lyons, former White Sox manager and pitcher, were named to the coaching staff of Detroit Tigers.

The Indians signed Steve O'Neill, reposed Tiger skipper, as coach, and moved coach Muddy Ruel to the front office. Connie Mack of Philadelphia Athletics signed two of his old boys, Jimmy Dykes as a coach, and Wally Moses as a utility outfielder. Billy Southworth of Boston Braves replaced coach Freddie Fitzsimmons with Jimmy Brown, who played under him at St. Louis.

Meanwhile, baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler has reserved until January decision on the Fitzsimmons "tampering case," involving Leo Durocher and the Giants.

All parties concerned refused to talk about the matter. Chandler has given no indication what penalties—if—any he may hand out. However, most baseball people believed that Durocher, Fitzsimmons and the Giants would get off with fines.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15—(AP)—Joe Louis Tuesday night put his official sanction on a round-robin tournament to pick a challenger for his heavyweight boxing title. Joe listed six names: Lee Savold, Billy Conn, Gus Lesnevich, Bruce Woodcock, Ezzard Charles and Jersey Joe Walcott. Then he said the round-round shouldn't have more than four contenders. He was inclined to drop Lesnevich and Woodcock.

Plan To Have Fire Drills In All Local Movie Houses

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—Plans to assist patients discharged from tuberculosis sanatoria in Ontario to become self-supporting more quickly have been approved under the federal health program.

This was announced here today by National Health Minister Paul Martin, who said that the project had been submitted to the Ontario Department of Health under the terms of the national health program and that notice of the federal government's approval has been sent to the provincial health minister, Hon. Russell T. Kelley.

In the past, Mr. Martin said, patients not able to do their regular work for some time after their discharge from a sanatorium sometimes became charges on the municipality. In other instances too early return to work has resulted in a relapse and re-admission to the sanatorium. The new program is designed to meet this situation.

It calls for the appointment of a director of rehabilitation and four placement officers. The director will establish a rehabilitation division and organize training facilities within sanatoria. The training will be designed to teach the patients new skills or to develop latent ones which will enable them to become self-supporting after their discharge.

The four placement officers, to be stationed in various parts of the province, will be responsible for finding suitable work for the discharged patients

Costs of the rehabilitation and placement program will be charged against the $740,751 allotted to Ontario out of the $3,000,000 set aside this year for tuberculosis control under the federal government's health program.

Jolson Planning To Quit Radio Next Season

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15 (AP)—Al Jolson adds just another note to the current radio chaos — he says he is quitting, too.

"Radio is in a stagnant situation," he told me. "The people don't like it and the ham on this end does not like it, either."

The mammysinger will become the third big star to retire from the air. Fred Allen says he will quit after next spring to write a book. Edgar Bergen will be through after Christmas, to "sit back and look over the situation" until next Sepember.

"Bergen is right," Jolson declared. "We work too hard; and for what? I am making $5,500 a week on the air show, and I am lucky if I can keep 10 per cent of it. And those capital gains deals don't help much.'"

He added that the weekly radio formula has got him down. "Every week Oscar Levant insults me, using words that I do not understand—and I don't think he does either," he said. "It's a rut."

Like Bergen, Jolson said he could not figure how give-away and amateur shows can take listeners away from entertainment shows.

Amateurs Maybe

"Maybe I should do the same thing," he jested. "Maybe I should say, 'Folks, I want you to hear a boy I discovered under one of my orange trees; he plays a mean harmonica.' And then I would bring out Larry Adler."

Jolson said he will quit radio after the present season, but he added a loophole:

"I would sign up to-morrow for less money if I could do a show recorded on tape."

"Doing a live show is murder. If you go wrong on a song, you can't say, 'Mr. Jones, let's play it over again.' When I have to stick to a script, my hands are tied, my mouth is tied and my kisser is tied.

"But if the show was recorded, I could ad lib all I wanted. I could do 45 or 50 minutes and them cut the record down to a good half-hour."

Witness Charges 9 Detectives

QUEBEC, Dec. 15.—(CP).— A woman whose name was withheld from publication at a public inquiry Tuesday said that Quebec city morality squad detectives drank and mixed with girl tenants at her house on St. Francois St.

The woman, whose testimony in a recorder's court case two weeks ago resulted in the public investigation, was convicted of keeping a house of ill-fame and has appealed.

A ruling by Recorder Emile Morin, presiding over the inquiry which opened Monday, banned publication of the names of women witnesses who may be called for questioning by Georges Delisle, counsel at the hearing for the city.

Nine members of the morality squad, whose conduct is the subject of investigation, were named a the start of the inquiry. The court of inquiry, originally ordered to consider events since Jan. 1, 1946, today was empowered by the city's administrative committee to extend its investigation to events preceding that date.

British Socialism Dud, Drew Says

BRITANNIA HEIGHTS, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Tuesday night what socialism has done in Britain is "no encouragement for any Canadian to adopt socialism in Canada."

Addressing a political rally in this agricultural community on the western outskirts of Ottawa, Mr. Drew said Britain's farm production has been dropping since the socialist government was elected to office in 1945. The rally was one of two he addressed during the evening as he resumed his campaign as a candidate in the December 20 federal by-election for Carleton constituency.

Socialists in Canada, he said, were "bragging" that farmers in Britain knew two years in advance what they would be paid for their products and they could plan accordingly. But the socialists were not telling how the British government was instructing farmers on what they should plant and what they should breed.

He renewed his attack against the CCF party. He is opposed in the by-election by Eugene Forsey, CCF candidate, and Nelson McCracken of the Social Credit Party.

Sweepstake authorities are prepared to pay the full prize to Zaborek, a paper collector, but Fred Horsley Snell, also of Toronto, claims a half share in the ticket.

Salvation Army Worker Harry Illingworth Sells 2,600 Copies War Cry's At Age 82

Eighty-two, and still going strong. That's the story of Harry Illingworth of 195 Rubidge St. A veteran member of the Salvation Army in Peterborough for 28 years, he has been a member of the red-and-blue "almost all my life."

With a zeal and fervor of the conviction that his work is right, he has made himself a public institution in the city's streets and factories and offices. His cheery, breezy disposition has helped him to sell many thousands of the Army's "War Cry" magazine.

This year, he has sold 2,600 copies of the Christmas issue. In 12 years—since the age of 70—he has sold a total of 22,000 copies of Christmas issues of "The War Cry." Added to this are uncounted thousands of copies of the Easter issues and the regular weekly issues.

With every prospect—whether he sells him or not—Harry always has a booming "God bless ya." His voice gives a real sense of sincerity to the greeting. Maybe that's why the old soldier holds such a record.

Believe Product Will Bring Marked Saving

Lifting of the ban on the manufacture of margarine has housewives talking. Most of them seem eager to try the butter substitute though few have ever seen or tasted it.

Mothers who have large families are particularly keen to try it and see if the results are favorable. If so they anticipate a slash in the mounting food bill in these days of high prices.

The price announced from Toronto this morning will be somewhere between 35 and 50 cents a pound. Probably the retail stores may offer it around to 40 to 45 cents, although no definite information was available today as to what the consumer will have to lay on the counter for it.

Canada Packers Limited are ready to begin production almost immediately, according to press reports.

Margarine will be made at the Toronto plant of CPC, it was learned from the local office of the company.

The substitute will be of the same color as butter, "and will be made to the same high standard of our products," the Examiner was told, although information was of no more detail than the Canadian Press reports. It was said that the price announcement would be made as soon as possible.

"It won't go on the market until we are satisfied that the quality is right," was the comment at CPC.

Several housewives in Peterborough were asked today for their comments on the products and they were as follows:

Mrs. J. Brown, Water Street: "I'll try it. Anything deserves a try. If we like it, we'll buy and save money. I never ate it myself but I have heard reports from friends in England that it is good. I'll have to try it myself first."

Mrs. G. Langhorne, Water Street: "Certainly I'll try it. There are lots of things that it can be used for. It will save money not only for the small families but will be a great help for the large families. In England it wasn't too bad, in fact it was quite nice, but it didn't take the place of butter."

Mrs. R. Parnell, Water Street: "It's only fair to give it a try after all the trouble the men have met trying to get the bill passed. It will certainly save us money. The boys ate oleo when overseas and couldn't tell any difference and my relations in Detroit say they can hardly tell the difference between oleo and butter.

Mrs. G. Jay, Chamberlain Street: "I'm going to try some. I don't see any reason why we should not have it. Butter is too dear right now." She said that lifting the ban was a welcome thing to parents with several small children.

Uses Pound a Day

A lady who wished to remain anonymous exclaimed: "It's wonderful for us as a family. Margarine is absolutely necessary these days with butter at 74 cents a pound."

She said that her family used a pound a day and at that price the expenditure was a major item on her budget.

Mrs. W. Addyman: "The Local Council of Women has been working on this question of margarine for some time. One of the reasons, of course, is the high cost of living and butter in particular is out of sight for large families.'"

Unlike many of the others interviewed Mr. Addyman has eaten margarine before. From 1914 to 1923 when she came to Canada from England she said she ate margarine on her bread all the time.

"I was in the United States last year." she said. "And I found it is most difficult to tell the difference between butter and margarine sometimes."

Another point in favor of margarine, Mrs. Addyman stated, is that it is made by machinery and could be relied upon free from germs. "You can always be positive and sure of the margarine you are using," she said.

Mrs. E. Johnson, Charlotte Street, was of the opinion that margarine was all right for cooking, but not for table use. As long as she could afford it she would use butter on the table, she said.

Mrs. Johnson thought it was a good idea to lift the ban on margarine, but limited her own use of it. "I think it is really good for cooking," she said.

Another woman was of the opinion that Canadians raised on butter would not take kindly to margarine on their bread. She thought that butter would still be used on the table but the margarine, which is expected to sell at 35 to 40 cents a pound, might be a strong competitor with shortening at 35 centsc and lard at 38 cents for cooking and baking.

RICHARD STEWART has been elected Deputy Reeve of Otonabee. On Monday he defeated the other candidate, Percy Davidson, 780 to 549. He succeeds Harry McIntyre, who dropped out of municipal politics this year. Both Mr. Stewart and Mr. Davidson were councillors last year.

74 Fires Last December Chief Issues Warning To Merchants and Citizens

To prevent fires which might cause extensive damage or even tragedy during the Christmas season, Fire Chief George Smith has issued a list of warnings and recommendations regarding decorations.

In conjunction with Chief Smith the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce has issued a special appeal to store operators to observe all safety measures possible. Last December 74 calls were made by the Department to put out fires—the largest number of any December in five years.

There has been a below average number of alarms during October and November and it is hoped that this December will fall into the same category.

Here are listed several causes of fire in retail establishments during the holiday season. Most of them are equally applicable to the home:

1—Inflammable decorations and paper shades around Christmas lights.

2—Overloading of electric circuits.

3—Paper boxes and wrappings left lying around basements.

4—Careless smoking.

5—Dried out Christmas trees with electric lights.

6—Use of open flame in demonstrations.

Observance of a few simple rules, Chief Smith contends, may prevent the marring of the festive season through an unnecessary fire with all its possible consequences.

Make sure all electric displays carry the Underwriters' seal of approval; don't overload the circuit; don't use any but the proper fuses, and check the wiring to ensure it is not frayed or faulty. Never leave lights burning on a tree when there is nobody in the house or store.

In stores, prevent crowding of aisles and doorways and make an inspection of the premises last thing at night and first thing in the morning.

Chief Smith has a few words of advice to offer on care of Christmas trees. Select a green tree, lop it off obliquely at the base a couple of inches above the original cut and put that end in a pail containing water and weighted down by stones or coal. This will give the tree moisture, help it to last longer and reduce the fire hazard as well.

As soon as the tree dries and needles begin to drop, the tree should be thrown out as it becomes a serious fire hazard.

Flammable decorations should be kept to a minimum. They provide fuel for a rapid fire from any source of ignition. Metal, glass or asbestos decorations should be preferred in any selection. Long, continuous paper streamers are considered particularly dangerous as they allow a flame once started to speed along without a break. Break these up into small sections and space them well apart is the advice of Chief Smith.

One of the things that is really frowned on by the Chief is the use of candles or any open-flame method of illumination. These were the cause of many tragedies at Christmas time previous to the advent of electricity.

A Fire Marshal's directive recommends that fire - fighting equipment should be provided at an easily accessible location near the tree at Christmas concerts and Christmas tree parties.

"Fire extinguishers of pump tank or soda-acid types, or a length of garden hose sufficient to reach any part of the area are most effective," says the directive.

"Children are the usual victims," says Chief Smith. "They need supervision when temptation is present and every precaution should be taken to make sure that they cannot reach matches or remove lighted candles or have their own garments or toys involved in fire. Santa has an obligation to bring them safety as well as Christmas presents."

ATTEND MEETING

L. H. Ingram, Quaker Oats Co., and J. H. Vernor, Western Clock Co. attended a meeting of the Council of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association this week. Mr. Ingram is president of the association and Mr. Vernor is a past president. At the meeting it was reported there is a decrease in industrial accidents. Mechanical injuries, falls of persons and injuries while handling material represent almost 68 per cent of the total injuries recorded.

Plan To Have Fire Drill In Local Movie Houses

Similar to the practice in other cities, Peterborough will soon have a fire alarm system working in theatres, and fire drills will take place unexpectedly during the performance.

By cutting into the middle of a performance the fire drill is expected to give an indication of spectator reaction under realistic conditions. Fire Chief George Smith, commenting on the scheme, said that while the false alarms may be an interruption of the program they have been drawn up for the purpose of ensuring everyone's safety should necessity arise.

All local theatres will be affected and arrangements have been made with them for the smooth functioning of the drill.

When the members of the audience hear three gongs of a bell, specially installed, they will stand up and face the aisle nearest to them after first making sure that their seat is folded.

They should not begin to move unless told to do so by the usher who will have been specially coached on the dummy drill. Everyone is warned not to talk or push as this will impede the swift movement of the patrons should it be necessary to evacuate them.

Two rings of the bell signifies that the patrons may return to their seats.

In the ordinary drill it is not proposed to evacuate the theatre—recognition of the signal so that the person rises and faces the aisle while awaiting further orders will probably be considered sufficient.

A similar bell system and drill is to be started at every school.

DECEMBER GRASS FIRE

The times are out of joint, or something, as somebody said once.

Not only have we got a completely snowless middle of December. There even seems to be grass to burn in this unseasonable state of affairs.

The Fire Department answered a call at 1:15 Tuesday afternoon. It was to Armour Hill. The cause: a grass fire.

Trees Plentiful For Yuetide Cost $1 And Up

With Christmas only 10 days away, the annual trek to the woodlot has begun. Records show an ever-increasing number of people are getting their trees the easy way. Instead of trudging through snow ("what snow" we might ask this year) up to the waist, wrestling inexpertly with an axe, narrowly escaping being crushed by falling trees, almost breaking their back lugging the green timbers home, they just walk downtown, pick out a tree from a display and have it delivered.

Sales started in Peterborough slowly this week, but the volume has increased almost hourly. The supply, it is reported, will be sufficient for all demands. Variety of species and sizes will be wide. Prices seem reasonable.

Prices ranges all the way from 25 cents (which, in some places, will buy about enough foliage for a lapel ornament) to two dollars. Most popular size in the purchases to date are about the dollar size, which gives a tree ffom four to seven feet tall, depending on the seller, the buyer's preference, the variety.

The sellers expect that there will be a considerable rush later in the week.

"It's hard for people to get into the Christmas spirit when there isn't any snow on the ground," complained one lady where sales had been droping a bit.

Some of those in the business get their supplies from truckers. Others have their own woodlots and handle the whole operation. There are several who have members of the family or friends who own farms or woodlots in the north and who bring them to the city addresses where they are sold.

Spruce is by far the favorite, with silver spruce selling well wherever it is offered. Others offered include balsam and hemlock.

Many of the trees sold in Peterborough are cut north of here, in the area behind Bancroft and Apsley.

With their tree sales, the dealers are also passing out free advice to the many who seek anxiously of the tree of their choice: "Is this the kind in which the needles drop off"

Generally speaking, needles will fall off all the popular varieties at about the same time, we are told. The secret is to instal the tree in a base of rocks and water. The water will help the tree retain enough moisture to hold its needles until its Yuletide duties have been completed.

2 Plead Guilty To Theft Of Cigarettes

Two men — Joseph Convey of Hastings and Clarence Harrison of 248 Charlotte St.—pleaded guilty in police court today to stealing a quantity of cigarettes from the CNR freight sheds here. Electing trial by Magistrate Philp, they were remanded a week for sentence.

The charges were laid by CNR Constable P. Ray Morden of Lindsay. The theft was on Dec. 8. Loot, said the police, was cartons of cigarettes. About 12,000 cigarettes, with a wholesale value of $175, is the figure given.

Working in co-operation with city and provincial police, Constable Morden traced the lost smokes to Hastings, when he heard reports that cigarettes were being offered for sale there. Another Hastings man, Stanley Richardson, will be charged in Cobourg with receiving stolen goods, the officer said. There may be a fourth man charged with receiving, he added.

More than 10,000 of the cigarettes were seized b ythe investigating officers at Richardson's home in Hastings, they said.

Assisting in the case were: Provincial Constable Arthur Kellogg, of Hastings, Detective Sergeant John Stevenson, Detective William Clark and PC Claire McGillen, of the Peterborough Police Department and Chief Constable L. W. Patten of Hastings.

Lindsay To Get 100 New Homes

LINDSAY, Dec. 15 — L. T. Braunton & Co., Ltd., of Lindsay, will proceed with the construction of 100 new homes in Lindsay, ranging in price from $5,000 to $10,000, according to location and size. Town council has disposed of three pieces of vacant land to Mr. Braunton, including an unopened street. Work will proceed at once and the investment will be approximately one million dollars.

Green Christmas Is Possibility

Santa may find the sledding tough. There is a possibility of a green Christmas this year. It happened before in 1923 and could happen again.

This will be just another poser for parents when children will want to know how St. Nicholas will be able to slip around the globe on Christmas Eve without any snow to slip on. There are several alternates. Suppose there is snow as far south as North Bay, for instance. The Department of Lands and Forests could arrange to park the eight tiny reindeer in some deer yard in the Timagami Reserve and in co-operation with Trans-Canada Airlines, have a North Star aircraft or two, standing by with sky trailers for the immense overload.

There is no doubt that Santa Claus has foreseen all such emergencies and has equipped his good gremlin factory workers with parachutes. He probably got the idea from RCAF Arctic rescue crews who plummet down to Arctic snowfields on mercy flight operations.

This idea gets around that practical question of Junior's as to how Santa could possibly fit into the narrow chimney; a little gremlin could do it with ease. And then again, Junior would not have to put out a large snack for Santa to eat because we hear his gremlins eat very little indeed.

A green Christmas would give lie to the statement that the climate in Canada is composed of eight months of winter and four months of bad sleighing. This year the margin could be narrowed down to two months of bad sleighing but this, of course, is only wishful thinking. Most people have shovelled snow for too many winters to believe such nonsense.

New Phone Books Now In The Mail

The new December, 1948 telephone directory is now coming in Peterborough, F. D. Tufford, through the mail to subscribers Bell Telephone manager here, announced today. The buff-covered directory, which contains more than 8,300 new and changed listings, replaces the green-covered edition issued last January.

"Discard the old edition as soon as the new one arrives," is the advice of Mr. Tufford, who points out that keeping the outlated directory may lead to getting a wrong number by consulting it in error.

The manager also cautioned subscribers to look through the pages before throwing the old book away; directories have often been used as repositories for papers, money and even love letters, and discarded directories have been found to contain bonds, and the deed to a house.

Christmas Mail Rush Has Already Started

Peterborough's Christmas mail has started earlier this year than last according to Postmaster Charles Lacheur, who reports that the Christmas rush, although not yet at its peak, started this week. Approximately 25 thousand one cent stamps were sold on each of the first two days of the week and 30 thousand three and four cent stamps.

Extra temporary staff will start to sort and deliver mail on Saturday and arrangements have been made to call in 79 temporary helpers between Saturday and Christmas. The Armouries will be taken over for sorting parcels which will be delivered direct from there.

Nine Factories Planning Christmas Tree Parties

Santa Claus is going to have a busy time the next two weekends when nine factories are holding Christmas parties for employees' children.

No child will be too young for the parties, which cater to youngsters from a day old to approximately 14 years. There are to be movie shows, magicians and games and candies will be distributed.

The first party is for children of the De Laval factory employees in the Collegiate auditorium on Friday and the last one is to be at the Peterborough Lock Company on December 21.

In the Collegiate auditorium next Saturday the Canadian General Electric has its annual Christmas party. The company expects to set a record by entertaining 3,500 children. Parents are being asked not to accompany children if it can be avoided, as there is limited space in the auditorium. The factory has been divided into five sections because of the large number of children.

A movie will be shown five times, once for each group and Santa Claus will make an appearance after each movie. The shows are at 9.30, 11.30, 1.30, 3.00 and 4.30.

The Quaker Oats is having its party in the Legion Hall also on Saturday at two o'clock. At the Queen Mary auditorium the Dominion Woollens will have its Christmas party Saturday evening at seven o'clock. At two o'clock Saturday afternoon in the YWCA the Brinton Carpet Company will have a party for the youngsters. The Peterborough Canoe Company will hold a party for the employees children in the YMCA at 9 a.m. on Saturday.

On December 20, the Outboard Marine will have a party for employees in the Collegiate at 7.30 p.m. There will be draws for 20 chickens.

Canada Packers plant will stage a theatre party and Christmas tree at the Capitol Theatre on Friday morning Dec. 24. At this affair children of all employees are guests of the plant manager for the annual Yuletide treat.

Former Stirling Boy Chosen Rhodes Scholar

D. Ralph Campbell, Foxboro, son of Reeve Fred Campbell of Sidney township, is one of two war veterans selected as 1949 Rhodes scholars from Ontario. A former Stirling High school boy, 30 year old Campbell is now in his final honors year in economics and political science at Toronto University. After matriculating from Stirling High school, he refused two scholarships and a bursary in order to be free to help on his father's farm. He won junior and senior championships in track and field events, was a good softball pitcher and football player and shot-put champion of the RCAF Toronto area.

After he has spent two years at Oxford, and a year at the Bank of Canada, Campbell hopes to return to country life with farmers' co-operative or the Federation of Agriculture.

Campbell had a distinguished war record with the RCAF, and was awarded the DFC and Bar. The first award was made after he safely ditched his four engined Stirling aircraft in the English channel at night, after one engine had failed and another had broken away when it was struck by a broken propeller. The Bar was added when he and his crew completed an operation on only three engines. As his plane took off from a base in England towing a glider taking troops across the Rhine, an oil leak developed in one engine.

The other Ontario Rhodes scholar is Eric Michael Howart of Kingston, also a RCAF veteran.

Londoners Read Fewer Books, Firms Worried

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Londoners are reading less and London's old-established book publishers are worried about it.

During the war, they say, the blackout and lack of travelling facilities kept people to their homes and "a book published was a book sold."

The boom continued for a time after the war ended. But now sales are down with a bump.

Basic reason for this, says a leading London bookseller, is the high price of books.

"Few people to-day can afford 10 shillings ($2) which is practically the current minimum for a popular novel. Non-fictional works are even farther removed from the spending power of the average man."

Publishers excuse high prices by increased production costs — higher wages and high cost of materials.

Paper Cost Soars

Cost of paper is important too. Publishers are paying three and four times as much for their paper as they did before the war.

Booksellers have another remedy. They declare publish will have to accept a cut in the higher rate of profits they enjoyed during the war.

"If they don't they may have to face a time when there will be no profits at all," a Fleet Street bookseller said.

Demand for thrillers and "who-dunnits" which reached its peak during the worst years of the war is not as great as it was, but most booksellers agree it is still the most popular form of reading entertainment.

Next in order of popularity, according to sales records, are children's books, the quality of which has improved during the last year. Love stories and the "shockers" are also in some demand, but sales have dropped off by more than 50 per cent since the war.

MISSING MAN—Police in all parts of Canada have been asked to be on the lookout for Irwin Hilliard, 85, shown here. It is believed he may be suffering from amnesia.

Many Artists To Aid Optimists

Names of some of the artists who will appear on the Optimists Christmas Concert have been announced. Purpose of the three-hour program to be held this Sunday is to raise funds in order that needy families may have a hamper of Christmas edibles.

The Salvation Army Temple Choir, consisting of 50 voices and directed by A. Ben Smith, will present a half hour of carols and other Christmas music. The choir will be heard between 4-4.30 p.m.

Other artists who have donated their services include Don Landry, baritone; Quinn sisters, duo singing; Richard Staples, a 10-year-old singer of novelty songs; Les Grimshaw, an accordionist from Port Hope; Cecil Searles, a violinist and the Humphrey sisters, a vocal trio.

Faye Diane Schwartz and her sister, Natalie Merna, two talented young pianists, will entertain with classical music. They will play sirigly and as a duet.

Other entertainers will be Jim Byrnes and his "Old Timers"—six instrumentalists and two vocalists—featuring old-time music; Herb Mullins and Gus Delare, novelty songs; and a selection of piano melodies by Dorothy Whatley and Frank Hamon.

Bobby Kinsmen's Orchestra has volunteered two numbers, and Hal McFarlane and his orchestra will play.

The three-hour show will be staged before an estimated 3,000 spectators in Brock Street Summer Gardens on Sunday afternoon 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Price of admission will be packaged can goods.

Radio station CHEX will broadcast the complete show and four telephone lines have been reserved to handle requests from the radio audience. The radio listener states his request and volunteers a cash donation; a squad of Optimists in cars, as well as Boy Scouts, call around for the donation if the listener lives in the city.

Rural listeners are asked to send their money to the Optimists Club, care of the Imperial Bank, Peterborough.

Funeral On Monday

A large number attended funeral service for the late Henry T. W. E. Bradburn, 82, at the Belleghem Funeral Home on Monday afternoon. He died in Toronto at his residence on Friday. The Rev. Dr. J. R. R. Cooper of George St. United church, officiated and pallbearers were Herbert Bradburn, A. Weddell, Gordon Hancock, F. H. Graystock, M. Storey and W. E. Franks. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Mr. Bradburn was born in Peterborough, son of the late Henry Bradburn and Bevin McKee, and before moving to Toronto last June had resided a lifetime in the city. For 11 years he was employed by the old street railway and latterly worked for the Canadian General Electric Company for many years.

O'Grady Laid To Rest

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP). — Genial Frank O'Grady went for his last trip yesterday. They buried the man who had thousands of friends and acquaintances in Ontario's northland in a Toronto cemetery. He died here Saturday.

For 30 years he was on the move in the north, from Sudbury to Sault Ste. Marie, to Manitoulin Island, and on to the Head of the Lakes. His business was selling hardware, for mining projects and lumber camps. His hobbies were doing favors for anyone he met, rooting for the local ball club or hockey team wherever he happened to be, and helping someone get on the water wagon.

A non-drinker and non-smoker, he always carried a bottle of liquor. When he met a man on his travels who was trying to shake off the morning-after blues, O'Grady would step in with a typical Northern Ontario "grand smasher." When the unfortunate felt better, O'Grady would move in with a temperance lecture. Many a man succumbed to the zeal of his fiery Irish oratory and gave up liquor for life.

REPAYS KINDNESS—Volunteer Red Cross workers in Toronto regularly visit veterans' hospitals to drive patients to hockey games, summer resorts, and social events. Jimmie Scotland, a patient at the Red Chevron Hospital for three years, decided it was time the veterans showed their appreciation. Monday night, 90 drivers were his guests at a Christmas party. Shown here is the host surrounded by four of his guests, left to right, Kay Short, Jean Cunningham, Nora Kearney, formerly of Kirkland Lake, and Margaret Ord, all of Toronto.

No Cheesecake For Barbara Publicity Men Determined

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (CP). — Newspaper interviews, radio interviews, television appearances and lots of photographs — but no cheesecake.

That, in a terse 13 mords, is the instruction given to the group of public relations men and women who are handling the publicity build-up for Barbara Ann Scott.

Since the pretty Ottawa skater arrived here more than a week ago, her life story has appeared in various versions in the newspapers. Her voice has been heard by radio audiences and her face has been seen by thousands of television viewers as well as millions of newspaper readers.

The 8,000,000-plus New Yorkers are getting to know more and more about the world champion skater every day. But the half-dozen publicity writers who collaborate to get the blonde 20-year-old Ottawa girl into the public eye claim, however, that they have little work to do.

"Barbara Ann really does the job all by herself," said one publicity man, a veteran of several decades in the business of "making" stars. "Her natural sweetness and charm are something we can't get into print or pictures.

"It's something she has, and it goes over with a bang."

They Are Happiest

The publicity men— representing Music Corporation of America, her agents; the Roxy Theatre where she makes her professional debut next week; and Twentieth Century-Fox, film producers who own the Roxy Theatre—are happiest about the "no cheesecake" rule.

Cheesecake is picture slang for the Hollywood type of photograph you see of Jane Russell, et al: Legs, scanty dress, and plenty of oomph. Of course, there is no getting away from leg shots, not with a skater.

But the leg art has all been sedate and dignified—Barbara Ann sitting on a bench tying a skate lace or putting on her skates, or a graceful action shot in short skating outfit.

Photographers are barred from the costume fitting room. And the only bathing suit shots that have appeared were in a recent issue of a picture periodical showing Barbara Ann as she romped during a recent vacation.

Drew Election Creates Strife Coldwell Says

PIERCE'S CORNERS, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said Tuesday night that election of George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, in the federal Carleton by-election "would undoubtedly do more to create bitterness, strife, confusion and disunity than any other single event at this time."

At the same time, he said, "if the communists are interested in democratic elections, I suggest that instead of issuing statements and indulging in radio speeches which are intended to embarrass the CCF, they should nominate their own candidates which, incidentally, would demonstrate the weakness of communism as a political force in Canada."

He added in a by-election speech: "I believe that the intrusion of Mr. Tim Buck (Labor-Progressive leader) into this campaign is done to create disunity and confusion which of course is exactly what they want in Canada and across the world."

"As far as the CCF is concerned, we shall repudiate any suggestion of communist support—and indeed fight their totalitarian ideas on every possible occasion."

Dodging Issues

His by-election speech coincided with one at Dunrobin in which CCF candidate Eugene Forsey charged in an address prepared for delivery that Mr. Drew is "dodging the issues and boasting of his ignorance regarding well-known features of Canadian political life."

Mr. Forsey said Mr. Drew "spends his time chattering about communism, nazism and a lot of other things which have nothing to do with the election." He had also "repeatedly boasted that he doesn't know what the letters CCF mean although the CCF has been in existence for 16 years."

Farm Prices Drop

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP)— Prices for some farm products are dropping, the bureau of statistics reported Tuesday. In October, for the second successive month, the index for farm prices dropped two points to 251.1 Lower prices for livestock and potatoes more than offset gains for dairy products, poultry and eggs.

Come Under Shop Act

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP)— The Ontario court of appeal Tuesday ruled that drug stores which did not confine their sales exclusively to articles "only a registered chemist may sell" came under jurisdiction of the factory, shop and other buildings act and must conform with early-closing by-laws.

Canadian Women 'More Stylish' Spring Prediction

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 —(CP)—Getting down to the serious and prosaic business of providing the clothes Canada's women will wear next spring, after the glitter and hurrah of fashion shows has faded, an executive of the Montreal Dressmaker's Guild predicts that "Canadian women will be better and more stylishly dressed, taking second place to nobody in the world."

There will be a wide variety of bright colors in next spring's suits. Predominant are cream chocolate, rum frappe, kelly green, wines and reds. White is the most popular among the blouses. And this year slacks and skirts are being made with elastic bands inside to prevent blouses from "riding up."

Pleats are new and usually unpressed, falling in soft drape, back and front. The skirts are peg-topped but the straight-line effect is still retained. The curvacious look is provided by waist slimness, with a fullness about the hips and tapering down.

Famous Twins Demonstrate British Woollens

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—The interesting way British fashion designers make use of their beautiful Linton tweeds and wools—was demonstrated recently when six sets of beautiful American twins returned from overseas and showed off their handsome new clothes, gifts of British manufacturers.

The twins, just back from a tour of Western European counries, where they took part in the launching of home permanent wave kits overseas, gave their "fashion show' as part of their own "welcome home" party, which was held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in New York.

One set of twins wore fine weight woollen tweeds from Selkirk, Scotland, featuring rounded shoulders, definite waist and sixteen-gore skirt. Another set of twins wore dresses of the finest woollen dress weight manufactured in Britain. These smart frocks were in "Summer Brown" with rounded shoulder lines, well-defined waist, and fairly full skirt.

The other twins were in tweed dresses with slim waistlines, rounded natural shoulders, rounded moulded hiplines and a definite "backsweep" skirt.

HALF A TURKEY is better than none for some Peterborough housewives this Christmas. It could be a matter of price, 69 to 70 cents a pound, or, ovens and pans too small to accommodate a large bird, that prompts them to share a fowl between them. Mrs. Claude McWilliams, Second from Left, watches Mrs. Jack Gray as she directs butcher Anthony White to cut a turkey in half.

Butchers Will Half Turkeys If Housewives Demand It

Turkeys are appearing in city butcher shops in small lots this week. A few merchants predict there will be fewer birds and that the price will be around the 69 to 70 cent level. This poses a problem for a great many housewives who are unable to pay for a large bird, let along accommodate the cooking of it in small ovens and roasting pans. But there s a way out. Have one cut in half and share with a friend in a similar situation.

Besides a smaller investment there will be the same selection of light and dark meat according to statistics produced by culinary experts. For stuffing allow one cup of bread cubes per pound of the purchased weight of the bird and figure the total roasting time at 25 to 30 minutes a pound. The meat yield from half a turkey produces a leg, second joint, wing and breast meat, plus gravy makings.

To prepare, clean the bird as usual, wash and dry well, tie leg to tail and skewer wing flat to breast meat. Rub the cut side with salt and fasten skin to breast meat with toothpicks. Place the carcass with skin side up on rack in the roasting pan, brush with melted fat and roast in a moderate oven 325 degrees until half done. When required, baste occasionally with more fat.

Remove turkey from the oven and after placing a double layer of waxed paper on the roasting rack, make a mound of the prepared stuffing, fit the half-cooked carcass over it and continue roasting and basting until tender.

There the small family will have a golden brown turkey, cooked to perfection and ready for the table with savory stuffing and gravy. It will make a delicuos meal with a few leftovers, but not a great many.

Wise Girl Realizes In Time Futility of An Early Marriage

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl in my early teens and I am having a very difficult problem to face. My Boy Friend is in the service and has three or more years to serve I thought I loved him and promised to wait for him until he could come back, but now I see things differently. I don't want to be married so young, as my sisters were, and be tied down with children. Also, I see how badly my parents and sisters get along with their husbands and I don't want it to happen to me.

Dorothy Dix

I want to see something of the world and to have some fun before I get married, and I especially want to know more boys than just one before I make my choice of a husband. But I hate to think of hurting my Boy Friend by breaking off with him. What shall I do?

AN UNHAPPY GIRL

ANSWER: O wise young maiden, you have an old head on young shoulders that makes you realize that most of the unhappiness in the world comes from girls and boys marrying before they are ready for it. This may seem a sweeping statement, but it is a miracle when a child-marriage turns out happily.

This is inevitable because youngsters in their teens do not know what they want in a mate, still less do they know what they are going to be themselves when they grow up and are mature men and women. You are intelligent enough to have realized that, and to have perceived the folly of kid-marriages, for the main reason why divorce is so common and so many husbands and wives lead a cat and dog life is because they are married too young.

Doomed To Failure

School boys get married before they have any way of supporting a wife. Bobby-sox girls get married before they have had any playtime, and they resent being tied down with babies and husbands. The result is the philandering husbands and the whining and complaining wives who fill the divorce courts.

Don't worry about hurting the feelings of your Boy Friend. He is almost sure to have reacted to the situation just as you have done. You have outgrown your calf loves.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a married woman of 45. My oldest son is attending college where he has met a chap who has become his good friend and whom he brought home for a week-end. This friend is a fine, upstanding young man and we have fallen hopelessly in love with each other. This young man can give me the happiness out of life that I thought I had missed. My husband has always been a rich man and I feel that he has never needed me, for we didn't have to work hard for anything we ever had.

I don't want to do anything until I have advice from you, as I know you will see my side as any warm-hearted woman would.

UNDECIDED

ANSWER: I fear that my warm-heartedness gets a decided chill when I confront the problem of a married woman, with children, falling in love with a college boy. In my book it is one of the things that simply isn't done unless the woman has far less intelligence and decency than I give you credit for having.

Consider the situation from a practical point of view. You have a good husban, fine home, plenty of money, a good social position, nearly grown children. Are you going to throw all of these into the discard for the sake of having an affair with a boy the age of your own son? Can't you realize not only how wrong it is, but what disgrace it will bring upon you?

Surely no woman of middle age is so dumb that she doesn't know that no school boy is going to marry her, or stay married to her if he does marry her. Wake up, sister, and be your age.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am the mother of two naughty teenage girls, one 18 and the other 16. I can do nothing with them. They stay out late at night. Dress sloppily. And they are quite sassy when I try to control them. My Friends say that what they need is a good sound spanking. What do you think about it?

MRS. T. W

ANSWER: Girls of 18 and 16 are beyond the spanking age. If you were going to use your good right hand in disciplining them, you should have done it when they were in the nursery and not on the town. Children are what their mother makes them, but she has to begin her work when they are in the cradle. When they grow up undisciplined, uncontrolled, untaught, it is too late to change them. You have brought your sorrow on your own head.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, December 16

A disintegrating or chaotic state of affairs, seemingly hopeless and difficult, may be suddenly broken into or set in surprisingly accelerated motion by a novel idea or plan, original and daring, perhaps startling in its novelty or ingenuity. It may have to be "sold" to those not too readily approached, but skill and ingenuity may prove impressive. Nonetheless, there are strange hazards or some queer situations calling for practical as well as fresh technique and advanced methods.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be called upon to attack an involved or menaced situation by a definite departure from old ways and means. A baffling or devastating condition may call for drastic, radical and novel tactics. This may prove to be the more effective method of approach to influential persons whose cooperation is vital to important progress. Ingenuity, skill, fresh approach may be brought to bear on some queer or complicated matter. Perhaps "dragging a skeleton out of the closet" by forthright measures could bring to light covert motives or aims, more successfully opening new channels or contacts.

A child born on this day may have novelty and originality, with daring and skill in unraveling difficulties or strange situations.

Father And Son Pay Traffic Fines

In police court today, 16-year-old Ray Redpath, R.R. 3, Lakefield, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving. The youth was charged following an accident late Tuesday afternoon in which eighty-year-old Beverley Moher of 629 Union St. was knocked down by a truck driven by the accused. The girl, who told police that a wheel of the truck had passed over her foot, was not injured seriously. She received a blow on the head from a piece of iron on the truck.

Magistrate Philp fined Redpath $15 and $2.50 costs.

Evidence given by PC Gordon Trennum of the accident on Rubidge St., near Hunter, was that the truck had followed an irregular course, as shown by the skid marks on the road. The Moher girl was standing on the grass off the road when she was hit, he said. The truck had jumped the curb. She was taken to her home by Miss Jean Booth, 634 Union St.

The officer testified that the marks showed sharp turns and sudden braking and skidding which left long strips of rubber which had been torn from the tires.

The accused's father, Orville Redpath, also paid a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs for failing to report the purchase of a motor vehicle to the Highways Department.

Fined $10 And Costs

Albert Prince, 47 Lafayette Ave., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of being drunk in public.

Havelock Man Jailed Gave Liquor To Minor

George Brooks of Havelock was sentenced to two months in jail in police court today when Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, found him guilty of supplying liquor to a minor. The Havelock youth gave evidence that he had met a man in the village in a dark place and had received a bottle of whiskey from him. Later, he admitted, he pointed out the accused to police as the man who had given him the liquor. On the stand today, declared a hostile witness, he told Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry that he had been drunk when he made the identification and "when I'm that way I say and do things I wouldn't normally."

Plan Prosecutions

REGINA, Dec. 15—(CP—Attorney General J. W. Corman of Saskatchewan said Thursday that prosecutions under the combines investigations act should be undertaken by the federal justice department. He was commenting on the naming of five western bakery companies and two trade associations as members of an alleged combine seeking to control bread prices in the prairies.

Father Crashes While Driving To Visit Wife And New Baby In The Civic Hospital

MILLBROOK, Dec. 15. — (ENS).—On his way to Peterborough Civic Hospital to visit his wife and newly born child, James Larmer's car crashed into the rear of Merele and Charlie Lunn's parked car on No. 28 Highway on Tuesday. There were no personal injuries, but the front of Mr. Larmer's car was badly smashed and the back of the stationary car was damaged. Mr. Larmer estimates the damage to his car at $500.

Describing the accident, Mr. Larmer said he was driving north along the highway when he saw two people on the road. In an attempt to avoid them he crashed into the rear of a parked car, which, he said, had no lights and was on the wrong side of the road.

Merele and Charlie Lunn said that a truck had previously pulled their car on to the road from a ditch.

IT SHOUDN'T HAPPEN TO A SOBER MAN

Early (very early) this morning, a coal truck was unloading its wares into a sidewalk hole on George St. One bleary-eyed member of the citizenry, beating an unsteady path homeward, paused to gaze at the nifty little motor-operated chute carrying the coal. He was heard to mutter: "Whatta system! Whatta system! And no waiters to tip either!"—R.B.

SALLY'S SALLIES

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TRUMP SQUEEZE NEAT

ONE of the less understood forms of the squeeze play is what advanced manipulators call the "trump squeeze" or "ruffing squeeze." It differs from other squeezes in one definite respect. The squeezed opponent is in a situation where a discard by him from a certain suit will enable the declarer to establish a card in it by ruffing, as the next trick is played. It is really one of the neatest of all squeezes.

	♠ Q J 10 6 5 4 ♥ 8 5 ♦ Q 10 3 ♣ 10 6
♠ None ♥ Q J 6 2 ♦ 8 7 5 4 ♣ K Q 8 5 4	N W E S	♠ A K 2 ♥ 10 9 7 ♦ J 9 6 ♣ 9 7 3 2
	♠ 9 8 7 3 ♥ A K 4 3 ♦ A K 2 ♣ A J

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

There were three tricks for the defense against that contract in a duplicate tournament where a club was led. But two declarers were favored by East leading the spade K, A and 2, in order to limit probable ruffs. Each of these declarers then tried to build a squeeze to take all the remaining tricks, one of them failing and the other succeeding.

The chap who failed to make his squeeze work, upon winning the third spade scored the heart tops and ruffed a heart, cleared three rounds of diamonds and then led spades. When the last was offered, North had also two clubs, and the dummy held the club A-J and the heart 4. West meantime held the heart Q and the club K-Q. If he had been obliged to play before the dummy, he would have been hopelessly squeezed between clubs and hearts. But as it was dummy had to play first, so as you can see West could discard from the same suit as dummy and therefore assure himself the final trick.

At the other table where three spades were opened, Charles H. Porter, great Anaconda wire executive, coppered the extra trick with a trump squeeze. He followed with three diamonds and a fourth spade, then led a fifth spade, discarding the club J from dummy. If West had now tossed a heart, Mr. Porter would have scored two heart tops, ruffed a third heart and would have had the fourth set up, ready to cash after the club A. West, however, chose to discard the club K, hoping to lure a finesse which the Q could win. But Mr. Porter did not fall for that smart ruse. He led to the club A, dropping the Q, cashed the heart tops, ruffed a heart and got the last trick with the club 10 to have his extra trick and a nice top score on the deal.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ Q 7 5 2 ♥ 10 6 3 2 ♦ J 6 4 ♣ J 9
♠ 6 4 3 ♥ A K J 4 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ 8 6 3	N W E S	♠ A 10 9 8 ♥ Q 7 ♦ K 9 8 3 ♣ K Q 4
	♠ K J ♥ 9 8 5 ♦ Q 7 2 ♣ A 10 7 5 2

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

What one danger threatens East's 3-No Trumps after South leads the club 5 to the J?

CHRISTMAS CARDS—With the trend this year toward special Christmas cards for every person, buying greeting cards has become a complicated operation. Stores are still the traditional winter scenes, shown top centre, but these other cards illustrate the specialization trend. Top left is for bowlers and bottom centre is for your employer. It takes a card for granddaughter, bottom left, to bring Santa into the picture. They even make a card now to thank the donor of gifts, second from left, bottom row.

Picking Cards More Carefully Experts Believe

By MARILYN LAMBORN.

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP)— Tempers may flare in the toy or necktie departments, but when Canadians set out to buy on estimated 60,000,000 Christmas cards this year, some of the sentiment rubs off on the crowd.

The stampede around greeting card shelves is more raucous than ever, but well-wishers seem to be putting more thought into selection of specialized, personal cards.

Card dealers say the day is near when a bachelor no longer will open cards picturing a cosy family circle around a stocking-laden fireplace. Grandmother will get the fireplace while the bachelor will receive a setter pointing toward a downed pheasant.

One retailer said he noticed more "This is just right for the Smiths" than "Let's buy four boxes of these" conversations around the counter.

Canadian manufacturers have produced a record 600 designs for their cards this year to co-operate with the public's determination to send the "right" card.

Now it is possible to flatter or lightly insult every member of a family and even remote relatives. Cousins, fellow bowlers, Scotsmen and lovers of Dickens all have special cards. There is an endearing bit of sentiment from "One Who Cares," from "A Friend of Yours" or "Someone Who Likes You a Lot." There's illness in the family and one from "Across the Miles."

Manufacturers feel they are among Santa's favored few when they consider how their million-dollar business has settled into a habit with Canadians. They are the last ones to mourn the lost art of letter writing. They areES art of letter writing. A quarter-century ago there were only about 1,000,000 cards sent in the Dominion.

ITS AN ILL WIND

Thirty men racing against the approach of winter weather have completed the roof on the three-storey Cherney building at the corner of King and George Streets. The huge structure has now been glassed in and bricked, and workmen have started on the interior work. It is the largest building to be constructed in the downtown area since the Kresge store was built, and it is considerably larger than the latter.

WMS Sends Gifts To Sick Member

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 15 — (ENS) — Springville WMS held the December meeting at the home of Mrs. Rae Wood when the president, Mrs. Dunford, took the chair. The slate of officers for the coming year, presented by Mrs. C. Johnston, nominating committee convener, was accepted.

A service of worship was led by Mrs. H. Bothwell with readings from the scripture by Mrs. R. Davis, Mrs. O. Murray and Mrs. Staples. Carols were sung and Mrs. Bothwell led in prayer. Mrs. George Whitfield conducted a candle lighting service and was assisted by Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Johnston.

It was decided to send a parcel of letters, cards and gifts to Mrs. Cathcart, who is ill in Toronto. The meeting closed with a craol and was followed by a social hour round a beautifully decorated Christmas tree.

Kansas May Import Canadian Sunflowers

MANHATTAN, Kas., Dec. 15— (CP).—Sunflowers may be imported from Canada—to grow in Kansas, the Sunflower State.

So says Dr. Roger C. Smith, head of the entomology department of Kansas State College of Agriculture. He and an associate are working to develop sunflower and livestock feed.

They have found that birds and insects destroy from 50 to 95 per cent. of Kansas sunflower seeds. If that destruction can be curbed, sunflowers can become a million-dollar industry for Kansas, Dr. Smith says.

So he's working with a Canadian variety, advance hybrid. It is attacked by only one insect, not dozens. It matures early and can be harvested before birds attack it.

Teachers Trim Students At Basketball

Teachers took a close basketball game from the students of PCVS on Monday after school. The score was 19 to 17 in favor of the learned ones. H. David was the pick of the teachers' team. His height and good playing saved the teachers. Don Richardson was on in his shooting to star for the students' team.

Henry Dinsdale and Patsy Martyn had a difficult time trying to keep the game under control as the teachers persisted in using too many players. Men had to pass to women and visa versa. The rules were a mixture of boys' and girls' rules.

"We were experimenting throughout the game and didn't really get rolling" said Alex Londry, coach of the teachers' team, when asked for his comments on the game.

One of the amusing incidents in the game was when the Vocational Guidance teacher H. Moebus, ran the wrong way only to be stopped by the screams of his own teammates and fans.

Members of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational Teachers' basketball team were: Miss Fenner, Miss Bell, Miss MacVannel, J. McNabb, B. Goulding, H. Moebus, J. Londerville.

Members of the student team were: D. Richardson, D. Griffin, T. Evans, H. Grafstein, Miss C. Clifton, Miss M. Braund, Miss M. Matthews and Miss Betty Jacquith.

Officials for the contest were Henry Dinsdale and Patsy Martyn.
